Call for New Bids for Gasoline Lighting.

The assembly held a special meeting last night for the purpose of taking action on the resolution of the board of aldermen instructing the city clerk to advertise for bids for gasoline lighting during the coming year.

The amended specifications providing for testing the lamps and the contractor in case the lamps tested average less than fourteen candle-power were adopted. The assembly then concurred with the board in adopting the resolution instructing the city clerk to advertise for bids for the gasoline lighting contract.

File Articles of Incorporation—Others Amend Old Ones.

Two new companies filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state yesterday. The Longfellow Ice Co., with a capital stock of $500, was formed by Levi N. G. and W. M. Longfellow, of Minneapolis, while Martin B. and Will A. Koon, H. F. Douglis, Josiah T. Benson, and A. Taylor, of the same city, formed the investment company, similarly capitalized.

The Goodson Type Casting and Setting Machine company gave notice of an increase in its capital stock from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, and Muffett, Bushnell & Co., changed their name to the Fred B. George Stationery Co.

REPORT SAYS PHILIP SHUFELDT HAS SECURED AN OPTION ON

BIG PLANT AT NEW BRIGHTON.

TENANTS HAVE BEEN NOTIFIED TO VACATE THE PLACE BY JAN. 1.

RAILROADS BACK OF THE DEAL.

Thought to Mean the Minnesota Packing and Provision Company Will Change Quarters.

There is evidently a whole lot going on under the surface at the Minnesota Transfer scheme to remove the Southern Transfer Packing company to New Brighton, and, although the directors, at their last meeting, ostensibly shelved the whole proposition until February, and placed the matter temporarily in the hands of a committee to investigate, the plans of those favoring the proposition are maturing.

It is now said on the best of authority that a deal has been arranged whereby the transfer can be made without requiring the railroads to hold a special meeting. This can be done through the use of the parties.

The rumor has it that for the past two or three days a certain man has had agents in New Brighton notifying all the tenants of the big packing houses on that city that they must vacate on Dec. 31 without fail. The tenants, of course, did not like this, and an investigation was started. They have discovered, so it is said, that Philip Shufeldt, president of the Minnesota Packing & Provision company, at South St. Paul, has secured an option on the big plant at New Brighton and that he is nominally in control, whereas, in reality, he has secured the option merely for the purpose of ousting the present tenants and then turning the plant over to the railroad interests the first of the year.

It has been stated at New Brighton that the deal is a big one, and that the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Milwaukee and the Wisconsin Central would assume control of the New Brighton plant, and that the present president Hill and President Winter have been the leading spirits in the deal. If Mr. Shufeldt is really the holder of an option, it may mean that the South St. Paul plant will be removed to New Brighton. Although the latter place is in Ramsey county and pays its taxes to St. Paul, it is looked upon as a Minneapolis enterprise.

MANY GRANGERS THERE.

Institute Workers Pleased With the Turnout at Pelican Rapids.

The farmers institute at Pelican Rapids was held on the 8th and 9th instants. This was the first institute held at Pelican Rapids, and truly it was a grand institute. The weather was ideal, and the attendance was all that could be desired, and the attention given during the discussion of the various themes presented was even more pleasing than the large attendance.

The institute workers were all agreed on this point, that the institute has seldom been held in the state. During the sessions of the institute, the most interesting information was given to the people. The address given by Mr. Carlyle was peculiarly opportune. It treated of feeding dairy cows, and he said that the value of clover hay for fodder, providing the clover was cut when it first came into bloom, and providing it was well cured, and that the milk ought not to be tightly bound. After out-hay comes millet hay. But the millet hay should be cut as soon as the seeds are fully formed in the ear heads. Timothy and native hay are not nearly so good as clover hay for dairy cows, and when they are not cured well they make a very poor fodder.

In answer to a question he said, that for constant feeding a cow in milk should not get more than an average of eight pounds of meal per day. Of course conditions varied. If the fodder was not suitable, then more meal may be given, but the meal should be that would be too much. The cow would take more, but she would not give an adequate return for it, and constant heavy feeding will wreck the constitution of the cow. Mr. Carlyle was also emphatic in the view that meal should not be fed to cows along with cut fodder when the same is practicable. He thought the plan of feeding large quantities of meal direct to the cow was always attended with more or less hazard.

Superintendent Gregg gave each of the farmers a copy of Annual No. 8. This was a most valuable publication. It contains some 400 pages and treats of farming as adapted to Minnesota. A very large number of the farmers were present, and they were put on the station mailing list. Many young men also applied for circulars of the school of agriculture.

VETERAN WAS IN COURT.

Minnesota's War Governor Testifies in Police Court.

Ex-Gov. Alexander Ramsey was in the municipal court yesterday as a witness in the case of John Powers, who is charged with robbing two trees belonging to the governor's farm, and threatening to assault John Whis, an employee of the governor.

