

THE official reports show that no baking powder received an award over the Royal at the Chicago World's Fair.

The judge of awards on baking powder writes that the claim by another company is false; that no such award was given to it.

The Royal Baking Powder is the purest and strongest baking powder made, and has received the highest award at every fair, wherever exhibited in competition with others.

Chicago Federal Grand Jury Gets After the Principal Officials.

SIX INDICTMENTS MADE On Charges of Violation of Interstate Law by Rebates.

ONE AGAINST REINHART.

Warrants Are to be Issued Today—Directors Get the Dutch Proxies.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—The federal grand jury made a final report of the investigation of the rebates alleged to have been paid by the Santa Fe railroad in violation of the interstate-commerce law, and returned six indictments against officials of the road and shippers who, it is claimed, received rebates. One of the men indicted was Joseph W. Reinhart, ex-president of the company and until recently one of the receivers of the road, and one of the shippers against whom a true bill was returned was Nelson Morris, the well-known Chicago packer. Joined in the same indictment with Mr. Reinhart was John A. Hanley, general freight traffic manager of the road two weeks ago, and is not now connected with the company. The names of the other persons included in the indictments were not disclosed by the federal officials, and will not be until warrants have been served. It is generally believed, however, that the other indictments are against Isaac Thompson, a shipper of Kansas City, G. H. Hammond of Hammond, Ind., another shipper, and a clerk in the employ of the Atchison road, who, it is alleged, made out the rebates.

Mr. Reinhart was general auditor of the Santa Fe at the time the rebates were made, and he is charged with the fact that from April 1 to Nov. 1, 1892, Reinhart and Hanley, being agents of the company, received from Isaac Thompson, of Kansas City, shipments of cattle from Kansas City to Chicago, amounting in the aggregate to 178 cars. During this period the regular rate for live stock between those two points was 23 1/2 cents per 100 pounds. This was the rate given in the tariffs filed in accordance with law with the interstate-commerce commission. The second count of the indictment charges that from Feb. 1, to Oct. 1, 1892, the defendants received from G. H. Hammond & Co. 506 carloads of cattle for shipment from Kansas City to Hammond, Ind. The legal rate was the same as in the case of Thompson, 23 1/2 cents, and the Hammond company was charged and paid freight at this rate. On Oct. 12, the indictment charges that the defendants paid to W. P. Jenkins, an agent of G. W. Hammond & Co., a rebate of 25 per cent on the freight.

The indictment against Nelson Morris is for receiving rebates in violation of the amended interstate-commerce law. It charges that from March 1, 1892, to Dec. 1, for the same year the packer shipped over the Santa Fe 1,300 carloads of cattle. The legal rate was 23 1/2 per cent, but it is charged that special rate was made for Morris. He was charged $40 per car, which was $16.65 less than the legal rate would have been. A second count charges that the packer on March entered into an agreement with Reinhart and Hanley by which he was to deliver to them his cattle to them for shipment and in consideration of the agreement was to receive the illegal rate of $40 per car. The indictment charges that he aided and abetted the agents of the road in discriminating unjustly against other shippers in violation of the law. The maximum penalty imposed on a shipper for negotiating illegal rates is a fine of $5,000 or imprisonment not to exceed two years, or both, in the discretion of the court.

No bench warrants for the indicted officials and shippers were issued today, but they will be issued tomorrow. Ex-President Reinhart is said to be in New York, and the warrant in his case will probably be sent there to be served by the marshal of that district. A warrant will be issued for Mr. Morris tomorrow.

ONE CASE IS REVERSED.

FOUR DECISIONS BY THE SUPREME COURT.

Minneapolis Mill Company vs. The St. Louis Railroad Decided for the Third Time.

The supreme court yesterday handed down four decisions, all written by Justice Buck. In three of the cases the judgment of the lower court is affirmed, and the other is reversed.

The case of The State of Minnesota ex. rel. G. Tracey, respondent, vs. Clayton R. Cooley, Auditor of Hennepin County, appellant, in which the supreme court reverses the order of the lower court, settles a point of practice, and is of interest only to attorneys. Two of the others are civil cases which involve technical points, and one, The Minneapolis Mill Company vs. The Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway Company, has already been decided on different points three times by this court. The syllabi and title follow:

SYLLABI OF DECISIONS.

State of Minnesota ex. rel. G. Tracey, respondent, vs. Clayton R. Cooley, Auditor of Hennepin County, appellant. Order reversed.

Syllabus.—1. Denials on information and belief, and affirmative allegations in the same form, are permissible in a return to a writ of mandamus.

Where a school district organization was legally dissolved by the acts of the voters of the district under chapter 170, General Laws of this state, such fact may be alleged in the return to a writ of mandamus as a defense or bar to the claim of right on the part of the pretended or de facto school district treasurer or other officer to draw school money from the county treasury.

The trial of res adjudicata cannot be invoked in a second action unless upon the same claim or demand.

A. H. Paget, respondent, vs. Lillian Barton and H. Barton, appellants. Order affirmed.

Syllabus.—Held in this case that the allegations in the complaint are sufficient.

