Kathleen Mavourneen.

"Kathleen Mavourneen," the popular Irish melodrama, which has pleased many St. Paul audiences, was produced at the new Mozart last evening by the Metropolitan stock company in a manner which merited better patronage than was evidenced by the small but appreciative audience. The production of the warm weather theater was as comfortable as many more pretentious temples of Thespis, and the rendition of the production afforded an enjoyable evening's entertainment. The title role in the hands of Miss Marguerite Montague was a portrayal of the ambitious Kathleen of no mediocre merit, while Louis Egan, in the character of Terence O'Moore, was amusing in his humor and adequate from a dramatic standpoint in championship of the oppressed heroine.

HAPPY ST. THOMAS

CATHOLIC CLASSICAL SEMINARY SENDS A CLASS OF FOURTEEN TO THE WORLD.

DO HONOR TO YOURSELVES.

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND'S PARTING ADMONITION TO THE YOUNG MEN WHO GRADUATED.

BISHOP O'GORMAN WAS ABSENT, And His Place Was Taken by the Archbishop of the See of St. Paul.

St. Thomas College graduated fourteen young men yesterday afternoon, the exercises attendant upon the event being witnessed by fully 500 people. The diplomas were presented by the most Rev. Archbishop Ireland, assisted by Rev. Fr. James C. Byrne, Arch-Bishop Ireland later made an address to the class, Rt. Rev. Thos. O'Gorman being absent. The Archbishop spoke with his usual readiness and ease, and said: "St. Thomas College sends out to-day fourteen young men. We cannot but look forward with anxiety for the future and ask ourselves what will these young men be and do in 10 or 20 years hence? Men to-day are ready to be impressed by intelligence and energy of will. This makes us take deep interest in homes of education."

Archbishop Ireland spoke at length on the good of education and turning to the class said: "We love America, in those who are all so intimately concerned, what is it that has made this country great and prosperous? It is the men that make up the country. What is it which will advance the church in the land? The men who make up her membership. And these 14 graduates, whatever may be the career in which they display their talents, let them be high in their generosity, honest, and honorable, and the influence of the 14 cannot be estimated. This is a great day for the church, and for the country, and a great day for the college which will be known through you. Whatever you do, do honor to yourselves. You cannot expect to pass through life without struggles or with- out opposition. It is opposition which excites progress. This is the eleventh year of the college. For eleven years it has done service in the state of Minnesota, and we have every reason to be thankful for the success that has attended it. The Catholics throughout the northwest have shown their appreciation of higher education, of college education, by sending their sons to St. Thomas. When the college was started we had fears and doubts lest in the new state of Minnesota it might prove a failure. But we have every reason to appreciate the advantages of a classical school.

But they have appreciated St. Thomas and we thank the parents very indeed. Education is the only really necessary in its highest forms in order that young men may take advantage of all opportunities. The Salutation was given by William J. Griffin, and the Valedictory by Henry McCall. Both were well given. Thomas Mulrey gave an oration on "Patriotism or Barbarism" which displayed some more original and original reasoning. He spoke of the value of patriotism and of what the lack of it had done for countries in years gone by. He said patriot- ism was productive of war, and there was more warfare in times of barbarism and that war provoked by patriotism is just war. His address was well written and given in a most pleasing manner. He gave Longfellow's "Psalm of Life" in Greek verse and was warmly congratulated. This was a somewhat difficult accomplishment for a more advanced Greek scholar to handle with the same success achieved by Mr. Griffin.

Frank English gave a well written essay on "The Scientific Method in History," which showed a clear and logical application. J. C. McCourt, who has a well trained voice which he uses to advantage sang "The Time Will Come" from Herpet and responded to an entreaty of the college band and choral association each gave selections. The members of the class were Thomas Dineen, Merrill Park; Frank Dvorak, New Prague; William English, Chicago; Martin J. Griffin, Philadelphia; William J. Kennedy, Minneapolis; Richard V. Kennedy, Madison; Peter J. Lang, Ogdensburg; Henry McCall, Eau Claire; John O'McConnell, St. Paul; Frank O'Brien, Fairbault; William O'Malley, Wanakee; William O'Reilly, Goodhue; Aloysius Ziskowski, St. Paul; Thomas Mulrey, among those in attendance were Archbishop Ireland, Rt. Rev. Grace, Rev. Fr. Byrne, Rev. P. Danahy, Rev. E. J. Lowry, Rev. J. Prendegast, of Minneapolis.

EPWORTH LEAGUE AT WASECA.

State Convention Opens Here Tuesday of Next Week. The Epworth league state convention will be held at Waseca, Minn., on Tuesday, June 23 to July 2. The convention will close on the afternoon of July 3, and the Waseca assembly program will open at that evening. One of the features of the assembly is an Epworth league training school to be held from July 4 to July 12. Five lectures on the Epworth League will be given by Rev. E. A. Schell, D. D., general secretary. Five lectures on Books and Reading will be given by Rev. W. M. McLaughlin, A. C. Chicago, lectures on the Life of Jesus will be given by Rev. F. R. Cowgill, A. M., of Hamline, Bishop J. N. Fitzgerald, D. D., president of the Epworth league, will be present July 10, 11, 12, to conduct conversations on league work and preach July 12. The regular assembly programme closes July 23. Booker T. Washington, the colored man, will give the fourth July oration, and Sam Jones will lecture July 7.

THEY MUST GET OUT.

