AUDITORIUM CAMP FIRE AUDIENCE REBUKES A SEMI-POLITICAL HARANGUE.

HUNDREDS LEFT THE HALL

WHILE MR. KILGORE, OF NEW YORK, TRIED TO TALK OF PARTIES.

BIG MEETING AT MARKET HALL,

Capt. Jack Crawford Entertains Large Crowd With His Songs and Stories.

That the 7,500 people who attended the Ex-Prisoners of War campfire at the Auditorum last night came prepared to be served with the regulation enu of the old-fashioned campfire that it would not be satisfied with any short-comings, and that it would resent any interpolation of politics, was plainly evidenced by the large number who left during the delivery of the speech of J. L. Kilgore, of New York. Mr. Kilgore sought, by the adroit manipulation of words and phrases, to cony the idea that Republicanism and levalty to the union were synonomous.

TURNED A DEAF EAR and this prolonged the war and sacrificed thousands of precious lives, widowed and orphaned countless homes and forever banished the smile from the faces of the loved ones left behind."

snee the smile from the faces of the loved ones left behind."

After Gov. Upham's magnificent address, the celebrated Modoc club of Topeka, Kan., rendered "Up in Old St. Paul." The ovation which the boys received was only equalled by the plaudits bestowed upon them when they quitted the platform.

Maj. Hendershot, the only and original drummer boy of Shiloh, gave one of his inimitable exhibitions on the drum, and demonstrated to the audience how easy it was to picture and witness a battle, provided, always, that you have a snare drum andamaster hand.

Gen. Russell A. Alger was the next speaker and paid a high compliment to St. Paul as a convention city. He admitted that it could only be surpassed in this respect by his own city, Detroit.

Gen. John R. Brooke of the U.S. army

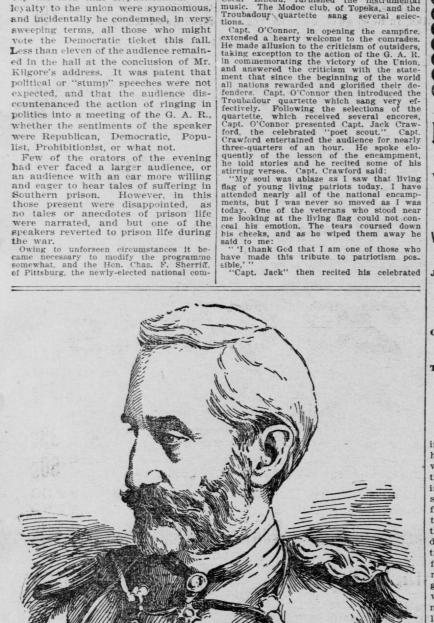

Gen. John R. Brooke, of the U. S. army, followed Gen. Alger, and then came the wife of the loved soldier, Gen. John A. Logan. The reception of Mrs. Logan was a joint ribute to her own sweetness of character and to the bravery of the dead hero, idolized by thousands when living, and almost canonzed by thousands while awaiting the last great bugle call.

AT MARKET HALL.

Every comrade in Market hall last night was glad he was there. The patriotism that fills every bosom was abroad. It was an inspiring campfire. Earnest speeches and rousing music created no end of enthusiasm. When the campfire was kindled a few minutes after 8 p. m. there might have been 150 people present. An hour later, when the fire was crackling, there were at least 1,000 people there.

was cracking, there were the state of the ple there.

Capt. M. J. O'Connor presided, and the Duluth City band, under the direction of Oscar Lineau, furnished the instrumental music. The Modoc club, of Topeka, and the Troubadour quartette sang several selections.

