

THE DAILY GLOBE

IS PUBLISHED EVERY DAY AT NEWSPAPER ROW, COR. FOURTH AND MINNESOTA STS.

Address all letters and telegrams to THE GLOBE, St. Paul, Minn. EASTERN ADVERTISING OFFICE, ROOM 601, TEMPLE COURT BUILDING, NEW YORK.

WASHINGTON BUREAU, 146 F ST. N. W. Complete files of the Globe always kept on hand for reference.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Payable in Advance. Daily and Sunday, per Month $5.00 Daily and Sunday, Six Months $27.50 Daily and Sunday, One Year $50.00

Weekly, One Year $1.00

TODAY'S WEATHER. WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Forecast for Tuesday: Minnesota—Fair, preceded by local rain in eastern portion; southerly to westerly winds.

Wisconsin—Fair, except in northern portion; light snows; light variable winds. South Dakota—Fair, southerly and westerly winds; warmer in western portion.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS. United States Department of Agriculture, United States Weather Bureau, Dec. 14, 1896. P. M. Local Time, 8 p. m. 75th Meridian Time.—Observations taken at the same moment of time at all stations.

Table with columns for location and temperature. Includes St. Paul, Duluth, Minneapolis, and other regional cities with their respective temperatures.

DAILY MEANS. Barometer, 30.05; relative humidity, 88; weather, light snow; maximum temperature, 23; minimum temperature, 23; daily range, 5; thermometer, 30; wind, southeast.

ORGANIZED FOR PEACE.

This administration will have completed, before it turns over its authority and duties to its successor, the work which we have already characterized as the greatest done in the history of this country and of the world. History is full of international combinations for attack, for defense, for conquest.

It is marvelously simple withal. One wonders, as he reads the arrangement for the submission of differences that may arise between us to an impartial tribunal, just as two honorable men would do, why war has ruled the world so long; why the painful decision of a tribunal of peace should not have ruled, rather than the might which can be just only by accident.

This may be argued from the experience of our own supreme court. The members of that body belong to the great political parties and are generally men who have strong party beliefs; yet no one expects that the decisions of our supreme court will be influenced by party relations, nor have they been, as a matter of fact.

What do we see now when a congress or a legislature assembles—and it is through such means that the socialist plans must be executed? At Washington we see a committee, holding the taxing power in its charge, inviting representatives of various industries to come before it to tell how congress can best serve their selfish interests.

It has happened in the past that boards of arbitration have not been as impartial as we could desire. Too generally, almost invariably in fact, the representatives of the contending nations have stood by their own flags. It required an umpire, after all, to decide between them, and the arbitrators representative of the contending parties sank to the level of advocates. This was due, not to an inherent fault in the arbitration idea, but to the temporary purpose and services of such commissions. Their members were appointed to act in this single case, and they had not the sense of fixed responsibility for the future that would compel them to render service to the larger view by choosing, if necessary, to declare that their own countrymen were in the wrong.

If it shall do this, the day of war is nearly ended. The nations cannot continue to settle their difficulties in the old and evil way with this example before them of what civilization really means and of the obligations that it imposes. Mr. Cleveland's administration has done this work, not only for the United States, not only for Great Britain, not only for the English race, but for the world, for humanity, for progress and for justice.

At a meeting of the state labor federation the Socialists attempted to have adopted resolutions setting forth their state policy of the nationalization of the means of production and distribution. They were unsuccessful, two-thirds of the delegates voting against them.

At the meeting of the state labor federation the Socialists attempted to have adopted resolutions setting forth their state policy of the nationalization of the means of production and distribution. They were unsuccessful, two-thirds of the delegates voting against them.

What do we see now when a congress or a legislature assembles—and it is through such means that the socialist plans must be executed? At Washington we see a committee, holding the taxing power in its charge, inviting representatives of various industries to come before it to tell how congress can best serve their selfish interests.

It has happened in the past that boards of arbitration have not been as impartial as we could desire. Too generally, almost invariably in fact, the representatives of the contending nations have stood by their own flags. It required an umpire, after all, to decide between them, and the arbitrators representative of the contending parties sank to the level of advocates.

have failed of adoption. With such a condition what folly it is to be talking of realizing through legislation the common aspirations of all for the ameliorations of conditions whose hardships we all see and feel, but whose corrective sane people know rests solely with the improvement of the individual through forces entirely independent of and apart from legislation.

THE CITY BUDGET.

There will be general and deserved dissatisfaction felt over the estimate of expenditures for this city for the year 1897 that was submitted yesterday by Comptroller McCurdy. We have been told that we were to have lower taxes. We have laid this flattering unctious to our souls year after year, and have waited patiently for the payment of the floating debt represented by certificates, so that the taxpayer could feel the benefit.

Some of this is the result of including items for which it is both unnecessary and improper that we should levy taxes at the present time. Some of it is the natural payment of humbug and parsimony in the past. Some of it represents the constant pressure of every department for an increased allowance. Wherever the total can be cut down it ought to be; and the duty of the conference committee and the council to that end is plain.

