

NEW TRIAL DENIED

PABST BREWING COMPANY'S CASE TURNED DOWN BY THE SUPREME COURT.

ELMO PARK LITIGATION

ENDS IN A REVERSAL OF THE WASHINGTON COUNTY COURTS DECISION.

ANOTHER REVERSAL IS MADE.

Schofield-National Elevator Case Results in an Adverse Decision—Other Court News.

The supreme court yesterday denied a re-argument in the suit of Harold Pierce against the Pabst Brewing company and W. A. Wagner, which was decided in favor of the plaintiff.

An unusual number of reversals of the lower courts are being recorded at the present term of the court, two of the four decisions handed down by Judge Buck yesterday being added to the number, already disproportionate. The syllabi of yesterday's decisions are as follows:

William P. Jewett, assignee of Elmo Park Company, appellant, vs. Iowa Land Company et al., respondents.

1. To give a mortgage to a third party on land that has been mortgaged to another party is a violation of the mechanic's lien law, but only the party to whom the mortgage was made is liable thereon.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

Heavy Grist Ground in Judge Orr's Mill.

George Butler, the negro who was arrested two weeks ago on the suspicion that he was concerned in the stabbing of Angelo Dupont, an Italian fruit peddler, was arraigned in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

It is reported that Butler is a very ordinary-looking chap. He is a native of Iowa, and was brought to this city by a merchant, and the charge on which he was arrested was the selling of mortgaged property. Being brought back, he was arrested and charged with the murder of the Italian.

against the objection of E. permitted S. to introduce in evidence the seed grain note and default in its payment, sole proof of E.'s ownership therein. Held error, that a seed grain note is not a conditional sale property thereon described, that default in payment of such a note does not itself divert the title to the maker of the note, and that the admitted proof of ownership of the grain constituted a variance between the allegations in the complaint and the facts set forth in the complaint, and, therefore, inadmissible under the allegation in the complaint. Judgment reversed. —Buck, J.

SORG BOUND OVER.

The Alleged Counterfeiter Taken Back to Mankato.

Joseph Sorg, who was placed in the Ramsey county jail late on Thursday night, had his hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner Spencer. He was held in $1,000 bail to answer the charge of counterfeiting, and was taken back to Mankato, to be lodged in jail until November. His attorney, who came up with him, thought that bail could be secured for Sorg when he gets back.

There is something in the case which has not yet been stated. Sorg some time ago ran away with his wife's sister, a girl under fifteen years of age. He took her to Iowa, but was chased and captured. His pursuers were George W. Allen, Madison Lake merchant, and the charge on which Sorg was arrested was the selling of mortgaged property. Being brought back, he was arrested and charged with the murder of the Italian.

Later she died, leaving a child, but in the meantime Sorg's wife had returned and gone to live with her parents, and is now living with him. Before this happened she had given information which indicated that Sorg was a counterfeiter, but now the prosecution cannot use Mrs. Sorg as a witness, and must rely on the molds which she turned over to George Ritchie, of Missouri, and on what she said to Ritchie at the time.

The secret service officers are convinced that Sorg is a tough character, but they also believe that the counterfeiting gang is broken up and dispersed. Sorg is only about twenty-nine years of age, and is a very ordinary-looking chap.

ONE INCIDENT HE ISN'T TALKING MUCH ABOUT.

M. N. Goss, chief of police that is to be returned from Chicago yesterday morning. He had, as stated in the Globe, been down to the Windy City to size up and become acquainted with the methods of management pursued by the heads of the Chicago department. Mr. Goss was enthusiastic in his praise of the courtesies shown him in Chicago, and grew eloquent in picturing the systems of the Chicago department, and the G. I. B. reporter. "Of course," he said afterward to the reporter, "they have a very large force, over 3,200 men, and no very pat system of management, but there are several admirable features that we may be able to follow here to some extent. I went over the whole department there, and was especially impressed with the system of keeping records and keeping track of criminals."

Mr. Goss would not discuss the probable changes in the St. Paul department, on the ground that he is not yet in charge. He is already getting a taste of official high life, however, in the number of ambitious Republican workers who desire to get positions on the force. "To all of them, he says, the advice is given to file their applications and take their chances on merit."

There was a little incident of Goss' trip that he didn't tell the reporter. About the same time he made his visit to Chicago, he called on the Chicago Police Department on his way to Washington. He had a letter to the chief in Chicago, and when he presented it the big fellow welcomed him and asked him to stay in the city. He had a letter to the chief in Chicago, and when he presented it the big fellow welcomed him and asked him to stay in the city.