GEN, EDWARD C. MASON. Who Had Immediate Charge of the Great Parade.

mander of the ex-prisoners of war, presided. After a spirited and well-received address by the chairman, Gov. Upham, of Wisconsin, was introduced. The governor stated that men who, in their early manhood, went forth to put down the greatest rebellion of modern times, were now, in their old age, captives. They had been captured by the hospitality of St. Paul and the state of Minnesota. "But," continued the speaker, "we discovered last year in Louisville that all the loyal people did not reside in the North. The good people of that city gave us a royal welcome, and the display of flags and decorations showed that the love of country was supreme, North as well as South. And yet it cannot be expected that these reunions will be as happy and as successful in the South as in the North. The victor and the vanquished can no more come together than the lion and the lamb. True, the error has been admitted by those who fought against us, but some feeling remains. It is human nature that it should be so. The man who is whipped cannot be expected to clap his hands and say that he enjoyed the threshing. He may know that he deserved it, but he don't like to admit that he relished it. And at this time I want to say that the war would have been ended two years sooner had we had a wholly loyal North. We didn't have. The vast majority of the people of the North were loyal to the core. Here and there, however, were streaks of disloyalty, floats of copperheadism, and these copperheads did not meet us' face to face as did the boys in gray, but fired into our backs, when we least expected it,

STEINWAY. KNABE. IVERS &POND. SMITH & BARNES.

All famous names of the best Pianos in the world. Visitors to St. Paul are cordially invited to call on us, whether wishing to purchase or not. Be sure to see the finest and most complete Music Establishment in the Northwest.

W. J. DYER & BRO. Next to Postoffice.

N. B. A fine new Upright

$250.00. on payments of $10 per month.

from his paper,
"It does seem rather odd to call a college boy 'Willie,'" she admitted. "I suppose I ought to call him 'Will' or 'William,' but a mother ought to be excu able for holding to mother ought to be excu able for housing the diminutive as long—"
""Will' wouldn't suit me any better than 'Willie,'" he answered. "I heard from some more of the Harvard tradesmen today, and I want something appropriate. Suppose you call him plain 'Bill.'"

The Right Name.

"I wish you'd stop calling that boy 'Wil-poem descriptive of the old veteran relating his story of the war to his grandchild. Henry Ward Beecher, so Capt. Crawford said, pro-nounced the poem the best short history of the war ever written.

Washington Star.

"It's fine ter hear 'cm speechify afore they go ter congress," said the rural constituent.
"But changes do come."

"They kinder seem spruced up when they come home on a visit."

"Yes. An' their minds scems so sorter took up with canvas-back ducks an' quallon-toast an' reed birds that they sca'cely hey time ter think about the 'Merican eagle any more."

Today, Thursday, Sept. 3,

NATIONAL GUARD OF

Reviewed by Gov. Clough and Staff. 1,000 men to execute field movements. MARION MILLS to pace against her record without driver or sulky. G. A. R. Veterans' Bicycle Race. Balloon Ascension. Indian game of Lacrosse, and

GREAT RACING PROGRAMME!

Perfect Transportation Arrangements for Handling Big Growds Today.

Trains for State Fair Grounds leave St. Paul Union Depot every half-hour beginning 9 a. m. today.

NO BARBED STEEDS

WERE NEEDED BY THE AS-SEMBLED WARRIORS AT THE RYAN RECEPTIONS.

WAR'S FRONT WAS SMOOTHED

AS IT WAS WHEN RICHARD III. CARPED AT THE COURT.

ADMIRING EYES

The Most Dangerous Missiles to Which the Soldiers Were Exposed Last Night.

ing was one of unusual brilliancy, perhaps the most brilliant St. Paul has witnessed for years. At the head of the stairs on the parlor floor the Third stationed, and the strains of their perfect music filled the entire hotel, penetrating through every corridor three large parlors occupied by the ladies of the national W. R. C. were artisfilled with the color and perfume of roses. One of the largest receptions was given there last evening by the national president, Mrs. Turner, and the ladies of the corps in honor of Gen. charge of Mrs. M. N. Kyle, of Chicago, and Col. Dietrich, the chief of staff.

