MINNEAPOLIS GLOBULES.

The Northwestern Paper company made an assignment yesterday morning to C. F. Nelson.

Help was given to 327 families, with a total of 1,341 individuals, by the poor department during September. There were issued 317 grocery orders, 122 wood orders, and sixteen burials were furnished.

Dr. O. A. Williams, superintendent of home missions for the great Northwest Baptist denomination, will preach in the First Baptist church this morning, subject, "Obligations to Our Country;" evening, "Rocks and Anchors," or "Perils and Safeguards." and Anchors, or "Peris and Saleguards."

Notwitstanding the fact that lumber shipments showed a slight falling off this week, the lumberman report a better feeling and a greater confidence in the market. Mail orders continue to increase, showing a feeling in the country that times are to be better.

The report of the health commissioner for September is as follows: Total number of deaths from disease, 131, as against 152 last year. Cases of Diphtheria, 90; deaths therefrom, 18; scarlet fever, 35 cases and one death; measles, 1 case, typhoid fever, 56 cases; deaths, 7. Births, 382.

cases; deaths, 7. Births, 382.

A consolidation between the Northwestern Barrel company (co-operative) and the Hennepin Barrel company has been effected. The latter company takes the plant and assumes the obligations of the Northwestern, but the stockholders become stockholders in the Hennepin, which will increase its capital stock. lt will be glad news to play goers of this city to harn that the Metropolitan will reenter the amusement field this evening, and that, too, with one of the best plays of the period, viz: Denman Thompson's great rural drama. "The Old Homestead." The play runs all week with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

President Northrup Doesn't Want the Vale Incident Repeated.

Some of the local campaigners for Bryan evidently have been laboring under the apprehension that the students at the state university might imi-tate the example of the young men at tale and seriously disturb the meetings to be conducted by Mr. Bryan in this city. One gentleman was led by his fears to request President Northrop to speak a few words of counsel to his charges and dissuade them from any contemplated "josh" on the boy orator. In response to this request, President Northrop did speak a few words to the tudents at chapel this morning, but ac companied his few words of fatherly advice by a distinct apology for thus addressing them. He said that he had guilty of any such ungentlemanly behavior, and gave them a word of caution only because of the request made to him. The enthusiastic recept-ion accorded to Mr. Levering at his recent visit to the university, and the attentive respect paid by the students to his short talk in chapel, induced him believe that the students would act like gentlemen towards the candidates of any party who might visit Minne-

Van Sant in the Mill City.

Capt. S. R. Van Sant, of Winona, was in the city today, and yesterday called upon his friends of the Union Veteran league. He is hard at work in the campaign and has spoken four nights of the present week in Southern Minnesota. La Crescent, Spring Grove, Caledonia and Spring Valley have each turned out a good audience to hear Republican principles discussed, and last evening he spoke at Le Sueur. Capt. Van Sant is billed to speak in the Eighth ward of this city during the coming week, probably Thursday night, and he will give the boys a rousing address.

His Death Mysterious. .

A man about 52 years old and known as Thomas Duffy died last evening about 11 o'clock under somewhat peculiar circumptaness at the London house, 117 First avenue horth. A little previous to that time he was taken with a severe fit of vomiting. All at once in the middle of the violent exertion he dropped to the floor, groaning. The people of the house rushed to his aid, but in a short time he expired, presumably having burst a blood vessel in his head from the exertion. Nothing particular was known of him at the house, except that he had roomed there off and on for the last two years. He was known to be single and supposed to have relatives in the city. His last stay was of but two days' duration. The body was removed to the morgue and a post mortem examination will be held today.

A naturalization bureau has been added to the Republican headquarters in the Bank of Commerce building. All who desire to take out their full papers are requested to call at the headquarters.

CROWDS SURGED IN DEPOT

WHEN HIS SPECIAL TRAIN PULLED IN FROM THE WEST, EN ROUTE TO ST. PAUL.

FOUR MEETINGS IN MILL CITY.

The One for the Ladies Will Be Something Unique-News of Minneapolis.

People began gathering before 6 o'clock last evening at the union depot to catch a glimpse of Candidate William J. Bryan. The special train bearing the much talked of nominee was scheduled to arrive here over the Great Northern at 6:30 from Fargo, N. D. However, it was a few minutes late and by the time the train pulled into the depot at least 2,000 people pushed and jostled one another to make their way to the train.