The case was decided by the justice James Cornican, who was acting as Powers' attorney, agreed to the proposition, when to everyone's surprise, one Judge McArthur, a municipal court lawyer, jumped to his feet and said:

"I am also counsel in this case and object to Powers signing the bond."

Cornican retired in confusion, stating he did not know that Powers had retained two attorneys. Notwithstanding the energetic refusal of "Judge" McArthur, Powers signed the bond and the case was opened by means of some sharp instrument and the bolt broken from its hinges.

The thieves, for it seems certain there were two or more, took their time about looting the place and went about their work systematically. The cash register was taken from the bar to the back of the store and opened. Only fifty cents was in the register at the time and that was taken. Five bottles of expensive wine were confiscated, also one bottle of whiskey, two boxes of cigars, three revolvers, and a razor. One of the revolvers was a valuable Smith & Wesson, 32 calibre.

The store was thoroughly ransacked, every room being opened. The police were informed of the robbery but have developed nothing as to the identity of the robbers.

BE UP AND DOING

IF YOU EXPECT TO GET A CHRISTMAS PIANO AT THE ASSIGNEE SALE.

Hosts of People Have Bought Pianos and Organs This Week at 49 East Seventh Street.

Is it possible that you have left this week slip by without coming to the assignee sale, 49 East Seventh street? If you have, there is one day and evening to make amends and make $200 by saving it at the same time. If you keep on procrastinating you'll find out what you've missed when you visit the cosy homes of friends and find their parlors adorned with pianos which they could never afford to buy before. You need not be anxious or loathe money. They are anxious to lose it. That is, they are anxious to turn these pianos and organs into cash and notes in a few days, and they know they can only do so by offering them at less than the seasoned lumber, strings and other paraphernalia cost in their crude state. So I am selling new high grade pianos of the best makes at from $115 to $195, giving a scarf and stool with each, delivered in your parlor and only asking a $25 cash down payment.

Snap, did you say? Why, you can hear it snap as you read these lines. Nothing like it. Never has been. Never will be again in your parlor. They are anxious to turn these pianos and organs into cash and notes in a few days, and they know they can only do so by offering them at less than the seasoned lumber, strings and other paraphernalia cost in their crude state. So I am selling new high grade pianos of the best makes at from $115 to $195, giving a scarf and stool with each, delivered in your parlor and only asking a $25 cash down payment.

Do you want a piano set aside to be delivered at your home? If you do, do not let it get better until next week. You may be dead next week. Did you ever think of that? A deposit and I'll come and make it up for you. I'm making this loss for the creditors at 49 East Seventh street, between Cedar and Minnesota streets, open tonight. Country, trade solicited.

A. E. Whitney, Agent for the Mungler Assignee Piano Sale.

REARDON SAYS LITTLE, But Others Are Talking About His Libel Suit.

The fact that Second Assistant Corporation Attorney Arthur E. Bove had begun an action against Reardon for $25,000, as told in the Globe of Thursday morning, has caused a good deal of talk around the city hall during the last two days. The assemblyman himself, however, has had little to say about it. Just what his defense will be is a matter of conjecture. But let it be said in the general latitude which a member of the council has in expressing his opinion about persons and things. For the complaint in the case showing on what the alleged libel is based:

LABOR FAIR PLANS

ARE KNOCKED IN THE HEAD BY THE TRADES AND LABOR ASSEMBLY.

Project Laid on the Table After Some Interesting Discussion of Its Merits and Demerits.

FEAR OF ABUSE ITS UNDOING.

Members Thought It Might Be Used by Designing Persons to Wrong Ends.

A lively discussion took place last night upon a motion to table the report of the committee appointed by the trades and labor assembly to consider the practicability of holding a labor fair. The principal "woodchuck" in the fence, as one of the delegates expressed it, seemed to be that in the promotion of the fair the agitation in favor of the label itself would be neglected. Another objection was that there seemed a probability of other than union goods being exhibited, but this the committee maintained would be provided against.

Chairman Murray said that he didn't suppose they could get a label on the labor fair flag if it were exhibited, or perhaps on the labor light globes, but that practically everything would bear the label. Delegate Becker didn't want any fair that would be an advertisement for particular manufacturers or tradesmen. Delegate Dickens was a member of the committee and said that so long as he was connected with it he would not be a "chickney." Delegate Nash deprecated the undercurrent of suspicion which seemed to attach to members who were active in the cause of labor. So far as he was concerned he has had no ulterior purpose, and his sole desire was to benefit humanity.

Delegate Frankman said the committee had not had the time to consider the public to make money and he did not want to see any "take entertainment" where a lot of suckers got five cents' worth of value and $4.95 worth of goods will on a $5 purchase. Labor people were not anxious as church people and they would not bite.