The Minneapolis Mill Company, respondent, vs. The Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway Company, appellant. Order affirmed.

Syllabus.—Where, upon appeal to this court, a new trial is granted without restrictions as to the retrial of any of the issues involved in the pleadings, either party is entitled to a retrial of all of the controverted issues contained in the pleadings.

Christopher Johnson, respondent, vs. Frederick Lau et al., appellants. Order affirmed.

Syllabus.—Where an action is commenced to enforce a mechanic's lien against husband and wife, and the property is owned by the wife alone, and the husband does not serve an answer by filing the same in the office of the clerk of the district court, where the complaint in such action is filed, and the husband does not serve an answer upon the plaintiff, no reply need be served in such case.

About Doctors. There are doctors and doctors; but the question that arises in the mind of the average human being these times is, Where can I go and get the best medical care and skill at a fee in keeping with the times? Especially is this the case with people who have to patronize skilled specialists; namely, sufferers from catarrh, skin diseases, and diseases of the respiratory organs. The Copeland Medical Institute, located in the Pioneer Press building for three years, has always maintained a staff of skilled specialists, who have rendered medical treatment of the highest excellence, and always at popular prices. Some misguided individuals used to, in olden times, whenever they could get so, try to cast a sneer directed against medical institutes and doctors who advertised, but such back numbers are rapidly becoming scarce in this world as we know it. A recent writer says: "The man who cannot use advertising in his business has no business to be in business, and usually isn't."

SUPREME COURT ROUTINE. The following cases were before the supreme court yesterday: Margaret L. Berryhill, appellant, vs. Howard L. Smith et al., defendants; submitted on briefs.

Charles C. Davis, respondent, vs. The Red River Lumber Company, appellant; argued by appellant; submitted by respondent.

Charles H. Lathrop, respondent, vs. Samuel E. Schutte et al., defendants, William Deering appellant; submitted on briefs.

P. W. Nelson was admitted as a citizen of the United States by the supreme court yesterday.

IMPROVE TWO RIVERS.

MINNESOTA AND RED RIVERS TO BE MADE NAVIGABLE.

Maj. Jones Planning for Reservoirs at the Sources of These Rivers.

Maj. William A. Jones, of the United States engineering corps, dined yesterday at the Commercial club. He left last evening for Big Stone lake to make a reconnaissance with the view of making it a reservoir for the supply of Minnesota rivers, similar to those that have already proven so successful at the headwaters of the Mississippi. His researches will probably develop the fact that by impounding the spring flood waters of Big Stone lake and Lake Traverse, the navigation of the Minnesota river with improvements along its course, will be made feasible throughout the summer season. Plans are a ready perfecting by Maj. Jones which, when carried out, will be of great benefit in maintaining the volume of the Red River in the North during the winter months. This can be accomplished at an astonishingly low cost, by diverting the waters of the Otter Tail river below Fergus Falls to Lake Traverse, and by the construction of preventing extensive injuries that have frequently occurred from spring floods, by storing them in the lake, to be released in the form of pure water, in a steady and regular manner.

Maj. Jones says that the effect of the storage reservoirs at the head of the Mississippi during the past season—the driest ever known in the international boundary. It will be of great benefit, incidentally, to Fargo and Grand Forks, as it will furnish those cities with an abundant supply of pure water.

"GIST SMITH, SAH." Plantation Negro "On Mah Way

An odd-looking plantation negro was adjudged insane by the probate court yesterday, and will be taken to the Rochester asylum. He was picked up from the street by a deputy sheriff and photographed as a freak. He is a type of the negro who is so common in the South, but is in striking contrast to the intelligent negro of this country. When asked in the probate court to go some account of himself he developed the superstitious trait of the class of ignorant plantation negroes, and said: "Mah name is gist Smith, sah. It is know in de court of de Mah way, sah. I is on mah way to Dixie."

He is about sixty-five years old. When asked what he had in his bundles he replied that he had some of the same as some to Frank Robert, clerk of the probate court.

CHURCH ANNIVERSARY.

Rev. Edwards Twenty Years at Dayton Avenue.

The twentieth anniversary of the ordination and installation of Rev. M. D. Edwards as pastor of the Dayton Avenue Presbyterian church will be commemorated by appropriate services at that church Sunday, both morning and evening. At the evening services addresses will be delivered by W. B. Dean, representing the House of Hope church, and R. P. Lewis, representing the Central Presbyterian church, from both of which the Dayton Avenue church has received contributions to the ship; and by the pastors of the First and Ninth Presbyterian churches, whose congregations have been invited to participate in the services.

Trot with a Mate. Miss Dora Trot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hermann Trot, formerly of this city and well known here, was married Thursday at the present residence of her parents in Tacoma, to Charles Melrose, a young business man of San Francisco. The event was a home wedding. Rev. Dr. Nevins, of the Episcopal church officiating. Miss Sarah Trot, a sister, presided at the organ. Mr. and Mrs. Melrose will reside in San Francisco. A host of people here who knew Miss Trot from birth wish her and her good husband a prosperous and happy future.
