

BULLETIN OF THE ST. PAUL GLOBE.

FRIDAY, JULY 24, 1896.

Weather for Today—Threatening, warmer.

PAGE 1.

Bryan Men Lead at St. Louis. Allen Chosen Permanent Chairman. Middle-of-the-Road Men Downcast. Magnificent Sound Money Meeting.

PAGE 2.

Mr. Adams, of New York, Talks. Incorporation of Northern Pacific.

PAGE 3.

News of Minneapolis. Platform of the Populists. Silver Men Lying Low. Whitney on a New Ticket.

PAGE 4.

Editorial. Chicago Sound Money Conference. Gold in Streams From Banks.

PAGE 5.

Winnipeg Wins at Minnetonka. St. Paul and Indianapolis Tie. Minneapolis Defeats Columbus.

PAGE 6.

An Artist a Big Forger. Louisiana's Governor Here. Bar Silver, 68 7-8. Cash Wheat in Chicago, 57 1-8. Stocks Weak and Irregular.

PAGE 7.

Wants of the People.

PAGE 8.

Work of Indian Convention.

MOVEMENT OF STEAMSHIPS.

NEW YORK—Sailed: Puerst Blomark for Hamburg; Schiedam, for Amsterdam. Arrived: Workendam, from Rotterdam. LONDON—Arrived: Massachusetts, from New York. HAMBURG—Arrived: Phenicia, from New York. HONG KONG—Sailed: Empress of Japan, for Vancouver, B. C. QUEENSTOWN—Sailed: Germanic, for New York. GENOA—Sailed: Werra, for New York. PLYMOUTH—Arrived: Augusta Victoria, from New York for Hamburg. LIVERPOOL—Arrived: Sylvania, from Boston. Sailed: Italia, from Hamburg for New York. NAPLES—Arrived: Ems, from New York.

Elgin Market Report—Butter and bicycles are running easy.

Steve Elkins laughs in his sleeve while he talks like a statesman.

It is a good guess that the next president's name will be William.

Senator Peffer remains the persistent and consistent enemy of the barber shop.

Mr. Bryan is getting a bad run of Fridays. The Populists will endorse him on Friday.

They couldn't keep Coxe off the grass. He was made a member of the committee on platform.

And now it appears that Venezuela isn't going to speak through the mouth of a galling gun at all.

North Dakota Republicans act as though they know in advance that they are to get a licking at the coming election.

The sun is to be in total eclipse in Japan next month. This is the latest thing in this line since Japan eclipsed China.

Since it has been discovered that Hobart and Sewall look alike it is a pity they both do not reside in the United States.

The city of Cleveland is 100 years old. It acts like it when it comes to working up enthusiasm for any public enterprise.

The gold reserve is at least safe for a time. When the bankers of New York put their shoulders to the wheel the machinery moves.

Somebody is carrying the war into Africa. A sound-money greeting has been sent to Maj. McKinley from the summit of Pike's peak.

China is fast getting to be a military mark for any people looking for a fight. Mohammedan rebels have just killed 6,000 pigtail regulars.

Senator Lee Mantle has spoken. He has pulled his Butte Inter-Mountain out of the Republican party, body and breeches, and run up the flag of Bryan and Sewall.

As soon as organized labor began a united attack on Henry C. Payne, he discovered that his health was so poor that he would probably have to leave the Republican national committee.

The St. Paul dog catchers are doing their work with unerring precision. The canines of this town may as well understand that they must either get a license or go into the sausage factory.

They have elected a young man of twenty-three mayor of Thomaston, Maine. He will no doubt have troubles enough to make him feel as though he were eighty-three before he gets through with his job.

Mark Hanna is hereby warned that the people of Chicago are not so good as those of Cleveland. A lot of bad men will be awake nights in Chicago planning how they can "work" the chairman of the Republican national committee.

A wall comes from Chicago that M. J. Dowling has been doing a whole lot of work and paying for it out of his own pocket. Will Mark Hanna please pay Mr. Dowling off and send him back to his farm in Renville, county, Minn?

For the newspapers which have always been for free silver the public has a respect, even when it cannot agree with them. For those that have come out for it since the Chicago convention for the first time, in the hope of doing a stroke of business for themselves, the public contempt is infinite.

