Special to the Glob MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 24.-Poor pitching lost the game for Milwaukee today. Baker pitched a weak game and at the end of the third inning was relieved by Armstrong, who put up even worse ball. St. Paul put up a poor game, but won with little effort. From this the playing of the Brewers can be judged. The St. Paul team traveled all night and until 2 o'clock in the afternoon to get in shape to put up a fast game, a fact which was demonstrated in the first two innings. In the first Nicol Irwin and Boyle, and a hit by Sharp, and Sharp scored on an error by Smith and a hit by Taylor. In the econd inning triples by Klopf and Baker, a single by Long and an error by Pickett gave Milwaukee two runs. In the first Twitchell got in a hit and scored on an error by Pepper, and in the eighth Klopf got hit by a pitched ball and scored on a hit by Long. Though there were two earned runs for the Brewers, the only clean, respectable run was the one scored in the seventh, when

CRIMPED IN KAWVILLE. Millers Unaffected by Climatic Conditions.

Special to the Globe. KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 24.—The Millers could not stop the winning sticule of the Blues today. Manning's men went at Fraser in the same way they have been treating all the pitchers for the past week, touching him up for seventeen hits during the six innings the occupied the box. Fanning, who succeeded Fraser, fared a little better, as the Blues only found him for three hits in the last three innings. Hines, Connaughton, Manning, Klusman and Nichol all hit the ball hard. Bergen, for a wonder, only got two hits, being unfortunate in lining his hard drives right at the fielders. The visitors thought when they saw Kling in the box they were going to have a picnic with him, but they were mistaken. For the first six innings Billy held them down to four lonesome hits, and in did he ease up so the Millers could find him. While the game was marked by hard hitting, it was at the same time the most brilliant fielding game played at Exposition park this season.

The Blues played wonderful ball and the Millers did almost as well. Con-naughton at short and Manning at second were simply impregnable, and and Werrick did some very fine fieldinning, when he developed an alarming case of bad eye. With the bases full, Manning lined out a beautiful threebagger, which struck a foot inside the but the visitors made no less than five. sive batting, as nearly all made by both teams were earned. WILL BE THE PARTICIPANTS IN THE BIG BILL THIS AFT-ERNOON.

TREET PARADE A FEATURE,

And It Will Be but a Minor Part -Colors Chosen by the Two Nines,

The air of subdued excitement visible around the city last night is directly due to the great base ball game which will be played at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Athletic park between the Newspaper Men and the Actors. Those worthies spent the day in preparation, practicing make-up and studying inshoots, and each declares that he is now ready to meet and annihilate the foe or foes. This game will probably be the funniest and best thing that ever came off. There has been an active interest displayed by everybody, and the chances are the grounds will be filled to overflowing. Every actor and every newspaper man will be in costume. The actors will represent the characters in "Trilby," and hypnotism will not be the least of the features of the struggle, for struggle it will be, the bad blood between the two teams being sufficient for that. The first thing on the programme will be the street parade, which will leave the Grand opera house at 1:30 this afternoon sharp. Two large busses will be used, and the pageant will be headed by a band of some description Don't miss the street parade. It will simply be great and a forerunner of what is to come.

The column will leave from in front of the Grand at 1:30 and go up St. Peter street to Seventh thence to Third, to Jackson to Sixth. to Robert, to Seventh, to Wabasha, to University, to St. Albans, and thence to the grounds. Reaching the grounds the parade will enter by the lower gates, where they leave the busses and march up the field in two files, the band in front playing any old thing.

They will be brought to a halt, if it is possible, at the home plate, from where Ben Johnson, probably the most talented Thespian that ever trod the board, will announce, in his capacity of ring master, the events of the day He will continue this announcemen business as long as the game lasts and whenever he pleases, that being one of the conditions he exacted when he agreed to act. This was only one of the conditions, as he also demanded half the gate receipts and the privilege of stopping the game whenever he desired to do a song and dance. The game will then proceed, and the au-dience needn't be surprised at any-thing that happens. If they see any genuine ball playing they are asked to report it to the ringmaster. R.H.E. men have got through with them, but they are generally white. The news-paper writers endeavor to give both

Most of the trainers are getting excellent speed out of their horses, al-though there are several who are not crowding them at all, and have no intention of doing so. Virginia, Rowdy Boy, Mapleton, Frontier, and Bon Ami, among the favorite Derby entries who are at present training at the track, are all making the three-mile stretch in excellent time, and, in fact, each one is making a better showing than had been looked for. Genie L, who is entered in the 2:23 trot and the 2:19 trot, made a quarter Saturday in 32 seconds, and Delta, entered in the 2:19 pace, has been making easy miles in 2:19, and made one half in 1:04%. Another phenomenal performance 1895 was made by Hal Pointer Sat-urday at Des Moines. The time for the mile he paced was 2:06¼, but the latter part was wonderful, the last half being made in 1:00¼, and the last quarter in 29 seconds. This will probably remove all doubt as to his being in condition and places him almost on an equal footing with Robert J.

