HELP COMES AT LAST.

Park Board Takes a Radical Step in Behalf of the Unemployed.

$20,000 MADE AVAILABLE.

All Proceedings in Ridgewood, Cleveland, Phalen Parks Rescinded.

THIS RELEASES $25,000.

Superintendent of Parks Instructed to Employ a Good Many Men.

As many of the unemployed as can be worked to advantage this winter in improving the parks will be hired soon. This was the decision of the park board at yesterday's afternoon after a first session. The work will chiefly consist of constructing and grading roadways in Com park.

In order to take this action the park board was compelled to adopt a resolution which would give the use of certain funds appropriated for special purposes. Accordingly the board passed a resolution rescinding all resolutions and proceedings had in the men committees by the board of Ridgewood, Cleveland and Phalen parks, and that the moneys heretofore set apart from the park fund toward the condemnation of said parks be returned to the park board for other uses.

This resolution releases $25,000 appropriated for the improvement of the park board has a balance of $1,300 only for the maintenance of parks. Having Rescinded All Action as to Phalen, Ridgewood and Cleveland parks, the park board is at liberty to use the special fund for any other purpose of $20,000 for any purpose it deems proper, as the council has pledged itself to reimburse the board to that extent. The resolution covering this point was introduced by Commissioner Horton, and it reads as follows:

Resolved, That all resolutions and proceedings heretofore had in the matter of the condemnation of Ridgewood, Cleveland and Phalen parks be and the same are hereby, in all respects, rescinded and annulled. And be it further resolved, That the board of public works, city controller and city treasurer be notified of the passage of these resolutions, to the end that any contracts for work in said matters be stayed and the moneys set apart from the park fund toward the condemnation of said parks be released to the park board for other uses.

After the adoption of the foregoing resolution, Commissioner Aberle introduced the following, which directs the superintendent of parks to hire the men:

Resolved, That the superintendent of parks be, and is hereby instructed to employ at once as many men from the unemployed as can be worked to advantage in the coming winter, the said men to be used in improving the parks and parkways of this city, pursuant to resolution of the council, passed Nov. 20, 1894, pledging itself to appropriate $20,000 therefor to this board out of the forthcoming tax levy, to be paid from the park fund for other uses.

Work will begin next week. Most of it will be done at Com park, where new roads are needed, and the approach requires grading.

When the board is reimbursed by the council for the amount it will expend in this work, the money appropriated for Phalen park will be restored, as the commission believes that that improvement must be made.

Brighter than the Kohinoor are the triumphs achieved by Dr. Price's Baking Powder.

NEW SWEDISH PAPER. A Republican Periodical to be started by Stockenstrom.

The folksy Nyheter Publishing company, of St. Paul, has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state yesterday. The capital stock is $10,000, and H. Stockenstrom, assistant secretary of state, is the first president and the manager of the company. The purpose of the organization is the publishing of a paper, and of books and other periodicals. Although this company is a new one, the paper, the folksy Nyheter, has been published before by the Swedish Co-operative News company in this city, and is a strong Republican paper. Mr. Stockenstrom has been engaged in editorial work for many years, having been identified with the Heimlandet, of Chicago, during the eight years that he has been its assistant secretary of state, and he is, besides, one of the oldest members of the St. Paul Press club.

NO OPPOSITION IN SIGHT. Campbell Begins Today as United States Marshal.

Hon. William M. Campbell has had his bond as United States marshal approved in due form and will take hold of the office this morning. He said yesterday that he will retain many of the old force and is not ready to announce changes. He takes stock in the story given by the Republican papers that he will have opposition when his confirmation comes up in the United States senate. Mr. Campbell has an excellent record as United States marshal and has been connected with the department at Washington as well as by federal judges who have had occasion to observe his work.

TALK ON ALTAMONTE.

Duluth Club Urge the Commercial Club to Help Their Project.

C. N. NELSON OPPOSES IT.

Plan to Build a Dam Eighty Feet High in the St. Louis River.

FLOODING A VAST TRACT.

Kiefer Says It Would Effectually Block the Ship Canal Project.

There was a meeting of the directors of the Commercial club at the club rooms at 5 p. m. yesterday. Among the people present were President Footner, Secretary McGinnis, C. N. Nelson, of the Nelson Lumber company, C. E. Dickerman, E. J. Hodgson, J. H. Prince, Prof. Phelps, J. T. Hyman, E. C. Gridley, of Duluth, and a number of others.

At the request of President Footner, Secretary McGinnis stated the object of the meeting. This, in brief, is the Altamonte Water company's scheme, with which the public is already familiar, which embraces the erection of a dam on the St. Louis river eighty feet high, which would form an immense reservoir.

From this the water would enter into Duluth for power purposes, etc. Mr. Gridley then took up the matter. After stating that he was not interested financially in the Altamonte scheme, that he represented nobody in particular, but that he was opposed to the success of the scheme, believing it would benefit Duluth, he then simply outlined the matter in full detail.