Engine 131 was profusely decorated with bunting of national colors, which, however, showed the effects of the rain. Besides the locomotive, the train consisted of a coach and Mr. Bryan's sleeping car, the St. Hilaire. His own car had been left in South Dakota, as connections between the Northwestern and the Great Northern could not be

Many people had made their way into the depot by entering from the north side along the tracks and when the gatemen saw this they allowed the crowd in the waiting room to pass through the gates. Loud cheers went up as the train pulled in and this con-tinued for at least two minutes, The candidate appeared on the rear platform of his car, smiling, and apparently in the best of health. He raised his hands for the people to keep silence and when the noise had subsided said: "Gentlemen, you wil lhave a chance to hear me on Monday night and it is not necessary now for me to occupy your time." The crowd resumed its cheering and loud calls for a speech were made. Mr. Bryan continued: "You seem to be enthusiastic enough now." Cries of "You bet we are." "It will be all wight if you keen it up until Novem all right if you keep it up until November," said the candidate. This was followed by cries of "You bet we will," and "He's all right." "Who's all right?" "Bryan."

The candidate then retired into his car after being nearly pushed off the car by the surging crowd which climbed upon the platform and almost over the car in order to shake hands with him. The crowd caught a glimpse of him inside and flocked about the window and continued cheering. After being here about five minutes the train pulled out for St. Paul and the crowd dispersed, cheering lustily even as they walked up the stairs of the depot.

A large crowd went from here

St. Paul last evening by street car, leaving about 6 o'clock. They took a band with them and it is estimated that about 200 in all from here went.

The district court of Hennepin coun-The district court of Hennepin county has decided a most important case in the application for a writ of mandamus against C. R. Cooley, county auditor, to compel him to place the name of Augustus S. Dowdall upon the county ticket as candidate for the legislature from the Twenty-ninth district, upon the payment of one fee, although he is a nominee of two parties.

Throughout the state candidates Throughout the state candidates have not known what to do in the matter. Fusion has been general, and as a rule the auditors of counties have insisted upon two fees, and there have been several unofficial opinions that such was the proper course. The decision holds that the writ must issue and that all names of fusion candidates can find a place upon the tickets upon the payment of a fee of $10. The case was heard by Judges Russell, Elliott and Belden, with Special Assistant County Attorney Nunn appearing for the auditor, and J. W. Lawrence and A. D. Smith for the relator. Judges Russell and Belden write the decision, while Judge Elliott files a dissenting opinion, giving his reasons therefore. The case will go to the supreme court, but as Tuesday is the last day for the filing of the certificates, the auditor will be obliged to accept the single fee for the time at least.

The tickets for the meeting were all given out from the box office of the theater yesterday mcrning. Shortly after the supply of tickets was exhausted, they commenced to appear on the streets for sale. The fusion committee accuses the ladies of getting tickets, and then selling them. In other words, of trying to make some "pin money" out of the meeting.

The committee further announces, that they would prefer that ladies keep away from the Exposition building Monday night. A big crowd is expected, and those in charge fear that they would be trampled upon in the crush. The next important meeting to the one held in the Exposition, will be the meeting at Yale Place. Ample accommodations have been made for all at that point. Chief of Police Smith has promised to provide police protection, A force of firemen as well will be on hand.

Powderly Will Talk Sound Money. The Republican campaign committee received word yesterday that Terrance V. Powderly would be in Minneapolis on Oct. 1. A big meeting will be arranged for. The place has not as yet been selected. Mr. Powderly was formerly the master workman of the Knights of Labor, and has been recognized as the foremost leader of the laboring people of the country.

FREE TO EVERY MAN.

The Prescription of a Great Remedy

WHICH CURED HIM AFTER EVERY. THING ELSE FAILED

Painful diseases are bad enough but when a man 's slowly wasting away with nervous weakness, the mental forebodings are ten times worse than the most severe pain. There is no let up to the mental suffering day or night. Sleep is almost impossible and under such a strain men are scarcely responsible for what they do. For years the writer rolled and tossed on the troubled sea of sexual weakness until it was a question whether he had not better take a dose of poison and thus end all take a dose of poison and thus end all his troubles. But providential inspir-ation came to his aid in the shape of a combination of medicines that not only completely restored his general health, but enlarged his weak, emaclated parts to natural size and vigor and he now declares that any man who will take the rouble to send his name and address may have the prescription of this wonderful remedy free. Now when I say free I mean absolutely without cost, because I want every weakened man to get the benefit of my experience.

