A FAMILIAR ARGUMENT.

We have taken occasion several times in the past to point out the substantial identity of the argument for a high protective tariff and that for free silver, or any other form of cheap money. An article in the Social Economist, which is quoted by the Minneapolis Tribune, puts this into concrete shape.

Thurman had the characteristics of the Roman of the early days of that great republic, before wealth and luxury had sapped the foundations of manhood. He was rugged, forceful, honest, patriotic, tenacious, Judge Edmunds said of him that in debate he never "minced matters," but called things by the names he considered right.

NO TRAFFICKING IN OFFICE.

The decision of the supreme court in the case of Mr. Sutton, state boiler inspector, will be accepted by the people as a clear upholding of a wise constitutional provision. It will operate as a discouragement to any future tendency toward trafficking in office. It declares that the constitution means exactly what it says when it provides that no member of the legislature shall hold any office under the authority of the United States or of the state of Minnesota, except that of postmaster, during the time for which he was elected.

DECIDED FOR BONACUM.

Mr. Sattoli Ends the Trouble in the Bishop's Diocese. OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 12.—What appears to be the closing chapter in the long-fought contest between Bishop Sattoli and Father Fitzgerald and the faithful parishioners of the Holy Trinity and St. Joseph missions, is in the form of a printed letter circulated in Nebraska today. It is from Mr. Sattoli, deciding in favor of Bishop Bonacum. The following is from Bishop Bonacum to a priest at Tecumseh, based on the circular:

der that prosperity may continue forever, and the wealth and comfort of the people wax greater day by day. It is just as true and just as false in this case as in that of the protectionist. If it is possible to create wealth and maintain prosperity harmoniously by one act of legislation, it is possible by another. Indeed, of the two, the theory of the greenbacker is far the more plausible. He, at least, does not propose to make everybody "healthy, wealthy and wise" by taking from the majority of the people in taxes more money than they now pay.

A GENEROUS GIFT.

By the generous gift of the noble women whose labors have been given to the cause of the suffering, the city and county are now possessed of an ambulance that will be at the service of all who may need it. By their personal efforts these ladies some time ago raised money enough with which to purchase an ambulance, intended for the public use. Some question of the means to support it arose, however, and it is only now that the full benefit of it will be realized. Funds having been provided from another source, the ambulance has been presented to the board of control, the only condition being that it shall be at the service of any who may require it, whatever the destination of the sufferer. There has long been need of such a conveyance, not only for the public hospital patients, but for those others who meet with severe accident and have to be taken from the streets and carried long distances over jolting street surfaces. Now this ambulance is placed at the public service, and is ready at every call of distress. Its provision is one of those works of charity that are not to be measured by their cost, but by the sum total of human suffering which they will alleviate or remove. The people of this community owe a debt of thanks to the generous and tender-hearted women who have not rested until their gift is placed within the reach of all the unfortunates who will use it in their hour of need.

THE "OLD ROMAN" IS DEAD.

Allen W. Thurman, full of years, with a record of good deeds filling a long and useful life, is dead. Over the inhibition of the constitution the common people of the country passed to bestow on him, as they are accustomed to do on those they esteem, the title, fitting well his character, of the "Old Roman." Better than any patent of nobility are these titles free men give their fellows who win their regard, because they are more than "dead men's dust and bones," and rest in the strength of character and power of brain that are nature's letters patent in the only true order of nobility. These titles are never undeserved. They are not given in advance of the earning. They fit the man on whom they are bestowed. They are an index to his character. "Honest Abe" was a prouder title than president, and "Old Roman," given to the veteran statesman whose death we record, fits him better than that of judge or senator.

AN IMPORTANT CHANGE.

