MOVEMENT OF STEAMSHIPS.

LIVERPOOL, July 26.—Arrived: Penland, Philadelphia. HAVRE—Arrived: La Normandie, New York. QUEENSTOWN—Sailed: Etruria, New York. The St. Paul team knows a toboggan when it sees it. By the way, the bicycle didn't get into any of the platforms. Miss Lansing Rowan's challenge to James J. Corbett is still open.

DOWN EAST THEY HAVE APPROPRIATELY NAMED SCORCHERS "OVAL BACKS."

If any other party has a ticket to nominate, let it nominate it now. In spite of Prof. Luggers' protest, the army worm goes marching on. Adlai E. Stevenson will remain out of politics after the 4th of next March. Tom Watson will find it mighty odd, even in Georgia, before this campaign is over.

THE GOLD RESERVE NOW STANDS ABOVE THE $100,000,000 MARK, AS IF IT HAD BEEN USED TO IT.

Henry Irving has canceled his United States engagement. The United States can stand it. The political conventions having done their work, let's proceed to the Alabama election. Historian Ripshap is going to run for congress in Indiana. He's looking for a good item for his book. Of course, if they see fit, Tom Watson and Arthur Sewall can shake dice for that vice presidential nomination.

AND NOW WE HEAR THE JINGLE OF SILVER IN EVERY POTATO PATCH OF MICHIGAN.

Ben Tillman was a great farmer, but since he has left the plow he seems to have been unable to make a straight furrow. An Indiana preacher has run away with a fifteen-year-old girl. And she has run away with a fifteen-cent preacher. Women are to run the street cars at Battle Creek, Mich. Anybody at Battle Creek who desires can get his life insured. The dull season has come on again in Turkey, and the sultan's army has again turned its attention to murdering defenseless Armenians.

DENVER HASN'T OFFERED TO HELP PUT THE GOLD RESERVE ABOVE THE DANGER POINT, AND YET THE DENVER BANKS HAVE MILLIONS OF GOLD IN THEIR VAULTS.

A Michigan woman has just broken a fast of 155 days. There must be something nearly as filling as potatoes and beefsteak in Michigan air. Why is nothing ever appropriated for dredging and otherwise improving Salt river? A lot of politicians take a trip up that waterway every fall. The Columbus won just one game of eighteen on its trip, but when it strikes home it beats the St. Paul team twice in succession. Verily, base ball is a bewildering game. Even thus early in the campaign it is plain that the man who writes McKinley poetry is doing every bit as bad work as the fellow who is rhyming off Bryan verses.

WHAT BRYAN WIRED

SUBSTANCE OF THE TELEGRAM SENT TO CHAIRMAN JONES AT ST. LOUIS.

FREE TO SUPPORT SEWALL.

THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE NOT WILLING TO DESERT HIS RUNNING MATE. STANDS ON CHICAGO PLATFORM.

Bryan Says He Will Not Undertake to Defend Any Other Principles This Year.

CHICAGO, July 26.—Among those who returned from St. Louis today was a gentleman who saw and read the suppressed dispatch from Mr. Bryan to Senator Jones, chairman of the national Democratic committee.

He gave the following as the substance of the document about which there was so much talk and excitement during the last days of the Populist convention. What is subjoined may be relied upon as being substantially what Mr. Bryan wired:

Considering all the circumstances and conditions, I have concluded that the Populist convention should not consider my name for the presidency, but if determined to nominate me, notwithstanding the fact that there may be no misunderstanding, I desire, in advance, to say that I shall not, during the campaign, discuss any other issues than those outlined in the Chicago platform. I desire, above everything else, to be instrumental in having enacted into the laws of the United States the gold and silver coinage of gold and silver at the present ratio of 16 to 1 without awaiting the consent of any other country.

The Populist platform adopted at St. Louis asserts that the bimetallic system should be maintained, and that the people are helpless to bring about bimetallic for themselves, until foreign nations are willing to accept the American standard. It is a right to surrender the right to legislate for themselves on all questions, and so long as the right is disputed, it surpasses all others in importance.

The Populist platform presents several new issues to discuss, which, during this campaign, will, in my judgment, endanger the success of our cause. I am not willing to be a party to anything which will divert attention from the money question. Nor am I willing to be placed in the attitude of acquiescence toward any other organization by sacrificing my associate upon the ticket. He is as squarely upon the Chicago platform as I am, and he is as sincere in his opposition to the South during the campaign as I am to myself and the Populist convention that there should be the most outspoken frankness between us.

"To this dispatch," said the gentleman, "there was attached a postscript requesting that the statement be read to the convention before the ballot was counted. I have not read it, but I have seen it. It is a statement of the reasons for the objections of Senator Allen, chairman of the convention, to his reading, have been given in the dispatches from St. Louis.

CLOSING ITS AFFAIRS.