I am not a philanthropist nor do I pose as an enthusiast, but there are thousands of men suffering the mental tortures of weakened manhood who would be cured at once could they but get such a remedy as the one that cured get such a remedy as the one that cured me. Send me your name and address today. Do not try to study out how I can afford to pay the few postage stamps necessary to mail the prescription, but send for the remedy and learn that there are a few things on earth that although they cost nothing to get, they are worth a fortune to some men and mean a life time of happiness to most of us. Write to Thomas Slater, Box 138, Kalamazoo, Mich., and the prescription will be mailed in a plain sealed envelope. sealed envelope

Mme. Blunkaerts Predicts the Death of Victoria-Sybit Sanderson's Diamonds.

There are plenty of mediums who are sufficiently adept to mystify and shake the scepticism of good, solid, every-day men and women of quick wit and sound sense. But when it comes to either making avowed believers in spiritual-ism of the most eminent scientific investigators in Europe, or at all events, so bewildering them that they confess their inability to account, on the basis of known natural cause and effect, for phenomena their eyes have witnessedwhy, that is quite another matter.

Yet such a medium is Eusapia Paladina, the young spiritualist of Naples. Subjected to the cold, keen, wholly unsympathetic scrutiny of no less distinguished scientists than Prof. Lombroso, the Turin specialist in mental diseases Sig. Schiaparelli, the great Italian astronomer; Baron Carl Freiherr du Prel, of Munich; Prof. Charles Richet. of Paris; Dr. Ermacova, of Padua; Prof. Gerosa, of Naples, and Prof. Broffetio, of Milan-with all this battery of scientific scepticism trained point blank on her and alert to strike at the first move on her part that hinted of charlatanry, this remarkable young woman was able to perform feats which apparently set all known laws of nature at deflance. Not only this, but they set at defiance all efforts of the learned doctors of science to penetrate, to detect any jugglery in their execution, or even any unaccounted for movements on the part of the medium which might cover mere leger-

Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It is singular what a taste youthful humanity has for tintypes. Let the average young man and woman get away from home and find themselves in the vicinity of a photographer's car or cabin, and the chances are strong that they will enter it in a sort of shame-faced way and come forth with a conscience stricken smirk. No one is ever proud of a tintype picture. Nobody thinks of preserving them. The fascination is peculiar, uncanny, Frankensteinish.

Nor is it confined alone to the younger generation. Staff fathers and mothers occasionally fall victims to it, and sometimes it takes the form of family groups, with everybody on deck from the grandparents down to the latest baby.

Not long ago a certain Clevelander of credit and renown went to Put-in-Bay with an organization of which he is a prominent member. His wife didn't go because ladies were not expected in the party, but she wanted to know all about it when he got home. In the midst of the relation a tintype dropped from his pocket, and his wife hastily snatched it from the floor. As she looked at the ther brow darkened.

"What's this?" she somewhat coldly asked.

"Who are these people?"

The returned excursionist looked at the tintype and slightly blushed.

"Never saw em before in my life, my dear. Except Batterson—you know Batterson—that's him over there."

"Pon my word, my dear, never saw her in my life before. You see there wasn't much room in the place and—and we had to stand close."

"That's very apparent. I suppose your friend Batterson is sitting in that chair with the song and dance woman leaning on him for the same reason."

"I tell you, my love, these people were entire strangers to us. You see it was just about starting time for the boat and the photographer said that we'd all have to be taken at once if we were taken at all, and—and that's how it happened."

But from the way his wife looked at him as she doubled up the tintype and tossed it in the waste basket he's afraid she didn't believe him.

Their Conclusions.

New York World.

Two scientists of the twenty-first century were examining with deep interest a petrified body which had just been discovered.

"It is quite old," said one.

"Yes," replied the other, "but not more than 150 years, I should say. You will notice that it has the bicycle face and the telephone ear. Those peculiarities did not develop until the close of the nineteenth century, according to the best authorities."

A rubber oyster is the discovery announced in Paris. The invention is one that deserves to rank with the telephone, the submarine cable, or any other of the many ingenious devices of man to ameliorate the condition of his fellowman. It consists of a gutta percha oyster to be placed in the restaurant oyster soup, so as to remove the accepted idea that the decoction contains nothing of a solid nature.