City Comptroller McCurdy's communication to the common council called attention to the fact that the Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

are clever, while the believer in the supernatural would not even listen to their own words. It is a matter of fact with the spirits. It is scarcely necessary to describe the dream descriptions of people and things given by Mrs. Baldwin, as she sits on the stage blindfolded and part of the time completely oblivious of the rubber band around her eyes.

THE CITY BUDGET.

There will be general and deserved dissatisfaction felt over the estimate of expenditures for this city for the year 1897 that was submitted yesterday by Comptroller McCurdy. We have been told that we were to have lower taxes. We have laid this flattering unctious to our souls year after year, and have waited patiently for the payment of the floating debt represented by certificates, so that the taxpayer could feel the benefit.

Some of this is the result of including items for which it is both unnecessary and improper that we should levy taxes at the present time. Some of it is the natural payment of humbug and parsimony in the past. Some of it represents the constant pressure of every department for an increased allowance. Wherever the total can be cut down it ought to be; and the duty of the conference committee and the council to that end is plain.

City Comptroller McCurdy's communication to the common council called attention to the fact that the Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

The Northwestern Telephone Company pays tax to the city for its valuable franchise, while the city itself is not taxed for the use of the telephone system.

GOOD SHEPHERD FAIR

ITS OPENING DAY PROMISES IT A RICHLY DESERVED SUCCESS.

BOOTHS AND PRETTY WOMEN

MAKE AN ENTICING EXHIBIT OF RARE INTEREST IN ITS WAY.

PROGRAMMES OF MUCH MERIT

Add to the Success of an Ambitious Entertainment for a Worthy Charity.

The hum of many voices, the sweet strains of a violin, a maze of gay colors and always a glimpse of the bright face of some pretty girl went to make up the general effect of the opening night of the fair which is being held in the Ryan Annex for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd.

The hum of many voices, the sweet strains of a violin, a maze of gay colors and always a glimpse of the bright face of some pretty girl went to make up the general effect of the opening night of the fair which is being held in the Ryan Annex for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd.

The hum of many voices, the sweet strains of a violin, a maze of gay colors and always a glimpse of the bright face of some pretty girl went to make up the general effect of the opening night of the fair which is being held in the Ryan Annex for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd.

The hum of many voices, the sweet strains of a violin, a maze of gay colors and always a glimpse of the bright face of some pretty girl went to make up the general effect of the opening night of the fair which is being held in the Ryan Annex for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd.

The hum of many voices, the sweet strains of a violin, a maze of gay colors and always a glimpse of the bright face of some pretty girl went to make up the general effect of the opening night of the fair which is being held in the Ryan Annex for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd.

The hum of many voices, the sweet strains of a violin, a maze of gay colors and always a glimpse of the bright face of some pretty girl went to make up the general effect of the opening night of the fair which is being held in the Ryan Annex for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd.

The hum of many voices, the sweet strains of a violin, a maze of gay colors and always a glimpse of the bright face of some pretty girl went to make up the general effect of the opening night of the fair which is being held in the Ryan Annex for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd.

The hum of many voices, the sweet strains of a violin, a maze of gay colors and always a glimpse of the bright face of some pretty girl went to make up the general effect of the opening night of the fair which is being held in the Ryan Annex for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd.

The hum of many voices, the sweet strains of a violin, a maze of gay colors and always a glimpse of the bright face of some pretty girl went to make up the general effect of the opening night of the fair which is being held in the Ryan Annex for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd.

The hum of many voices, the sweet strains of a violin, a maze of gay colors and always a glimpse of the bright face of some pretty girl went to make up the general effect of the opening night of the fair which is being held in the Ryan Annex for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd.

The hum of many voices, the sweet strains of a violin, a maze of gay colors and always a glimpse of the bright face of some pretty girl went to make up the general effect of the opening night of the fair which is being held in the Ryan Annex for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd.

KICK OF DRUGGISTS

OBJECT TO MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF PHARMACY AS INSTRUCTORS

IN COLLEGES OF PHARMACY

WHERE THEY SAY PUPILS ARE PREPARED FOR EXAMINATION AT $50 A HEAD.

L. A. HARDING, OF THIS CITY,

And His Northwestern Institute of Pharmacy Are Called Into Question by the Trade.

The druggists of Minnesota, represented in the Minnesota State Pharmaceutical association, are wrought up over what they consider a gross prostitution of a public office for private gain.

It is nothing less than that L. A. Harding, one of the members of the Minnesota State Board of Pharmacy, is charged with using his position as a member of that board to induce students of pharmacy to pay him $50 in order to be coached and prepared for the state examination, of which he is one of the examining board.