BRYAN IN A WALK.

EVERYTHING COMING HIS WAY IN THE CONVENTION OF THE POPULISTS.

HE HAS A CLEAR MAJORITY.

BRYAN STRENGTH DEMONSTRATED AS SOON AS THERE WAS A TEST VOTE.

SENATOR ALLEN IS IN THE CHAIR.

Free Silver and Bryan the Double Theme of the Address Which He Delivered.

Special to the Globe. ST. LOUIS, July 24.—A. m.—From authority so high that it is beyond dispute, I learn that it has been substantially arranged during the night to nominate Bryan and Sewall today, and placate the South by an absolute division of electoral tickets in the Southern states with the Democrats, with joint conduct of the campaign by Democrats and Populists in that section. It is believed that this will prevent a bolt. There is also a formidable movement to make S. M. Owen, of Minneapolis, chairman of the Populist national committee, in place of Taubeneck.

SENATOR ALLEN, OF NEBRASKA. Permanent Chairman of the Populist Convention.

—H. P. Hall.

Special to the Globe. ST. LOUIS, July 23.—The battle was fought and practically won this evening by the Bryan forces. The test came on the selection of a permanent chairman. The committee on organization submitted a majority report for Champion, of Maine. The middle-of-the-road men went wild for ten minutes over the presentation of Champion's name and were confident of victory. Through a misunderstanding on the part of Bryan, contesting delegates favoring Debs for president had been admitted from Illinois, and a contestant from Wisconsin, who spoke from the platform in his own behalf, saying he was for Bryan, was rejected, though a majority of the committee reported in his favor. So the middle-of-the-road men had something on which to base their joy, and by their antics they made the test very sharp. Nobody was in doubt what a vote for Allen meant. Texas was ready to burst with joy. A vote for Allen was exactly the same as a vote for Bryan, and when Allen was chosen by nearly two hundred majority there was gloom in Texas for the first time since the convention met.

As soon as organized labor began a united attack on Henry C. Payne, he discovered that his health was so poor that he would probably have to leave the Republican national committee.

The St. Paul dog catchers are doing their work with unerring precision. The canines of this town may as well understand that they must either get a license or go into the sausage factory.

They have elected a young man of twenty-three mayor of Thomaston, Maine. He will no doubt have troubles enough to make him feel as though he were eighty-three before he gets through with his job.

Mark Hanna is hereby warned that the people of Chicago are not so good as those of Cleveland. A lot of bad men will be awake nights in Chicago planning how they can "work" the chairman of the Republican national committee.

A wall comes from Chicago that M. J. Dowling has been doing a whole lot of work and paying for it out of his own pocket. Will Mark Hanna please pay Mr. Dowling off and send him back to his farm in Renville, county, Minn?

For the newspapers which have always been for free silver the public has a respect, even when it cannot agree with them. For those that have come out for it since the Chicago convention for the first time, in the hope of doing a stroke of business for themselves, the public contempt is infinite.

ling to compromise on Bryan if he would quit. His speech was not very polite or calculated to produce harmony. One of his declarations was "Every man who is distributing boodle is shouting for the middle-of-the-road." Another sentence was "There are some Populists who would rather quarrel with their own numbers than unite to fight the common enemy." Allen was evidently so elated with the victory that he lost his head. The anti-Bryan forces are trying to make an obnoxious platform, but since this test of strength Bryan will not take chances by making any concessions. Now that the nomination of Bryan is settled, the only questions remaining are the policy of endorsing Sewall and the bolt of the minority. There is considerable talk among Bryan men of nominating a Southern man for vice president, as a sop to the would-be-bolters. This would be done with the expectation that, after the heat of the convention is over, the national committee would withdraw one or the other. If this is done it will be purely a matter of policy and not necessary, for the Bryan men are now in the saddle and can do as they will in everything. The middle-of-the-road men are talking bolt vigorously since the convention adjourned, but the exercise of their vocal organs has been so great in comparison with their performance, I shall not be surprised to see them swallow the double dose of Bryan and Sewall. Funds are getting scarce and the convention may conclude tomorrow night. The silver convention attracts but little attention, and is waiting only to confer. Towne practically unknown even to the middle-of-the-road men. Still they rallied to his support every vote at their command. And they were defeated 758 to 564. The situation remains practically unchanged. Although the Bryan forces are in control and his nomination or endorsement seems to be assured, the defeat of Sewall still stares them in the face. Sewall cannot be nominated along with Bryan, and the other complication which serves to tangle the skein which must be unravelled.

