

GAME LAW IS SUSTAINED.

POSSESSION OF GAME AFTER SEASON IS UNLAWFUL.

GAME MERCHANTS DEFEATED.

Supreme Court Settles the Fact That Game Merchants Must Not Be Protected More Than Five Days After Game Season Closes—Other Decisions.

Of the four decisions handed down by the supreme court yesterday the important one is that of the state against C. W. Rodman and R. E. Cobb, in which the game law of 1893 is sustained. The provision of the law called in question was that prohibiting having in possession, more than five days after the commencement of the closed season, certain kinds of game, although lawfully taken or killed during the open season. The court construes the provision literally, and affirms the judgment of the lower court in the point raised regarding the constitutionality of chapter 134 of the General Laws of 1893.

The defendants were separately indicted for having in possession more than five days after the end of the open season parts of the fish and game prohibited by the provision of G. L. 1893, ch. 134, sec. 11, as amended G. L. 1893, ch. 134, sec. 9, which reads as follows: "No person shall catch, take or kill or have in possession or under control for any purpose whatever, any fawn, at any time, nor elk, moose, caribou or antelope, before the first day of January, 1893, nor any variety of deer at any time between the twentieth day of November and the first day of November following, except that he may possess or have in possession, taken or killed or under control for five days after the time herein limited, for use in the manner and for the purpose herein allowed."

"The law goes on to provide for the punishment of offenders, and the court, in its opinion, first disposes of the questions of law raised in the argument and decided in favor of the state. "The contention of the defendants is that the act should be construed as prohibiting only the having in possession during the closed season game unlawfully caught, taken or killed. On this we need not say that the language of the act is so clear, and so unambiguous as to leave no room for any such construction. It is perfectly obvious that it makes it an offense to have in possession during the closed season any game caught or killed in the state, the time when it was caught or killed being immaterial. No court would be justified in declaring unreasonable the provision limiting the time to five days after the commencement of the closed season, during which a person may lawfully retain possession of game taken or killed during the open season. What this provision aims at is not the mere fact of possession of game unlawfully obtained, but to prevent its being unlawfully taken or killed.

"There is nothing made by counsel for defendants as to the construction of this 'five days' limitation. The evident intent of the legislature was to extend the open season for possession five days beyond the open season for killing. "While the fines imposed are certainly large, yet we cannot say that they are excessive in a constitutional sense. A large discretion is necessarily vested in the legislature to impose penalties sufficient to prevent the commission of an offense, and it would have to be an extreme case to warrant the court in holding that the constitutional limit had been transcended.

The opinion was written by Justice Collins. The syllabus is as follows: State of Minnesota, plaintiff, vs. C. W. Rodman, defendant; State of Minnesota, plaintiff, vs. R. E. Cobb, defendant. (Two cases.) Syllabus—1. General Laws, 1891, ch. 134, sec. 11, as amended General Laws, 1893, ch. 134, sec. 9, construed as prohibiting the having in possession more than five days after the commencement of the closed season certain kinds of game, although lawfully taken or killed during the open season. 2. Held, that this statute is a proper exercise of the police power of the state to protect and preserve wild game, because reasonably tending to prevent the unlawful killing of such game during the closed season. 3. It is within the police power of the state to enact such laws as will preserve from extermination or undue depletion wild game, and it is not an unconstitutional regulation, not only as to the time and manner of taking or killing such game, but also imposing such limitations and restrictions upon its use or right of property in it after it has been taken or killed as will tend to prevent such extermination or depletion. 4. Held, that the subject of the amendatory act of 1893 is sufficiently expressed in its title. 5. The provisions of section 11 of the act as amended are not unconstitutional to that part of the constitution which prohibits the imposition of excessive fines. Orders affirmed and causes remanded.

Buck, J., did not sit. In the case of The State against The Northern Pacific Express Company the court affirmed the judgment of the lower court.

court affirms the order of the lower court and remands the case. The provision of the defendant was that the possession of the game law prohibiting the shipment out of the state of certain kinds of fish caught in the waters of the state, is an unlawful interference with interstate commerce. The supreme court holds that it is not. Following is the syllabus:

State of Minnesota, plaintiff, vs. Northern Pacific Express Company, defendant. Orders affirmed and causes remanded.

