

FIRST SUIT NO BAR.

Interesting Discussion on a Contract Between Employer and Employee.

WILL HAVE A TENDENCY

To Make Employers Cautious of Alluring Contracts in Future.

A SERIES OF LAW SUITS

Can Be Enjoyed by the Plaintiff in the Case Referred To.

A decision handed down yesterday by Judge Cady...

In February, 1892, William McMullan made a written contract with the Dickinson company...

McMullan was discharged without just cause, in October, 1893. He afterwards obtained a judgment against the Dickinson company...

The decision of the lower court, denying that the first suit was a bar to subsequent suits, is affirmed. The syllabus follows:

End of Six Years. receiving meantime no income whatever, or lose all the salary due him after he began suit. At any rate, to agree with the statute of limitations, the suit would have to be brought within six years...

The remedy of the employee lies in a suit for damages by reason of the non-receipt of the contract payments: not a suit for wages to pay for constructive services during the balance of the contract term. He can, therefore, sue for recovery of these damages whenever, according to the contract, an installment of his salary becomes due...

3. A pre-existing debt is a sufficient consideration for such a chattel mortgage.

4. A receiver appointed in a suit by one partner against the others to dissolve the copartnership does not represent creditors so as to be able to avoid such a lien because not filed of record as required by statute.

The Security Trust company is receiver of the St. Paul School Furniture company, to whom the Berlin Machine works sold a glue jointing machine for $50. Payment not being made as agreed, the Berlin commission of the machine, and were sustained by the lower court.

Lower Court Affirmed. In re application of Charles C. Wade, etc., Charles C. Wade, respondent, vs. Anthony J. Drexel et al., appellants. Syllabus—1. Section 92, General Statutes 1888, amended by chapter 185, General Laws 1893, gives to the holder of a lien on a divided part of an entire tract of land sold for taxes a right to have the amount of the tax lien apportioned between the parts of the tract, and to reduce from the tax due the part on which he held his said lien by paying the amount of the tax lien so apportioned thereto, and said section, as amended by chapter 118, Laws of 1893, provides a remedy for enforcing that right.

2. That remedy is by "summary application" to the court or a judge thereof, and it may be heard at a special term of the court.

3. There is no right to a jury trial on such application.

4. On the hearing of the application in this case there was sufficient evidence to establish the possession of the judgment debtor to prove a title in him to which the petitioner's judgment lien attached.

5. On such application formal pleadings or issues as to the values or proportionate value of the parts of the tract, and as to the amount of the lien to be apportioned are not necessary. Order affirmed.

Supreme Court Cases. The supreme court yesterday considered the following cases:

William L. Nichols, appellant, vs. Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company, respondent; argued and submitted.

David N. Taylor, appellant, vs. James P. Marcum, respondent; submitted on briefs.

Ole J. Haaven, respondent, vs. Britz Haas, appellant; argued and submitted.

John Blomquist, respondent, vs. Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company, appellant; argued and submitted.

Laid to Rest. Remains of Mark Costello Consigned to Earth.

The funeral of Mark Costello took place from the cathedral at 12 o'clock yesterday, after a high requiem mass had been read over the remains. There was a large attendance of friends, among whom were many of the old timers who had known the deceased for years and always held him in the highest esteem.

Many beautiful floral tributes were placed around the casket. It was expected that Bishop Shanley, of North Dakota, who has been the pastor for years, would be present to pay a last tribute over the remains of his departed friend, but he could not come.

The mass was celebrated by Father Fitzpatrick, with Father Byrne, deacon, and Father Heffron, Dolphin, Cosgrove and Busch as inside the chanseil. Father Heffron preached a high tribute to the upright, charity and many other lofty traits of character.

The active pallbearers were: M. J. O'Connor, F. Keigher, John Bell, Daniel Mullen, John Clarkin, John Fitzgerald, J. C. Brennan, John Keegan, P. Butler, James Cleary.

The honorary pallbearers were: R. A. Smith, William H. Dawson, P. H. Kelly, George Berg, C. J. Monfort, R. B. Galusha, J. J. O'Connor, H. J. Strouse, J. J. Egan, John W. Willis, E. J. Egan, Joseph J. Youthful Burglars. James Sullivan and John Paeterson, five and six years of age, who have just served time in the workhouse for thieving and who were arrested Tuesday night soon after burglarizing Sauer's cigar shop at 42 Wabasha street, were arraigned in the police court yesterday charged with burglary.

The boys were both sentenced to two months and both were held in default of $1,000 bail each. When arrested the boys had six pairs of shoes in their possession.

