

SAINT PAUL.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Game Warden Stephens, of Detroit, was at the capital yesterday. During the month of January there was paid into the city treasury the sum of $32,000 for liquor licenses. Miss Alice Arne, who shot herself Tuesday afternoon, is still improving. Her condition affords much encouragement to her physician, Dr. Whitcomb. The total receipts from criminal fines imposed in the municipal court during January were $1,038, while the collection made in the civil branch were $180. At the Oxford Gospel church, Holly av., near St. Albans street, James Snyder will preach tomorrow at 10:30 a. m., the third of a series of sermons on the "Pre-Millennial Coming of Christ." A specially important business meeting of Lady Somerset W. C. T. U. will be held Monday, Feb. 2, at the home of the president, Mrs. C. W. Teuple, 613 Central Park Place. Rev. Edward A. Steiner, pastor of the Pacific Congregational church, has received a call to the First Congregational church, of Springfield, O. Steiner will refer to the council of Congregational churches in the Twin Cities for decision.

Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION.

To Be Held at Rochester, Minn., Next Month.

The annual state convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of always an event of interest to members and friends of that organization and to all who are interested in the welfare of young men. The arrangements are out calling the convention for 1896 at Rochester, Minn., 12-16, and already the programme committee has the promise of aid from Rev. R. A. Torrey, of Moody's Bible Institute, Chicago, who will give his now famous addresses on the "Baptism of the Holy Spirit." The international committee will be represented by Robert Widdensall, the association prophet; O. C. Michener, college secretary, and C. M. Copeland, field secretary. An address is promised by Rev. J. W. Strong, president of Carleton college and one by G. Van Tuyl, of Detroit, Mich., chairman of the Michigan state committee. A new feature of the convention will be the three session conferences on special lines of work instead of the regular forenoon sessions of Friday and Saturday. The county work of the association, a new enterprise, will come in for a share of attention. Parties intending to be present should correspond with William Francis, state secretary, Tenth street and Mary place, Minneapolis.

VASA LODGE FUN.

Very Happy Programme Given at Central Hall.

The Good Templars' rooms in Central hall were filled last night at the entertainment given by Vasa Lodge, No. 82, I. O. G. T. An interesting programme was given, after which a basket auction took place. This gave rise to much amusement. Refreshments were then served, and the crowd mingled in social converse for an hour or more. The programme opened with a brief address of welcome by Miss Hilda Quist, which was followed by a piano solo by Miss H. Friberg. Miss Friberg executed her selection with more than ordinary good taste, and won hearty applause. The Under-Secretary of Minneapolis made a bit singing "Horseshoe" and sang to and responded to an encore. Later on came again, and another encore followed. Miss Gerda Lund had two numbers on the programme, both recitations, and she did so well that she had to give four instead of two. C. J. Palmer recited an original poem in a manner that pleased the audience very much. Miss Annie Holmstrom rendered a recitation with good taste and with a fine voice. Prof. L. J. Lundgren rendered two guitar solos, and the programme concluded with a few remarks by C. H. Melby. Next Friday evening the lodge will install its newly elected members.

THOMAS A. HUNT BEGINS AN ACTION TO RECOVER LIFE INSURANCE

CARRIED BY COL. T. W. HUNT.

SUIT WHICH RECALLS THE SUDDEN DEATH OF THE COLONEL LAST FALL.

ONE OF THE COMPANIES PAYS UP.

Bankers, of Des Moines, and Others, However, Will Contest the Claim in the Courts.

