AGAIN 'FRYING THE FAT.'

"Frying the fat" has come to be the accepted expression for the process of obtaining money from protected manufacturers with which to carry on Republican national, congressional and state campaigns.

It is but natural that, with the issue of more and more protection bulging to the front again, and finding its proper leader in McKinley, the fat should be fried out to enable him to secure the nomination.

EVERYWHERE THE SAME.

We have called attention frequently to the policy of the free silver men in many parts of the Union which seems to put them without the pale of party consideration, because they consider themselves set free from the obligation of a tie to any party which they cannot control.

The disgraceful condition of affairs in Kentucky for weeks past is the most conspicuous illustration. This is entirely the outgrowth of a bolt by Senator Blackburn and Mr. Hardin from the decision of the state Democratic convention.

Mr. Hanna has become aware of the immensity of his job and the insufficiency of his purse to supply the pressing demand. And, anyway, why should he only bleed when so many of his fellows draw their wealth from the same font?

LETTING OFF FIREWORKS.

A session of congress immediately preceding a national election is not expected to develop anything but the lowest variety of political claptrap. The present experience of the country is realizing that expectation in a rather more disgusting fashion than usual.

These are all matters of the gravest national importance. In addition to them there are a score of minor issues in which the interests of the people could be served and economy and good government promoted by diligent attention to business on the part of congress.

While the senate is at this business, the house, with its enormous Republican majority, is busy unseating Democratic members, and thrashing over old straw about election outrages in the Southern states.

party, or something of the sort. The men who constitute this have laid out the interesting programme of forming a new party to suit themselves, and then leaving to the regular Democratic organization a choice between surrender and fight.

This phenomenon has now become so general that the most careless observer must take note of it. It means that it is useless to parley or to treat with the men who insist upon carrying the free silver issue into party politics.

A SENATORIAL PHARISEE.

Henry C. Hansbrough is, by an accidental conjuncture of circumstance, locality and railroad interests, a senator of the United States from North Dakota.

These are all matters of the gravest national importance. In addition to them there are a score of minor issues in which the interests of the people could be served and economy and good government promoted by diligent attention to business on the part of congress.

DWYER WAS NAMED

ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF THE DEMOCRATIC CITY COMMITTEE, VICE T. D. O'BRIEN.

ITS REGULARITY QUESTIONED.

DONE AT A MEETING OF THE ORGANIZATION HELD AT THE CLARENDON.

THE ELECTION PREPARATIONS. Several Members Walk Out of the Room, Claiming the Proceedings Were Irregular.

A number of the members of the Democratic city committee met last night at the Clarendon hotel in response to the following call issued by Secretary F. S. Battley:

It is requested that you attend a meeting of the Democratic city committee of the city of St. Paul to be held at the parlors of the Clarendon hotel, on Washburn street, St. Paul, Minn., at 8 p. m., on March 13, 1896.

Upon assembling, a glance over the room revealed the presence of the following gentlemen: E. J. Darragh, P. D. Scannell, Edward Murnane, J. H. Bell, Charles Gerber, Edward Quinlan, L. J. Dobner, Patrick Gleason, William Johnson, Frank J. Miller, J. J. Miller, John Healy, D. L. Bell, J. A. Meyer, M. Mullane, John J. Dwyer, Thomas Loren, standing in the rear of the room not far from the door were Patrick Conley, George H. Allen, O. H. O'Neill, John E. Hearn, J. H. Loomis and George Mitsch.

Secretary Dwyer opened the proceedings with a motion that P. D. Scannell be chosen temporary chairman. The motion prevailed. Then Frank J. Miller, secretary of the Democratic City Committee, read the following letters from Thomas D. O'Brien, dated May 11, 1894, resigning his membership and the chairmanship of the committee:

Frank S. Battley, Esq., Secretary Democratic City Committee—Dear Sir: Enclosed herewith is my resignation of my membership in your committee. You will observe that the resignation is dated May 11, 1894, and that the committee will be re-elected at that date.

Democratic City Committee—Gentlemen: When I accepted the position of chairman of the Democratic City Committee, I understood that I would be at liberty to resign as soon as the campaign ended. I have neither the inclination nor the business to take an active interest in politics.

satisfactory to a large number of Republicans in the First ward. They realize, however, their inability to secure the nomination of such a candidate from their own party as they desire. In other words, it is a case of the Scandinavian Republicans against all the others. This being the case, it is not unlikely that the district committee may consent to vote for a Democrat, provided they are allowed to name him. In case the machine Republicans declare their intention of renominating Ald. Lindahl, there will certainly be a defection in the Republican ranks.

Lindahl is not the kind of man we want to represent our ward in the city council. He is a man of no ability, and a man of no character. He is a man of no ability, and a man of no character. He is a man of no ability, and a man of no character.