MORNING SESSION. Attempted Middle-Road Demonstration Proved a Failure.

At 10:05, Senator Butler, the temporary chairman, appeared on the platform. He delivered a speech which struck up "Dixie" and the delegates uncared some of their pent up enthusiasm. The attendance in the galleries, as on yesterday was very thin. Not more than 500 people were in the balcony. Five minutes later, Chairman Butler called the convention to order, and the Rev. Mr. Smith offered the invocation. The Rev. Mr. Smith, who was seated in the front of the hall, was convulsively in the pit like the wings of myriads of yellow butterflies hovering above a clover patch. Big sunflowers followed the Rev. Mr. Smith's delegation. There were at times deafening and the delegates grew perceptibly impatient. The middle-of-the-roads were extremely suspicious. They intimated that it was part of the plot to defeat them.

After the announcement of the committee on permanent organization, the members retired. While other announcements were being made, a middle-of-the-road man attempted a demonstration. It was dramatically arrested by the general government, resolvable for all public debts, and a full regulation in payment of all debts, public and private, and loaned direct to the people, and other governmental bank cost, for the benefit of the people, and the purchase and redemption of the amount of gold and silver bullion, at the ratio of 16 to 1, as may be necessary to pay the debts of the government which are payable in coin. We demand a national treasury note issued by the general government, resolvable for all public debts, and a full regulation in payment of all debts, public and private, and loaned direct to the people, and other governmental bank cost, for the benefit of the people, and the purchase and redemption of the amount of gold and silver bullion, at the ratio of 16 to 1, as may be necessary to pay the debts of the government which are payable in coin.

A RIPLE OF APPLAUSE greeted the name of Jacob S. Coxe when announced as a member of the committee on platform from Ohio. There were also demonstrations for Gov. Holcomb, of Nebraska; Gen. Weaver, of Iowa, and ex-Gov. Llewelling, of Kansas, when their names were shouted out. The announcements were completed at 11:45. Delegate Dixon of Oklahoma, then mounted the stage and after adjuring the delegates to be quiet, introduced Clarence E. Conley, of Oklahoma, who regaled the convention with some campaign songs. Delegate Crawford, of Kansas, moved that the delegates of the silver convention be admitted on exhibition of their badges. There were many cries of "no," from the middle-of-the-roads, who evidently thought they saw in this a move to pack the galleries with Bryan shouters. Sergeant-at-Arms McDowell got on the platform and said it was impossible to carry out such instructions. Thereupon Jerry Simpson mounted a chair and said it was no more than

Continued on Eighth Page.

FOR A THIRD TICKET

MINNESOTA SOUND MONEY DEMOCRATS SO INSTRUCT THEIR DELEGATES TO CHICAGO.

WILL OF THE CONVENTION

WAS SUCH, ALTHOUGH THE MATTER WAS DISCUSSED THOROUGHLY PRO AND CON.

FULL TICKETS ARE SELECTED

To Represent the State in the Event That a National Convention is Called.

Delegates to Chicago Conference—(Meets today) D. W. LAWLER, Ramsey. F. W. M. CUTCHEON, Ramsey. H. R. WELLS, Fillmore. GEORGE H. PARTRIDGE, Hennepin.

Resolved, That the delegates to represent the sound money Democrats of this state, at the national conference to be held at Chicago today and tomorrow, or at any national conference, be advised that, in the opinion of the sound money Democrats of Minnesota at the national conference to be held at Chicago today and tomorrow, or at any national conference, they are to vote for a third ticket.

