The lead of the Baltimore club lasted but a single day, Boston securing first place again on Monday and increasing it slowly until now it amounts to twenty points. New York is playing the strongest game in the league, and is now but six points behind Baltimore and twenty-six behind Boston. The season will close in the West in September, and as the three teams will wind up away from home the best traveler will bag the bunting. It still looks like Boston, but almost anything is liable to bappen. From Philadelphia to the end of the list it is merely a fight for place. MILLERS IN THE LEAD.

The Brewers Get Rather a Bad Thrashing.

The Millers auspiciously celebrated their return home by taking a "fall" out of the Brewers. It was a pretty contest, and the score was close and interesting for five innings, but in the sixth inning Barnes' batsmen piled up seven runs by good batting and base running. Stevens, the star twirler for the visitors was in the box but his curves and shoots were easily solved. Hines, especially, had a "good eye," and made two home-run drives, a double and two singles out of six times at the bat. Visner and Crooks each found the globe safely three times, and Parvin made a territic drive over the fence. with two men on bases. Twitchell and Taylor took the batting honors for the visitors, each making three safe hlts. Parvin pitched a fine game. He had greater speed than usual, and better control of the ball. The personnel of the Brewers is quite different than when the team was in Minneapolis on the last trip. Twitchell, Goodnough Long and Klopf are valuable acquisitions, and Manager Cushman believes that the team will hold its own for the rest of the season. The fielding of both teams was good. Hulen's muff of a pop fly was the only error for the hor

Reds Dropped One.

New York, Aug. 25.—The Reds lost this afternoon's game to the Brooklyns through their inability to hit Daub when they had men on bases. Dwyer also did good work in the box, but the easy mauner in which the home team found his twists in the first inning beat him. Shingle and Hoy's fielding were the features. Artle Latham of course was the chief attraction, and his presence drew a big crowd, in spite of the big attraction at Sheepshead Bay. The Thore was no time to waste now, and down the clever lightweight jockey sat, digging with his heels and digging for dear life. He could help his mount but little, for she was dead now, and every jump Brandywine was catching her. Now he was at her tail; then his white nose was at her saddle, and Griffin saw it poked under his eyes, and he had realized that he had to ride as hard as he knew how to land the rich stakes for Gideon & Daly and win a small fortune for the thousands who had bet on the filly he was riding. Inch by inch the colt was gaining on him and straining his eyes for the finish, now only a few yards away. The crowd cheered the filly, but it would have been cheering the colt had the race been fifty vards further. There was plenty of cheering for Griffin when he came back to be weighed, and all the way to the paddock he was carried in a floral jockey's chair. Gideon & Daly were happy, and so was the trainer, John Hyland, who thus added one more to the many rich stakes that they have won this year. Butterflies is a bay filly by Sir Dixon, out of

The original Futurity was won by Proctor Kuott, owned by Sam Bryant, of Kentucky. The following year W. L. Dressler led for about 100 yards, but then Wintry commenced to gain, and at the 200-yard mark he was even with Dressler. He kept on gaining, and when he had gone about 400 yards he was about half a block ahead of Dressler. At this point the latter was noticed to be calling for a boat, and it was found that he had been taken with a cramp, and he was brought to shore. Wintry finished alone in order to get the purse, and while he made fair time it will not stand as any record, on account of there being no contestant. The time was about sixteen minutes. Wintry finished in good form, and beyond a reasonable doubt had the race won when Dressler was seized with cramp. pacing in the face of a strong breeze and on an indifferent track in 2:10%, destroying Online's record of 2:11, and equaling the trotting mark of the St. Paul Reserves this afternoon, 2:10% made by Arlon as a two-yearold. Six thousand people went to Washington Park hoping to see Alix beat Nancy Hanks' record.

It rained a little last night, but the horsemen seemed to think it helped the track if anything. The time in the free-for-all would appear to contradict this. The free-for-all was hard fought, but the time ordinary for the class. The wind, however, was against fast work. It blew almost a gale down the back stretch. Yet the half was not reached by Alix until 1:04 had been recorded, and the mile was made in 2:071/4. Salisbury and McDowell feit dubious about the result, and had the judges announce in advance that the trial would be simply against Alix's time of 2:0514, although the mare would "do better if she could." There is no doubt that she was put to her best effort, and the task was simply too much for her. When Directly, therefore, came out and made his wonderful performance a few minutes later, there was much surprise. It is generally conceded that he will beat Arion's mark by over a second before the season closes.

