Prior to the special meeting of the assen bly yesterday afternoon, while they were waiting for a quorum, Assemblymen Cope land. Lewis and Arosin commented upon the bad break of the juvenile Republicans of the First ward, to which the Globe gave publicity yesterday morning. Mr. Copeland voiced the sentiments of his two colleagues

"That was a very foolish piece of business upon the part of those young men, and ict furnished excellent campaign material for the Globe. Another break like that would nev er do. The circular issued by the young Republicans is absurd, for I have never known ward, not in the last eight or ten years, at least."

The conversation continued until an amusing incident was disclosed. It is alleged in some quarters that the language of the circular was framed by T. D. Sheehan, not with the intention of having it published in that form, but as a speech to be delivered by Magnus Norman, the president of the Young Men's First Ward Republican club. At a recent gathering of the club, Mr. Norman arose to deliver it, but after "spieling a few lines," his memory or his nerve deserted him, and he sat down, remarking as he did so, "I'll give you the rest of this some other And he did.

She spoke of the attitude of Russia toward the missionaries and compared the difference between the heathen and the Merchants'. Mohammedans' attitude toward the Christians; that the heathen have no interest in missionaries, while the Mohammedans are always antagonistic. At Marsovan the the missionaries are starting industrial relief work, weaving cloth for the people. There is a great lack of funds in the work.

The following is an extract from a letter from Frederick Greene, secretary of the ex-ecutive committee of the National Armenian Relief committee: Relief committee:

We have just received the following cablegram from Miss Clara Barton;

The exercises by the Mission Band of First German M. E. Church were very pretty, consisting of a song story of an old miser and a child, in six verses. The children said their lines clearly and sang well. The reports of the several committees showed improvement and growth in the society, and the treasurer's report was encouraging.

SEPARATED FROM HIS MONEY.

Farmer Potter Causes the Arrest of Mrs. William Breed.

Mrs. William Breed, claiming to be the wife of one of the proprietors of the Bodega, was arrested by Detective Jack Daly yesterday afternoon on the charge of grand larceny. The woman is accused by S. L. Potter, a farmer from the southern part of the state, of stealing a pocketbook from him, containing $110. The alleged theft is said to have taken place late Thursday evening, while Potter was enjoying himself at the Bodega. Potter claims he was sitting at a table by himself, when the woman came up with a cheery "good evening, old boy," and sat down beside him. Several rounds of drinks were ordered, and, according to Potter's story, the woman be-came exceedingly sociable, allowing her hands to stray listlessly across his breast and into his inside coat pocket. Soon after the woman excused herself, and Potter began to think. He thought he had a pocketbook and $110, but upon searching for the wallet, found it gone. Potter reported his loss to the police, and swore out a warrant for the woman's arrest.

He says he is positive Mrs. Breed took his money, and declares no one else was near him during the evening. He says he had his money they here they are the are they are the they are the they are they are the they are they are they are th noney just before the woman joined him and nissed it immediately after she left. Mrs. Breed denies Potter's story, and says he spent his money buying wine. Late ye terday afternoon the woman's five month's old baby was taken to the police station, in

Two Men Rob a Street Show Case. Two unknown men broke open a show case standing in front of Schuneman & Evans' yesterday afternoon and stole two gold-filled watches, valued at $15, and a lady's silver watch, valued at $4. had made their escape.

The robbery was particularly well executed for a broad daylight affair. Standing close to the case, the men waited the passing of a street car, so that the breaking glass might not be heard, and with a small stone deftly broke a hole in one corner of the showcase. Apparently inspecting the contents of the case, the action of the men excited no suspicion among the pedestrians hurrying by, and they were enabled to select what they desired wit impunity.

After securing the three watches the men boarded a street car at Sixth and Wabasha-streets, and disappeared before their game had been discovered.

> ZAY'S DOSE WAS FATAL. The Young Photographer's Attempt at Suicide Successful. Frederick C. Zay, the young photographe who tried to kill himself in Newcomb's studio, 419 Wabasha street, a week ago yes-terday, by swallowing a large dose of corrosive sublimate, died very suddenly at the city hospital at 7:30 o'clock last evening. The young man's mother was with him when he died, having come to St. Paul last week, upon being informed of her son's attempted suicide. The immediate cause of Zay's death was a complication directly due to the after effects of bi-chloride of mercury upon the system.

It was at first thought that Zay would recover from the effects of the poison, and up to yesterday afternoon his condition was very encouraging. About 6 o'clock, however, he suddenly became very ill and passed away in spite of the efforts of the attending physicians. Mrs. Zay will accompany the remains of her son to Findlay, O., today.
