

MINNEAPOLIS.

POLITICAL PARAGRAPHS.

It is said that the Democratic party has secured two columns of space in the Echo de l'Ouest, the organ of the French Canadians, which is a staunch Republican paper.

Judge M. W. Meagher has received a request from the Cook county, Illinois, Democratic committee to speak in Chicago during the campaign. The judge will hardly accept, as he is liable to go to New York to stump for Hill.

Prof. William R. Tobey made a speech in Michigan City, N. D., last Saturday, under the auspices of the Nelson County Populist committee, and so pleased were the folks of the "Banana Belt" that Attorney General Standish has requested him to deliver a series of addresses, naming his terms and dates.

The Republicans are busy arranging for their blowout in the Sixth Ward Relief hall tonight, where the campaign will be formally opened with an address by Gov. Knute Nelson. The governor has been a great ad do wherever he has appeared this fall, in many places having to address open-air meetings. Senator Washburn will be present, and there will be brief remarks by Robert G. Evans, Frank M. Nye and possibly Loren Fletcher.

There is trouble among the Republicans of the Third ward over the nomination of George W. Duran as an alternate candidate. As a result, there is the usual move to secure an independent candidate, and a meeting has been called for Monday evening to be held at 102 Dupont avenue north, when it is expected that a candidate will be nominated.

The Democratic city committee will meet this morning, as will the legislative committee on that side of the house, and this evening the Populist city committee will meet.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Tammany society will be held at 404 W. Wright block, 2:30 p. m., Sunday, Sept. 30.

MINNEAPOLIS GLOBULES.

Dr. Perry, the hypnotist, will give an entertainment to members of the Press club this afternoon at the Press club rooms, Rochester block.

There will be a matinee performance of "The Police Inspector" at the Bijou this afternoon. The matinee performance of "Rush City" will begin a week's engagement.

The faculty concert of the Manning School of Oratory was given last night at the Lyceum theater. There was a large and enthusiastic audience present. The programme was exceptionally good.

George Grady, a ten-year-old boy living at 2024 Thirteenth avenue south, was severely injured yesterday afternoon in the Milwaukee yards in Minneapolis. He was removed to Asbury hospital in the South side patrol wagon.

Norman King and Charles Loomis were arraigned in the police court yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault and battery preferred by private Detective Charles von Arndt, who had his face so badly punched a few nights ago in the rear of Sheikh's saloon, and who claims that King and Loomis did the job. The case will be heard Oct. 5.

Miss Marlowe presented the last change of bill at the Grand last night, when she appeared in the "Theater" "Much Ado About Nothing." Her personation of this delightfully interesting character was in strict accord with previous artistic achievements of the week and many curtain calls. At the matinee today she will appear in "The School for Scandal."

Small contributions to the relief fund for the benefit of the fire sufferers are coming in to the local committee and Mayor Easton almost daily. The finance committee, though it would like to wind up its business soon, is hardly able to do so. It was reported that a final meeting was to be held tomorrow, but such is not the case, and no meeting will probably be held until the latter part of next week.

Two young men, who gave their names as Fred Johnson and William Kule, were arrested yesterday by Inspector Hoy upon a charge of robbing and robbing A. Silverthorn in a barn near First avenue north and Seventh street, and brutally beat him, afterwards robbing him of his pocket-book containing $5. Silverthorn identified the men, and they were arraigned in the police court yesterday afternoon, and had their cases set for Oct. 1.

A large supply of Dr. Price's Baking Powder was recently received from Cape Colony and the Transvaal, South Africa. Its fame is world wide.

MR. PARRY'S DILEMMA.

He Has Got Himself Into a Perplexing Tangle.

From now on there will be interesting times in the Seventh ward. It appears that certain members of the council, who are against the returning of Aid Woodward, have taken it upon themselves to meddle in the fight. A short time ago a half a dozen of these gentlemen got together and decided they did not want Woodward a member of next year's council. They are organizing a new Snyder, of the Second ward, and Loye, of the Fourth ward, and two others to represent the Seventh ward and see what they could do.

The committee got after Fred Inspector Parry and asked him to drop out of the race, and to give up his strength to Colburn and work against Woodward. For doing this the committee promised him their support and that of several other aldermen for the bread inspectorship next year. Mr. Parry, it is understood, has not fully decided what to do, and is in a perplexing case. He wants the city to give him some sort of a job, that is certain, but exactly how he is to get it bothers him not a little.

Ford is Acquitted.