Chief Schwelitzer Says Confidence Men Are Not Wanted. The trio of alleged confidence men arrested by Detective Werrick were arraigned in the police court yesterday. The charge against them was that they had burglarized the case their father, who is charged with allowing and encouraging them to commit crimes, was also examined. The evidence was only partly heard and the case postponed until this morning.

CRASHES THROUGH A WINDOW WITHOUT INJURING ANYBODY.

Shortly before noon yesterday a pistol bullet crashed through the window of F. B. Doran's wood office at the corner of Fourth and Market streets. William J. Doran, who since his name has assumed the office of mayor, has taken charge of the business, was in conversation with Frank Dayton, the second ward politician, at the time, but fortunately neither was injured.

MYSTERIOUS BULLET.

The window, which is on the Market street side of the building, is of heavy plate glass and to this fact, perhaps, is due the escape of both Mr. Doran and Dayton. Young Doran was seated on a stool directly in front of the window, while just in front of him was Dayton, there being only about six inches space between them. The bullet struck the glass four inches from the sill and on a line with Dayton's face, he being seated in a chair. The first parties knew of the shot was when a piece of glass struck Doran in the side and at the same instant a bullet whizzed past Dayton's nose and latened against the safe. Both men chased out on the street but no one was in sight except a small boy who when tracked by Doran was scared out of his wits. A couple of officers from the central station hastened to the scene and for a few moments there was considerable excitement.

ANOTHER NEW POLICEMAN.

His Name Is McCall, but It Isn't in the Directory. Robert A. McCall was appointed a patrolman yesterday. McCall, who by the way, managed to keep out of the last city directory, was appointed by the appointment as one of the finest to the blunder committed by Patrolman M. J. Tschida. Tschida was appointed on the force in December last. He was a good officer, and up to date no charge had been made against him either that he called the mayor names during the campaign or that he had assisted in the election of the Democratic ticket to be beaten. Tschida, however, had heard a deal about the closing of the saloons on Sundays, which it was stated during the campaign would be the mayor's chair. On Sunday morning Tschida went out duty at 7 a. m. and he was informed, as were the other members of the force, that they were to notify the various saloonkeepers on the beats to keep the front and side doors of saloons tightly shut during the day. How it was that Tschida imagined that the administration would close the saloons on Sunday is difficult to say, but he evidently did so. SEANCES AND SPEECHES.

Spiritualists Divide Their Time Between the Two.

A score of gnomes lamps twinkled in the trees that held in the United States camp grounds last night; lights twinkled in some of the cottage windows, and the tents were glowing in the twilight. The play of the piano in the big meeting tent and gave a popular ditty with sweet but childish refrain in a small cottage. S. M. Aspinwall, president of the association sat chatting with Merrill Ryder. Peace and contentment reigned in the big tent. The lectures and readings were given for the day and the crowd had gone leaving the campers to enjoy their delightful quarters. The crowd yesterday was not so large as on Sunday, but the big tent was filled when the afternoon conference was held. The children played and sang, and a public test of materialization, which was held in the afternoon at 2:30 P. M. Mrs. Julia Stallman Mitchell, of Newport, R. I., will lecture at the camp tomorrow. This camp meeting, which is to continue until July 25, is only one of the sixty which are to be held in the state published in the next three months. Some noted lecturers and mediums will be present and the program is of a high order. Prof. H. D. Barrett, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Leo F. Prior, of California; E. A. Bonis, of Boston; and Mrs. C. H. Cora L. V. Richmond, and other noted speakers and mediums are on the program. B. F. Foster, the celebrated medium, gave a lecture on "The Spiritualist's Medium," a public test of materialization, which was held in the afternoon at 2:30 P. M. FOR A VACANT OFFICE.

Insurance Commissioner Has Chances for Many. There are already a number of candidates in the field to succeed the late C. H. Smith as insurance commissioner, but the indications are that no appointment will be made for some time. The present deputy, D. C. Lightbourn, of Anckerly, has been practically in charge of the department during the illness of his chief, and has given general satisfaction to the insurance men, who have to do business with the department. In fact, the local insurance men already in circulation a numerous signed petition to Gov. Clough, with the promotion of the deputy, and if the governor is inclined to follow the wishes of those who have had dealings direct with the insurance commissioner's office and have had the business conducted to their satisfaction, he will probably promote Mr. Lightbourn to the position. There are, however, a number of candidates for the position, as many as eight at least. But it is considered doubtful that any of them can produce a strong backing for the place as the present deputy.

ED MURPHY ROBBED

THE EX-ALDERMAN'S RESIDENCE VISITED BY A VERY NERVOUS THIEF.

ENTERED A SLEEPING ROOM AND CARRIED OFF THE CLOTHES, WHICH WERE SEARCHED ON THE PORCH.

HIS DIAMOND STUD WAS TAKEN.

Also His Watch and Other Jewelry, Valued in All at About $350. Ex-Ald. Murphy has been in the habit of wearing conspicuously displayed on his shirt front a large diamond star. Since Friday last he has neglected to display the jewel. The reason he has been parties with the ornament and the chances are about one hundred to one that he will not get it back. Thursday night Mr. Murphy went to his home early and being very tired about 11 o'clock. He made it a practice to take his diamond star from his shirt front place it in a small case and when the rear door was unlocked he carried it down stairs had intended wrapping it up and making away with it. By the side of the clothes was an empty beer bottle and corkscrew and the remaining articles had been taken from the refrigerator. An examination of the clothing showed that the thief had taken what cash Mr. Murphy had in his pockets, fortunately the remaining articles had been taken from the refrigerator.