Delegates at large—D. W. LAWLER, Ramsey. JUDGE WILDER, Goodhue. H. R. WELLS, Fillmore. JOHN LUDWIG, Winona. District delegates—First—H. R. Wells, Fillmore; H. W. Lambert, Winona. Second—Dr. Hilcher, Jackson; C. W. Schultz, Nobles. Third—J. C. Pearce, Steele; T. H. Quinn, Rice. Fourth—F. W. M. Cutcheon, Ramsey; J. J. Parker, Ramsey. Fifth—B. F. Nelson, Hennepin; J. B. Atwater, Hennepin. Sixth—S. F. White, St. Louis; B. W. How, Sauk Centre. Seventh—T. C. Kurtz, Clay; L. Pearce, Clay.

There assembled in St. Paul yesterday upward of 200 sound money Democrats, representing at least two-thirds of the counties of the state, and before they adjourned they had taken action as set forth above, that, it is believed, sets the pace for the sound money men of the Democratic party throughout the country.

Wednesday evening, advocates of the free silver side were hoping and expressing the belief, that the "conference" called by National Committeeman Lawler would be a frost. Not half a dozen men had arrived from the outside towns and counties, and the prospects were a trifle blue. But with the arrival of the earliest trains yesterday things began to warm up; and by noon, when the meeting was called to order in the Merchants hotel parlors, there were so many delegates present that an adjournment was taken to Turner hall. On arrival there, after marching up from the hotel, it required about all of the seats in the hall to accommodate those who attended.

Throughout the meeting, which continued three hours, enthusiasm was at its height, and most generously applauded by men who have not been aroused to active participation in political affairs before in many years. The old-school Democrat was numerously in evidence, and backing him up in his declarations and actions were scores of young, vigorous and virilful members of the party, who have been leading the fights in recent years.

When he called the gathering to order it was unnecessary to explain its objects. In view of the platform adopted at Chicago and the candidates named thereon, it had been deemed best, he said, to let the state and nation know where the old and genuine Democracy stands on the vital question at issue. Invitations had been sent to party men in over seventy counties, and he had been given to understand that two-thirds of the counties of the state were represented in person or by proxy. The men present, he believed, represented the real Democracy of Minnesota. He did not think that they would endorse a Populist platform or Populist candidates, and the cheers which greeted the sentiment showed unmistakably that those present had resolved not to be sidetracked from their ancient faith.

"Democracy means patriotism," declared Mr. Lawler, and after all these years of fighting, in glorious victory and in equally glorious defeat, for the grand old faith of the party we love, we will not now strike our flag to Populism. I believe we will today send forth to the world an unmistakable declaration that the fires of true Democracy are still burning bright along the Canadian border."

Again and again loud cheers greet the ringing, earnest words of the speaker; and from that moment there was not a doubt in any one's mind that this conference of volunteer patriots was to make a memorable page in the civic history of Minnesota.

Rev. William Wilkinson, of Minneapolis, put a motion that Mr. Lawler be elected chairman, and it was immediately carried. On motion of Frank Cutcheon, W. C. Read was made secretary.

Hon. E. W. Durant, of Stillwater, wanted to proceed at once to name two or more sound money Democrats to accompany the national committeeman to Chicago to attend the conference called by those who have repudiated the Chicago convention and its acts.

J. J. McCafferty, of St. Paul, requested Mr. Durant to temporarily withdraw his motion, which was done. Then he moved that the delegates adjourn to meet immediately at Mozart hall. The motion prevailed, and the delegates marched in a body to all cozy hall on Franklin street, near Sixth street.

On the call to order Mr. Durant renewed his motion, and added a provision that the chair select the men to accompany him.

Mr. Lawler said he would prefer that the convention select the men; but before any action was taken Secretary Read read two telegrams from S. O. Pickens, chairman of the Democratic platform on general principles. It isn't even decent Populism. To call it Democracy is an outrage. I want to see only two parties—one for free silver and the other a third one for free silver and on the other side all sound money men, all the men who believe the money we have is good enough for us; who believe in honest paying their honest debts. Mr. McKimley's proposals I have always been opposed to, since I have had a name and a place in this country, principles I cannot inure. But when I see the heartrending situation of repainting a house or burning it down I prefer to repaint it and let it stand.