Later in the afternoon the boys were arrested Edward Roby, who keeps a cigar store on Jackson street between Seventh and Eighth streets, for receiving stolen goods.

Roby was charged with receiving stolen goods. He was held in default of $1,000 bail each. When arrested the boys had six pairs of shoes in their possession.

TO REPEL GREASERS.

THAT CENTRAL AMERICA STANDS UNITED IS CONFIRMED.

Mexico Apparently Has No Recourse but to Begin Hostilities.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 30.—A telegram was received here today from Guatemala, verifying the rumors that the confederation of the Central American republics has been formed.

Ministers Arce, of Honduras; Gomez, of Nicaragua; and Estupinan, of San Salvador, individually offer the cooperation of their countries to Guatemala in the event of war with Mexico. Central America will stand united to repel any invasion from Mexico.

The Central American confederation arrived soon after the meeting together with President Barrios, of Guatemala, and is of the same mind as the other Central American republics.

The war cloud hangs over Mexico today. It is feared from the outlook in Mexico has no recourse left but to declare war against the federation of Central America. President Diaz is for peace, but still stands out boldly for Mexico's rights.

The president and the cabinet are still in session. At the Mexican Jockey club of which President Diaz's father-in-law is president, under the subject of war with Guatemala being broached, a subscription was started toward the inauguration of the war fund, and in less than five minutes over $50,000 had been subscribed.

A collecting committee was then appointed, with Mayor Sebastian Canauco as president and Pablo Martinez del Rio as secretary. It is rumored that hundreds of thousands will be forthcoming from this source at very short notice.

Both sides are massing troops on the frontier, and non-combatants are leaving that section by all manner of conveyances. The United States of Mexico is in a state of high tension. President Diaz and his policy, and it may be means or expense in the way of money in arming and equipping soldiers.

PERILS. When Rogue Elephants Get Under the Strange Spell. St. Nicholas.

The complete history of rogue elephants is an interesting chapter. They are not so much inclined to avenge man's wrongs against their kind. Some years ago one rogue acted in India at the head of a stretch of country in India 40 miles wide by 10 long, and in a business-like way proceeded to demolish everything in its path.

The elephant seemed remarkably intelligent. It entered in particular, a grudge against the watchtowers of scowls. Whenever the rogue saw one he would creep slyly, spring at it, push it to the ground and kill its occupants.

Another famous rogue took possession of a public road and attacked and killed a man who was driving from a jungle, it would rush up to an ox-cart, seize the driver with its trunk and disappear. Repeated raids of this kind so terrified the people that a large tract of land was to all intents and purposes deserted; but finally an English hunter determined to rid the country of the monster.

The hunter found that the elephant was a "rogue," and attacked him before he was ready to do so. He was finally defeated by an organized effort of English army officers.

A famous rogue elephant named Manilla was owned by a rich man near Jubulpore, in Central India. Suddenly it began to develop the characteristics of a "rogue," and attacked him before he was ready to do so.

He was finally defeated by an organized effort of English army officers.

PRAISE FOR AMERICANS.

An English Journal Says Up Their Characteristics.

Take them as a whole, the Americans are the finest race of men that the earth has. In spite of their eagerness, their push, their desire to be in the front rank at all times and at all seasons, they are not less generous in kindness. He wants badly to prevent any one getting ahead of him mentally, physically and morally, but if his competitor falls in the struggle he will make untold sacrifices to help him, says the London Spectator.

The rule in American business is pure cut-throat competition carried to its logical conclusion. You are expected to push and press every point as far as it can possibly be pushed and pressed, and no one is expected to consider whether, in making a commercial coup, you will ruin Brown, Jones or Robinson.

The moment, however, that Brown, Jones or Robinson actually goes under he is treated with the utmost generosity and consideration. The hand which struck him down is instantly stretched forth to help him, and as much care and thought is used to put him on his feet as when he was originally expected to knock him off them. In social intercourse this kindness and sympathy is especially attractive.

The American will take infinite pains to make the merest stranger happy. He is courteous and pleasant-spoken, not like the Frenchman from convention, but from the sense of pleasure which his instinctive optimism teaches him to diffuse. His optimism has even proved strong enough to drive down the shyness which naturally belongs to the English race.

As a race, no doubt, survivals of it in the American are a requirement of a nature that all is for the best in the best possible of worlds has mastered it together. Even in the fundamental melancholy of the Teuton has been transmuted, and appears not as a diluted melancholy, but as a genuine optimism, an all-for-the-best sort of melancholy. That is the genesis of American humor.
