DO NOT NEGLECT STATE ISSUES.

When state campaigns are coincident with those embracing the nation the former are merely a tender to the latter. The large questions of domestic concern are lost sight of in the absorbing interest of the national field.

Through this obscure, there is a distinct line of cleavage between the affairs of the state and those of the nation. The problem of federal taxation is entirely distinct from that in the state. The question of currency has nothing to do with the question of what police powers of the state can be properly used.

The Republican party is already in the field with its candidates on a platform that touches state matters with a gentle hand, and advances the national issues of protection and the gold standard to first and most prominent place.

TOO MANY CHARMERS. Mr. William J. Bryan is now in a position to appreciate as few men could do the force of the lament of the poet who declared how happy he could be with either, were t'other dear charmer away.

Jefferson, in his first inaugural, after enumerating the material advantages and blessings enjoyed by this country, said: "With all these blessings what more is necessary to make us a happy and prosperous people?"

own pursuits and industries, and it has taken from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. Go through the two great, bulky volumes that, after only twenty-nine legislatures have made their record in "regulating" the affairs of citizens, are needed to hold that record, and see how different is the Republican from the Jeffersonian idea of government.

The question whether the Republican conception of government in the state shall be continued, whether its meddling hand shall be allowed to go further in regulating the affairs of the citizen on the one side, and in strengthening interests ever at conflict with those of the commonality on the other, or whether we shall install the Jeffersonian state, is the question.

FILIBUSTERS PUNISHED. We have to acknowledge the efficiency of British laws and the readiness of British courts to stand, at least to some extent, above and beyond the clamor of public opinion in their administration of justice.

THE CRIME OF 1873. Silver bullion, at our mints, was worth, for coinage, at the established rate of 16 to 1, $1.29 an ounce. It was worth in the markets $1.32.

WHAT WILL BE LEGAL TENDER? Attention is being sharply drawn to the status of the contracts, notes, bonds and other obligations that, for some years past and now almost universally, are being made payable in "gold coin of the United States."

LEASER SWALLOWED THE LARGER. Mantle was Pilot. It is not possible to admit the Populists. They have never reversed in their purpose; they have been as implacable and as irreconcilable as Farnell in his fight against the British government.

LOOKING FOR LIGHT. CONGRESSIONAL CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE. DENVER, Col., July 29.—The Colorado Republican state central committee today passed a resolution endorsing McKinley and Hobart and Mr. Bryan.

CONSUMED BY HOGS. TO THE EDITOR OF THE GLOBE. Perhaps the great Wisconsin statesman Agassiz on the cheap when consumed in 1894 by hogs and fed to men.

RECOVERING THE WHEAT. ST. CLOUD, Minn., July 29.—Harvesting of wheat was commenced in various portions of Stearns, Sherburne and Benson counties Monday morning.

reasonable basis for the cessation of the free mintage of silver. From every point of view it was a stupendous blunder to supplement this policy by that of buying silver under the Allison and Sherman acts and issuing paper representatives for it.

TRULY SPORTSMANLIKE. We notice in the reports that are given by the Yale men who have returned from Henley a confirmation of the statement made in earlier press dispatches of the absence of any effort to keep the details of the work and practice of one crew a secret from the other.

"NOT THE WHOLE TRUTH." H. Ellington Discusses the Money Question. To the Editor of the Globe. The Globe in its reply to Fassett under its caption "The Money Power," asks that if it is the stamp on money which gives it value, why ought not the government to make money by stamping on it?

FEELS HE IS RIGHT. TO THE EDITOR OF THE GLOBE. "Tests of Democracy," as set forth in my former articles to your paper, and which you have so ably argued, by your editorial a few days ago, are being substantially endorsed by the Minnesota valley Democrats at a fast meeting.

specify coined dollars as the medium of its satisfaction. Out of this decision and the subsequent ones of that and state courts has come the impression of the enforceability of gold notes, on which the lenders of money have been acting.

A SILVER CENTER

THAT IS WHAT WASHINGTON WILL PROBABLY BECOME IN A FEW DAYS. JONES WILL DECIDE IT. PROBABILITIES POINT TO THE SELECTION OF THE CAPITAL FOR HEADQUARTERS.

THE POPS MAY SETTLE THERE, AND AS THE SILVER PARTY HAS ALREADY DECIDED, THE ALLIED FORCES WOULD BE TOGETHER.