CUTCHEON'S POSITION. Frank W. M. Cutcheon followed Mr. Wilkinson in a speech which, he spoke substantially as follows:

"Unlike most of the gentlemen of this conference, I did not inherit my Democracy. I believe in honest paying their honest debts. Mr. McKimley's proposals I have always been opposed to, since I have had a name and a place in this country, principles I cannot inure. But when I see the heartrending situation of repainting a house or burning it down I prefer to repaint it and let it stand."

John Sheehy, of Montgomery, said he had yet heard no sentiment expressed as to what delegates, if selected, should do at Chicago. He wanted delegates sent, but wanted to know what they were going to do when they got there. He proposed a substitute for Durant's motion that a committee on resolutions be named, one from each congressional district. The substitute prevailed, and the districts named the following members of the committee:

First District—F. M. Smith. Second District—C. W. Schultz. Third District—Geo. W. Bettschetter. Fourth District—F. W. M. Cutcheon. Fifth District—John B. Atwater. Sixth District—Charles Kett. Seventh District—L. B. Everdell. Chairman Lawler was, on motion of

Mr. Sheehy, moved that this be incorporated with the first set of resolutions and that they be adopted as a whole.

Judge Flindray opposed this proposition. He considered the resolutions on a platform for Chicago. Now, the question is, what is the best way to beat him? I think the best thing to do is to vote the other ticket. After forty-five years of consistent voting of Democratic tickets, that would be abhorrent to me, but in this crisis I believe I could do it. I know there are Democrats who never will vote for McKimley.

Cries of "sure" and vociferous applause.

"but the alternative is of so dangerous a character that I cannot see the wisdom of a third ticket." The judge concluded by expressing the hope that the resolutions would not be combined.

Mr. Sheehy—I am not a McKimley man, and with permission I will withdraw the motion.

Rev. Mr. Wilkinson here took the floor and made a vehement speech, which was continuously applauded. He said he was present for the purpose of showing which side he was on. "I am not going to change my principles to win. I will stand by them and lose, if my own conscience is satisfied, I am against the Chicago platform, not only because it is contrary to my principles, but because it is one part of the country against another, the most brazen kind of class legislation. It will not raise the price of sermons, nor of any kind of labor, but will raise the price of what principle they must buy. This is no sectional question; no poor man's question, as against the rich man; no rich man's question, as against the poor man. But further, that platform has made a riot, if not respectable, at least possible. It has condemned President Cleveland for the noblest act he ever performed. (Tremendous applause.) It has repudiated the platform on general principles. It isn't even decent Populism. To call it Democracy is an outrage. I want to see only two parties—one for free silver and the other a third one for free silver and on the other side all sound money men, all the men who believe the money we have is good enough for us; who believe in honest paying their honest debts. Mr. McKimley's proposals I have always been opposed to, since I have had a name and a place in this country, principles I cannot inure. But when I see the heartrending situation of repainting a house or burning it down I prefer to repaint it and let it stand."

Such, gentlemen, was Democracy, both in fact and in expression, until Thursday, the 9th day of July, 1896, when a convention that represented those followers acting within the party, who are acting without the party, the strength of Populism, adopted a platform that cast overboard everything that Democracy had put forward for a moment's coexistence. I have criticized that platform as financially, economically, and socially, a platform of reaction, and I have always been distinguished from the reactionaries of the country. I have taken together, composed that very government. It abandons the battle for freedom of trade and industry. It proposes to destroy

FOR A THIRD TICKET

MINNESOTA SOUND MONEY DEMOCRATS SO INSTRUCT THEIR DELEGATES TO CHICAGO.

WILL OF THE CONVENTION

WAS SUCH, ALTHOUGH THE MATTER WAS DISCUSSED THOROUGHLY PRO AND CON.

FULL TICKETS ARE SELECTED

To Represent the State in the Event That a National Convention is Called.

Delegates to Chicago Conference—(Meets today) D. W. LAWLER, Ramsey. F. W. M. CUTCHEON, Ramsey. H. R. WELLS, Fillmore. GEORGE H. PARTRIDGE, Hennepin.