Edward A. Ford, who was tried in the district court on a charge of arson, was acquitted yesterday morning by the jury in the case. J. J. Reese was his attorney. The specific charge was that of setting fire to the Novelty china store on First avenue, where he was employed in the capacity of a clerk.

All for Thian.

The French-Canadian-American vote of the city, are organizing a campaign club, the name of which will be the Thian French-Canadian-American club. It is expected that the membership will be very large. There is no doubt but the members will do a lot of hustling.

TO YOUNG MEN'S WEALTH. We Offer a Remedy Which, Used as Directed, Insures Safety to Life. "MOTHERS' FRIEND" Rules confinement, its Pain, Horror and Risk, as many two. My wife used only two bottles. She was easily and quickly relieved, and now doing splendidly. S. S. MORROW, Harbor, N. C. Sent by express, with no receipt, 50c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. BRADFIED REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

JOE'S BOND SCHEME.

President Kitchell's Electric Lighting Proposition is Finally Agreed To.

THE VOTERS WILL DECIDE.

City Council Decides to Allow It to Go to the People.

LIBRARY AND PARK BOARDS.

Democratic and Prohibitionist Nominations -- Newspaper in Trouble.

The council meeting last night was a particularly harmonious one. A lot of routine business was transacted, but there was a happy forgetfulness on part of the aldermen to indulge in bickering and squabbling. One of the important measures passed was that of Ald. Kitchell's electric lighting proposition whereby the voters will have an opportunity to decide whether or not they want a corporation plant to pay for it by the issuance of $300,000 in bonds.

A petition, bearing several hundred signatures, requesting the council to allow the central market company the "customary privileges and exemptions" was presented. It was held by the petitioners that if the requests were granted the company would hasten the construction of the market. The petition, of course, came from T. B. Walker, and what he wants is to have his water and perhaps other taxes exempted. The committee on markets will look into the matter.

Ald. Loye and others opposed Ald. Schwartz's motion which proposed to have the portions of Hennepin avenue between the rails and tracks with asphalt. It was held by the petitioners that if the requests were granted the company would hasten the construction of the market. The petition, of course, came from T. B. Walker, and what he wants is to have his water and perhaps other taxes exempted. The committee on markets will look into the matter.

Rev. William Wilkinson, of the Church of St. Andrew, asked permission to sneak to the council regarding a petition from one of his parishioners asking for a resolution in favor of Ald. Bradish's objection to the "Hennepin Avenue" taken up, and in consequence the cleric was obliged to keep silent. He left the church at the door, but a pleasant frame of mind, muttering something about "the arrogance of public servants to the people who pay taxes."

President Kitchell's Victory.

The committee on ways and means reported adversely on President Kitchell's resolution to place the proposition for issuing $300,000 worth of bonds for an electric light plant, before the people at the coming municipal election. The speaker, in speaking to the committee, remarked that he was certain the plan would prove acceptable to the public, when its benefits and the profits accruing to the city from its operation are fully known. He convinced five-sixths of the voters would cast their ballots in favor of it were given the opportunity. Several amendments were offered, but did not carry. The president's original motion was passed by 17 votes to 3, though not before vigorous speeches in opposition had been made. The question will be added to the ticket and voted upon as any other proposition relating to the public well.

President Kitchell has had a hard time to bring his pet scheme to a favorable focus. Away last April he commenced an agitation of the question of the city owning and operating its electric plant. He ran the gamut of the courts with it, both district and supreme, and is finally ready to appeal to the voters. On recommendation of the committee on ways and means Blind John was ordered to vacate the corner at the intersection of Washington and Hennepin avenues, where he has conducted a confectionery and peanut box for the past several years. There is an ordinance prohibiting the sidewalk being blocked, and the committee was obliged to recommend Blind John's removal. Dr. R. Wagner, the owner of the property at the corner, demanding it. Where the old fellow will go now is, to him, a serious question.

Ald. Loye got a trifle mixed in his dates when his ordinance prohibiting walking on Nicollet avenue came up to be voted for. He was not sure the ordinance was the one he desired to father, and it took some time to straighten it out. The ordinance was finally passed.

An attempt was made to regulate heavy traffic on Nicollet avenue by an ordinance prohibiting lumber from being piled up and other wagons from appearing there at all, but it met defeat.

What's the use of wasting time with the fire cooking and the fire cooking? Baking powder saves time and money.

BOARD NOMINATIONS.

Democrats and Prohibitionists Arrange for Library and Park.