Company C, of the Third Minnesota infantry, were present in the rooms to keep guard and prevent the accidents usually attendant upon large crowds. They were most useful last evening, for the crowd was enormous, one vas sea of heads. It was almost impossible to pass through. Instead of the usual form of introductions in a formal affair of this nature a novel idea which was first introduced in Chicago, was adopted. Before each receiving couple a lady was placed whose business it was to introduce each visitor to those behind her. Thus a great amount of energy was saved and the tiresomeness of continued introduction avoided. The ladies and gentlemen on the receiving line were: Gen. Walker and Mrs. Turner Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Logan, Gen. Mason and Gen. and Mrs. Newport, Mayor Doran and wife, Gen. Hobson, senior vice president of the G. A. R.; Mrs. Ninebeck, senior vice of the W. R. C.; Col. Cosgrove, junior vice president; Mrs. Steismeyer, junior vice of W. R. C.: Gen. Robbins, adjt. general of G. A. R.; Mrs. Reid, national secretary; Col. Burbank, quarter master general; Mrs. Bagley, treasurer of W. R. C.;

nounced the poem the best short history of the war ever written.

The recitation created much entausiasm, and in responding to the encore. Capt. Crawford said that he was going to do something that he seldom did unless he had his Winchester with him—he was going to do something that he seldom did unless he had his Winchester with him—he was going to sing—and he sang a few original and amusing verses to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia."

Capt. Crawford paid a glowing tribute to his mother. He told the comrades how he had promised his mother on her death bed that he never would let a drop of intoxicating liquor pass his lips. That promise, he said, had kept him out of jail, for something told him that, under the influence of alcohol, the spirit of the outlaw would have controlled him.

The Modoc club, of Topeka, Kan., arrived about this time, and as soon as Capt. Crawford had taken his seat the club, twenty-four strong, ascended the stage and sang "Rally Round the Campfire," and a number of other patriotic songs. The club was encored again and again. It is unsurpassed.

Capt. O'Connor next introduced Mrs. Myra C. Grinnel, of Wisconsin. Mrs. Grinnel spoke in behalf of the Woman's Relief corps. Her address was liberally interspersed with amusing anecdotes. Mrs. Grinnel pointed to the financial condition of the Woman's Relief corps as a contradiction of the Journal of our commander-in-chief traverse with the mander-in-chief traverse with the compander-in-chief traverse with the contradiction of the woman foulish." Col. Stiff, chaplain; Mrs. Plummer, chaplain; Col Olin, inspector general; Mrs. Carr, national inspector; Col. Dartem, judge advocate general; Mrs. Wickins, national counselor; Col. Whitney, surgeon general; Mrs. Mason, I. and I. officer; Capt. Bennett, assistant adjutant general; Mrs. E. H. Milham, chief of staff; Past Commanders R. B. Beath and wife, Col. John Kountz, Mrs. Sherwood, Gen. Weissert, of Wisconsin; Mrs. Hampton, of Michigan: Gen. and Mrs. Hampton, or Michigan; Gen. and Mrs. Ray, of Minneapolis; J. B. Adams, of Massachusetts; Mrs. C. R. Craig, of Wisconsin; Gen. Alger, of Michigan; Mrs. Wittenmeyer, of Pennsylvania; Gen. Palmer and wife, Col. T. J. Lawler, that a woman is "penny wise and pound foolish."

"When you read the report of our commander-in-chief tomorrow," said Mrs. Grinnel, "you will see whether women know how to spend money." (Applause.)

Maj. R. H. Hendershot and son rendered with fife and drum "Three Cheers for the Red. White and Blue," Gen. Logal's favertte marching tune. They were liberally encored. Hon. William A. Ketcham, of indiana, who was next introduced. delivered an 'arnest address. in the course of which he culyaized the leading Union generals, including Themas, Sheridan, Grant and Sherman. Robert D. Hill, who was the next speaker to address the meeting, referred to the important services rendered by the cavalry during the war, and dwelt particularly upon the value of its scrucies under Gen. Sheridan during the closing months of the war.

