A matter of a great deal of interest in Minnesota politics at present is the reapportionment of the legislative districts to meet the revelations of the state census. Representative Staples, of Dakota county, has declared himself already in favor of early action. At the last session of the legislature the bill was defeated by the southern part of the state. It may be said that, in a general way, the rural counties south of the latitude of St.

in excess of the allotted population. Nobles, Murray and Rock counties exceeding it by 665. This leaves Pipestone to be otherwise provided for, which the Globe has done by uniting in with Lincoln and Lyon counties, making a district within 2,500 of the allotted population. Jackson and Cottonwood counties as at present constituting the eighth district, lack 6,648 of the full quota, while Brown and Redwood the present plath exceed the present plath exceed the wood, the present ninth, exceed the quota 2,423.

Blue Earth, now the tenth, has 3,136 more than the required number for a senator.

Waseca, Steele and Dodge counties now constitute the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth districts, although their population in the aggregate is less than 45,000, or enough for one and a half senators. At the same time the surrounding counties are all so large that the addition of one of them would that the addition of one of them would meet with serious opposition on account of the inevitable excess of population. The Globe joins Steele and Dodge, which would mean a loss of a senator by one or the other of them.

Olmsted county, the present fourteenth district, is short 6,843, while Winona, the present fifteenth, is 7,975 over the required population.

Yellow Medicine, which is at present combined with Lincoln and Lyon counties, the Globe has attached to Lacqui Parle, which makes a district 3,871 less than the basis of senatorial apportionment.

Nicollet and Sibley counties, each now with a senator and a representative, have between them only 1,576 more population than the senatorial ratio, and the Globe has joined them in one senatorial district with two representatives.

It was whispered about the corridors of the hotels yesterday that a combine had been effected, the object of which was to defeat Jones. In it were supposed to be four of the tentative candidates for speaker, Underleak, Shell, Grondahl and Feig. Feig counts upon the support of the Seventh district. draft of a bill.

The question in Illinois was purely technical, and it is thought that the elimination of a single clause, entirely apart from the general wording of the new law, will suffice to bring it within the requirements of the constitution of the state of Minnesota. Mr. Feig is enthusiastic in his advocacy of the new bill, and will make an enthusiastic campaign in its interest.

new bill, and will make an enthusiastic campaign in its interest.

St. Paul is peculiarly interested in that law, inasmuch as within a few weeks the title to a vast area of property in the city limits has been questioned by an Ohio claimant, who bases his rights upon the original acquisition of the property by Capt. Dayton, in whose honor the east end of the city was named Dayton's bluff. With the adoption of the new system, the state would stand behind every transfer. The present function of the title

H. E. Gibbon, of Ottawa, Le Sueur county, is a candidate for sergeant-at-arms of the senate. Senator Lloyd, who represents the same district, is in sitent on Gibbon's election. He says he has never gotten so much as a page out of the organization of the senate, and he thinks it is now time that the district was being recognized. The latest candidate for postmistress of the house is Mrs. Mattie J. Clifford, of St. Paul.

It was announced by a local paper that the Ramsey county delegation was to meet at the Windsor yesterday at 2 o'clock. The announcement was as unauthorized as it was unsuccessful in securing the presence of the local members.

Probably no member of the next house of representatives will be more conspicuous than W. T. Coe, of Minneapolis. Young as he is, the aggressiveness of Mr. Coe has already left its impress on local politics in no small degree, and, from president of the University Republican club, strictly a marching and not a voting organization, the young man stepped into a prominent position in Tenth ward politics and thence into the legislature. Well informed generally, a graduate of the law department of the state university, and gifted by nature with no small eloquence, Mr. Coe promises to cut no small figure in the work of the coming session of the legislature.

Another Minneapolis member who will be active in the ranks is S. A. Stockwell, of the district which comprises the outlying wards about Minnehaha Falls. Mr. Stockwell is in sympathy with the single tax, with woman suffrage possibly, and generally with all the new movements which have sprung up within the last decade or so. He is allied with those forces which are strongest in the promotion of what is known as straight-laced legislation, and will, no doubt, be heard Stephen B. Lovejoy, on the other stephen B. Lovejoy, on the other hand, is a Hennepin county member who is a little distracted by the fleeting chimeras of reform politics (so-called). Republican to the core, long tried in the councils of the party, surveyor general for years, he constitutes, perhaps, as good a sample of the true blue Republican as could be found in the ranks of the legislature, which will begin its work shortly after the first of the year.

Less commotion will, perhaps, be caused by John Sederberg, of the Thirty-fifth district, than by any other member of the coming house. His influence, however, should not be reckoned by the amount of noise he makes. Mr. Sederberg has the advantage of a term in the house, is blessed with a calm, judicial mind, and is not easily swayed from a well-considered purpose by the from a well-considered purpose by the counter currents of political passion.