Pennsylvania Eight Taken Fron the Water Three-Fourths of a Mile From the Finish.

-The four-mile stretch of Hudson river water opposite Poughkeepsie has been christened as an intercol legiate course by the contest which was won tonight by Columbia's eight, over those of Cornell and Pennsylvania. Cornell was beaten by about six boat lengths, and while the victory was being won Pennsylvania's men cramped within three-quarters of the mile of the finish, were sitting in their shell, waist deep in the water, waiting to be rescued by an approaching tug Three distinctive forms of applying strength to the sweeps of the shell were observed during this contest Cornell in her work was sharp, crisp rapid in movement; Columbia had the broad reach, thorough finish with beef at the start of the stroke and snapping power at the finish Pennsylvania, rowing the heavy, la borious stroke of the early times of aquatic contest, gained slightly a the send-off, held her own well on toward the second mile and then lost until the finish. It is scarcely fair to say that either crew was outclassed by the other, unless it be that of Cornell, in her light, snappy form, was not the level antagonis of so powerful and steady a crew as Columbia. Pennsylvania, in the personnel of her crew, physically under a different method and in a different form, might have appeared to better advantage against each of the others.

Columbia crossed the line at 7:14:20 o'clock, covering the last mile in five minutes eight seconds, and the four miles in 21:29. This is one minute and ten seconds lower than a record said to have been made at New London, on swellen with a freshet.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 24.

Throughout the afternoon the sur face of the river was as beautiful a rowing sheet as ever upheld a racing craft. At 4:30, when the race was announced to be started, the conditions aloft were only equaled by the conditions on the river, and they were simply perfect for boat ing. At 4:30 the fact crept out among the spectators that the race would be delayed until 5:30. It was five minutes past 5 when the ob wards the starting line, and at this time black thunder clouds had thickened in the northwest, and were also sweeping upward from the

Before the observation train, with its hundreds of spectators, had began their four miles struggle. minutes Columbia, rowing 38 strokes to the minute, and Cornell 42, were on even terms. Pennsylvania's lead, however, was very short. Almost before the spectators could observe that Pennsylvania had an advantage, Columbia, with those strong, steady, beef-at-both-ends-of-the stroke movement, crept and crept, showing her nose more and more while Cornell had pulled even with Pennsylvania, and there stuck on even terms. The first mile was finished by the leaders in five minutes, at 6:58 o'clock. At the one and a half-mile point there was a clear length of water between Columbia and Cornell, while Cornell was increasing the lead over Pennsylvania. It was a case of ferocious physical power. The second mile was finished by the leaders in six minutes, at 7:04 o'clock. PENNSYLVANIA SWAMPED.

Opening the third mile, Cornell, appreciating the desperation of her situation, made one of the most remarkable efforts seen in many years in a racing shell. Splashing through the rough seas, the Ithaca men raced their stroke up to fifty-two per minute. The third mile marked only the added gain of Columbia and the increasing disadvantage of Pennsylvania. The third mile was accomplished in five minutes, twelve seconds. Columbia shot over the three-mile line steadily and entirely within her powers. Cor-nell came under the bridge fifteen seconds later and Pennsylvania, now moving doggedly because of the water aboard, came last and toiled on one-fourth of the last mile, when it became evident that she could not finish the race, and almost while this conviction came to those who saw the referees' tug ploughing on after the leaders, she passed the Quakers and shell, and the plucky fellows sank into the river. Before a police tug could reach them, still sitting in their shell, but rowing no longer, they were waist deep in the water and still set-atling. They were lifted out by ready the water-logged shell being towed

A SHORT AND SHARP CONTEST The Boston Man Almost Knocke Out Before the First Round

> BOSTON, Mass., June 24.-Dan Creedon, of Australia, and Billy Hennessey, of Boston, met at the Suffolk club rooms tonight to settle the question of the middleweight pugilistic championship of America. They were scheduled to fight twenty rounds, but only six were necessary. Capt. William Daly Jr. was referee. Creedon was over weight, tipping at 175 pounds, to Hennessey's 148, but the latter conceded the difference. With Creedon were John Griffin, Ben Murphy, Micky Dunn and Tom Denny, and back of Hennessey were Billy Smith, Dick O'Brien, Jimmy Kelly and Patsy Kerrigan. In the first round Hennessey nearly floored Creedon with a left on the yard distance this morning, and pracear, but the close found the Austral- tice at that range will probably be ian getting in rapid work with his completed tomorrow.