The campfire closed with the singing of "America" by the entire audience. and Mrs. E. R. Wallace, of Illinois. Trose introducing were: Col. Dietrich, Gen. Walker, Mrs. Kyle, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Pickler, of South Dakota; Mrs. Crawford, Kentucky; Birdseye, Misscuri; Going and Brigham, Massachuetts; Carroll, Ohio; Millett, Maine; Cummings, Pennsylvania; F. P. Wilson E. Beach and Reeves, of Minnesota; and Misses Rule, Griffeth and McCauley, Mrs. J. Ryan, of New York; Mrs. J. Linof Illinois; Gilman, of Massachusetts. from the mandolin orchestra of Miss Hope. The young ladies in their simple white dresses made a pleasing contrast to the elegant evening gowns of the re-celving and visiting ladies.

Many distinguished people called dur-ng the evening, among whom were nest of the department officers of the most of the department officers of the different delegations, and society people of this city. The Massachusetts delegation came in one body, as did Columbia Post, of Chicago, which arrived from a reception given at its headquarters. The rooms were filled to overflowing during the entire evening and the affair was a great success. to overflowing during the entire even-ing and the affair was a great success from every standpoint. Several women fainted in the closely packed halls, but they were quickly resuscitated, and no

LOYAL LEGION TOO.

The Minnesota Commandery of the Loyal Legion were the hosts of Com-mander-in-Chief Walker and Mrs. Walker at their quarters in the Ryan annex last evening. The apartments were handsomely decorated, the re were handsomely decorated, the re-ceiving party standing beneath a beau tiful canopy suspended from the center of the larger room.

Maj. G. Q. White, commander of Minnesota commandery, was chairman of the receiving committee, and assisting him were Col. and Mrs. R. M. Newport, of St. Paul, and Gen. John R. Brooke, United States army, commander of the Department of Dakota, were at Fort Spelling. now at Fort Snelling.
Upon the arrival of the commander in-chief, a line was formed and Maj. White presented the guests to the members of Commander Walker's party, who were as follows: Commander Walker and Mrs. Walker, Gen. Russell A. Alger, of Michigan; Mrs. John A. Logan, of Illinois; President J. J. Hill, of the Great Northern railroad, and Gov. Upham, of Wisconsin. Archibshon, Iraland of St. Paul, and Piches. bishop Ireland, of St. Paul, and Bishop McGolrick, of Duluth, were present. Among the other guests were Col. C. H. Graves, of Duluth; ex-speaker of the house of representatives, and Bishop Fallows, of the Methodist church, now in charge of the Illinois conference. About 1,000 members of the Loyal Legion and their friends attended the reception and met the guests of honor. bishop Ireland, of St. Paul, and Bisho

GIRLS HAD TO WAIT,

But the Delay Made Pleasures All the Sweeter.

The reception at the Ryan hotel last evening by the daughters of the vet-erans, given after the W. R. C. recep-tion in the parlors adjoining, was a great success, though of entirely informal character. The young ladies had intended giving it at the usual hour, 8 o'clock, but the crewd of people in the halls prevented them reaching the rooms and it was 9:30 o'clock before they arrived there. The parlor was prettly decorated with swills and was prettily decorated with smilax and roses. One of the largest receptions given here even in this eventful week long there less to long the largest receptions bunting, and the girls looked charming in their light evening dresses. The reception committee consisted of the following ladies: Mrs. Walker, commander; Mrs. T. J. Allen, treasurer; Miss E. Kendall, secretary; Miss Alice Sugram Jr.; vice president; Mae Edgerton, of Chicago, inspector. Mrs. E. Monroe, of Massachusetts, was chairman of the committee and had in charge the following young ladies: Miss Gladys Foster, Kansas; Mrs. Cora Reed, Boston; Cora Pike, Anna Schmidt, Missouri, and S. Croft, Ohio. A seranade by a large brass band during the evening was a delightful interruption to the rush of introductions. following ladies: Mrs. Walker, com-mander; Mrs. T. J. Allen, treasurer;

ENTERTAINED THE VETS. J. J. Hill Extends Hospitality to the First Minnesota.

