Creedon Quickly Went Down Before the Australian Wonder.

TWO REMARKABLE ROUNDS.

The Most Marvelous of the Kind Ever Seen in the Country.

CORBETT IS CHALLENGED.

Fitzsimmons Reiterates His Demand for a Go With the Champion.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 26.—The glove contest between Robert Fitzsimmons, of Newark, N. J., and Dan Creedon, hailing from St. Paul, for a purse of $5,000, took place in the arena of the Olympic club tonight. They fought as middleweights at 154 pounds. Both men are Australians by birth, but Fitzsimmons is now an American citizen by adoption. This was the start event of the carnival, and was a match that had attracted much interest, and more than that, most of the pugilistic matters of recent date. Fitzsimmons has been so prominently before the public for some years that any match in which he was a participant was bound to create interest throughout the entire country. An additional feature in the...

BOB FITZSIMMONS.

Importance of the match was the bearing it has to a proposed meeting between Fitzsimmons and Corbett. Fitzsimmons has been most persevering in his efforts to secure a match with Champion Heavyweight Corbett, and from time to time has been put off with the reminder that he was not in his class. Corbett first named Choyinski as the man likely to be chosen to fight with Fitzsimmons, and then he was told by the champion that he would have to go with Creedon to place himself in a position to talk fight.

Comparatively little was known of Creedon by the general public, although the visitors from St. Louis were enthusiastic in their praises of the man. Despite that fact, however, Fitz remained a prohibitive favorite, the pool room odds being hunted at from 3 to 10 and 1 to 5, while as good as 5 to 2 could be had against Creedon.

When the men entered the ring for the great contest Fitzsimmons looked, indeed, formidable. Fitz was neatly drawn, and but for traces of pinky heat his skin was as white as a baby's. His enormous shoulders and chest, when compared with his narrow waist and hips, were particularly marked. His long, light arms and legs were covered with sinuous muscles that gave every indication of terrible force and speed. His every movement in the ring was like that of a panther watching his prey and ready to spring upon it.

Creedon, as he appeared, presented a stockier look, and all the lines of his symmetrical body indicated strength and excellent condition.

Fitzsimmons had something to the good in height and reach, but as he stood with his legs apart, the height of Creedon, it was not so marked as it might have been. There were probably 5,000 spectators present. The atmosphere was brilliantly lighted. The props of the stables enclosure were drawn taut, and presented a bright appearance with their red covering, about which was wrapped a golden cord. When Referee Duffy examined the scales at 8:30 there was a hum of 11 as he thrust through the audience. Creedon was the first to enter the ring, closely followed by Fitzsimmons. Creedon weighed 155 pounds and Fitzsimmons 157.

The seconds were: For Creedon, Thomas Tracey, Mike Dunn, Tommy White and Charles Daly. For Fitzsimmons, Jack Dempsey, James Dwyer, Kid McCoy and Samuel H. Stern.

After the usual instructions the men advanced to the center of the ring, and the fight was on.

Round One.—Both men felt each other for opening. Fitzsimmons landed a heavy right on the jaw and the men had to be forced from a clinch. Creedon received two heavy rights on the jaw and three rights on the body. Creedon knocked out a heavy left on the jaw.

Round Two.—Creedon missed a light left swing for the head, but he landed two rights on the body. Fitzsimmons scored two heavy rights and knocked Creedon down with a heavy right hander on the jaw. Creedon rose with a heavy right on the jaw and the men had to be forced from a clinch. Creedon received two heavy rights on the jaw and three rights on the body. Creedon knocked out a heavy left on the jaw.

The Wildest Demonstration ever seen in the ring followed. Ref-

FREE DUFFY AWAKED THE FIGHT TO FITZSIMMONS, WHO WAS LOUDLY CHEERED.

Referee Duffy announced Fitzsimmons' challenge to Champion Corbett. The applause that followed was immense.

The work of Fitzsimmons in the second round was the most marvelous ever seen in this section of the country. The right-handers which Creedon received on the head in one, two, three order amazed the spectators and dazed the recipient, but they were nothing from the point of view of the new champion. The three heavy lefts delivered in the one, two, three order on Creedon's nose, which floored the latest aspirant for middleweight honors, and caused Creedon to fall an easy prey to Fitzsimmons. The main fighting was done in the first two rounds, and it was before, even in all night battles, Creedon was carried to his corner gasping for breath, and showing traces of blood trickling from his nose. He was comparatively unharmed, and smiling, and was chatting with his attendants. The inference there is that he was beaten in one minute and forty seconds, the time of the second round. His seconds and backers were started beyond measure, and even those who desired Fitzsimmons' defeat, and tulla of vindication at the tall man's marvelous lunge. After the fight was over, the crowd was split into two camps, one of which was explained to them, but it was a fact that it happened before their eyes in the great Olympic club's arena.

"In what I say let it be understood that I speak for no party. I will neither vote nor vote for Senator Hill for governor. My indictment against him is as follows:

"First, I indict him for that from March 4, 1883, he has done everything he could to harass, annoy and obstruct the Democratic administration in the State of New York."

"Second, I regard him as primarily responsible for the offense in the state of New York in the case of the Maynard trial, which was tried and convicted in the State of New York."

"The only real defense Judge Maynard had was that he was a good-natured fellow and that he was not a politician. He was a man of high character and high ability. He was a man of high character and high ability. He was a man of high character and high ability."

The commissioner says he can find no law which authorizes the departing his annual the settlers permission to cut the burned timber on their homesteads, yet he is enough of a practical lumberman to know that this timber must be cut the coming winter in order to save it. Lumbermen Will Ask Congress to Take Action.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Commissioner Lamoreaux, of the general land office, has decided to embody in his annual report a recommendation that Congress should immediately take some action for the relief of settlers on homesteads in the western districts of Wisconsin and Minnesota. The commissioner says he can find no law which authorizes the departing his annual the settlers permission to cut the burned timber on their homesteads, yet he is enough of a practical lumberman to know that this timber must be cut the coming winter in order to save it. FULL $4,500,000 IN GOLD

Will Be Planked Down by Stockholders at the Sheriff's Sale.

SHERIFF EGGE'S BIG CHARGE.

He Asks $25,000 for Knocking the Road Down in October.

There has been a great deal published in the newspapers of late relative to the Minneapolis & St. Louis, and what is to become of it is the result of its six years' bond litigation. The report has been widely printed that the road would pass into the hands of either the Rock Island or the Illinois Central. The Illinois Central, it is said, has been the much-sought-for truth. The stockholders' committee of the Minneapolis & St. Louis, as chairman, as he is also president of the Central Trust company, has solved the riddle. By the terms neither the Rock Island nor the Illinois Central are in it in the least. In short, the committee has arranged with those holding the majority of the equipment and improvement bonds to take them up. It was the mortgage upon these that was foreclosed for $4,500,000, for which the sale is to be made at Minneapolis early in October. The purchasers will be on hand with the money—all in gold coin—at Sheriff Egge's office at 2:30 o'clock p. m. He desires $25,000 for his fees in the sale, which looks a little steep.