Thomas A. Hunt, an insurance agent, residing at 1061 Hague avenue, in this city, through attorneys T. T. Fauntleroy and M. F. McDonald, has just begun in St. Louis, the first of the suits to obtain the full amount of the large policies which became due the 30th of last September, at the death, in this city, of Col. Thomas W. Hunt, father of the plaintiff. Col. Hunt died very suddenly one morning. Preliminary to a large amount were said to be due the same day, on the policies which he carried and whose face value was the unusual aggregate of $73,000. There was even some rumor of suicide and it was reported that Col. Hunt had attempted to end his life a few weeks before in St. Louis by throwing himself from a moving train. An autopsy was made by Deputy Coroner MacNamee and several other physicians revealed that the colonel's heart was much diseased and enlarged to a notable degree. His condition might have caused his sudden death at any moment. However, much of the insurance carried by Col. Hunt had been secured with the Des Moines, Iowa, company. It is known, no criticism of his physical condition had been made by the examining physicians of the insurance company, and the fall from the car was explained as an accident. One circumstance which at the time caused surprise when the amount of the policies was announced was that Col. Hunt had not, for years, been considered a man of means and was, when he died, employed as a solicitor for a public utility company in St. Louis. Shortly after Col. Hunt's death a claim was advanced against his estate by Mrs. Ada Wilson McCue, of St. Francis. She asserted that she had been his friend and had assisted him to the extent of loaning him no less than $35,000. With a part of this money, she said, he had insured his life and had transferred to her a claim on his insurance policies equal to the whole amount that he had borrowed. Mrs. McCue's claim was made in the form of a prospective suit against the Des Moines company. The papers were drawn up, but proceedings have not yet been instituted. Various companies had issued the policies on the life of Col. Hunt. Six weeks ago the Bankers' Life association, of this city, waived all formalities and the full amount of its policy, $6,000. The suit just brought in St. Louis is against the Bankers' Life Association of Des Moines. It is uncertain what course will be adopted by the other companies today, which is the limit set by law for the payment of their policies, if justly due. It is understood that all the companies now interested will act in concert.

NOW IN BOOK FORM.

Proceedings of the State Charities and Corrections Meeting.

The proceedings of the fourth Minnesota state conference of charities and corrections, held at Faribault last October, were issued yesterday in pamphlet form. The high position which the work of that conference has taken among penalologists and philanthropists the world over is shown by the fact that the Charities Review has reprinted three of the papers—those of unbalanced people, by F. H. Wines; on the defective classes, by A. C. Wright; and on the care of the adult feeble minded, by Ernest Bickel. Leonard A. Hand has also reprinted some of them. Other interesting features of the report are the papers by R. Mott on the influence of party politics on state institutions, and by E. A. Fry on free employment bureau; by C. E. Riggs, on the care of the insane outside of asylums; by Judge Wright, on Minnesota laws concerning the commitment of children, and by W. W. Butchart, on juvenile reformation. Mr. Butchart says, among other things: "With regard to the first known juvenile crime, a child criminally inclined is without moral strength; hence, a study should be made of the nature of the offense. A discrimination should be made between the child's criminality and vicious temper; but for either cause the first offense is a severe punishment. No matter what the cause, whether that of the instance of the parents or otherwise, when the child is lost sight of within the jail walls the strain upon the parental heart strings is too great. Love and pity override all. Accompanied by friends they haunt the jail with their presence and plead the child's sympathy, regret, condolence. They deluge him with unaccommodated fruits and confections until the child himself imagines he is deeply imposed upon and is a martyr. I suggest the placing of the child alone in a separate cell; reduce him to prison fare and strip his prison rags; isolate him from all visitors; treat him firmly yet kindly; improve upon him by every good thing; and when he is released, pleasant indeed. In other words, administer strict punishment, and when next he is made free, the impressions thus made will, in my opinion, be lasting indeed, and there will be less juvenile recidivism."

CANDLEMAS DAY.

Purification of the Virgin Mary to Be Commemorated Tomorrow.