The First Minnesota formed in line at the place assigned it when the grand parade started and marched down Summit avenue as far as the ladies' headquarters, where they left the parade and proceeded to the resi-dence of J. J. Hill. Mr. Hill had pre-Buffalo and that city has a dead

MEADE IS NOT IN IT

WITHDRAWN AS A CANDIDATE FOR G A. R. COMMANDER-IN CHIEF.

MAJ. CLARKSON, OF NEBRASKA,

THE FAVORITE, WITH JOHN C. LINEHAN A DANGEROUS OP-PONENT.

MINNESOTA HAS TWO CANDIDATES

Vice Commander, in Capt. H. A. Castle and Gen. J. H.

G. A. R. politics were sizzling hot last night around all the different department headquarters. Many of the states held caucuses during the evening, and the results of each guarded with more or less care. Some of the states refused point blank to make any statement whatever, but to show conclusively that Rear Admiral Meade, of New York, had been switched off on a siding, and that the contest lay between John C. Linehan, Clarkson, of Omaha, with the chances very favorable to the latter.

There is a great deal of wire pulling, enough to show that the leaders in each department are something of polifor all the world of a presidential to be the man to receive the vote after campaign on a small scale. Each state all has been done for Hobson that can campaign on a small scale. Each state has its own interests to protect, and deals are being made and trades effected with no little skill.

The great state of Illinois had a caucus during the evening, and the Clarkson forces were very successful. They secured a pledge from the delegates to vote at this morning's campment first for Clarkson and second for Linehan. Clarkson is a Western man, was a soldier from Illinois, and is very popular in that state. The fact that that state will give its first ballot to him adds materially to his strength. As for the place of the next meeting, Illinois, as does nearly all the a choice for commander-in-chief, showing great diplomacy thereby. Michigan will not caucus until just before the opening of the encampment, and it is very likely that Clarkson will show the same strength in the Wolverine state that he did in Illinois. Michigan will also support Buffalo, as New York has always been a good friend of Michigan. Pennsylvania men are very mum, and are evincing all the conservatism characteristic of the citizens of the Quaker State. She has withheld any expression, and has taken no action, except to favor Buffalo. If Pennsylvania should swing into line for Clarkson, the election of the Nebraska major is beyond a doubt. The members of the Pennsylvania delegabraska major is beyond a doubt. The members of the Pennsylvania delegation interviewed last night were very reticent and very charry of giving any statement whatever, but the general impression prevails that the matter is all settled just the same. Colorado and Wyoming, Montana and other of the Western states are doing some shrewd work. The Western states are saying to the Eastern, if you will help us we will help you meaning that if the Eastern states will work for Denver as the next place for the encampment, the next place for the encampment, the Western states will work for Linehan, the Eastern candidate. The logic of this arrangement is easily seen. Just how valuable the Eastern states will hold the votes of the far Western states is not known, and will not be until a vote is taken. But there is apparently very little chance for Denver this year. St. Paul is virtually a Western city, and as Louisville in the south had the encampment last year, the chance of the East is brightest. Kentucky thinks that he southers tier. Kentucky thinks that he souther a tier of Union states should be honored with the commander-in-chief, and under the claim of the right of succession, holds that Senior Vice Commandpost of commander-in-chief. This rewithin wheeels. The fight reminds one vote elsewhere, and Clarkson is likely > be done. Wisconsin is also doing some brain work. Her favorite choice, of course, is Gibbons, but he is out of the question this year, and the Badgers are frank enough to admit it. The delegates from that state believe that, if they will vote for Linehan, the East will help elect Gibbons next year. So far as is known, Wisconsin did not hold a meeting last night hut will do tar as is known, Wisconsin did not hold a meeting last night, but will do so this morning. Texas was as non-committal as an oyster. The Lone Star State is hustling on the inside, hard and furious, but for who? None of her boys would say. Indiana was locked behind closed doors until 11:30 closed, and everyone thinks that she o'clock, and everyone thinks that she will go for Clarkson. The states west of the Mississipppi might all be placed with safety in the Clarkson column.