Then followed a wonderful exhibition of mysterious forces. The medium, with her eyes flashing like diamonds made the table ascend to the ceiling and flutter about as if it were a scrap of paper, she at the same time groaning and crying "Dio mio! Dio mio!" When the scene was over she suffered intensely with palns in the head, back and shoulders, and was so exhausted from the effects that she was unable to appear another time during the week. pear another time during the week.

Notwithstanding she was forbidden by Aksahoff and his comrades to see or speak to others than themselves, I had the good fortune, through the influence of Mme. Darlo-Papa, the wife of the proprietor of Italia del Popola, to have a seance himy room at the Hotel Cavour. There were four present besides the medium—the Princess Troubetskoy whose son Prince Plears. Hotel Cavour. There were four present besides the medium—the Princess Troubetskoy, whose son, Prince Pierre Troubetskoy, was recently married to Amelie Rives; Mme. Dario-Papa, a young lady from Philadelphia and myself. The room was darkened so that there was not a ray of light. We sat at a plain pine table. On the right of the medium was the Philadelphia young lady and on the left was Mme. Dario-Papa. Eusapia placed her foot on the toes of those who sat at her right and left and then asked us to concentrate our minds upon the seance. Her two hands were placed lightly on one end of the table, and she requested us to do likewise. Presently there was a tapping from the center of the table. It was quiet enough to hear a pin drop, when suddenly the ladles who sat at the medium's right and left said that they felt somebody thimpping them on the back. At the same time we heard a rustle of garments, of the young lady from Philadelphia began to laugh very nervously, upon which Eusapia told her to be quiet. The tapping went on for some little time, when the sceptical young lady from Philadelphia whispered to me that she knew that Eusapia was kicking her on the back with her foot and that the movement was quite visible to her.

HIGH-KICKING ALLEGED.

As Eusapia did not understand English, we could talk over what was going on without her understanding what we said. Mme. Dario-Papa asserted that only one foot was in use on their toes, and that she firmly believed that the punching in the back was from the other foot, not in use, and they both avowed that the movement was as quick and agile as those of the skirt dance. The Princess Troubetskoy asked Eusapia in Italian if she could transfer, by her will power, the thumping on the backs of the ladies to us, who sat at the other end of the table. After waiting a few minutes the thumping ceased on the other lades, but did not reach us in any way, and then Eusapia, who began to suspect that some of us were doubtful as to her power, jumped up and threw open the windows and blinds, and then, with a wild, excited look, rushed towards the table, her eyes flashing like fire—the most wonderful eyes I have ever seen—spread out her hands with great force over the table, at the same time making three flerce gestures. At this the table went flying all over the room. She kept it suspended near the oeiling for fully three seconds, and when it descended it struck the floor with a bang. Notwithstanding this interesting performance the ladies were not convinced that the thumping of the back was anything else than kicking them with her feet. During a conversation Sgr. Schlaparelli said that he was thoroughly convinced of Miss Paladina's powers as a medium. Mr. Aksahoff said in speaking of Eusapia that she was first made known to believers in spiritualism by Ereole Chiala, of Naples.

"Mr. Chiala," said Mr. Aksahoff, "had heard of strange things happening at the medium's house when she was guite a girl and by and by after. HIGH-KICKING ALLEGED.

"Mr. Chiaia," said Mr. Aksahoff, "had heard of strange things happening at the medium's house when she was quite a girl, and by and by, after many visits, he was convinced of her power as a medium. She is not pretty, he said, not even intelligent. She speaks a patois which is unintelligible. She cannot read or write, but I consider her as a phenomenon and a subject for scientific investigation. There can be no doubt about it from my own. can be no doubt about it from my own opinion, strengthened by such men as Lombrose and Schiaparelli, who have absolutely admitted the facts as hav-ing been witnessed at the experiments. Lembroso has publicly announced that he has never known any phase of hu-man nature equal to Eusapia's, al-though at first he was suspicious and doubtful, denouncing the meetings and calling them tricks."

Very recently Mr. Aksahoff was in Paris and was much interested in the well-known French spiritualists and palmists. The Parisians as well as the Americans have simply "gone daft" upon the occult sciences—palmistry, fortune-telling and the like. It has

Electricity

Nature's Own Remedy.

