ALABAMA has a good crop of Oates.

BIERMANN fires a shot that will be heard all over the state.

WHAT is Bob Dunn's position on the railroad land grant question?

THEY are saying in Hong Kong that Japan has her roller skates on.

A LITTLE inside history from Auditor Biermann makes spiey reading.

LET the merry political war go on, who will spring the next sensation?

WILL the Great Northern road be the leading issue in the coming campaign?

THERE will be nothing monotonous about the Democratic campaign if it continues as it has opened up.

THE corn craze yesterday squeezed a whole lot of the small bovines in Chicago. It was rye, however, that caught Ed Partridge.

AN EAST wind got in a flank movement on the hot wave last night and chilled its ardor. East winds will hereafter be in St. Paul.

IT is safe to say that Hon. Michael Doran will not make the speech nominating Biermann for another term in the coming state convention.

SENATOR WORST opened the Republican campaign in Dakota with a rousing speech, says the Fargo Argus. The worst possible kind of an opening.

GEORGE GOULD aboard the Vigilant appears to be the ruler of the seas. The British and German yachts were afraid to tackle the American's craft yesterday.

THE Populists in the Tenth Massachusetts district have named Mr. Leggett as their candidate for congress. He should run well if there is anything in a name.

THE Kolbits called their aggregation the "Jeffersonian-Populists." No wonder Doran's majority is so big. But where did the Republican contingent come in?

THE sensational resignation of Cutcherson and Smalley, closely followed by Biermann's remarkable manifesto, indicates some lack of harmony in the Democratic camp.

THE seventy-two hours within which the tariff conferees were either to do something or throw up the sponge is up today, and both parties are grasping the sponge yet.

THE dispatches do not state what kind of "possum" Gould, Wailes and the Kaiser took at their backs. Some waker of champagne seems to have overcooked a small wazer here.

THE New York Herald is printing dispatches from Tokyo and Shanghai in Japanese and Chinese. This is evidently done to keep people in the dark as to which whipped.

AN EXCHANGE says that "a photograph has been taken 500 feet below the sea's surface." It is not clear what it was and who took it there and what did they go down there for to have it taken?

NO GAMBLING is to be allowed on the state fair grounds during the coming fair. Too bad that the issue raised in the "Jones" test case about horse-race betting has not yet been settled by the courts.

THE same fish commission announced after a day's session at the capitol yesterday that it had done nothing. It ought to arrange to meet the tariff conferees somewhere on neutral ground and shake.

THE Wisconsin university regents are sitting to try Prof. Ely for political heresy, something socialistic having been discovered in his books. What a travesty it is, though, to have a board of Republicans trying to find out if Ely has been preaching a socialism which has its roots deep in Republican politics. The professor need not go to his books for a defense. He can quote McKinley, who advocates the use of the taxing power of the nation to keep the necessities of life from being cheapened by competition because "cheap and nasty go together." He can call ex-President Harrison to the stand to repeat his declaration that a "cheap coat means a cheap man under it," and his other one that it is the duty of the state to "bring every man in it can have employment. And the fellows are turning up their noses at socialism. Bah! What hypocrites!

AUDITOR BIERMANN HITS HARD.

The letter which State Auditor Biermann addresses to the voters of Minnesota through this morning's GLOBE is one that will attract their attention, not only to the importance of character in the selection of those to whom they intrust their public affairs, but of the attitude the corporations assume towards the state and its officers, and the methods they adopt to gain advantages over the state and its interests.

So far as the letter is personal to Mr. Biermann himself it shows, if his allegations are true, what pressure the corporations will bring to bear on a public officer to serve him on his duty, and when this fails, what methods they will resort to sweep him out of the way. If, smarting under the sting of false aspersions on his character, the auditor strikes back hard at his accusers, no one will blame him, for he is but invoking the natural law of self-defense.

Briefly, the facts are these. The state has granted to its institutions over 500,000 acres of land to be selected from the even numbered sections. The Great Northern holds a grant of some 300,000 acres in both the even and odd-numbered sections, but the act of grant does not confer the right to make selection of the tracts, this devolving on the auditor as land commissioner.

The land values in value from nothing to $10 an acre per acre, and the privilege of first selection is one whose value runs into the hundreds of millions. That the company should wish to get the most valuable land is but natural; it meant a million of dollars of gain to Mr. Biermann in insisting that this right was the state's, that the gain should be the state's and not the company's, was simply doing his duty. That he was right in his position there seems to be no question. Were he not the company would have been prompt with a mandamus to oblige him to certify to its selections. That it did not is an acknowledgment that the auditor was right. We lay the matter before the voters of the state for their consideration.

THE FEDERATION OF THE WORLD.

The declaration of war as a deciding element in the dispute over Korea between Japan and the United States, and the peaceful solution by arbitration of the Berlin sea difference by England and the United States are evidences that the Western world and the Anglo-Saxon race are advancing with more rapid steps than the rest of the world towards the goal that has hitherto been the dream of when the federation of the world and the parliament of man will decide the differences of nations. The call to arms and the appeal to brute force rather than to arbitration and the sense of fairness and justice are the lingering remnants of a barbarous age. The bloodless war of words and the wrangle of the forum at least, if it no good, can do no harm. But the consequences of a world war, when for twenty years the ingenuity of man has been exercised to invent the most effective, the most diabolical instruments of destruction, are too fearful to contemplate.