Bantasy gave an exhibition mile in 2:08. She is not up to a great trial. The crowe saw a grand contest in the last two heats of the free-for-all. Only three started. Pixley was the opening favorite at 4 to 8, with Phoebe Wilkes at Tito 6. Phæbe Wilkes won on the first two heats rather easily, but in the third Nightingale came fast at the finish, and nade a dead heat with her. WANDERERS WALLOPED ... The Minnesotas Have a Picnic at Kittsondale.

Yesterday at Kittsondale the Minnesotas administered a severe drubbing to the Wanderers, scoring 143 to 48. On paper the teams seemed fairly well matched, but the bowling of Vaughan, who was very much on the spot, was too much for the Wanderers, his analysis reading six wickets for sixteen, which was well backed up by Jaffray, who cantured three wickets for nine. C. A. Miller was unfortunately run out for hing when he looked like scoring, and on Cunningham and Richardson getting logether there were still hopes of a fairly large score. The latter immediately started in to lift hard, being finnily caught for a stylish fifteen. This was the beginning of the end, the rest westhe beginning of the end, the rest failing to accomplish much, the countries of the small score of 43. During the interval the members were photographed at the magnition, and, after this trying ordeal owas passed, Capt. Donaldson sent in Napier and Davies to the bowling of Cunningham and Richardson. Both chowlers were well on the wicket, and runs came slowly till Vaughen and plaffray got together, when the stand of the day was made, the former playing with confidence and in good form. Several changes of bowling were tried without avail, runs coming freely, Vaughan, however, doing much of the scoring till he was caught behind the wicket by Wilde. After Vaughan's retirement Jaffray came out of his shell and sexted to score a an analysis. tirement Jaffray came out of his shell and started to score at a rapid pace, nitting the bowlers all over the ground, and kept the fielders busy all the time, he eventually being not out for a vigorous 65. There was a large crowd present, who were keenly interested in the game, many ladies also being present from both cities. The following is the

Foley's high run was 53, nearly duplicating his run of 54 made the previous week. Baron, in an exceedingly close game, was the victor in Tuesday night's game by a score of 300 to 298. Thayer was his opponent. As to the actual number of billiards made, handicaps considered, Thayer led by 88 points at the finish. Baron's creation average was 5 15-27, and that of Thayer 5 14-27. The actual averages of each were 5 15-27 and 4 17-27, respectively. It was an excellent contest. The most sensational feature thus far in the tournament occurred. Wednesday night, when Dickinson played, Sampson, and and Satanita raced today in the Royal Dorset club regatta for the Queen's cup. The course to and around the Hambles and return, to be sailed over twice. The Satanita won by four minutes. when Dickinson played Sampson and defeated the favorite 300 to 287. He and young Foley appeared at the table to contest for the twenty-third game, the former at 160 and Foley yesterday afternoon by a score of 15 to 10. Dr. Willie Cuff, the West side wonder, pitched for the Cherokees. The third game, the former at 100 and Foley at 225, with the reliable old-time player, Dr. Lawton, as the referee. The following table shows the exact standing of all the players to date: On next Saturday evening the bowl ing season of '94-95 will be inaugurated by the Wabashas with the opening practice game on Foley's alleys. The event will prove of interest to the bowl-ers of the Twip Cities, as it is one of the oldest and strongest organizations in St. a call for the committee to meet at the players have already been given in the GLOBE, and is conceded to be one of the very strongest that can be brought together. Then will come, in rapid succession, the appearance of the other clubs on the alleys with their membership and playing material displayed in their proper places on the alley black board for inspection. On Monday, Sept. 3, the Broadways; Tuesday, the old re-liable Summits; on Wednesday, the giant St. Pauls; on Thursday, Capt. Ed Good's Lafayettes; on Friday, the jolly Gophers. After all the names are on the board the teams as they on the board the teams as they will probably be made up for the winter tournament should not be difficult guessing, at least to those who are familiar with the grand sport and manly exercise. There is as yet some doubt as to what club two or three of the very St. Paul, with the feel. to what club two or three of the very strongest bowlers will join forces with. These men are holding off, it would seem, for the purpose of selecting the strongest team to play with. Nothing has yet been done, so far as can be ascertained, towards the formation of the picked team of the older generation of players for the winter sport. John Thill as yet has made no visible sign of any move in this direction. The following names have been mentioned in connection with such a team: Thiil, Damler, Deggendorf, Hermes, Wegeman and one or two others. Such a team would be regarded as the star of all the aggregations. It is stated on authority that the old University club will again come to the front with a strong team. There was a time when they were almost invincible. That was when the Nushkas were the champions. There have been no large scores made the past week.