Resolved, That the delegates to represent the sound money Democrats of this state, at the national conference to be held at Chicago today and tomorrow, or at any national conference, be advised that, in the opinion of the sound money Democrats of Minnesota at the national conference to be held at Chicago today and tomorrow, or at any national conference, they are to vote for a third ticket.

Delegates at large—D. W. LAWLER, Ramsey. JUDGE WILDER, Goodhue. H. R. WELLS, Fillmore. JOHN LUDWIG, Winona. District delegates—First—H. R. Wells, Fillmore; H. W. Lambert, Winona. Second—Dr. Hilcher, Jackson; C. W. Schultz, Nobles. Third—J. C. Pearce, Steele; T. H. Quinn, Rice. Fourth—F. W. M. Cutcheon, Ramsey; J. J. Parker, Ramsey. Fifth—B. F. Nelson, Hennepin; J. B. Atwater, Hennepin. Sixth—S. F. White, St. Louis; B. W. How, Sauk Centre. Seventh—T. C. Kurtz, Clay; L. Pearce, Clay.

There assembled in St. Paul yesterday upward of 200 sound money Democrats, representing at least two-thirds of the counties of the state, and before they adjourned they had taken action as set forth above, that, it is believed, sets the pace for the sound money men of the Democratic party throughout the country.

Wednesday evening, advocates of the free silver side were hoping and expressing the belief, that the "conference" called by National Committeeman Lawler would be a frost. Not half a dozen men had arrived from the outside towns and counties, and the prospects were a trifle blue. But with the arrival of the earliest trains yesterday things began to warm up; and by noon, when the meeting was called to order in the Merchants hotel parlors, there were so many delegates present that an adjournment was taken to Turner hall. On arrival there, after marching up from the hotel, it required about all of the seats in the hall to accommodate those who attended.

Throughout the meeting, which continued three hours, enthusiasm was at its height, and most generously applauded by men who have not been aroused to active participation in political affairs before in many years. The old-school Democrat was numerously in evidence, and backing him up in his declarations and actions were scores of young, vigorous and virilful members of the party, who have been leading the fights in recent years.

When he called the gathering to order it was unnecessary to explain its objects. In view of the platform adopted at Chicago and the candidates named thereon, it had been deemed best, he said, to let the state and nation know where the old and genuine Democracy stands on the vital question at issue. Invitations had been sent to party men in over seventy counties, and he had been given to understand that two-thirds of the counties of the state were represented in person or by proxy. The men present, he believed, represented the real Democracy of Minnesota. He did not think that they would endorse a Populist platform or Populist candidates, and the cheers which greeted the sentiment showed unmistakably that those present had resolved not to be sidetracked from their ancient faith.

"Democracy means patriotism," declared Mr. Lawler, and after all these years of fighting, in glorious victory and in equally glorious defeat, for the grand old faith of the party we love, we will not now strike our flag to Populism. I believe we will today send forth to the world an unmistakable declaration that the fires of true Democracy are still burning bright along the Canadian border."

Again and again loud cheers greet the ringing, earnest words of the speaker; and from that moment there was not a doubt in any one's mind that this conference of volunteer patriots was to make a memorable page in the civic history of Minnesota.

Rev. William Wilkinson, of Minneapolis, put a motion that Mr. Lawler be elected chairman, and it was immediately carried. On motion of Frank Cutcheon, W. C. Read was made secretary.

Hon. E. W. Durant, of Stillwater, wanted to proceed at once to name two or more sound money Democrats to accompany the national committeeman to Chicago to attend the conference called by those who have repudiated the Chicago convention and its acts.

J. J. McCafferty, of St. Paul, requested Mr. Durant to temporarily withdraw his motion, which was done. Then he moved that the delegates adjourn to meet immediately at Mozart hall. The motion prevailed, and the delegates marched in a body to all cozy hall on Franklin street, near Sixth street.

On the call to order Mr. Durant renewed his motion, and added a provision that the chair select the men to accompany him.

