From one extreme to the other in a day is the narrative in brief of the St. Paul and Kansas City base ball clubs, which closed a four days' series at Aurora park yesterday.

Sunday's game was a battle of slingers, owing to its uncertainty largely to ragged fielding.

Yesterday's contest was a pitcher's battle, ever uncertain, and depending on the endurance of the pitchers.

Denzer was pitted against Callahan and Callahan won. Each was batted safely six times, but out of those six hits the visitors scored six runs, while out of their six St. Paul scored but once.

Denzer gave five bases on balls; Callahan, three; Denzer struck out six, Callahan two.

Denzer started in to pitch the game of his life. The first men up were Mertes and Lake, struck out, and in the next inning two more followed suit, while in the third inning three infield grounders retired the side. The only Missourian to get on base in three innings was Klusman, and he went there on a fumble by Mertes at second base. Denzer gave his first base on balls in the fourth, or no one would have reached next time, and the game was equally discouraging to the visitors, but in the sixth a most unexpected turn was taken by the game.

Callahan, coming up to bat first, bunted the ball, pitched. It dropped dead in the dirt near the plate, about three inches within the white wash line. Spies, of course, was playing at the back stop, and could not get to the ball. He threw out, and the first Spies' wild throw sent him to third. The Mertes waited until the umpire called four balls, and Lake hit the two bases. Callahan, of course, scored, and Nyce's single brought in Mertes. Klusman went out at first, and Lake was held. Campau's single, which fell tantalizingly close to George's fingers, brought in Mertes and passed ball advanced both runners. Hines was given his base, and then Hatfield drove the ball well out for two bases, bringing in the fifth and sixth runs. The next two went out, and the visitors did not score again. Hines striking out in the seventh with three men on bases.

The locals threw away a run in the first. O'Rourke ran a fly through to Campau, but Stratton hit a light one and beat it. Stratton started to steal, and Lake threw a terrific blow starting for home, and Callahan stopped the ball and sent it to the plate, catching O'Rourke. George hit a long fly to Campau, which certainly would have scored O'Rourke.

Three flies, two of them long ones, ended St. Paul in the second, and the hit which Spies opened the first was not backed up by anything substantial. He was on third, when hit would have brought him in, but Mertes did not have it in his bat.

Hines threw a grounder out at first in the fourth, but George took Callahan's first base on balls, and Burns hit safely. George stole third and a hit would have scored, but Glasscock and Shugart both went out on long flies.

It was one, two, three, in the fifth, Hines catching another man at first. Mertes flew out at the start of the sixth, but Stratton got four hard ones, and went to second on George's rattling grounder which Manning and Nyce fielded between them. A wild pitch sent Scott to third, but the hit that would have scored him was not forthcoming, and the side went out on Burns' light tap of the ball to Manning.

After the visitors had made their six, Glasscock and Shugart went out again on long flies. Spies hit safely, but Denzer struck out.

The eighth saw O'Rourke go up and go out on a grounder to Manning; Mertes, who had pitched a terrific blow which sent it into the tall weeds and rubbish heaps near the fence back of Campau's station. Sandow reached third on it. Stratton hit a hard one to Hatfield, who was content to let Mertes score, and catch Scott at first.

Hines caught Burns at first in the opening of the ninth, although it looked from the stand as though Jim was safe. Glasscock popped one up to Manning, but Shugart waited well and received four balls. Spies then pounded the ball over the left fence, close to the line which divides the two base hits from the home runs. He was allowed two bases and then Pickett, of home run fame, was put into the game in Denzer's place to save the game if possible. He popped one up to Klusman.

ANOTHER FATAL FINISH.

Millers Score Eleven Runs in It Against Brewers.

There was practically no one in the stadium yesterday, and that was the sixth. It had been a comparatively even contest up to that time, and as Milwaukee had crawled up and one ahead of Minneapolis, it looked much as if the Brewers would win. Aside from the sixth inning, it was a very tame contest.

Denzer started the sixth inning with a nice hit. Walter Wilmut bunted. He intended it to be a sacrifice, but he beat the ball out. Starty Werden tried to sacrifice. The Brewers wouldn't have it that way, though. The exhibition of scientific hitting was badly the Milwaukee team. He started out ball was bunted into the infield, the entire infield practically went after it. All the Millers had to do was run for there was no one on the bases to put them out. Werden beat out his bunt, and then Charley Francis scored on the right field error. Callahan's bunt was as pretty a one as will ever be seen on the grounds.

Mertes' three-bagger was as pretty a one as will ever be seen on the grounds. Callahan's bunt was as lucky as he could have planned.

And old Bill Klusman did not hit one. Camp helps the Kansas City not a little. If their outfield had been yesterday as it was in the first two games of the series, the score would have been distinctly different.

Koninsky had a new pitcher on the bench yesterday in uniform, but the press was not informed as to who he was.

Mullane will undoubtedly be put in against Milwaukee today. Nonnenmacher or Silver Baker will be the Brewers' pitcher.

Fanless—who is Koninsky carrying for pitcher this year? He is after getting Weary Root—Denzer, Mullane and two fellows named Dennis.

When Anderson and Clausen pitch in a Scandinavian town like Minneapolis, the game ought to be a hot one.

The Pittsburg club is farmed out "Jot" Goar of last year. Terro Hauto team to Grand Rapids.

Anson has telegraphed Eddie Dowd, the former crack pitcher of Georgetown college team, for his terms.

Willie Mains, the pitcher Boston secured from Lewiston, has turned out to be a good one, and has been offered to give him back to Lewiston for the $500 paid for his release.

Jim Hughes, who was accidentally engaged by Pittsburg from Toledo, has been picked up by the Pirates, much better than Hastings or Joe Goar, who cost Mack $250 each.

Camp has won his case before the national board against Koninsky. He was after getting Weary Root—Denzer, Mullane and two fellows named Dennis.

Suburban Will Be Run at Sheephead Bay Today.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Although there are but seven entries for the Suburban, to be run at Sheephead Bay tomorrow, there is nothing lacking in quality, for the best of the handicap race is generally thought to be in the hands of the favorites.

The official list is as follows: Henry of Navarre, 129 (Grimm); Clifford, 123 (Tarr); St. Walter, 122 (Clayton); Belmont, 119 (Gott); Hornpipe, 113 (Hamilton); Belmar, 110 (J. Hill); The Commoner, 113 (Clayton).

There is every chance that the race will be run tomorrow. There seems to be but one opinion as to the result of the race. Few will concede that anything will hit in the hands of Navarre and Clifford, and the supporters of the two are about equally divided. Both Hyland, the trainer of Navarre, and the trainer of Clifford, are chary of talking of their charges, but it is evident that each expects to carry off the prize.

The race will be run at 2:30 on Saturday, and the trainers declared that 2:30 was the time, although they were caught by a dozen at the track.

ST. PAUL'S NEW PITCHER.

His Name is Taylor and He's From Springfield.

The new pitcher who appeared on the bench yesterday pitched a few before the game began in St. Paul. He was with the Springfield, Mass. club in the Eastern league, a year ago, and is said to combine with delicate curves and a ball that is as hard as a rock. Certainly he has all these requisites, he ought to do in this league, at least, and it is possible that Manager Koninsky intends to pit him against the Brewers this afternoon.

Denzer played in terribly hard luck yesterday, to say the least.

It is now conceded that Callahan can pitch. He was here to do his only appearance in that celebrated rain game, which lasted until after 7 o'clock.

Mertes' three-bagger was as pretty a one as will ever be seen on the grounds.

Callahan's bunt was as lucky as he could have planned.