Syllabus—1. State vs. Rodman, State vs. Cobb followed, holding that certain provisions of G. L. 1891, ch. 9 (as amended by G. L. 1893, ch. 134), entitled "An act for the protection of the game and fish of the state of Minnesota," are valid. 2. The provision of the act prohibiting the shipment out of the state of certain kinds of fish caught within the state is not an unlawful interference with interstate commerce. 3. State vs. Byrd, 23 Minn. 30, followed to the effect that when a criminal case is certified to this court we will only consider such questions as appear from the certification to have been tried and passed on in the court below. 4. Following is the syllabus in another opinion handed down by the supreme court: Sophia Cullman, respondent, vs. Charles Butcher et al., defendants, Charles Butcher and Wilhelm Butcher, appellants. Order affirmed. Collins, J.

1. Evidence in this case, which was brought to foreclose a mortgage on real estate, held sufficient to justify a finding that plaintiff was the owner of said mortgage debt, and also a finding as to the amount due. 2. Certain alleged errors in the rulings of the court disposed of.

SEVEN CORNERS DEMOCRATS.

Twelve New Members Taken in Last Night.

The Seven Corners Young Men's Democratic club is organized on a basis of perpetuity, and is ready to do good work for the cause of the party in the future along the line of the past. The club is made up of aggressive young men, who work to preserve a principle rather than to scramble for office. The executive committee has charge of the doors of the club and passes upon the eligibility of members. Last night it held its regular weekly meeting and decided to admit twelve new members. Dr. D. C. Jones, chairman, and other members of the executive committee have furthered the club's work in the Irving block at Seven corners, where the club can meet daily for social features connected with the club. The regular meetings of the club are held on Monday evenings, the time for the July meeting, speeches will be delivered and political subjects discussed in an educational vein. The club has a large membership of excellent young Democrats. Fourteen new members are delegates to the congressional convention and will wear the club badges at the Lindstrom meeting. The club is in a position to exert a good influence in securing a good ticket, in so far as its jurisdiction goes.

AS BIG AS PIGEON EGGS.

Hemorrhoids That Make Life Miserable.

How often you hear people complain of "only a slight case of piles," often claiming that the trouble is merely temporary, and will disappear by continued long standing or sedentary habits. It may be very well to console yourself in this way, but it is much better to check the trouble at once. You can't do it too soon. In time these little rectal tumors will grow from the size of grapes until they result as large as a pigeon's egg. They become inflamed and exquisitely tender to the touch and are filled with throbbing, burning and stinging sensations. And thus the disease continues growing from bad to worse until finally the victim can't stand it, remaining in a horizontal position. Pyramid Pile Cure is a certain remedy for piles in any of these stages. It goes to the very source of the trouble and drives out all inflammation, causing the tumors to subside and the various distorted membranes to resume their natural places. The disease leads to too many complications to admit of experiment. Pyramid Pile Cure is manufactured by the Pyramid Pile Co. at Albion, Mich., and is sold by all druggists. The remedy is a positive cure for either itching, aching or bleeding piles. It is not an experimental venture, but is a tried and true cure, having been formulated by specialists who are famous in the field of medicine. If you are a sufferer you should not delay. This remedy requires no supplementary treatment. It is perfect and complete in itself. Simply follow directions and a cure is certain to follow.

YACHT RACES.

Programme of the White Bear Club for Saturday. The White Bear Yacht club has prepared its programme of races for Saturday, and is praying that in a wind shall blow. Following is the bulletin sent out by Secretary McKeechie: For all classes, second race for the White Bear trophy, club course, start 9:30 a. m.; 1894 Columbia; winner first race, July 4, 1894, Columbia.

For cat boats. This race will also count for the pennant of June 16, 1894, postponed twice, July 7 and 21. Twenty-footers—There are enough boats of twenty feet and under L. W. L. in both classes to fill the water with races in those classes interesting, and there is a prize in each class. Cruises—Will be resumed with the new moon. Train Service—The Saturday train to Delwood at 1:30 p. m. has been discontinued. Trains out at 12:10, 2:15, 2:30 p. m.; in at 5:45, 8:25, 11:15 p. m. Entertainment—It is proposed to have informal concerts, choruses, etc., on alternate Saturdays, the first such soiree to take place Aug. 4. Members and friends with ability in the line of performance or suggestion will be doing a kindness if they will confer with the house committee—the earlier the better. (G. Scholle, R. E. Neely, A. A. McKeechie, committee.)

