THE TRIP TO BUFFALO.

State Editorial Association Starts on Its Jolly Journey Today.

RIDE ON THE NORTHWEST. The Party Stops Off Only at the Soo, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo.

IT RETURNS NEXT FRIDAY. List of Editors Who Are Booked for Berths on the Boat.

A party of editors bent on fun, such as only the Editorial Association of Minnesota knows how to kick up, will be the aggregation leaving St. Paul for Duluth on the Eastern Minnesota at 1:35 this afternoon. At Duluth the party will embark at 10:30 tonight on the great steamer Northwest for Buffalo, there to be entertained by the Buffalo Press club. Of course the Buffalo scribblers have an idea of the West and the people that inhabit it, but they will know more after they have trotted a few lengths with their guests. All

Jokes aside, however, the Eastern entertainers will find guests worthy of their steel in the matter of brains, enterprise and wit.

The excursion committee of the state association is made up of H. G. Day, president of the Albert Lea Standard; M. J. Dowling, secretary, Kenville Star-

Faamer; C. P. Stine, chairman of the executive and excursion committee, Northwestern Printer, St. Paul; E. A. Paradis, Midway News, Merriam Park.

The only stops made on the trip will be at the Soo, Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo. At the latter point two days' stay will be made, and the party entertained by the Buffalo Press club. A trip to Niagara Falls will be a feature of the trip, the New York Central road furnishing the train as a compliment to the Northwestern editors. The Northwest will leave Buffalo Tuesday night, and Wednesday morning for the return trip, and will reach Duluth Friday of next week.

Following is the list of the excursion party booked for berths on the steamship Northwest from Sept. 7 to 14 inclusive:

C. A. Buck and wife, Arlington Enterprise; C. A. Bennett and wife, Granite Falls Journal; A. C. Belyea, Elbow Lake Herald; F. J. Clark and wife, Northwest Miller, Minneapolis; H. L. COMPANY D MEETING. FIRST HELD SINCE THE ENCAMPMENT. Lieut. Merrill, a Member of the Company Since 1881, Presented a Handsome Sword.

Last evening Company D, First regiment, N. G. S. M., assembled at the armory for the first time since the annual encampment of the regiment at Lakeview. The members of the company were present in large numbers, and much enthusiasm was displayed. The roll being called, Capt. Bean called out the names of the members who were present. Lieut. Merrill, a member of the company since 1881, presented a handsome sword, by Corporal F. A. Ryno, on behalf of the company. Although taken entirely by surprise Lieut. Merrill found words to thank his associates for their kind words and appropriate gift. Lieut. Merrill is one of the oldest active members of the company, having enlisted Sept. 28, 1881, and richly deserves the token of esteem bestowed upon him last evening. Messrs. Charles W. Fee, U. L. Moore, Fred P. Lange and Otto Sotokka were elected to membership in the company. The secretary was presented with a seal with which to properly attest official documents emanating from the company. A letter from William Ehrmann, a member of the company now residing in Davenport, Ia., was read.

CATHEDRAL CONCERT. Event of a High Order, Attended by a Large Audience. The sacred concert given last night by the Cathedral musical circle, which was the fourth of the annual series given by that organization, proved to be as great an artistic success as any that have been given in previous years. Those who assisted in the entertainment, besides the choir, were Miss Katherine Collins, who presided at the organ in her usual pleasing way; Misses Marion Keller and Anna Campbell, who appeared to good advantage in duet work; Miss Katherine O'Leary, who sang the solo in "Hear My Prayer"; Miss Julia Phelan, whose rendering of the solo "Come Unto Me" was excellent. Frank Danz Jr. contributed a violin solo, John F. Gehan sang "Out of the Depths," and the quartette consisting of first violin, Frank Danz Jr.; second violin, Fred Willa, Florian Faltbaum; cello, Eric Schlachter; assisted. Roelms' "Praise Be to God" was also very well given by Messrs. Zenius, Keating, Stark, Sourcey, Burke and Grattwohl, tenors, and Messrs. Gehan, Danz, Nilsson, Coffman, Morrow, Wilson and John, basses.

On the whole, the concert was a great success, and coming at night when musical events of a high class are scarce, it was much appreciated by a very enthusiastic audience.