winter, St. Paul was given the office of department commander because of the fact that the national encampment was to be held in this city, and that Mullen, who was a candidate for the same office, was placated with the promise A resolution setting forth this arrange-ment was presented and adopted and is now on the records of the depart-

Discussion of the claims of the two candidates disclose the fact that there is some opposition to both on the part of some of the posts because neither was a resident of Minnesota while in the service. Capt. Castle was a vol-unteer from Illinois, and Gen. Mullen went to the war in a Connecticut regiment. A caucus will probably be held today to settle the contention. When the department agrees upon its candidate the name will be presented to the national encampment and ratified without question. without question.

JUNIOR VICE COMMANDER. The department of Alabama is here with a candidate for the office of junior vice commander in the person of Judge Charles W. Buckley, of Mont-gemery. George H. Patrick, past de-partment commander of Alabama, who will make the nominating speech, makes the following appeal to com-the compliment of one of the national officers, and Alabama has taxed neithwith request for the slightest recog-nition, whilst many names distinnition, whilst many names distin-guished in the councils of state and nation have been borne upon modest roster. Except Florida, Southern department has in named a vice commander-in-chief.

named a vice commander-in-chief. This year is ours."

Judge Buckley was a charter member of Swayne Post No. 1 (1888), and of William D. Woods Post No. 6 (1889), of Montgomery, and has been post and tant general, degate-at-large, de-partment commander, member council of administration and historical committee, Alabama G. A. R.

LOOKS BAD FOR MARTIN.

Suspected "Third Man" in the Curlin Murder Case.

Henry Martin, arrested Tuesday night on the non-committal charge of disorderly conduct, was yesterday held without bail, the reason being that he is suspected of complicity in the mur-der of Thomas Curlin at Lake Elmo a few weeks ago. Martin is a close friend of White and Rosenquist, who have been under arrest for several days. Martin himself did not know until he was held the nature of the charge against him and he nearly collapsed in court. He was arrested by Detectives Werrick and Daly, in company with John Reed, George Gren-

BIRD'S EYE VIEW OF CAMP MASON.

viously invited the remaining memviously invited the remaining members of the regiment to accept his hospitality, and he gave them the liberty of his magnificent residence. When they arrived, Mr. Hill spoke a few words of welcome to them, relating the many incidents of the early history of the state, and told them that the interest he had always had in the galliest First vertent was still as great interest he had always had in the gallant First regiment was still as great as ever. The entire party was taken in to lunch, and after luncheon they repaired to the long music hall, where Miss Tarbox presided at the pipe organ and Mr. Hill led the entire party in singing "America." The First regiment was headed in the procession by their original drum corps, and the leader is H. O. Fifield, who was present. The following members were The following members present:

A. Plumer, G. A. Laflin, Geon E. Fuller, T. L. Dwille, N. L. Hendricks, J. S. Hill, D. Farquahar, C. Smith, Et. O. Fideld, G. A. Roberts, J. W. Pride, W. H. Hoyt, J. W. Walsh, A. H. Pichte, C. A. Birnay, R. J. Porter, E. H. Bassett, F. Dickinson, C. P. Clark, C. M. Benson, J. Dornfann, J. M. Rober, H. E. Owen, J. J. H. Odell, W. L. Wakefield, D. Bryant, E. L. Needham, Ben Lent, A. Berry, M. D. Taylor, M. L. Bevans, A. Davis, C. Shatta, E. Casey, W. H. Howes, G. H. Dorfee, A. J. Brack, Mal Marwin, J. L. Locus, A. Marty, L. Hammer, E. A. Magnuson, T. H. Pressnell, C. A. Berdan, O. W. W. Moore, J. Brady, S. Lyon, TS. L. Stebbins, C. L. Leathers, D. A. Perkins, C. H. Smith, John Brown, D. Leomis, J. P. Davis, C. E. Webster, A. P. Quist, L. J. Allard, E. F. Payton, A. Holland, J. Goddrich, J. B. Waugh, W. H. Gadvey, F. Hausdorff, S. S. Tenny, D. Butler, Geo. Fuller, D. H. Wall, L. F. Cattield, H. S. Bevans, J. H. Francis, D. Archibald, J. D. Logan, J. Benner, J. J. Gillman, Frank Shieks, F. Grow, H. Johnson, C. Savage, M. Kennedy, A. Sonderman.

