WILLIAM FREDERICK'S LOSS COULD NOT BE CHARGED TO THE CITY.

JUDGE KELLY ON ACCIDENTS.

NOT EVERY ONE FOR WHICH SOMEBODY SHOULD RESPOND IN DAMAGES.

ALBRECHT'S INJUNCTION SUIT

Will Come Up for Argument in Special Term of Court Today.

In the case of William Frederick against the city of St. Paul, which was on trial in Judge Kelly's court Thursday, the court yesterday morning directed the jury to find a verdict in favor of the city. Frederick sued the city for $25,000 for the loss of an eye and other serious injuries. He and a man named Angfang were digging a trench on University avenue and Dale street, and in doing the work it became necessary to put in lagging or piling to prevent caving in. In lagging or piling, soft pine boards, eight feet long by six inches wide by two inches thick, were used, but no iron cap was placed on the top of the boards, and an iron wedge was used instead of a wooden maul. After working some five or six hours, and while plaintiff was in the ditch shoveling and Angfang was driving a board down, it split, and the splinters put out plaintiff's eye. City Attorney Darragh, for the city, contended that there was no liability on the part of the city, and that the court took the same view of the case, and granted Mr. Darragh's motion to direct a verdict for the city. His honor, Judge Kelly, before whom the case was tried, made the following remarks:

"I have no doubt but that this is the first case of the kind that ever occurred in the history of excavation in the city of St. Paul where a man has sustained so serious an injury as this from the flying off of a splinter from a board being driven into the earth; but we ought not to be carried away by the unfortunate circumstance that this is a very serious accident to this poor man. Had he suffered an accident by which a splinter had been driven into his hand and thereby had suffered some inconvenience and pain, he would have been laughed almost out of court, if he had come with the court and asked for a judgment against the city of St. Paul for an accident of that kind. It is not every accident that men receive in the course of their lives for which somebody should respond in damages."

KEIL GETS THE NOTES.

Court Finds There Was a Conspiracy Against Him.

Judge Egan yesterday filed an order in a case which has become somewhat noted. The title of the case is Charles Keil vs. Frederica Keil and Charles Hochkirch. Mrs. Keil is a sister of Hochkirch, and the plaintiff alleges in his complaint that his wife and brother-in-law entered into a conspiracy to defraud him of ten promissory notes, secured by mortgages on ten parcels of land in Todd county, the notes amounting to $4,150 in all. Keil complained that the conspiracy was hatched in February, 1895; that his wife and her brother secured the notes and mortgages unlawfully and executed false and fictitious assignments of the same to Hochkirch. These false assignments were filed in Todd county, where the mortgaged lands are located.

Believed Clay's Story.

The case of William Clay, arrested for the larceny of tableware from the Metropolitan hotel, was dismissed in the police court yesterday. Manager Barker, of the hotel, was convinced that the statements made by Clay that the property had been left at his home by a third party were correct and accordingly withdrew the complaint.

Held to the Grand Jury.

The trio of young men, James Simpson, Joe Dally and Robert O'Malley, charged with burglarizing a store on Payne avenue, were arraigned in the police court yesterday. Simpson waived examination and was committed to the grand jury. He exonerated Dally and O'Malley from any complicity in the burglary, as did other witnesses called in the case.

Verdict for the Duluth.

Judge Willis ordered a verdict for the road in the case of Michael McManoman against the St. Paul & Duluth. Plaintiff had a finger mutilated by a wire cable which he was handling.

UNITED CHURCH TO TAKE AUGSBURG SEMINARY INTO THE COURTS.

SOME ARE OPPOSED TO THIS.

BELIEVING THAT NO CHURCH SHOULD BE MIXED UP IN SUITS.

REVIVALS ARE DISCUSSED.

Their Advantages and Disadvantages Are Thoroughly Argued by Those of Experience.

The members of the annual meeting of the United Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, now in session at the First Swedish Lutheran church in this city, have diligently compared notes as to their position in regard to the control of Augsburg seminary, and the result may be summarized somewhat in this manner: A very respectful sprinkling of lay delegates and a few ministers abhor lay suits in church matters to such an extent that they would rather lose the property than be responsible for the spectacle of having the United church dragged into the courts; but the leaders are in favor of settling the question for good and all, and they are backed by a firm majority of the meeting. As to the exact method of the procedure, we are as yet without a definite plan. The delegates assembled promptly and in full force at the opening of the morning session yesterday, and a considerable number of outsiders were in attendance in expectation of an edifying treatment of the question before the house; namely, "What may be done to promote revivals and spiritual life in the churches?" Rev. P. Dreyer, of Harmony, Minn., was the first speaker. He emphasized that "revival," "awakening," necessarily presuppose sleep, death, and that this presupposition is perfectly in accordance with the New Testament. A revival is tantamount to a personal return to God, a personal meeting with God. This requires courage, and it is small wonder that so few have experienced a true "revival" and conversion. Rev. Roalkvam would not lay down any definite method, because experience has amply demonstrated that different people are converted in vastly different ways. The Holy Ghost is not chained down to strict rules. At times He sweeps like a storm through the sinner's soul; at times He comes in like a breeze. Rev. N. B. Tveit, of Cambridge, Ia., assumed that the audience agreed to a man that revival work is necessary because of the universal prevalence of spiritual sleep. But what actual revivals occur, so many approach the movement with a cruel eye, for they are so afraid of "unsound" tendencies. This carping and fault-finding, however, is still more to be dreaded than an untrammelled revival work. Mr. Dreyer, of Harmony, Minn., was the subject in a practical way, urging persistent prayer as a safe means of finding the right way of conducting successful revival work. Rev. L. M. Bjorn, of Zumbrota, Minn., did not think that the subject should be a one-sided stress on the spiritual sleep prevailing in the United church. In his opinion a true Christian life is much more common in the congregations of the United church than many would expect upon looking at the statistics. Rev. N. B. STATE INJUNCTION CASE.

Application of Albrecht & Klein Argued Today.

The injunction suit of Albrecht & Klein against the board of state capitol commissioners is one of the matters which is on the special term calendar for today. The plaintiffs claim that their property is damaged by the vacation of Aurora avenue, which was involved in the location of the new state capitol, and they have asked the district court to enjoin the commissioners from going ahead with the work, pending the settlement of their case. The street, of course, was not vacated by the commission, but by the court. The commission will be represented by Attorney General Childs.

SHERIFF CHAPEL'S FEES.

He Brings Action Against the County for $89.

Sheriff Chapel has filed a suit against the board of county commissioners to collect $89, a balance claimed to be due for bringing prisoners into court during the month of January, 1896.
