WELCOME.

Not only the doors, but the hearts of St. Paul are open to the guests who will come to us today. The weeks of preparation are over, the best that we have been made ready for those whom we delight to honor, and now encampment week has begun.

It is for us that the same lesson comes with the meeting in our city of the thinning ranks of comrades who marched against the gray a generation ago. It is a warning and an inspiration.

St. Paul welcomes in the graybeards of '61 the boys of '61. She opens her gates to you with more willing hands than were those which admitted you to other cities under Southern skies.

AGAIN THE MONEY QUESTION.

Mr. R. J. Faussett, who writes to us elsewhere in an aggrieved spirit, seems to us to be unduly disturbed over comment which was, we think, entirely courteous and fitted to the tenor of his original communication.

early difference can it make whether the government holds the silver bullion and coins it into dollars as fast as there is a demand for them to redeem the treasury notes, or whether it coins it first and redeems them afterward? The only possible effect of the latter policy would be to get the advantage of what is called the "seigniorage"; that is to say, the extra amount of fiat that would enter into these dollars.

Mr. Faussett's contentions regarding the nature of money and the efficacy of legal tender acts are totally contradictory one of the other. In one place he assumes that it is the "impression of legal authority" that makes money and gives it its value.

The platform of 1896, upon which, also, Mr. Bryan stands, says: "We demand that the volume of the circulating medium be speedily increased to amounts sufficient to meet the demands of the business and population of this country, etc."

The platform of 1892 is in full and exact conformity with the position of the sound money Democrats today. It couples with a demand that there be no discrimination between gold and silver of coinage of both metals must be made and kept of equal exchangeable value.

HAIL THE GRAND ARMY.

St. Paul welcomes in the graybeards of '61 the boys of '61. She opens her gates to you with more willing hands than were those which admitted you to other cities under Southern skies.

PLATFORMS COMPARED.

A letter from Red Wing, which appears in another column this morning, attempts to compare the platforms of the Democratic party for half a century back, but in its comments thereon it needs an improvement in tone and temper.

proffers, we fail to find anything whatever in the platforms which he has quoted that either conflicts with the position of the National Democrats today or reinforces the position of the Bryan Democrat-Populists. We use this term "Democrat-Populists," by the way, not in the way of calling names, but because the two organizations are united in the nation and most of the states in a close scheme of fusion.

We declare unqualified hostility to bank notes and paper money as a circulating medium because gold and silver is the only safe and constitutional currency.

The platform of 1896 says: "We demand that the volume of the circulating medium be speedily increased to amounts sufficient to meet the demands of the business and population of this country, etc."

REPUBLICAN MONEY PLANKS.

To the Editor of the Globe. Will you kindly, through the columns of your valuable paper, publish the following? What were the financial planks in the Republican national platforms in 1880, 1884, 1888 and 1892?

The American people, from tradition and interest, favor bimetalism, and the Republican party demands the use of both gold and silver as standard money, with restrictions and under such provisions, to be determined by legislation, as will secure the maintenance of the party of values of the two metals, so that the purchasing and debt-paying power of the dollar, whether of silver, gold or paper, shall at all times be equal.

THE "PRESSING CONTINGENCIES."

The gentleman in Zumbrota who asked the Globe to explain what were the "pressing contingencies" that made Secretary Foster order the bureau of engraving and printing to hasten the preparation of plates, on which to print three per cent bonds, "in every possible manner," evidently did not intend to rely on one source for information.

The present "pressing contingencies" prevent the Pioneer Press from being perfectly candid in its reply to the gentleman from the banks of the raging Zumbrota. A campaign is on, and it is the bounden duty of every loyal Republican paper to "put the bad dog" on the Democrats, and exculpate its own party from blame.

VETERAN ENGINEER DEAD.

Charles B. Rice, for years an engineer on the Minneapolis & St. Louis road, and well-known in the Twin Cities, died yesterday at his residence, 555 Mississippi street.

is the inability, with the limited amount of cash on hand above the $100,000,000 reserve, to keep up a sufficient gold supply. When the demand comes for the exportation of gold the treasury is called upon to supply it.

So much for the secretary. Mr. Nebecker was the treasurer under him. In his report for June 30, 1891, he says: "Such heavy exports of gold as signalled the last six months of the year, the heaviest recorded in the history of the nation, naturally excited profound interest."

The platform of 1896 says: "We demand that the volume of the circulating medium be speedily increased to amounts sufficient to meet the demands of the business and population of this country, etc."

The platform of 1892 is in full and exact conformity with the position of the sound money Democrats today. It couples with a demand that there be no discrimination between gold and silver of coinage of both metals must be made and kept of equal exchangeable value.

THEY HAVE PARLOR D.

Illinois Delegation Will Be at the Ryan Tomorrow. Of the 3,000 of more Illinois people who will be here to-day to witness the parade...

At last somebody has written a melodrama that common sense can approve, sympathy coincide with, and appreciation of nature take to writing with pleasure. If they can all produce such happy results as Mr. Donnelly has achieved, for "A Woman in Black" notwithstanding its somber title, is a happy melodrama.

NO TUITION HEREAFTER.

Children Can Attend the Catholic Schools Without Cost. At the morning service of the Catholic churches of the Twin Cities yesterday, was read a letter from Archbishop Ireland...

NEW CHURCH OPENED.

Archbishop Ireland Delivers the Dedicatory Sermon. The fruits of the enterprise displayed by Rev. Father Busch yesterday morning when the pretty new church of St. Augustine, at South St. Paul, was dedicated to worship...

REY LAUER'S MISFORTUNE.

It Results in His Being Taken Into Custody. Henry Lauer, twenty-four years old, is at the central station, charged with drunkenness and resisting an officer. Lauer is a son of the restaurant keeper on Wabasha street, and it took a couple of officers to put him in the wagon and get him to the station.

SHE DIED DYING.

Mrs. T. C. Dyson, a colored woman living at No. 451 St. Peter street, died suddenly shortly after 10 o'clock last evening, under circumstances which, in the opinion of Coroner Whitcomb, is thought that the woman died from the effect of rheumatism of the heart...

AT THE THEATERS.

Sympathetic, if not large, was the audience that followed Clement Hairbridge and his company of players through the story of "Alabama" at the Metropolitan opera house last evening. The success of the play a most happy one in view of the gathering of Grand Army veterans in annual encampment in St. Paul.

GRAND ARMY ENCAMPMENT.

Substance of the Sermon of Rev. Addison Moore. Rev. Addison Moore, of the Woodland Park Baptist church, preached an interesting encampment sermon yesterday.