CARS TO BE VESTIBULED.

Street Railway Will Comply with the Law. The question of the completion of the work of vestibuling the street cars will soon be finally disposed of. The law requiring the street railway company to care for its motormen and conductors in this way requires that all cars be vestibuled by Nov. 1 next. More than one-half of the cars owned by the company were done last year, but there still remain about eighty electric and twenty cable cars. Fourteen electric cars are now in the shops, and material is on hand for about sixty more. This will practically complete the work on these cars. The cable cars still remain. There are two or three methods of vestibuling: the grip car, but the style of vehicle has not yet been definitely decided upon.

BOTH FINED.

Colored Woman and the Man She Assaulted. A colored woman giving her name as Glover, and a colored waiter named Hockmeier were arraigned in the police court yesterday and fined $25 each for disorderly conduct. Night before last a general fight ensued at Taylor's saloon on Minnesota street, in which the woman and three men figured as the principals. When the police arrived from the Hockmeier was bleeding from a cut in the forehead, and stated that he had been hit with a kula in the hands of the woman. The woman declared she was not injured by the man, and that the man had intended to protect her. All were drunk at the time Officer O'Neill made the arrest, and when he entered the saloon he found Hockmeier lashed into a corner and being laboring by the infuriated woman. A lot of conflicting testimony was presented to the court, but Judge Orr concluded to punish the principals according to their own testimony.

DANGEROUSLY ILL.

William Louis Kelly Jr. fell sick at Camp. William L. Kelly Jr., son of Judge Kelly, lies at his home in a dangerous condition. He was taken sick while in camp at Lakeview, where he was attended by the regimental surgeons. He was brought home in a very weak condition. William L. Kelly Jr. is a member of Battery A, holding the rank of first sergeant. When the encampment of the battery was over he remained in camp to look after the signal gun, which was left at Lakeview for use of the First regiment. He was first attacked by sickness last Monday, at which time he was in his usual good health. It is hoped by a wide circle of friends that he will recover speedily.

EMPLOYEES' PICNIC.

Street Railway People Had a Day at Wildwood. The shop employees of the street railway of Minneapolis picnicked at Wildwood yesterday. They went out in six interurban cars, decorated gaily with bunting and flags. The leading feature of the day was a ball game between the machinists and the electricians. It was won by the machinists in a score of 17 to 14. Sports of various kinds were enjoyed. P. G. Zepplin, formerly of the Columbia Opera company, is director of music at Wildwood.

THE PANSY COTTAGE No. 12.

There are very few of our readers who are not interested at all times in building. Even though contemplating building at all seasons of the year, the subject affords so much thought and study, and has so many varied attractions, that it is always of the greatest interest to the large majority of the reading public. We have secured authority from the plans of the "Pansy" to subscribers on the above terms, which are such as to justify each and all of our readers to send in orders promptly. These plans are drawn to a scale and are mechanically correct. They are guaranteed ready to build from, and consist of interior sectional view and exterior perspective view, picture of each floor plan, roof and porch, front and side elevations, with full detail sheet, all drawn to a scale for the contractor, with complete and accurate specifications. It will also have an estimate with detailed list and prices of all materials used, with full particulars and advice regarding division of cost for various lines of material, instructions to builder, etc. Everything that can be furnished by a competent architect is provided for. The original architect's drawing cost upward of $25.00, and any one of our readers can obtain same by sending to the Globe office 50 cents and the above certificate clipped from this paper. It is our intention to issue these plans in serial form. Builders and Architects and all persons interested in building can secure any of the plans advertised on the above condition—50 cents and a certificate—thereby saving upward of $25.00, which an architect would require for furnishing plans, with all the details given in ours. Our readers are thus afforded an opportunity seldom offered, and all interested in building, even to the slightest extent, should not hesitate to take advantage of this offer. These plans are under the personal supervision of JAMES HANNERTY. Send in orders for "The Pansy Cottage" promptly, before supply becomes exhausted.