JOHN LIND says that the silver plank of the Denver league meeting indorses his free coinage position, and that the Denver league is a Republican state convention also vindicates him.

The Denver plank clearly and unmistakably sustains Lind, and we concede that he is capable of construing the occult meaning of that state plank. Lind finds support in the very faces made by the Pioneer Press when it tried to masticate the plank.

MILWAUKEE assessed its street railway company for tax at $200,000. The company protested that the valuation was too high; the property wasn't worth it. Now a resolution has been introduced in the council by which it is figured the company declared beyond the rate. In dodging the tax, sometimes happens that the dodger gets into a dilemma he can't dodge.

ANTI-SMOKE ordinances have been established and enforced in other cities since the Republican state convention devices have been introduced to destroy. Treaties are made whose influences reach beyond the limits of nations and wield a world-wide power. The reason of this is that modern means of enforcement of such an ordinance is impracticable.

The applications of the various manufacturing companies for levee rights and ground leases upon which to erect their buildings should be granted by the city council and as soon as possible. Much work can yet be done this season and employment furnished to men who need it. Above all things St. Paul needs all enterprises which seek aid.

A CLEVELAND special announces that Mr. McKinley has opened his presidential campaign. What awfully slow progress these fellows down in Cleveland are, to be sure. The GLOBE announced that the little protectionist had opened his campaign months ago, when he fired his gun in Minneapolis. Give us something that is news.

Now that Tim Reardon has blown off his surplus steam, President Willich, of the school board, has appointed a special committee to investigate the charges which have been advanced. From the character and the standing of the members of this committee it is safe to assume that they will do what is right and proper.

The average mortal, as a rule, makes efforts to keep out of jail. Yesterday the novel spectacle was presented in the police court of an individual of the epithetous name of Smith trying to get out of jail. And he came very near succeeding.

STATISTICAL BUREAU report for May, corrected to July 28, casts some light on the question why, with crop reports showing a diminished yield of wheat in this country, the price should be so low and weak. A table of the imports of that cereal into the United Kingdom for the five months ending May, compared with the imports for the same period of 1916, shows a falling off of 4,000,000 cwt., with a total increase of about the same amount. The loss in this country is more than compensated by the increase from Russia and other countries.

WE ASSURE our esteemed St. Cloud Times that the GLOBE is not "haunted by a fear that the Democrats may fuse with the Populists," or the Populists, as the Chicago organ of that party terms it. That fear is the nightmare of the "Pioneer Press" and the other candidates on the Republican ticket only. There can be no fusion, simply because the Populists have made a ticket that is satisfactory to them, and that the Democrats can do it to indorse that ticket. It is probably true, they did it in sufficient numbers in 1890 and in 1892 to defeat the Democratic ticket, some 12,000 of them voting for Owen, and again in '92, about 22,000 voting for Donnelly. The GLOBE insists that that is needed to make Democratic success sure is for Democrats to vote the Democratic ticket.

THE Republicans who fused with the Populists in Alabama taught their unsophisticated allies some of their familiar tricks, such as stealing the ballots and raising rampages at the polls, and to delay voting. Fusion is bad enough, but it is a simple lot of fellows like the Populists and their adepts in chicanery who have and such long schooling in tricks in the Republican Press and insist that the fusion is released from their silence enjoined by the expectation that the fusion in the Southern states would win, and that they will spread their phylacteries and read the "Populists a homily on the error of fusing with Republicans.

The Michigan Republicans know how to dodge a brickbat. They don't intend to lose any votes on account of the silver question if they can avoid it. They are saying that they know a hawk from a handsaw, and "we believe that the people of this state are a country can and do look to the Republican party, the party of ability and progress, as the only party that can give a wise and adequate solution of the question." Now if that isn't "fillin'" enough to satisfy anybody then anybody is too internally particular to belong to the party of ability and progress.

CONGRESSMAN PAUL SOLO, who was elected to congress from an Ohio district last year at a special election held to fill a vacancy, as the only party of the protectionists made a tremendous effort, as a tobacco manufacturer and one of the richest men in the state, although he began life in West Virginia, where he was born, as a tobacco stripper, earning but a few dollars a year. He has built up a business of 1,000 men in his factory at Middleton, O., and it is his boast that he knows them by face and name. He has never reduced their wages and has never had a strike.

The Missouri state papers are after Senator Veto with sharp sticks for his attack on the president. The Macon trial is very plainly that if he "thinks the people are with him he is very much mistaken." They are not only "condemn him," but they are surprised and mortified. This prodding of the surrendering senators may make them decide to fight or otherwise. The vote he asked for twenty-four hours in order to lay the matter before the people, was granted and up to the time the answer had not yet been given. The only hope of Clarence is to make a deal with the troops at a dinner, which he is insisting on recognizing him as a revolutionist, for while Clarence did not shoot the bullet, the attack on the Bluffs, which was the result of the Nicaraguan rule, occurred after he had assumed charge.