Old Populist National Committee to Go Out of Business. ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 26.—Almost all the delegates to the national Populist and Silver conventions, which met in this city last week, have left for their homes, and nobody remains here except a few stragglers. A majority of the delegates went out on last night's trains and others at various times today. Among those who are still here are ex-Chairman Taubeneck and ex-Secretary Turner, of the Populist national executive committee, who are endeavoring to close up their headquarters and transact whatever business they may have in regard to the national committee. Chairman Butler and Secretary Edgerton, the new officers of the Populist national committee, are still here, and a majority of the members of the committee are still at the Lindell hotel. They have been talking over the situation, and late tonight a statement was issued over the signature of Chairman Butler, outlining the policy of the party.

UPON THE PLATFORM MADE BY THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY OF MAINE.

The Democratic national convention adopted a platform declaring for the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and there was a strong pressure brought to bear to have more expressions in favor of the national convention which they had not yet made plain to me at all times that there was but one thing for me to do, and that was for me to stand firm by the Maine platform.

Since the Democratic national convention it has been thought advisable to hold some meetings in connection with the members of the state committee and the leading members of the Democratic party, that full and free expressions might be obtained, and it was plainly shown that a wide difference of opinion existed, and many of the Democrats of Maine thought it their duty to come forward and endorse the Democratic national platform.

I have given no expression up to the present time as to what I should do, but have given the matter a great deal of thought and study, and see no objection to my making plain to you what I wish to do with the people of Maine. That is, to decline the nomination so kindly offered me, and to regret that you do not regret this more than I do.

It is very evident from the free expressions of opinion which they have made, that the majority of the Democratic party I shall be obliged to harmonize with both gold and silver platforms, and that I cannot under any circumstances.

POPS ARE SPLIT.

Factions Not Likely to Get Back Together. ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 26.—Owing to the lack of Sunday morning trains to the country, many Populist delegates remained here today, but this evening found them all gone. The Populist delegates who remained here today are those who are not sure whether they will vote for Bryan when he declines or not, and middle-of-the-road leaders who are not sure whether to vote for him or not. It is very apparent that an irreconcilable split in the party, between the gold and silver platforms, has taken place.

HANNA'S LABOR RECORD.

He Admits That He Has Had a Few Strikes. Pat Christie Acted as Judge Lynch in His Own Case. Special to the Globe. DULUTH, Minn., July 26.—Gray's saw mill on Rice's point was totally destroyed by fire this morning. The loss on building and machinery is estimated at $60,000, insurance on building $5,000, machinery $29,900. The mill was the third largest at the head of the lakes and employed 125 men. It was owned by the Kish A. Gray estate and operated by J. B. and G. F. Stevens, who were saving under contract for the Cranberry Lumber company. The fire broke out about 2 o'clock and only hard work by the firemen saved 15,000,000 feet of lumber which was piled in the yard. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The scene of the attempted murder and suicide was the front yard of the dwelling house at 1521 Minnehaha street. The neighborhood is a very quiet one and the only excitement which the residents have is the occasional passing of the Hamline street cars. It was a few minutes before 2 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, when the residents for several blocks around the street were startled by the sound of a half a dozen pistol shots. It was at first supposed that some of the boys in the neighborhood were shooting off a few fre crackers, but a woman's shrieks told a different story, and a half dozen of the male residents in the block hurried to the scene.

A man, who was standing about six feet away from her, was doing the shooting and did not seem to be at all concerned. He turned toward the spot, but before he reached there the fellow was on his knees beside the body of the woman and pressing a revolver to his breast pulled the trigger. Mr. Evans by this time had been reinforced by W. K. Moffitt, another neighbor, and the two managed to disarm the fellow before he attempted to fire another shot. The wounded girl was carried into the house and the man led to the engine house about four blocks away. Arriving at the engine house a telephone message was sent to the police station and Mounted Officer Kirkwood was soon at the place. Dr. S. M. Kirkwood, who had been called to the scene, made a cursory examination of the man's wound and directed that he be taken to a hospital instead of the Prior avenue police station. While waiting for the ambulance to reach the place, the prisoner, who seemed to be somewhat under the influence of liquor, talked freely but disconnectedly.

PLANNED A MURDER

H. B. WHITE, OF NORTHFIELD, COMES UP TO KILL TILLIE SCHRUMPF.

HE FIRED FOUR SHOTS AT HER.

Two of Them Hit and Two Missed—Then Shot Himself. HIS WOUND IS PROBABLY FATAL. Quiet Hamline Disturbed by an Exciting Sunday Shooting—Facts in the Case. H. B. While waiting for the ambulance to reach the place, the prisoner, who seemed to be somewhat under the influence of liquor, talked freely but disconnectedly.

He told the officer his name was H. B. White and that he lived in Northfield, Minn., from which point he had journeyed in the morning to St. Paul to see the girl. He had been told by Schrumph that she was in St. Paul and he had come to see her. He had been told by Schrumph that she was in St. Paul and he had come to see her. He had been told by Schrumph that she was in St. Paul and he had come to see her.