Tomorrow the Anglo Catholic church and all churches in communion with her will commemorate the presentation of Christ in the temple and the purification of Saint Mary, the Virgin. There is little doubt that this was the first festival instituted in memory of the Blessed Virgin. St. Cyril of Alexandria and others of an equal early date refer to it. The festival is placed forty days from Christmas, as that was the interval directed by the law between the birth of the child and the day when the mother presented herself for redemption to the congregation, and her infant Son for an offering to the Lord. It was on this occasion that Simeon gave to the church that beautiful canticle which is sung every Sunday evening, the "Nunc Dimittis," or "Lord, now lettest thou thy servants depart in peace." The submission of the Blessed Virgin to the ceremony of purification, and of her Divine Son to that of presentation, (A. D. 1232) an illustration of the perfect humiliation of the Lord to the likeness of sinful man. The miraculous conception of the Virgin had been unattested by that for which a ceremonial purification was ordained; and the Blessed Lord, having no original sin, need not be offered (or presented) and brought back again to His baptism, so now, for Himself and for His holy mother He says by their acts: "The popular name of this festival is that of 'Candlemas Day,' perpetuating a very ancient custom of walking in procession with tapers and singing. The English historian, (A. D. 1232) mentions the same custom in his paper of going in procession, two by two, bearing tapers and singing hymns. After this history, however, we find that the English and Episcopal churches that they show no honor or reverence to the mother of the Blessed Lord. This is not true, for the calendar mentions two festivals in honor of the Blessed Virgin, the one already cited and "The Annunciation," sometimes called "Lady Day." In hymns ancient and modern the hymn for this festival runs: "Shall we not love thee, mother, dear, Whom Jesus loved so well, And in whom he dwelt so long, Thy joys and glories foretell?" Both churches honor her whom the Bible has blessed so highly, and do not render to her that honor and worship which they claim belongs to her Son.

SOCIAL, BUT NOT FRIVOLOUS.

Interesting and Charitable Field of a Set on the Hill.

There is a quiet little society of women on St. Anthony hill which is doing works of good and not saying a word about it. The society has a name, but is organized under the Scriptural quotation: "Let not thy right hand know what thy left hand doeth." The club meets every two weeks and spends the afternoons making garments for needy ones the members have looked up between meetings. One or two families are hunted up where there is illness or lack of employment and taken under the charge of the club. They are placed on their feet and their hearts are comforted. Another family, bringing happiness and comfort into many homes. Not only do they sew for those they care for, but the women with carriages offer the luxury of afternoon drives to the sick and weary, jellies and broths are prepared for the sick, and the members are invited to the house, and employment is obtained for those without work. All for the pleasure of doing good. And not a word is said about it.

BILLS FOR GARBAGE.

Two of Them Are Temporarily in the Air.

The board of aldermen committee on claims met yesterday afternoon, and, after passing the routine bills, considered the bill of the Capital Garbage company for the year 1895. Commissioner Stone, who refused to audit this bill, which amounts to $897.50, appeared before the committee and explained the details of the bill. Dr. Stone stated that he withheld his signature because he was not satisfied that the contract had been performed. The committee, according to the report, is of the opinion that the contractor should be paid. The January bill of Pleading & Shelly, the present garbage contractors, was referred to the corporation attorney, inasmuch as the claim is for the monthly proportion of the entire contract, whereas the delay of the council in awarding the contract prevented the contractors from beginning work until Jan. 20. Since that date the contractors say they have removed all the garbage accumulated during the month. Their bill is $1,227.08. Aid. Hare insisted that they were entitled to a month's pay, as they had employed extra men and teams, and thereby accomplished all the work. The sum of $775.00 was voted by the council for removing the dead animals during the past month will probably be deducted from the garbage contractors' bill.

Small Fire, This.

WOMAN LET OUT TOO.

REPUBLICAN MEMBERS OF THE COURT HOUSE COMMISSION REPEAL POLITICAL DEBTS.

REMOVE ALL OLD EMPLOYEES.

MARGARET GODFREY LOSES HER POSITION TO MAKE ROOM FOR SOME VOTER.

WRIGHT WAS IN LINE YESTERDAY.

Voted With His Political Colleagues on the Removals—Men Who 'Get Places.'

