WHEAT MUST GO UP

RONANZA FARMER DALRYMPLE SAYS IT HAS ONE WAY OPEN.

WINTER WHEAT A FAILURE.

AND THE NORTHERN GROWN ARTICLE MUST LARGELY TAKE ITS PLACE.

FOREIGN PRODUCT LIGHT, TOO.

All in All, He Does Not See How the Price Can Help Going Up.

OLIVER DALRYMPLE, THE GREATEST OF AMERICAN WHEAT FARMERS, IS CONFIDENT THAT THE WHEAT GROWERS OF THE NORTHWEST WILL BE REWARDED THIS YEAR BY REMUNERATIVE PRICES FOR THEIR PRODUCT.

HE SAID YESTERDAY TO A GLOBE REPORTER AT THE MERCHANTS' HOTEL:

"I think that the outlook for wheat is better than for several years. I feel pretty sure that it will not only hold this last rise of 10 cents, but, by the time the lake is open and wheat begins to move, I expect to see a further rise of 10 cents. Yes, the quotation for May wheat in that month, or along in the latter part of April, ought to be in the neighborhood of 80 cents. Of course there was a bulge to that price last May, after wheat had lingered on both sides of 60 cents for several months, but the spurt was only temporary. It is going to be different this year. Already a man can see the strength of the market. During the rise of the past week or so people kept saying that as soon as wheat halted, there would be a big break, but the break hasn't come, and, if it does come, it will not stay. The farmers of this country have no large part of last year's crop on hand except in Minnesota and the Dakotas. In these states more than the usual proportion of the crop is still in the hands of the producers. You see, they had an extraordinary crop last year, and besides, they did not sell much of it. The average of the low prices. Last year's crop was from half again to twice what the usual crop is. It isn't reasonable to suppose that there will be a very good harvest this year. The land must have exhausted itself for the time being, by its big product last year. I think we will have in 1896 rather less than a normal crop. The government reports show that the winter wheat crop has never before been in such an unfavorable position as it is now. I don't imagine it will be possible for the crop to amount to much even if the conditions change from now on. So, we have a comparatively small surplus in stock, with almost every acre of a bad winter wheat crop, and the probability of a small crop of spring wheat. About the only uncertain element in the picture, as I see it, is the Argentine republic, which is the only rival we have to fear. Their usual big crop—which is all winter wheat—has been seriously injured by excessive rains. I cannot but think, on the whole, that there is every prospect of good prices for wheat during the remainder of this year."

WHOLLY FALSE.

The Charge That the Jewish Churches Are Warring. Will you kindly permit me a small space in your excellent paper to deny a story published in the Pioneer Press and the Minneapolis Times of Feb. 4? It is an insult to put in print that there will be a political war between the Sons of Zion of the West side. We desire to have it thoroughly understood that both the West side Jewish churches are in harmony and peace with each other, and that no rabbi never was a rabbi, and he, with a few of his followers, not over five in number, desired to teach different doctrines from those of our own faith, and for this were expelled from both churches by a vote of the entire congregation, which numbers over 500 people and members. The so-called New Jerusalemists, who are preposterous and utterly false. The meeting described, at which I was in attendance, was composed of less than half a dozen people, and instead of being a political meeting, they tried to make it a political whereupon I and my friends walked out. Further than this, nothing has occurred on the West side to mar the peace of our churches.

To Tax Bank Accounts.

There is a wide discrepancy between the amount of cash in bank returns by the assessors and the totals as shown by the bank examiners' reports. The one total is $3,000,000; the other over $50,000,000. The state auditor contemplates measures to make the assessment of cash in banks more effective.

Koerner Will Need Money.

As State Treasurer Koerner gets into the work of looking after deeds and abstracts for state property, its extent becomes more apparent, and it is likely that the next legislative session will be for an appropriation of $1,000,000 to cover the contingent expense.

RE-ELECTION AS PRESIDENT OF THE THURSDAY CLUB-SOCIETY.

The Thursday club is one of the largest and the oldest organizations in St. Paul, and while yet only a young club, being in its second year, its members have accomplished so small amount.

THE THURSDAY CLUB WAS ORGANIZED TWO YEARS AGO AT THE HOME OF MRS. UPHAM FOR LITERARY PURPOSES.

There were fifty women present, mostly unmarried, and an organization was effected and officers elected. The club has since grown and prospered, and at present has a membership of 100, the limit being 115. Meetings are held at the House of Hope church every three weeks, and with Miss Mary Sturgis president and Mrs. J. B. Bachus secretary.

MEASURES URGED BY SO-CALLED FRIENDS WOULD ABSOLUTELY DESTROY ITS VALUE.

James J. Hill finds in the marked success of the recent popular bond issue a refutation of the idea that the nation's prosperity may be impaired or even destroyed by the arbitrary action of a few men occupying high positions in the financial world.

THE LARGE AMOUNT OF SUBSCRIPTIONS INDICATES THE ABILITY OF THE COUNTRY TO TAKE REASONABLE CARE OF ITS FINANCES.

When it enjoys a fair degree of immunity from congressional obstructions of its financial policy, it is known by the government that foreign bankers were not likely to subscribe to the possibility of hostile complications, and it was forced to the alternative of placing its gold loan through American financial institutions (mainly the New York banks and others associated with Mr. Morgan) at a very great cost.

THE BANQUET OVER, THE KNIGHTS RETURNED TO THE HILL, AND IT WAS ALONG WITH AN EXCELLENT ENTERTAINMENT.

The banquet over, the knights returned to the hill, and it was along with an excellent entertainment. The twelfth degree was finished. The members are making preparations for another big event next Wednesday night. The occasion will be the concert by the Malta band, composed of members from all the commanderies in the city. It has twenty players, and is prepared to give an excellent performance. The concert will be given at Vasa hall, and beside the band selections, several vocal numbers and recitations will be given.

He said he succeeded in having the bill now before congress amended in such a way as to insure the certain promotion after the $900 grade is reached. His interview with the chief of the salary and pension department was especially favorable owing to the large increase in the receipts of the St. Paul office during 1895, and he assured the clerks that nearly every cent of them would be paid in the next July. A vote of thanks was tendered the postmaster for his efforts on behalf of the clerks. The association then elected officers as follows: President, J. W. Tobin; vice president, J. P. Leitner; corresponding secretary, F. E. Koenig; recording secretary, H. Negard.