One day last week the Globe published a lengthy interview with this gentleman, which practically covers the full tenor of his remarks last night. He thought it a matter that was bound to ultimately succeed, in the face of opposition. He said that private vested rights were bound to yield, as they could not stand in the way of public progress. He waxed eloquent over the plan, and spoke of its opening up water communication by a canal to Duluth and the Twin Cities, besides furnishing electric power here at about one-fourth the present expense. He said that the enterprise was promoted by E. C. Jenkinson, of Chicago, and that unlimited Chicago capital was back of it, although the company was nominally capitalized for only $50,000. All that is necessary now, he stated, to make the plan a success, is to get the consent of congress by legislation to fix the price of 300 acres, on the Fond du Lac river in this city, on which a flood, such a bill is now pending before both houses of congress. He thought that in case the Minnesota delegation would insist in pushing the measure, it could be made a law early in the coming session. In such case materials would be immediately put on the ground, and the structure would be completed.

An Accomplished Fact. Mr. Gridley promptly answered all questions put to him. It had been expected that Senator Allen and C. N. Nelson, who are both opposed to the plan, would be present. Senator Allen failed to appear, but Mr. Nelson was there. He had important interests in the Clouquet that would be seriously affected. He admitted that private rights must often give way to the right of eminent domain, but that an injunction would be served if the dam was attempted. He pointed out that a dam such as that proposed would not withstand the enormous pressure, as the bed of the river is of quicksand. He doubted whether such a reservoir could ever be filled. In case it were filled of the structure the Altamonte people would have to respond in suits for damages. The question of actual capital would then arise.

This was Mr. Gridley's chance. He said that the dam would be constructed under government direction, and thought in case of damage suits the United States treasury would be ample to satisfy all demands. He said that the soil where the dam was to be built was solid state, and would be firm enough for all purposes.

No formal action was taken. President Footner announced that the club would decide one way or the other at its next meeting, on Dec. 4.

Kiefer Hits a Rap. The Altamonte scheme is vigorously opposed by Congressman Kiefer, who asserts that it is detrimental to the interests of Duluth and the Twin Cities, and that it would effectually block the ship canal project between Lake Superior and the Mississippi. Said he in a recent interview:

"Do you know what this Altamonte scheme would do to Duluth? It means the building of a dam eighty feet high in the St. Louis river, thus flooding a strip of Indian lands sixty miles long and ten miles wide, and contemplated in my bill before congress could never be built were the Altamonte plan to be carried out. The project is for the sole benefit of Duluth and no other locality. The talk of furnishing cheap power from it to the Twin Cities is a mere fancy. The project is a part of a scheme to divert the water into a canal to be built through congress granting the privilege of building the dam. Representatives of the company are now paying the way for their bill by seeking to quiet opposition in the Twin Cities. It is an undertaking that should be easily defeated by the St. Paul and Minneapolis citizens."

Not a failure is recorded for Dr. Price's Baking Powder. A standard for forty years.

FISHER GETS NINETY DAYS. A Few Notes From the Municipal Court.

Grant Fisher, the colored man charged with breaking into J. H. Cunningham's private apartments Thanksgiving night, denied the accusation in the police court yesterday, but was sentenced for forty days, with the charge of petty larceny was substituted for that of burglary, Mr. Fisher promptly pleaded guilty and was sent to the workhouse for ninety days.

Thomas Morris was charged with lifting $2 in money out of the pocket of one A. Langworthy, escaped from a workhouse on Saturday. The last day of next February he will have arrived when Morris leaves Cono.

PLANS NOT CHOSEN.

Capitol Commission Examines the Report of the Experts.

CONCEALS THE CONTENTS.

Meets Dec. 18 to Give Architects an Opportunity to Be Heard.

WILL TAKE TIME TO CHOOSE.

No Money Available Until Next August, Hence No Need for Haste.

The capitol commission held a prolonged session yesterday, lasting from 10 o'clock in the morning until 5:30 in the afternoon, at their rooms, corner Third and Cedar streets. After listening to the reports of the experts, they decided to adjourn until Dec. 18, and invite all of the Minnesota architects and a dozen of the architects from other states to appear before the board at that date, and set forth personally the merits of their respective schemes. In justice to the architects whose plans are not recommended, the decisions of the advisory architects are not made public. It is to be clearly understood, by the way, that the commission will in no way be bound by the opinions of the experts.

Said one of the commissioners: "The board feels that the next step to be taken, namely, the adoption of a design and the selection of an architect, is so important that it does not wish to act hastily. It will do nothing further until it has made a thorough and additional examination of certain designs and of the capabilities of the architects who are intending them. A design might appear in every way desirable; yet, if the design were adopted, the author of the same (who would necessarily become the superintendent of construction) might prove, on experience, to be lacking in practical ability. He might turn out a dissipated man, or a dishonest individual that would allow himself to be controlled by interested contractors. Some of the submitted designs were nearly rejected altogether. The authors of the others will appear before the commission in person, and a full investigation can and will be made into their personal qualifications and their responsibility.

"No money will be available for the purposes of the commission until next August. There is, therefore, no hurry. A speedy decision would merely gratify a temporary curiosity of the public, while it might result in future loss and scandal to the entire state.

"The board will submit to the coming legislature a full report of its doings up to the end of the present year. From this report the public will learn all facts not hitherto given out."
