Will McKinley invite the Bradley Martins to his ball?

Many of the bicycles will take a new tack this summer.

Japan is considering a ratio of 32 to 1. A wheelbarrow will go with each silver dollar.

The powers should buy Weyer's trocha for use in Crete to keep Christians and Turks apart.

Possibly the fact that there are X-rays in sugar explains why the Lexow X-rays have no effect on Scaries.

The Balkan question comes upon the stage again, remarking to the Cretan difficulty: "I am thy father's ghost."

In light of recent events in Armenia the solicitation of the powers for the safety of the poor, helpless Turk in Crete is pathetic.

An Atlanta clergyman says hell is not a place, but a state. He omits to mention whether it has been admitted to the Union yet or not.

Will Senator Keller please tag all legislators who go with him today, to be sure he gets them all back again from the reformatory.

Fifty calls before breakfast was McKinley's record yesterday. Office-seekers seem to believe in the adage "the early bird gets the worm."

How much at home Admiral Bunce, in his inability to detect blockade runners, would be on the Minneapolis grand jury, hunting for dishonest aldermen.

The Standard Oil trust is a thing of the past. There is not even a grease spot of it left, but the Standard Oil "company" is doing business at the old stand.

Has Corbett already made a dime museum attraction of himself? Ten cents a head was the price of admission to a sparring bout in San Francisco Sunday.

Perhaps the railroads are preventing long life. Mrs. Hanna Rose died at Highland Falls, N. Y., the other day at the age of 106, having never seen a railway train.

First blood in the Carson City fight has been drawn by the lumber king. Stuart will have to go into training as a millionaire or borrow the timbers for his ring pavilion.

The girls of Chicago university are having lively times playing medicine ball. If they don't try to play Medicine Hat for another inning this winter, no one will object.

The president-elect got 3 cents a bushel for apples from his farm this week. Farmer McKinley will be clamoring for protection when the new administration comes in.

The treaty-making power of the senate must be maintained, says Senator Morgan. Well, the senate is maintaining the power, but the facilities for turning out work rapidly seem to be very limited.

Pingree shouldn't be blamed for holding the governorship and majority at the same time. He is willing to compromise by removing the capital to Detroit, where it will be handy for him to attend to both jobs.

Allowing the Vesuvius to play around under the heels of the big war ships at Charleston is dangerous business. Some one of them will run over the little fellow yet without seeing him, and there will be another cruiser built missing with all on board.

IS THERE A DEEP-LAID PLOT TO DWARF THE INAUGURAL?

Mark Hanna's Enemies Are Said to Be Secretly Trying to Belittle the Exercises.

QUAY AND PLATT KEEPING MILITIA AWAY,

SO RUNS THE STORY, AND SEVERAL SENATORS AND SOME OF REED'S FRIENDS ARE ACCUSED OF BEING LUKEWARM AS TO CEREMONIES MARCH 4.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—A Washington special to the Tribune says: Publication of the story that political enemies of Mark Hanna have been at work quietly to discredit the inauguration ceremonies has resulted in considerable talk. When the senate declined to make special provision for the subsistence of the West Point and Annapolis cadets people here were greatly disappointed. One hotel promptly offered to board the West Point cadets free of charge, and other people, including the inauguration committee, agreed that there should be no undue expense to the government. President Cleveland favored bringing the cadets here, but did not feel like issuing the order, in view of the action of congress.

CERTAIN SENATORS JEALOUS. It is now more than hinted that the senate was influenced by a little coterie of Republican senators, who are jealous of Mr. Hanna's political success and desired to dim as much as possible the inauguration ceremonies, in which he is to be such a prominent personage. The sudden decision of the New York and Pennsylvania militia not to participate in the parade has aroused a great deal of unfavorable comment, in view of the fact that a word from T. C. Platt and Matt Quay would certainly have resulted in bringing them here.