Massachusetts held a caucus, but so far as could be learned, left no instructions for its delegates, but there is not the least doubt but that the delegates from the Bay state will support Linehan, the candidate from a sister state. Massachusetts also will support Buffalo with its entire strength. Of course Nebraska has no need of a caucus. Its beloved son, Maj. Clarkson, is a running horse which needs no grooming. He will receive the whole support of the delegates from that state, and also hearty assistance from Wisconsin, Michigan, and largely from Iowa and Minnesota. The Empire state did not finish its caucus until 11 o'clock, and when it was over, Linehan was found to have more strength than was anticipated. There were fifty-four delegates present at the caucus, and Linehan secured forty-one out of the batch, leaving Rear Admiral Meade but seven. The action of the New York caucus was not unlooked for, as the Meade forces not unlooked for, as the meade forces never have been confident of success. Not that there was any enmity to Meade as a man and a suitable candidate, but because he has not been connected with the Grand Army long enough to place him in the line for election. There are other men who have been senior and junior vice com-manders for some time, who are thought to be more entitled to the place than the rear admiral. The western part of New York is placed in MRS, HULL RELENTING.

Said That She Will Not Presecute Her Husband.

It is said that Rev. J. C. Hull has enlisted the support of his sister and that the latter has practically persuaded Mrs. Hull not to further prosecute the charges against her husband.

cinch on the 1897 encampment, No other city stands a chance in the race.

As a rule they held no caucuses last

FOR SENIOR VICE COMMANDER. There is considerable feeling among nesota over the contest for the office of senior vice commander-an honorary of senior vice commander—an honorary position usually given the state where the annual encampment is held. There are two names before the delegates, and the friends of each are making an active canvass. Members of Acker Post, St. Paul, together with members of the G. A. R. and citizens committees are working to secure the honor. tees are working to secure the honor for Capt. H. A. Castle, of St. Paul, in return for the valuable and distin-guished service he has rendered in guished service he has rendered in working to secure the national encampment for Minnesota and in the preliminary work of preparing for the gathering that has been so successfully conducted during the week about to close. The friends of J. H. Mullen, of Wabasha, ex-adjutant general, are equally active, and moreover claim that their candidate was promised the honor nearly a year ago.

ville and J. W. Lane, in a Robert street resort, and all of them were booked at the central station as disorderlies. Martin is well known to the police department. He has served time in Stillwater, it is claimed.

JUMPED INTO THE LAKE,

John Glady, a laborer, forty-seven years old, residing with his wife and one child at 365 Hope street, is believed one child at 365 Hope street, is believed to have committed suicide yesterday afternoon. Glady, who has been out of work for a year, said he was going to Tanner's lake, about seven miles from St. Paul on a fishing trip. He went to the lake, hired a boat from Gus Rohland, and pulled out from the shore. This was the last scene of him. shore. This was the last seen of him. Last evening Rohland found the craft anchored in the middle of the lake and in the boat were Glady's hat and coat. His body is supposed to be at the bottom of the lake. Glady was that their candidate was promised the honor nearly a year ago.

Gen. Mullen's friends claim that at for a year. He belonged to a lodge of the annual meeting of the department Modern Woodmen.

#************ The Hofflin-Thompson Drug Co.

The genuine Johann Hoff's Malt Extract is always highly recommended by us as it is the best malt preparation in the market. As a tonic and invigorator

HOFFLIN-THOMPSON DRUG Co., BY 101 Washington Ave., S.

Ask for the genuine JOHANN HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT. Avoid substitutes,

****************

EISNER MENDELSON Co., Sole Agents, New York