The Democratic committee appointed to make nominees for the city board met last night in the rooms of the Hennepin Democratic league, New York Life building. The committee had two boards to arrange for, library and park. The board of education nominations were made at a meeting held last Monday night. Last night's meeting passed off quietly and harmoniously. It took but a short time to make the nominations, in each instance by one formal ballot being taken. The meeting decided at the outset to ballot for the four places on the park board at one time and for the two places on the library board at one time. This facilitated matters and led to an early adjournment and satisfaction on all hands. There were nine candidates for the four positions on the park board, namely, Judge J. P. Rea, Prof. Folwell, Dr. George C. Ricker, Albert Paris, Albert Cloutier, E. B. Ames, J. C. Oswald and B. Ames, Ald. Joseph Ingenhart and P. P. Swenson. The candidates for the library board were J. S. Incales, Prof. Wilhelm Peterson, Titus March, B. F. Nelson, and O. C. Merriam and Rev. William Wilkins. The first ballot brought a nomination for Prof. Peterson and Mr. Marek.

Prohibition Nominations.

The prohibitionists met in their headquarters in the Wright block and made the following nominations: Park Board--Prof. Folwell, W. J. Dean, W. M. Lawrence, Dr. C. H. Leonard. Library Board--T. B. Walker and Prof. Wilhelm Peterson. Prof. Peterson, the Democratic nominee, is therefore endorsed by the cold water party. For the board of education the committee endorsed Rev. Falk. The Prohibitionist, B. F. Nelson, the Democratic nominee, is already the nominee of the Prohibitionists. L. J. Van Fossen, assistant county

THE SAINT PAUL DAILY GLOBE.

Seventh Annual Meeting of a State Association.

The seventh annual meeting of the Church Sunday School Association of the Episcopal Diocese of Minnesota, with about 100 delegates, was held yesterday in Gothic church. In the morning holy communion was celebrated, and Bishop Gilbert delivered a short address on the importance of Sunday school training for children.

UNIVERSITY CONTESTS. Oratorical Association Changes Time Schedule. The oratorical association of the university held a meeting yesterday for the purpose of changing the time of the preliminary contests which the final oratorical contests will be changed. It was unanimously decided to adopt the amendment reported by Clarence Miller, which provides that the preliminary contests shall be held in the school year immediately preceding the final oratorical contest. The first preliminary contest on composition shall be held between Nov. 15 and Jan. 15, at the time appointed by the president, and in this all members of the association can enter.

INDICTED FOR LIBEL. Sanford and Briggs Get Into Rather Deep Water. A little sensation was sprung yesterday morning at the district court, when it was announced that Ernest Sanford and A. Briggs, editors and proprietors of the weekly newspaper, had been indicted by the grand jury for criminal libel. Tom Lucas was the cause of the indictment, and he secured the grand jury to indict the newspaper in question. In a recent issue an article was printed which bore the heading "Went for the Fool" in which Tom Lucas was referred to as a "traitor to organized labor," a "mouthy hypocrite." Several other pleasing personal traits were alluded to in a sly and clever manner. In fact, Mr. Lucas did not appear in the light of a white-washed angel, and naturally his friends were indignant. The indicted newspaper men were arraigned in the criminal court in the forenoon at 10 o'clock. William Briggs appeared as their attorney, and the case was set for Oct. 30. Briggs had no trouble in securing bail, but Sanford declined to do so, and he was committed to the county jail.

Sanford changed his mind last night, and agreed to the bond which his lawyer had concluded to let the jail experiment go to some other fellow.

Sanford and Briggs are well known to the newspaper men of the Twin Cities, both gentlemen having been connected with the larger dailies. Lucas is also well known, especially in Minneapolis where he has been connected with many radical political movements.

GRAND JURY WORK.

Yesterday Was Profitable in Business and Indictments. The end of the grand jury term, for at the close of the session last evening an adjournment was taken until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Yesterday was prolific in indictments, as many as twelve bench warrants being placed in the hands of the sheriff. A number of these were for Minnetonka points, and it is said are for Excelsior blind pizgers.

John H. Barke, the Guaranty Loan Necessities, Charles N. Hamblin, formerly with the Guaranty Loan company, and at the present time in the employ of the Minneapolis Trust company, and William Gray, the Guaranty Loan bookkeeper, who won laurels during the Circuit trial as a star bookkeeper, were all called before the grand jury yesterday afternoon and that august body is said to have authorized the indictment against the officers of that ill-fated company. At the session Monday, several things will come up before the grand jury for their determination, among them being what disposition to make of the Hatcher case, which has been reserved for a free trial after other cases had all been attended to.

A CANADIAN'S VIEWS.

Sir William C. Van Horne Talks About the Tariff.