Waked Up in Time. To the fact that a want of time in the system is the herald of approaching disease, hosts of invalids have adopted certain means of self-recovery from impending danger. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This benign tonic promotes, in the ordinary degree, digestion, assimilation, through which the blood is fertilized and made strength-yielding. Besides this, its activity of the liver, bowels and kidneys, which is a gain of vigor, is overcome. Appetite, as well as the ability to gratify it without injury, is stimulated, and the thorough medicinal cordial, which also has a tranquilizing effect upon nerves weak and quiet. Food, it should be remembered, only half invigorates the dyspeptic. By the use of the Bitters its nourishing properties are made available for the maintenance of the system and the infirmities of age use the Bitters.

ANNUAL REUNION. Sixth Minnesota Volunteers in St. Paul. This Forenoon. The Sixth regiment, Minnesota Infantry, will hold its annual reunion at the chamber of commerce this morning at 9 o'clock. Eight out of ten companies have sent in their company reports, giving the postoffice address of those living in the city, and the names of those who are also showing a list of their dead, amounting to over one-third and nearly one-half the original number.

From letters received a good attendance is expected, as most of this regiment was raised in this immediate vicinity. The principal speakers will be from St. Paul; B and D from St. Anthony and Minneapolis, and Company F from Stillwater. Company C coming from Faribault, Company E from Red Wing, H from Winona and K from Brownsville.

Col. William Crooks is the president, and Capt. Steen is the secretary of the regimental organization.

After the business report is finished, and the reading of the names of officers for the ensuing year, resolutions will be passed urging the G. A. R. national encampment at Pittsburg to accept the invitation from this city to designate St. Paul as the place for their national encampment in 1913, and such other business as may properly come before the regiment, which the ways will be invited to enjoy themselves as they may best elect.

G. O. P. EDITORS MEET.

Took All Day to Assemble, and They Lost Their Carriage Ride.

THEIR EVENING BANQUET. Less Than a Score of the Two Hundred Republican Editors in the State. GRACED THE OCCASION. Merriam the Toastmaster—Speeches by Editors and One by Dölliver.

Conspicuously prominent on the corridors of the principal hotels yesterday afternoon were noticed one who appeared indicated super-eminent gray matter in their craniums. It was needless to tell the man of average intelligence that these men were the editors of the influential press of the North Star state, men who had thrown up the car of the trip for the nonce, gave the devil a parting kick, slammed to the door of the sanctum sanctorum, trust the last consignment of lean chickens and dried vegetables which had been sent in for their subscription under the table, and hied them away to this land of milk and comparative honey. They needed this rest, most of them, for did they not have upon their shoulders the burden of the great G. O. P. of Minnesota? And they had a good time all day. To be sure, there was a "business" meeting at Republican headquarters at 5 p. m., where sixty-five of them unanimously said that they preferred death to dishonor, and consequently would not work and pray for Republicanism and Tans Bixby. Like the famous 600, they are brave men. They ordered the charge yesterday which will carry them to the cannon's mouth and the bayonet's thrust.

It took them all day to get together, and so they had no carriage ride, as was doubted. Some of them said that doubtless those who were stopping at other hotels than the Ryan were suffering from carriage sickness, but they did not mind that. It was a matter of life and death, and they were all of jolly good fellows, even if they were Republicans.

BANQUET AT THE RYAN. Less Than a Score of the Two Hundred Republican Editors Attended. The Republican state central committee is suffering from a bad cold, and the failure of its plans to secure a large attendance at the Republican editorial association of the state in this city. Tame Bixby took a letter from William Ehrmann, a member of the company now residing in Davenport, Ia., was read.

The mention of the names of Gov. McKinley and William B. Allison elicited applause. The name of C. K. Davis had by a single stroke placed himself in the ranks as one of the country's leaders. The mention of Senator Davis' name elicited the greatest applause of the evening.

Hon. C. K. Davis was greeted with hearty approval introduced by Gov. Merriam. Senator Davis had some reluctance in speaking on such an occasion. He had been speaking to the press for twenty-five years, and his voice had become familiar to them. He said that the Republican editors had treated him better than his deserts and made him what he is, a champion of any one to contradict the statement that there had been prosperity up to 1892. He mentioned the silver question as hurting business, but did not say why the Republican senators had retarded the passage of the silver coinage repeal bill.

Alluding to the tariff bill, he excused the slowness with which it was disposed of by outlining the policy of the protectionists to that of preventing its becoming a law.