The Republican members of the joint city hall and court house commission yesterday completed the work of installing their friends into office, removing nearly every employe about the city hall and court house just because these poor wage-earners happened to be appointed when the majority of the board was composed of Democrats. Even a woman named Margaret Godfrey, who earned her livelihood by helping to take care of the building, could not be spared in the mad rush of the ward heeler for place. Every one of the employes discharged was a faithful servant. Not a word to the contrary was suggested against one of them. They were all appointed regardless of politics, as is proven by the fact that some of them were Republicans and one was a woman. The ones so unfortunate as to be Republicans are to be recognized by a "pull," and therefore they are not the kind of Republicans to be recognized by the politicians who make up the Republican majority of the commission. In view of the manner in which Commissioner Wright was abused by his Republican colleagues at the last meeting for daring to do his duty in favor of what he considered right, it was thought that gentlemen would continue to stand with the Democrats in opposition to this wholesale discharge of faithful servants just for the purpose of making room for Republican hangers-on. But Mr. Wright was cowarded into line, and yesterday he came in and sat unmurmuring to vote "aye" on whatever any one of the other three proposed. Such complete subjection, it was remarked, was a pitiable spectacle in a country in which the widest range of personal liberty is supposed to exist. In the absence of Mayor Smith, Acting Mayor Ehrmanntraut presided. After disposing of the regular routine business, a bill, introduced by a letter from the Druids' regular bureau of the city was read, which urged that John L. Hoffman and Louis Anderson be readmitted to the city hall. The letter was ordered filed. A resolution, offered by Commissioner Johnson, was adopted, which provided for the discharge of Fred Potter, S. A. Wiley, J. L. Hoffman, Tom Delaney, Roman Huspek, Adam Nachelson, Fred Ehrmanntraut, Charles W. Johnson, J. P. White and Margaret Godfrey, employes in the building, the discharge to take effect from and after Feb. 14. Chairman Ehrmanntraut said that the board had previously adopted a resolution giving the custodian power to hire and discharge employes with the consent of the board, and this resolution was not in order. Mr. Johnson then added a provision that all previous resolutions of a conflicting character be repealed, which was satisfactory to the chair. A motion to lay on the table was lost by a vote 4 to 3, all the Republicans, excepting Smith, Milham and Wright, voting against it. The motion to strike out the names of Hoffman and Nachelson, but this was lost by a vote of 4 to 2, Ehrmanntraut declining to vote. The original resolution was then adopted by a strictly partisan vote. Another resolution to elect George Gerlach night watchman, at a salary of $50 a month, was next adopted by the same vote. Gerlach is a Republican striker, who has been looking for some time for a position on the city campaign. He was one of the "speech-makers" in that memorable struggle, and his talks on that occasion were "literary gems." His speech was so good enough, it seems, to receive recognition, and therefore the public is in duty bound to pay for them, which they will begin doing after Feb. 14. Another resolution, adopted by the same vote, electing M. J. Schorn and Steve McDonough elevator men, and still another electing the following janitors to succeed those discharged: Louis Lindquist, Fred Artz, J. P. White, Charles Johnson, Joe Ducherme, John Churchill and William Marquardt. The Flynn was elected yardman, to begin service as soon as needed. All the others begin on Feb. 14. Another remained but one thing to be disposed of to some "good Republican" as compensation for his political services, and this was the cigar stand. A resolution was offered granting this privilege to C. Anderson, and requiring the removal forthwith of Lawrence Pahey, who at present enjoys the privilege. Chairman Ehrmanntraut suggested that the stand was a nuisance in the corridor and ought to be abolished altogether, as it was bringing in no revenue. Since the stand was there was no reason why the taxpayers should furnish anybody with a place in which to do business without charging anything for it. Commissioner Allen took the same view of it, but the resolution was adopted by the four Republican votes. A communication from Clerk of the Court Rogers, calling attention to the necessity for a new file room for his office, was referred to the committee on grounds and buildings. The commissioner adjourned to meet again on Feb. 15, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

LIBRARY COMMISSION REPORT.

