

SAINT PAUL SOCIAL.

Society has been decidedly dull of late and there have been no affairs of all importance for days. The charity ball, which is given annually by the women of St. Luke's hospital, is the largest event of the future, and will be one of the most brilliant events of the opening season. It will be held at Masonic Temple. The women are making active preparations for the affair and contemplate a huge success. The season among the social clubs about town is opening with much the same interest as usual, and many announcements have already been made. For socials and parties to be as the first of series to last during the winter. Card clubs are making ready to reorganize and dancing masters are preparing and sending out annual announcements relating to new dances and season rates.

Cards have just been received in St. Paul, announcing the marriage of Virginia Louise Ogden to Dr. J. Thomas Kelley Jr. The bride is a daughter of the late Henry S. Ogden, and has a large circle of acquaintances in St. Paul, having resided here nearly all her life. The groom is a prominent physician of Washington, D. C. Miss Ogden has been abroad with her family for the last two years, and the wedding took place in London on the 14th inst.

Dr. and Mrs. Kelley will be at home Friday after Oct. 1st, at 1909 I street, Washington, D. C. This fall will see a number of prominent weddings in the social circles of St. Paul, and, while few of the recent engagements have been officially announced, there are a number which are only known among the most intimate friends of the interested parties. Many interesting meetings during the week. Tuesday afternoon the women of the Nathan Hale chapter were the guests of Mrs. T. T. Smith at her charming country home, the Meadows. Many of the women went out in carriages, a few on wheels and some via the street car. Mrs. Smith's carriage meeting the latter at the end of the line. The occasion of the meeting was the anniversary of the death of Nathan Hale, for who the chapter is named. Mrs. Rufus Davenport read the paper of the afternoon. Mrs. Smith served coffee and sandwiches at the close of the meeting. Yesterday the St. Paul chapter met in Dayton Avenue church and enjoyed an interesting meeting in celebration of the centenary of Washington's farewell address.

A number of ladies in the American colony at Paris have taken steps towards erecting a monument to George Washington, and have sent for the New York sculptor, Daniel French, to come and acquaint himself with the site, which is a broad space made by the intersection of the Boulevard Haussmann and the Faubourg St. Honore. The statue will be of bronze and will be presented to the municipality.

There is a movement on foot to erect a statue or memorial hall in honor of Miss Anna Carroll, who was one of the first persons to realize the magnitude of the War of the Rebellion and who submitted plans for a campaign to President Lincoln and the war department.

Early next month the various women's organizations of Washington