White's wound, while not fatal in all cases, is likely to result in his death within a few days. The bullet, a thirty-eight caliber, entered the left breast about three inches above the heart, and although the doctors have not probed for it they are of the opinion that it entered the left lung. At midnight White was resting as comfortably as could be expected.

The girl he attempted to murder, Tillie Schrumph, was born and brought up in Northfield. She is twenty-one years old, and came to St. Paul three months ago. She sought employment as a domestic, and was employed by C. H. Botkin, an agent, at 1521 Minnehaha street. Mr. Botkin gives the girl an excellent reputation, and says that while in his employ she had conducted herself in a very ladylike manner. She was a great favorite of his wife, who was in ill health at the time the girl arrived at the house, and recently died. White, he says, called at the house about five weeks ago and asked to see Tillie. The girl was upstairs dressing, and while waiting for her to come down Botkin entered in conversation with White. At that time White said his name was Schrumph, and that Tillie was his niece. He had been visiting at the girl's home in Northfield, he said, and while on his way to his home in Illinois was obliged to pass through the city, and concluded to visit his niece. Tillie came in the room about this time, and Mr. Botkin left them together. White, on that occasion, remained about an hour and then left. After he had gone Tillie told Botkin, and also the family, that the caller was her uncle who lived in Illi-

SHOT HIS OWN SON

JOSEPH KADELKER'S SUNDAY TRAGEDY. MINUTES IN A SAD SHOOTING ACCIDENT.

AN INTRICATE TARGET RIFLE

FOOLED ONE SON AND COST THE OTHER HIS YOUNG LIFE. SEEMS TO BE A PURE ACCIDENT. Coroner Whitcomb, However, Is Making an Investigation Into All the Facts Accessible. As a result of an exceedingly sad Sunday casualty, the little body of Charley Kadelker, aged nine years, lies at Hurley's undertaking rooms on the West side, with a bullet hole through the head. The shot was fired unwittingly by his father, who, crazed with grief, occupies a cell at the Ducais street police station pending a full investigation of the facts by Coroner Whitcomb.

Kadelker, who lived with his wife and several children at 110 Chicago avenue, is a switch tender in the Great Western yards, occupying the tower at the entrance of the freight yards every day. He was supposed to have gone home and after supper went with his two sons out on the river bank near Yoerg's brewery, about a block from the family home, the boys taking with them a small Winchester target rifle, 22 caliber, intending to practice with the gun along the river bank. When they reached the river bank Kadelker asked the boys to fire a rifle was loaded. Charley was sitting on the ground a little in front of them as Joe, Jr., took the loading device, and exposed what he supposed was an empty chamber. He had hardly readjusted the mechanism, however, when his father's finger pressed the trigger, unwittingly, and the gun was inclined toward the ground and to one side, and as it was fired, the bullet struck Charley just below the left eye, passing through the brain and causing instant death.

The grief-stricken parent carried the dead body home, and summoned Dr. Beal in the hope that life might not be entirely extinct, but it was of no avail. The shooting was reported to the police, and Lieut. Cooke placed Kadelker under arrest pending the action of the coroner. Dr. Whitcomb made a partial investigation last evening, and will probably not order an inquest, as the affair seems purely accidental. Kadelker is about forty years old, and has lived in St. Paul several years, and has given a good reputation by his acquaintance. He freely told the particulars of the shooting to the police under their first information concerning the boy's death, and referred them for corroboration to Frank Stranski and Stephen Cernohous, a flour and feed dealer at 155 South Washburn street. These gentlemen, however, have no recollection of the incident, and testify at all the whole matter being done in an instant.

STRIKERS STAND FIRM.

New York Tailors Expect to Win Their Fight. NEW YORK, July 26.—An all-day meeting was held by the striking tailors of this city today. The strikers were met by a number of leaders and the situation was generally discussed. The substance of the strikers' demands is as follows: A 40-hour week, the fact that some of the contractors should be made; that the strikers should stand firm; that the strikers should be regarded by the leaders as significant and taken as an omen of success for the tailors in their conflict in Europe, which will result in 20,000 hands are now idle on account of the strike in this city and vicinity. Commissioner and the state board of arbitration, has visited the leaders on both sides of the controversy, and an effort is now being made to induce all to arbitrate.

LIVED IN NORTHFIELD.

Something About Both Parties to the Tragedy. Special to the Globe. NORTHFIELD, Minn., July 26.—White, who shot Tillie Schrumph, has been employed here by W. R. Henderson, of Northfield, for several years. He is about 30 years of age, and has a fair physique, which the doctors say will have much to do with his possible recovery. Mr. Botkin visited the hospital last evening and expressed a fair opinion of the girl's condition. He said that he was much surprised to see the girl in the hospital, and that he was much surprised to see the girl in the hospital.

White, in the course of conversation, yesterday afternoon, said he had written the girl and told her if she did not leave her place and get employment elsewhere that he would kill her and himself, and that he meant just what he said. He told the girl that he would kill her and himself, and that he meant just what he said. He told the girl that he would kill her and himself, and that he meant just what he said.