Formulated by Committee for Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber of commerce committee on the education met yesterday afternoon with Chairman Gilbert, Dr. Egbert and E. P. Olmsted present. The committee spent some time in executive session, and will submit its report on the Butler-Ryan library building proposition to the chamber at the regular meeting on Monday.

No Connection With the Case.

A Washington telegram to an evening paper last night, referring to the hearing before Judge Lamoreaux of section 30 case, involving title to lands worth millions, says that Davis, Kellogg and Severance are among the attorneys for the Minnesota Iron company. Mr. Severance said last night that his firm has no connection whatever with the case, and he could not understand how such a mistake could have been made.

Prescott, president of the International Typographical union, is in the city at the solicitation of the St. Paul publishers for the purpose of adjusting the minor differences which existed in the immediate past. In speaking of the condition of the International Typographical union, President Prescott said yesterday: "The union is in the best of conditions, both financially and in point of membership. Four years ago we ranked fourth in the federation, but today we are unqualifiedly first. We have been all points of view. Of course the invention of machinery has thrown some of our members out of employment for a time, but we have gradually readjusted themselves until we fall to notice any marked results of the so-called 'labor saving machines.'" and how the county seat war promises to wax merrier still.

FULLERTON HAS MR. AMS' FISH.

Consequently He Declines the New Yorker's Offer to Give Him the Salted Finny.

One of the matters brought before the state board of corrections and charities on Thursday was the request of the commissioners of Pine county for advice as to the building of a new jail, a request which was complied with with the usual alacrity. While the recommendation of the board has nothing to do with it, it is entirely probable that the jail will be built at Pine City, which is the county seat. Hinckley wants the county seat, and it is claimed by the denizens of the Phoenix city that they will accomplish the removal almost as effectively as the fire fiend effected the removal of their own town on one occasion. Pine City has not been talking with so much assurance, but it appears that the unburned community has been saving a few sections of timber meantime, and the contemplated erection of the jail is one of the nails which it hopes has been driven into the coffin of the ambitious Hinckley. The county commissioners are now free to go ahead with the building of the jail, and as it, especially as recommended by the state board, will be quite a substantial structure, its removal will be one of the most important obstacles to the removal of the county seat. If the Pine City gets their jail finished before the Hinckley folk can get their special election, then the county seat will be at Pine City. The water will feel that the chances of moving the county capital are greatly decreased. A $10,000 jail, in a county with as much open country as has Pine, is a consideration not to be despised. Said Secretary Hart, of the board of corrections and charities, yesterday: "The matter is one over which this board has no control. It would seem that the Pine City people, however, were a little foxy, for experience of other county seats has been that where they were equipped with substantial county buildings they were pretty well able to combat the opposition successfully. There are few county buildings more permanent in their character than the modern jails whose construction is authorized by this board."

EXECUTIVE AGENT FULLERTON.

He Arouse a New Yorker to Heights of Generosity.

Executive Agent Fullerton, of the state game and fish commission, yesterday received a call from an attorney named Beckhofer, then he, as an adviser of the man Ames, who is wanted by the state of Minnesota for violation of the game laws. If Ames should come into the state, he would be liable to a fine of $100 and a term of imprisonment for every bird and bit of meat that the state has charged against him, it would be apt to keep him in debt at all the rest of his life, but the game and fish commission made him an offer to discharge the cases on a basis of settlement sufficiently large not to lessen the dignity of the state, although it did diminish the severity of the punishment. Mr. Ames, however, without hesitation, yesterday volunteered as a basis of settlement the sum of $10,000. "We'll give you the fish," "Give us the fish?" replied Mr. Fullerton. "Ha ha, we've got 'em. Ha ha." And the gentleman from Duluth laughed heartily as he coolly overturned all the New Yorker's well-intended, but misguided, efforts to be generous.