That Electricity is the greatest force of nature is a recognized and indisputable fact. It is not only supreme as a motive power, or as a faithful servant in quickly and unerringly exchanging the thoughts of men hundreds, yes, thousands of miles apart. It is more than that, it is the very life principle of our being, the motive power of our systen. Its great power to cure disease without drugs has long been recognized by the foremost of the medical profession, and is being duly appreciated by the suffering public generally, as daily reports of cures very plainly show.

Dr. A. T. Sanden, with his famous invention, the Dr. Sanden Electric Belt, has done more than any other man to bring this most valuable of all remedies into prominence and secure for it the exalted position it deserves and now so well occupies. Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt is a true and faithful friend and servant to every suffering man and woman; it is as Mrs. Hendrickson of St. Paul expresses herself, a very efficient and at the same time cheap fam-

Dear Sir: I thought it about tims to let you know something about my belt and myself. Well, sir, after you gave me the last information how to charge and use it, it has worked like a charm, but on account, of the hot weather last summer I did not wear it all the time. Although I did not wear it a great length of the time nor very regular I can truthfully say that it cured me, and to prove it I can bring dozens of my friends both ladies and gentlemen who will swear to it. I can cally say that if it was not for your belt I would not be the person I am today, and if there were not another belt in the country I would not take a million dollars for it, it has been worth that to me. If you know any person that, is troubled with all kinds of aches and pains as I was, you can refer them to me. I can assure them that they will make no mistake in buying one of your belts. Yours respectfully, ELMER BUSH, P. O. Box 117, Hope, N. D.

DR. A. T. SANDEN.

Regarding the No. 6 belt purchased from you, I can say it is worth the price several times over. Have used three or four others, but yours is the only one that has given entire satisfaction.

The prices of these persons range from $4 to $1, and there are a great many in Parls who are quite amusing and will tell a fortune for anything you will give them. I know of that it would meet with extraordinary dramatic success. In almost every instance she has correctly prophesied of certain well-known families, in cases of divorce, second marriages, accidents by bicycle and otherwise, and many who have not believed in her prophecies the first time have had experiences and been most willing thereafter to be believed in the many in rank will tell a fortune for anything you will give them. I know of one, Mme. Camille, who is extremely clever. She traced a valuable dog belonging to Countess de Sanct-Mare, or The Countess is a member of the French society of Occult Science, and the prophecies that the prophecies are the prophecies that the prophecies are the prophecies that the prophecies are the prophecies and the prophecies that the prophecies are the prophecies and the prophecies are the prophecies and the prophecies are the prophecies are the prophecies are the prophecies and the prophecies are the prop

"I hope most of all that you will be guided by Mme. de Thebes, whom I thought very wise, full of tact and insight, and assuredly straight and sound in all her advice."

HAND SYMBOLS MAY CHANGE.
Heron-Allen in one of his books says that "the hand does not change."

Mme. de Thebes, on the contrary, asserts that it does, and that any one by enforcing the will power can change and develop the hand for the better.

Mme. de Thebes does not consider it wise always to wear what are called birthday stones. She thinks the

"I want to see you, for strange to say, I received Easter Sunday, as an Easter egg, a ruby and diamond pin worth 12,000 francs, and I know not from whom it comes. Do send the ad-dress of the card woman."

FAMOUS FEUD. The McCoy-Hatfield Vendetta Ha About Died Out.

About Died Out.

Washington Star.

"There is very little danger of the McCoy-Hatfield feud ever being revived," said E. K. White, of Matewan, W. Va., at the Normandie. "The Tug river is tacitly agreed upon as the boundary line, and neither party violates the unwritten agreement. One of the McCoys is jailer of Pike county, Kentucky; one of the Hatfields is Jaller of Logan county, West Virginia. Frank Phillips, the leader of the McCoy crowd, does his trading in Matewan, and the Hatfields come there for supplies. The never go at the same time, but no attempt is made by either side upon the other. Phillips, who is said to have been shot nine times, will not live long, the builets, that have never been removed, having resulted in consumption, but he is as plucky as he ever was. At the last election he was confined to bed with wounds received in his last battle, but insisted pon being carried thirty miles to the voting place. An enemy insuited him as he lay on the litter, and with a spring he caught the man by the throat and fell to the litter with him. His wounds started to bleed afresh, and it seemed that he would die, but his fingers could not be loosened from his enemy's throat until the man was unconscious. He comes to Matewan occasionally, and always heavily armed, but the officers never attempt to molest him."