Mr. Lawler said he would prefer that the convention select the men; but before any action was taken Secretary Read read two telegrams from S. O. Pickens, chairman of the Democratic platform on general principles. It isn't even decent Populism. To call it Democracy is an outrage. I want to see only two parties—one for free silver and the other a third one for free silver and on the other side all sound money men, all the men who believe the money we have is good enough for us; who believe in honest paying their honest debts. Mr. McKimley's proposals I have always been opposed to, since I have had a name and a place in this country, principles I cannot inure. But when I see the heartrending situation of repainting a house or burning it down I prefer to repaint it and let it stand."

CUTCHEON'S POSITION. Frank W. M. Cutcheon followed Mr. Wilkinson in a speech which, he spoke substantially as follows:

"Unlike most of the gentlemen of this conference, I did not inherit my Democracy. I believe in honest paying their honest debts. Mr. McKimley's proposals I have always been opposed to, since I have had a name and a place in this country, principles I cannot inure. But when I see the heartrending situation of repainting a house or burning it down I prefer to repaint it and let it stand."

John Sheehy, of Montgomery, said he had yet heard no sentiment expressed as to what delegates, if selected, should do at Chicago. He wanted delegates sent, but wanted to know what they were going to do when they got there. He proposed a substitute for Durant's motion that a committee on resolutions be named, one from each congressional district. The substitute prevailed, and the districts named the following members of the committee:

First District—F. M. Smith. Second District—C. W. Schultz. Third District—Geo. W. Bettschetter. Fourth District—F. W. M. Cutcheon. Fifth District—John B. Atwater. Sixth District—Charles Kett. Seventh District—L. B. Everdell. Chairman Lawler was, on motion of

Mr. Sheehy, moved that this be incorporated with the first set of resolutions and that they be adopted as a whole.

Judge Flindray opposed this proposition. He considered the resolutions on a platform for Chicago. Now, the question is, what is the best way to beat him? I think the best thing to do is to vote the other ticket. After forty-five years of consistent voting of Democratic tickets, that would be abhorrent to me, but in this crisis I believe I could do it. I know there are Democrats who never will vote for McKimley.

Cries of "sure" and vociferous applause.

"but the alternative is of so dangerous a character that I cannot see the wisdom of a third ticket." The judge concluded by expressing the hope that the resolutions would not be combined.

Mr. Sheehy—I am not a McKimley man, and with permission I will withdraw the motion.

Rev. Mr. Wilkinson here took the floor and made a vehement speech, which was continuously applauded. He said he was present for the purpose of showing which side he was on. "I am not going to change my principles to win. I will stand by them and lose, if my own conscience is satisfied, I am against the Chicago platform, not only because it is contrary to my principles, but because it is one part of the country against another, the most brazen kind of class legislation. It will not raise the price of sermons, nor of any kind of labor, but will raise the price of what principle they must buy. This is no sectional question; no poor man's question, as against the rich man; no rich man's question, as against the poor man. But further, that platform has made a riot, if not respectable, at least possible. It has condemned President Cleveland for the noblest act he ever performed. (Tremendous applause.) It has repudiated the platform on general principles. It isn't even decent Populism. To call it Democracy is an outrage. I want to see only two parties—one for free silver and the other a third one for free silver and on the other side all sound money men, all the men who believe the money we have is good enough for us; who believe in honest paying their honest debts. Mr. McKimley's proposals I have always been opposed to, since I have had a name and a place in this country, principles I cannot inure. But when I see the heartrending situation of repainting a house or burning it down I prefer to repaint it and let it stand."

Such, gentlemen, was Democracy, both in fact and in expression, until Thursday, the 9th day of July, 1896, when a convention that represented those followers acting within the party, who are acting without the party, the strength of Populism, adopted a platform that cast overboard everything that Democracy had put forward for a moment's coexistence. I have criticized that platform as financially, economically, and socially, a platform of reaction, and I have always been distinguished from the reactionaries of the country. I have taken together, composed that very government. It abandons the battle for freedom of trade and industry. It proposes to destroy

FOR A THIRD TICKET

MINNESOTA SOUND MONEY DEMOCRATS SO INSTRUCT THEIR DELEGATES TO CHICAGO.

WILL OF THE CONVENTION

WAS SUCH, ALTHOUGH THE MATTER WAS DISCUSSED THOROUGHLY PRO AND CON.

FULL TICKETS ARE SELECTED

To Represent the State in the Event That a