The report was finally tabled. A motion to donate $10 to the Associated Charities was also made, but was not carried. Secretary Franklin was in favor of making the donation cheerfully, and so was the motion carried. If they donated the $10 he would send a tracer after, so they would know what became of it. Otherwise, he would have to expend among the members of the assembly, to the detriment of the union itself. He had seen something of charity. He used to live frequently at the magnificent residence of one of the rich and notable persons of the city—he was courting the servant girl—and it was the door to the kitchen that he had to be closed and he and the girl had to keep warm by the embers of a gasoline stove. He quit the girl.

Delegate John O'Toole moved a resolution looking to the suppression of the professional labor leader, which was not carried.

Delegate Nash moved that the Farmers' alliance be invited to hold their convention on Jan. 5, 6 and 7 in St. Paul, and that the city hall be used for one of the large assembly halls for their day sessions. Carried.

The name of Fred C. Nelson, of the city hall, was recommended for one of the members of the state board of arbitration.

A motion by Delegate Huffman that the man Timmie, who had been arrested to report that they do not deem it advisable to enter into arrangements for the fair at present, be discharged from the assembly was not carried. The motion was finally lost by a vote of 15 to 12.

The committee that invited the House of Representatives to try a matter of range a common scale of prices for work done, submitted its report. As already published, the viet did not result in the copy of the report.

After some discussion on hotel costs and waiters and the absence of a union in St. Paul, the meeting adjourned.

STATE NORMAL BOARD.

It Considers Requests for Legislative Consideration.

The state normal board met at the capitol yesterday, discussing desired legislation at length. St. Cloud wants money enough to finish the new dormitory building, and to erect a similar new building, Duluth wants a school to stand on the site it has furnished. Moorhead and Mankato will let the state pay for the school at $7,325. The St. Cloud school was given authority to give free tuition to kindergarten pupils for one year.

Director E. Augustus was appointed a committee of one to report at the next meeting the modifications desired in law governing elementary normal instruction in the state schools.

The committee on legislation was authorized to prepare and have printed a statement to the legislature the work of the board of education. The committee was authorized to incur an expense of not more than $100.

It was decided to have new reports from the principals of the various schools, showing the cost of maintenance per graduate, and per pupil, on the basis of average attendance and also on the basis of the total enrollment.

The Winona school filed an inventory of its property with the state treasurer. The buildings are worth $273,000, and the apparatus, furniture, etc., at $27,325. The Moorhead school also filed its inventory, amounting in all to about $100,000.

The coming state meeting of the Federation of Labor is forecasted in tomorrow's Sunday Globe.

WORK OF THE CHURCH.

Particular Council, St. Vincent De Paul Conference.

The Particular Council of the St. Vincent de Paul conference has issued a circular letter addressed to the members of the confraternity, requesting their attendance at a general meeting to be held next Sunday, Dec. 29, in Cretin hall. The several conferences are urged to respond energetically to this invitation to be present and participate in the proceedings of the meeting, which will be of great importance to the organization, and the work they have in hand. The letter says: "We are engaged, dear brothers, in the Catholic layman's best and most praiseworthy work—care for and relief of our poor neighbors. To this work we should bring with us new members. We should invite to our meetings from time to time such gentlemen as we have reason to believe would be glad to aid us in their influence and means in the holy work of charity. Let each member begin by doing one or two good deeds, and let us help in the great aggregate of charitable work which is always open for us to do."

Verbal written reports as to the works of conferences will be submitted by president or some member of each conference in the following order: St. Paul, St. Michael's, St. Mary's, St. Joseph's, St. Michael's, St. John's, Assumption, St. James', St. Matthew's, St. Vincent, St. Agnes', St. Luke's, St. Francis, St. Bernard, St. Michael's, of Stillwater; Sacred Heart, of Duluth.

DIED ON THE STAGE.

Tragic Passing Away of Miss Mae Kelly.

News comes from Duluth of the tragic death there of Miss Mae Kelly, formerly of this city. Miss Kelly had arranged the musical programme for the Catholic fair, and was herself singing a selection when she fell on the stage, dead. A heart ailment is suspected. Miss Kelly was twenty-six years of age and had won an enviable reputation as a singer and actress. She was a sister of Mrs. Charles F. Hartman, and is related to Mrs. M. J. Donnelly, of St. Paul.

IN TURNING OVER OFFICES.

Examining Warm County Treasurers.

Public Examiner Kenyon yesterday sent out circular No. 18, addressed to county auditors and assessors and boards of audit, making the following suggestions: It is the utmost importance that the responsibility of the outgoing and incoming treasurers be made to clearly appear upon both the auditors' and treasurers' books, and this is equally important whether the present treasurer succeeds himself or is succeeded by some other person, inasmuch as treasurers that succeed themselves enter upon a new term of office, and their bond, with responsibilities and relations greatly changed. Incoming treasurers should insist upon such a change, and the funds turned over, is lawful money, and the few orders received under the provisions of Section 1065, Statutes,