Yesterday a distinguished railroad official, Sir William C. Van Horne, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway company, arrived in Minneapolis and registered at the West hotel. Van Horne was present at a meeting of the Soo officials in the afternoon, the nature of which they refused to make public. They say that the meeting had anything to do with transcontinental rates, being merely, they claim, a discussion of railroad matters generally. Regarding Senator Higgins' remarks upon the annexation of Canada, President Van Horne is of opinion that the senator spoke rashly when he said that Canada was a natural enemy of the United States. "I do not intend to save my life," continued Van Horne, "how Senator Higgins' arrives at the conclusion. The statement on the part of the senator is an absurdity. The senator evidently thinks that unless Miss Canada consents to get out a marriage license she must be an enemy, so he emulates the small boy and fires stones."

"Does the tariff affect Canada?" was asked him by a reporter.

"I can't say it does, favorably or otherwise," the McKinley tariff bill forced Canada to adapt many of its products to the requirements of the English market. I believe in reciprocity, at least so far as natural products are concerned. On such as coal, iron and lumber, let us reciprocate at once, but on manufactured commodities--well, perhaps we had better wait. I don't want to be placed on record as disapproving of new things, but it seems to me that there has been too much experimenting in business theories. Certainly the experience of the world amounts to something, and should not be passed lightly, at least in matters of trade."

They never had better cooking in the White House than those they use Dr. Price's Baking Powder.

PECULIAR PROCEEDINGS.

Indulged in by W. S. Hamilton, Recently Assigned.

Yesterday morning Judge Elliot filed a decision in the matter of the assignment of W. S. Hamilton. The decision allowed the creditors to participate in the assets without filing releases. Among the findings of fact there are some peculiar statements. One is that no books or records were ever kept by Hamilton. The court also found that the stock for $500, and did not record it until two days before the assignment. It is claimed that a number of the creditors are not made according to law. It

When Baby was Sick, We gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, We clung to Castoria.

When she became Miss, We clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, We gave them Castoria.

Castoria is the only medicine that is so safe and so effective.

It is the only medicine that is so safe and so effective.

It is the only medicine that is so safe and so effective.

It is the only medicine that is so safe and so effective.

It is the only medicine that is so safe and so effective.

It is the only medicine that is so safe and so effective.

It is the only medicine that is so safe and so effective.

It is the only medicine that is so safe and so effective.

It is the only medicine that is so safe and so effective.

It is the only medicine that is so safe and so effective.

It is the only medicine that is so safe and so effective.

SOMETHING UNUSUAL.

It Sent a Thrill of Wonder Everywhere.

A Well-Known Woman is the Subject of Congratulation.

She Has a Peculiarly Interesting Story to Tell the Public.

Such events as this are not often made public, but they have occurred so frequently lately that they are attracting attention everywhere. Mrs. C. L. French, a well-known woman, has suffered from a nervous complaint which has terribly injured her health. It was brought on by overwork, and that is just the way many of our weakling city systems. Do not take some one else's word for it, but suffer from a nervous complaint, we will surely fall into the same condition that Mrs. French did. Here is her remarkably interesting letter, which it will well repay you to read:

"Three years ago I was completely prostrated from nervous trouble. I could not do anything. I was confined to my bed much of the time and was unable to do my business for three months. I had trouble with my stomach, my food distressing me constantly. I could not sleep, for my whole nervous system was prostrated. My trouble was brought on by overwork and loss of sleep, taking many remedies without avail. I commenced to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and in a few days I was able to get up. I continued it until now, when I can say that I am as well as I ever was. I certainly think this is the best medicine I ever knew of. I consider it a great thing to say that from so severe a case as mine to be restored to perfect health and to feel that a time is something quite unusual."

"I heartily recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to all, and as I have never seen a person who might use it."

It is impossible to express the good feeling which the entire family is doing suffering humanity. It strengthens the nerves, invigorates the blood, regulates the action of the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, and cures many diseases. Try it in your own case and see how rapidly it gives you back your health and strength. It is a safe and reliable remedy, and is discovered by Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th Street, New York City, the most successful specialist in the treatment of nervous diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

THE SAFER WAY.

He Was Honest, but Did Not Want to Be Tempted.

Col. Kirkcaldie, of Kentucky, was a distinguished officer in a blooming red nose, and while he had his weaknesses he was held to be scrupulously honest. One day a business man called him into his office. "Colonel," he said, "I want to leave a valuable package with you for a week or so."

"Very good, sir," replied the colonel; "where is it?"