He has been frequently honored by his fellow citizens, but in no position of public trust has he manifested a deeper interest than in that of the legislative body, and he is looked to as the exemplification of the business legislator. afternoon with a male friend and finally anchored at the Central Garden theater on East Seventh street. The friend went back to Minneapolis where Crampton lives and informed her that "Bill" was having a high old time in St. Paul. Mrs. Crampton drove over to St. Paul with a fast horse and cutter and with the assistance of Lieut. Fothen and Sergt. Ross found her husband at the Seventh street resort mentioned. She was particularly interested in securing a couple of diamond rings which her husband, she said, had taken from her before leaving Minneapolis. Crampton was taken to the central station at 2:30 yesterday morning and charged with being drunk. One of the rings was found in his possession and the other had been put up with a bartender as security for a loan of $20. Sergt. Ross was induced to give the bartender a talk and at 4 o'clock yesterday morning recovered the ring and turned it over to the woman. Crampton paid a fine of $10 in the police court and the revolver which was found in his pocket when arrested was confiscated. was confiscated.

CATARRH VICTIMS. An Extract From a Recent Lecture by Dr. Hartman, of the Surgical

Hotel, Columbus, Ohio.

Hotel, Columbus, Ohio.

Everybody has catarrh. If not everybody, at least nearly everybody. Some have catarrh in the form of a discharge from the nose, or hawking from the throat. Some have it in the head, producing frontal headache, or crackling in the ears, or partial deafness. With some it is confined to the throat, or bronchial tubes, producing hoarseness or sore throat, cough, or pain in the chest. Some have it in the form of catarrhal consumption. Others have catarrhal dyspepsia, catarrh of the liver, catarrh of the kidneys, catarrh of the pelvic organs, producing a host of diseases generally known as female diseases. Many of these people do not suspect that they have catarrh. Their allment has been called something else. The reason they have falled to find a cure is that they do not suspect the real nature of their disease. If they knew they had catarrh, they would take Pe-ru-na, as Peru-na has come to be recognized everywhere as the standard internal remedy for catarrh. Thousands know it by happy experience. A still greater multitude will find it out during the coming winter, as the efficacy of Peru-na is rapidly becoming known to the whole people.

Mr. Frank E. Ingalls, Waco, Texas, writes as follows:

Mr. Frank E. Ingalis, waco, Texas, writes as follows:

My case was so severe that I was comcase was so severe that I was compelled to discontinue my business, that of a conductor on a railroad; but I am now entirely well. The Globe has endeavored to arrange a fair representation, without regard to party convenience, but the unevenness of the population of the counties has made it advisable to add three senatorial districts, making a senate of 57.

If valuable for no other purpose, it shows the sains made by the southern If valuable for no other purpose, it shows the gains made by the southern portions of the state since the apportionment of ten years ago. It has been endeavored not to give the older portions of the state more radical changes than are evidently fair on their face, while it has been assumed in critical complications in the northern part, that half a loaf will be esteemed by the residents of those counties as better than no bread at all. No attempt has been made in the following table to preserve the order of the present districts, as many of them have undergone marked changes.

The larger house of the legislature is left at its present membership, 114.

Fillmore county, the present second district, is admirably designed, being only 560 less in population than the allotment. Mower county, the present third, is short 7,613; Freeborn, the fourth, short 8,021; Farlbault, the fifth, short 9,020, while Martin and Watonwan together the present sixth, lack 5,016 of the

It will thus be seen that only four of the districts formed in the southern part of the stae have any populaion in excess of the senatorial ratio, and only one of these comprises two counties, the excess in that case being trivial. St. Paul, on the basis of population, is entitled to five senators, one more than at present, and ten representatives, the same as now.

Hennepin county, now six districts, is entitled to seven under the new ratio, and fourteen representatives one less than at present.

Anoka and Isanti counties, which now constitute one district, are so far short of the ratio that Sherburne may be added without reaching the figure required.

Altkin, Crow Wing, Cass, Hubbard, Itasca, and Kanabec counties combine to give a population of 29,332, just a trifle over the ratio. Norman, Becker and Beltrami counties lack 600 of the ratio.

Marshall, Kittson and Roseau countes, under the census, lack 8,000 of the ratio, but since then additions have been made to Poseau, and the territory, too, is rapidly settling.

St. Louis, Cook and Lake counties have the population for three senators, although they have but one new. Of this population, 59,000 is in Duluth, so that the Third district would properly consist of the remainder of St. Louis county and the other two counties.

Polk county is far over the ratio, 10,050.