"From St. Paul, are you?" said the sergeant. "I replied Budy." "Well, your chief is down stairs looking around now." "What is Chief Clark here?" asked Budy in surprise. "No, not Clark, Chief Goss." "Lieut. Budy had heard of Goss, but didn't know him, which he admitted rather hesitatingly."

Chief Goss was called up stairs, and when he came to the Chicago Police Department he came to the Chicago Police Department. He had a letter to the chief in Chicago, and when he presented it the big fellow welcomed him and asked him to stay in the city.

Then the Chicago officers turned aside and smiled, while Chief Goss got a better acquainted with one of the most widely known men on his force. Chief Goss wanted Chief of Detectives Schwabert to go to Chicago with him. But Phil was not to be had, and he was replaced by the Jolly Germans on Milwaukee avenue and forgot to return to St. Paul. Besides, he said, after he had made his excuses to Goss, "Oh, no, you don't get me going to Chicago to furnish fun for those fellows."

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

Edward Ryan, a Respected Citizen, Passes Away. Edward Ryan, well known old resident of St. Paul, being a pioneer in this city, died last night at his residence, 573 Laurel avenue, of heart failure, a malady from which he has suffered for some time.

Mr. Ryan was born in Queens county, Ireland, in 1823, came to St. Paul in 1853, and has lived here ever since, a well known and respected citizen. He was a member of the famous Pioneer guards, organized by Capt. Gorman, and the first military organization in the state. The funeral services will be held Monday morning from St. Luke's church, which Mr. Ryan was a member. The interment will be at Calvary. Mr. Ryan is survived by a wife and eight children, the five sons being engaged in different mercantile pursuits in St. Paul.

HELD THEIR SPELLBOUND.

Gen. Mason Charms the Madison School Children. Nearly 1,000 children assembled on the grounds in front of the Madison school yesterday afternoon and were addressed by Gen. E. C. Mason, Mayor-elect of Doran and Capt. M. J. O'Connor. The speakers were introduced by Gen. C. Smith, principal of the school, in whose regiment Mr. Doran served as a private. Mr. Doran spoke first, saying that he took pleasure in the fact that memorial observance had been introduced into the schools, as it not only kept fresh in the minds of the children the memory of the death of the heroes of the war, but it also cultivated the feeling of patriotism and love for the flag and country. Mr. Doran said that the school children were the coming nation, and if the school children were kept right the nation would go right.

Capt. O'Connor gave an address appropriate to the occasion, and was followed by Gen. Mason, who spoke to the children in a very peculiarly charming, telling and earnest way. A cheer which he witnessed, where seven color bearers in turn were cut down by the enemies' bullets, but when the little handful of men returned from the encounter victorious the stars and stripes were hoisted bravely above the small band. He said he did not wish to give the children a lust for blood—that was a fearful thing—but that there were worse things than war, and that as the coming generation they should be willing to sacrifice everything for their flag and their country. Gen. Mason was listened to with rapt interest by the small people in front of him, whose eyes sparkled with the true warmth of patriotism, and whose greed for the story of his remarks. The singing of "America" by the entire school followed, and then Gen. Smith dismissed the children.

WILDWOOD AT WILDWOOD.

Wildwood, that beautiful summer resort, is beginning what bids fair to be a most successful season. Situated conveniently near the city and possessing unusual facilities for the thorough entertainment of not only children, but adults, the sole obstacle in the past was the difficulty met with in attempting to take out and bring back large crowds of pleasure-seekers without delay. That feature has been carefully studied, and this year the transportation arrangements will be quite complete. The management of the road, as well as of the entire grounds and equipment, has been given into the hands of Harry L. Davis, a thoroughly capable and enterprising young fellow, well known here, and whose acquaintance without delay a summer resort of this kind can scarcely succeed. The property at Wildwood is equipped with an immense pavilion, a fleet of row boats, bathing grounds, water toboggans, ball room, picnic grounds, and it is the intention during the summer to have special attractions from time to time.

All Was Harmony This Once.

Perhaps the most pleasant and all-around satisfactory meeting ever held by the joint committee of the city and county boards that held yesterday afternoon. After the routine business, of which there was but little, had been disposed of, Commissioner Wright offered a resolution thanking Mayor Smith for his services as presiding officer during the past two years, and also commending him on his impartial and courteous treatment of all members. Commissioner Wright's remarks were received with much interest, and then Commissioner McCarron and County Auditor Sullivan, as secretary, joined in the compliments to the mayor. On motion of Commissioner Wright the resolution was adopted unanimously, which Mr. Ryan was the first to move for its adoption. Mr. Smith expressed his thanks felicitously and said his only regret was that the change of officials made it necessary to sever the pleasant official relations which have existed.