An important business transaction, of interest to the people of the Twin Cities, is announced in our news columns this morning. The firm of Lindeke, Warner & Schumeler, of this city, has purchased the entire stock of goods belonging to Hugh Harrison & Co., of Minneapolis. By the arrangement completed between these two establishments, the St. Paul firm becomes sole owner of the business of the Minneapolis concern. The goods that it has bought will be on sale for the next month in Minneapolis, where they are now housed, at the store of Hugh Harrison & Co. The entire business of the Minneapolis establishment is absorbed by the St. Paul house, which thus takes a great step forward in the commercial world, where it has already won so marked success. This enlargement of its field of operations is at once a tribute to its own management and standing with the public, and another assurance of the prosperity of the commercial institutions of our city. Dotting the firm of Lindeke, Warner & Schumeler and the people of St. Paul are to be congratulated upon this increase in the scope of the business of an energetic and successful firm and its addition to our trade relations with the Northwest.

Turtie Mountain Lands.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The commissioner of Indian affairs today submitted a draft of a bill prepared by the United States department of the interior, which has been called the Turtie Mountain Lands in North Dakota. Under the provisions of this bill the Indians of the United States all their lands in North Dakota excepting tract twelve miles long and six miles wide now occupied by them as a reservation. The Indians are to receive $1,000,000 in cash for the lands. This is similar to the agreement which the half-breed Indians opposed in the last congress.

Tired of Chicago.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Leading officials of the National League of Republican clubs are dissatisfied with Chicago as the league's permanent headquarters. Secretary Dowling has been called to New York by President McAlpin to talk this matter over. They will have a conference tonight, and it is expected that the league will be moved to New York or New York.

Clough Will Visit Davis.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The Washington Post today says Gov. and Mrs. Clough, of Minnesota, are expected in the city within a few days, and will be met by the secretary of state, Mrs. Davis, during their stay in Washington.

Campbell in the Box.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Ex-Gov. Campbell, of Ohio, was on the floor when the house met today, and held quite a levee in the rear of the Democratic benches.

OF COURSE HE WOULD.

Foster Says It Has Only to Be Offered to Harrison. NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Charles Foster, ex-governor of Ohio and ex-secretary of the treasury, was in the city today. To a reporter who addressed him on the subject of politics, Mr. Foster said that the election of Cleveland for the Republican national convention city was right. "St. Louis is a good city," he said, "and Cleveland is a good man." "Do you think McKinley will be nominated?" "The outlook for him is certainly good and there is no division of sentiment whatsover in Ohio as to his candidacy and his ability," was the answer.

Indorses Matthews.

To the Editor of the Globe. The Democrats of Indiana have declared in favor of Gov. Claude Matthews, of that state, as the candidate for president in 1896, and I wish to second the nomination. Gov. Matthews is a farmer by profession, although he has been identified with the politics of his state for years; first as a member of the legislature, then as secretary of state and finally as governor. He has never been defeated, but has always been victorious in every political campaign in which he has engaged. He is a clean man, a fine speaker and a Chesterfield in manners. He is one of the clearest thinkers in the party, sound in every principle of Democratic faith and belief. Among all the prominent men in the party he is the one most likely to lead the Democrats to victory next fall. The next president will be from the West, and his name will be Matthews. If the convention takes into consideration ability and availability, I am, Sir, your obedient servant, R. W. Johnson.

MAY CENSURE HAYWARD.

But the Suggestion of Impeachment Was Republican Bill. WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—According to the opinion of two or three probable members of the house committee on foreign affairs, there is a strong possibility that when the committee comes to consider the matter of Ambassador Hayward's two speeches it may recommend the action proposed by Mr. McCall's resolution. The resolution proposes that the house call on the president to inform it what steps, if any, he has taken to recall or censure Mr. Hayward. The question of impeachment is not before the house or the committee in any way, notwithstanding some misapprehension on that point, for when Mr. Barrett's resolution was disposed of the words "by impeachment or otherwise" were stricken out. It is now conceded by the speaker that the proposition to impeach was not intended seriously, but merely a parliamentary move to secure debate on the ambassador's conduct.