He denounced the trading and bartering with the sugar and whisky trusts. It was plain to him that the policy of the Democratic party is a persistence to discuss the protective question.

Senator Davis closed with his customary allusion to the flag that waves over the country school house.

Dr. F. B. Bartlett of the Tower Journal, was called upon, and said that editors are not speakers, but writers, and preferred to sit behind a typewriter, and writing an editorial, and then go to sleep thinking what a roar of thunder would be raised if they were the editorial. As to the presence of the editors, he said they were present to get inspiration from the men from Washington. He felt that the light of this year is not an easy one to win, but the example of congress would make the light all the more precious.

He said that Republicans who had gone out of the party are getting into the Populist camp, but he would advise them to come straight back to the party and help fight an old-fashioned war. He believed Democrats to be good fellows, but they lacked brains. He thought the best thing the Democratic party has done is to restrict immigration.

The recognition of Duluth—He recognized as the monarch of the country the public press, and he felt like bowing to it. He would like to see the press to the one thing American and proceeded with his customary A. P. A. speech, declaring that the Democratic party had never been an American party. He had preserved a copy of "Pack" containing a cartoon which he proposed to use as a campaign text, illustrating the opening of the gates of the country to the world outside.

List of Editors. The list of editors present, with a possible exception of one or two overlooked ones, is as follows:

C. E. Whitney, of the Marshall News-Gazette; Clint L. Luce, Albert Lea Enterprise; J. H. Mullen, Littlefield Review; J. M. Manchester, Lake Benton News; J. P. Mattson, Warren Star; C. A. Marshall, Northwestern Miller, Minneapolis; F. J. Meyer, Record, Minneapolis; J. D. O'Brien and wife, Irish Standard, Minneapolis; E. R. Peterson, wife and W. J. Winter, Granite Falls Tribune; O. H. Phillips and wife, Dodge Center Record; E. A. Paradis and wife, Midway News, Merriam Park; E. R. Peterson, Littlefield Independent; E. C. Pratt, Times, Minneapolis; G. S. Pease and wife, Union, Anoka; C. W. Stanton, wife and Miss Edith Pease, Albert Lea Enterprise; A. W. Swanson, wife and Miss Britta Lonsdale, Royaltown Banner; Miss Minnie Spencer, Gazette, St. Paul; A. J. Schaller and wife, Hastings Democrat; C. P. Stine, Northwestern Printer, St. Paul; John Sinclair, Pioneer Press, St. Paul; Irving Todd Jr., Hastings Gazette; W. T. Thompson, Duluth Herald; J. E. Townsend, Herald, Belle Plaine; S. C. Wheeler, LeRoy Independent; Harry Wack, St. Paul; George B. Winslip, Herald, Grand Forks; B. Wurst, Der Wanderer, St. Paul; W. W. Williams, wife and Mrs. M. Taylor, Representative, Minneapolis.

Objects of Republicanism, and expressed pleasure at being given an opportunity to confer with the candidates and business men. By the latter he probably meant the men who furnish the money to keep the country press in line for the party. He expressed some regret that the editors had not been able to dictate the state ticket, but hoped they would give it their support. He made an indirect allusion to the senatorial fight, and inferred that there should be a union of sentiment between the state ticket and the legislative tickets.

Gov. Ramsey sent a letter expressing regret that he and his years would not permit his being present. Gov. Knute Nelson sent a brief note, reciting that his going to Huckleby with the fire commissioners prevented his being present.

Hon. J. P. Dölliver, of Fort Dodge, Ia., the orator of the evening, was introduced by a candidate for a fourth term in congress. Mr. Dölliver is a brilliant young man and delivered an address that was received with a considerable amount of applause. His intended home was Hon. Thomas Reed struck a more responsive cord than did the little bouquet given by Gov. Merriam in his speech by mentioning Gov. McKinley.

Mr. Dölliver expressed the delight of his presence at a table with the editors, business men and politicians of conspicuous diseases, 39; diphtheria 11, scarlet fever 25, small-pox 3; died of diphtheria, 1; died of scarlet fever, 1; number of bodies received for interment from elsewhere, 18; number of bodies shipped for interment to other parts, 14; number of burials reported for month, 270; deaths from violence, 9; total area, square miles, 55; total area of water, square miles, 107; length of water pipe, miles, 40,000; gallons per day, 40,000,000.