"It's here in my desk. I want to say to you that it is a gallon of whisky. Are you to be trusted with it?"

"My honor's at stake, sir," he returned, haughtily.

"Yes, I understand; but this is not drug store whisky; it's genuine thirty-year-old stuff."

The colonel's eyes shone.

"The man took me as he took the whisky and the colonel inspected it carefully, and satisfied himself that it was as represented; then he set it down on the floor."

"Excuse me, sir," he said slowly, "but I think you had better store that whisky in the safe deposit company."

The faint sweet odor of apple blossoms is not more delicate than party into which Dr. Price's Baking Powder enters.

FAMOUS WIDOWS OF HISTORY.

Women Who Have Figured in the World's Civilization.

There is a Hebrew tradition that Eve survived Adam, and was, therefore, the first widow. The list of sovereigns records the names of 326 widows who are recognized in their own names or as regents.

Queen Victoria is the most powerful widow on the globe. She rules 1,470,000 subjects, and her personal property is valued at $75,725,557 of its population. She became a widow at the age of 19.

Naomi and Ruth were both widows, and the cleverness displayed by the former in hoodwinking old Boaz and inducing him to marry the pretty Moabitess widow was a masterpiece of matrimonial tact that did her great credit.

Catherine Parr, the lady who had the singular good fortune to become the widow of Henry VIII, was a woman in luck if she had remained a widow. She married Sir Thomas Seymour, with the result that she was hanged, and finally died under suspicious circumstances.

One of the most famous widows of antiquity was Agrippina, the widow of Germanicus, who was the first of her husband's heirs. Her husband's death was a mystery, and she was accused of poisoning him. She was executed, and her husband's death was a mystery.

Lady Huntington, the illustrious widow of the first Earl of Huntington, lived for forty-five years. She lived to be ninety years old and retained the vigor of middle life almost to the end. Her numerous charities were innumerable, and she founded a number of chapels and schools for the Methodists. Not long ago she was reported to be worth over £100,000 in public and private charity.

Catherine de Medici, widow of Henry II, ruled France with absolute power for many years during the nominal reign of her son, Francis II, and her grandson, Charles IX. It was under her auspices that the massacre of St. Bartholomew was perpetrated. In her last days she perceived the evil consequences of her policy in regard both to the people and the nobility and advised a change of course.

Mme. de Pompadour (Mme. d'Estrees) was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

Mme. de Pompadour was a great widow. Her husband was killed in the battle of Fontenoy, and she was left with a young child. She was a great favorite of Louis XV, and she was the mistress of the king.

SOMETHING UNUSUAL.

It Sent a Thrill of Wonder Everywhere.

A Well-Known Woman is the Subject of Congratulation.

She Has a Peculiarly Interesting Story to Tell the Public.

Such events as this are not often made public, but they have occurred so frequently lately that they are attracting attention everywhere. Mrs. C. L. French, a well-known woman, has suffered from a nervous complaint which has terribly injured her health. It was brought on by overwork, and that is just the way many of our weakling city systems. Do not take some one else's word for it, but suffer from a nervous complaint, we will surely fall into the same condition that Mrs. French did. Here is her remarkably interesting letter, which it will well repay you to read:

"Three years ago I was completely prostrated from nervous trouble. I could not do anything. I was confined to my bed much of the time and was unable to do my business for three months. I had trouble with my stomach, my food distressing me constantly. I could not sleep, for my whole nervous system was prostrated. My trouble was brought on by overwork and loss of sleep, taking many remedies without avail. I commenced to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and in a few days I was able to get up. I continued it until now, when I can say that I am as well as I ever was. I certainly think this is the best medicine I ever knew of. I consider it a great thing to say that from so severe a case as mine to be restored to perfect health and to feel that a time is something quite unusual."

"I heartily recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to all, and as I have never seen a person who might use it."

It is impossible to express the good feeling which the entire family is doing suffering humanity. It strengthens the nerves, invigorates the blood, regulates the action of the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, and cures many diseases. Try it in your own case and see how rapidly it gives you back your health and strength. It is a safe and reliable remedy, and is discovered by Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th Street, New York City, the most successful specialist in the treatment of nervous diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

THE SAFER WAY.

He Was Honest, but Did Not Want to Be Tempted.

Col. Kirkcaldie, of Kentucky, was a distinguished officer in a blooming red nose, and while he had his weaknesses he was held to be scrupulously honest. One day a business man called him into his office. "Colonel," he said, "I want to leave a valuable package with you for a week or so."

"Very good, sir," replied the colonel; "where is it?"