Such a condition of affairs is not permitted in the medical profession. The law expressly prohibits any person interested in a medical school from being one of the examiners or a member of the board, but this provision has been left out of the state pharmacy law, and one of the first things which will be brought to the attention of the legislature is this case, with a view to having it corrected.

The state pharmacy law was passed in 1885. It authorizes and directs the governor to appoint, from a list of fifteen names presented by the State Pharmaceutical association, five reputable and practicing pharmacists doing business in the state to act as a state board of pharmacy. Up to the present time the law has been strictly enforced. But in the spring of that year L. A. Harding, who had been appointed from Ferguson Falls, where he was conducting a drug store, is said to have sold out his business and ceased to be a "practicing pharmacist doing business in the state."

Harding had an advertisement in this year as follows: L. A. Harding, B. Sc., Ph. D., Analytical Chemist, Northwestern Institute of Pharmacy, member of the Minnesota State Board of Pharmacy, Member of the German Chemical Association, American and Northwestern Microscopical Societies, American and Microscopical State Pharmaceutical Association, Honorary Member of the North Dakota Pharmaceutical Association.

He resides at 266 North St. Albans street. His term of office expires in January, 1898. Mr. Harding could not be found last night, having moved since the publication of the directory.

WILL FIGHT IT OUT. Chamber of Commerce to Hold a Special Meeting. The chamber of commerce yesterday decided to hold a special meeting Friday evening to discuss the currency scheme reported by the committee on banks and currency.

President Peet appointed Messrs. Taylor, Fairchild, Oviit, Hodgson and Ordway delegates to the good roads convention.

Messrs. Clark, Clough, Lightner, Taylor and Butler, were appointed to meet from today to confer with committees on the Real Estate Exchange, Commercial club and Jobbers' union, with a view to securing a more reasonable system of taxation.

LE SUEUR'S NOVELTY. Secretary H. H. Hart, of the state board of corrections and charities, returned yesterday from Le Sueur, where he spoke on the organization of Associated charities Sunday evening. Mr. Hart reported that Le Sueur has in process of organization an association of charities unlike anything he has ever heard of anywhere in the world.

KICK OF DRUGGISTS

OBJECT TO MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF PHARMACY AS INSTRUCTORS

IN COLLEGES OF PHARMACY

WHERE THEY SAY PUPILS ARE PREPARED FOR EXAMINATION AT $50 A HEAD.

L. A. HARDING, OF THIS CITY,

And His Northwestern Institute of Pharmacy Are Called Into Question by the Trade.

The druggists of Minnesota, represented in the Minnesota State Pharmaceutical association, are wrought up over what they consider a gross prostitution of a public office for private gain.

It is nothing less than that L. A. Harding, one of the members of the Minnesota State Board of Pharmacy, is charged with using his position as a member of that board to induce students of pharmacy to pay him $50 in order to be coached and prepared for the state examination, of which he is one of the examining board.

Such a condition of affairs is not permitted in the medical profession. The law expressly prohibits any person interested in a medical school from being one of the examiners or a member of the board, but this provision has been left out of the state pharmacy law, and one of the first things which will be brought to the attention of the legislature is this case, with a view to having it corrected.

The state pharmacy law was passed in 1885. It authorizes and directs the governor to appoint, from a list of fifteen names presented by the State Pharmaceutical association, five reputable and practicing pharmacists doing business in the state to act as a state board of pharmacy. Up to the present time the law has been strictly enforced. But in the spring of that year L. A. Harding, who had been appointed from Ferguson Falls, where he was conducting a drug store, is said to have sold out his business and ceased to be a "practicing pharmacist doing business in the state."

Harding had an advertisement in this year as follows: L. A. Harding, B. Sc., Ph. D., Analytical Chemist, Northwestern Institute of Pharmacy, member of the Minnesota State Board of Pharmacy, Member of the German Chemical Association, American and Northwestern Microscopical Societies, American and Microscopical State Pharmaceutical Association, Honorary Member of the North Dakota Pharmaceutical Association.

He resides at 266 North St. Albans street. His term of office expires in January, 1898. Mr. Harding could not be found last night, having moved since the publication of the directory.

WILL FIGHT IT OUT. Chamber of Commerce to Hold a Special Meeting. The chamber of commerce yesterday decided to hold a special meeting Friday evening to discuss the currency scheme reported by the committee on banks and currency.

President Peet appointed Messrs. Taylor, Fairchild, Oviit, Hodgson and Ordway delegates to the good roads convention.

Messrs. Clark, Clough, Lightner, Taylor and Butler, were appointed to meet from today to confer with committees on the Real Estate Exchange, Commercial club and Jobbers' union, with a view to securing a more reasonable system of taxation.

LE SUEUR'S NOVELTY. Secretary H. H. Hart, of the state board of corrections and charities, returned yesterday from Le Sueur, where he spoke on the organization of Associated charities Sunday evening. Mr. Hart reported that Le Sueur has in process of organization an association of charities unlike anything he has ever heard of anywhere in the world.