It is said that the elements which fought McKinley last year are organizing to do the same thing in 1900, and it is believed they would not be sorry to see some of the inauguration features "fall down" a bit. It was thought by members of the committee at first that hard times and heavy railroad fares were the chief factor in deterring people from attending the inauguration. Now, however, they are inclined to believe that political agencies are at work inside the Republican party tending to frown down on an attendance of civic and military bodies here on March 4.

REED'S FRIENDS LUKEWARM. It is said that certain of Speaker Reed's followers and the friends of some of the senatorial favorite sons are not co-operating with the committee as heartily as could be wished. On the other hand, the gold Democrats, in all sections, are coming to the front and manifesting unusual interest in the inauguration ceremonies.

The reports of the committee indicate that while some of the Eastern political clubs and military organizations are holding back, apparently acting on a private tip from disappointed political bosses, volunteer organizations, especially in the West, are being reported daily as intending to come to Washington.

ATTRIBUTED TO HARD TIMES.

CANTON, O., Feb. 14.—The report that Platt, Quay, and the enemies of National Chairman Hanna were being their influence to keep the military of Pennsylvania and New York away from the inauguration is discredited at the McKinley home. It has been known here for several days that the number of militia companies from these states would be less than was anticipated, but the cause is attributed to the inability to raise funds for the soldiers' transportation. No member of the inauguration committee resides in Canton, however, and all of the details, even of the departure from this city, are being arranged at the capital. Foraker men disclaim any knowledge of a desire to injure the glory of the inauguration.

GOSS WILL TRY TO SUPPRESS IT.

WILL MAKE AN EFFORT TO ABOLISH THE SMOKE NUISANCE.

COMPLAINTS ARE SWORN OUT

Against a Number of the Engineers of Offensive Office Buildings.

The smoke nuisance has again become unbearable, and the police department yesterday inaugurated a crusade which it is hoped will secure its abatement. Complaints were sworn out against John Bowman, engineer of the Lowry arcade; August Hanft, engineer of the Germania Life Insurance building; Frank Morgan, engineer of the Germania bank building, and Alfred Johnson, engineer of the St. Paul Gas and Electric Light company, and today the men will be arraigned in the municipal court under ordinance 1841, which declares the issuance of dense smoke from chimneys within the city limits a nuisance. The engineers and not the owners of the buildings or plants are held responsible for the nuisance by the action of the police in the present movement, and it is said they contemplate the arrest of every engineer in the city operating a plant within the proscribed district.

The complaints in the above cases are made by the officers on the boats where the buildings are located, under instructions from Chief of Police Goss. The proposed activity of the police department in abating the smoke nuisance is said to be due to the numerous complaints from property holders in the vicinity of the objectionable plants. There is always more or less complaint on account of the dense smoke issuing from chimneys in the business and residential portion of the city, but of late Chief Goss states that they have become so frequent and vigorous that he has been impelled to immediate action. Proprietors of stores, office buildings and dwelling houses have taken the matter up, it is said, on the ground that they cannot retain tenants in their property while the neighborhood is constantly enveloped in clouds of black, sooty smoke from the offending chimneys. The nuisance, it is claimed, has been at its worst all over the city for the past few months, and frequent consultations between the police department and the corporation attorney have shown no means of relief on account of a difference of opinion regarding the provisions of the ordinance regulating the matter.

It plainly states that the emission of smoke from any smokestack or chimney within the city limits is a nuisance and prescribes a punishment for the same of a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, though no method of dealing with the matter is provided for, it being claimed that it would work an injustice to shut down a plant, while prosecution under the law only results in promises of remedies from the owners of buildings, which are soon forgotten or prove inadequate when fulfilled.

In speaking of the matter yesterday, Chief Goss stated that the complaints of householders could no longer be ignored, and that he proposed to go to the fullest extent allowed him under the ordinance in affording relief. A list of all plants whose emissions of smoke are objectionable has been prepared, and the owners, through the engineers, will be brought into court to answer for their breach of the law. If the law proves ineffectual, then Chief Goss claims his duty has been performed, and that he can do nothing further in the interests of the afflicted citizens.

BOLT TRUST NOW.

Another Added to the List of the Dear Departed.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 15.—It is stated that the big machine bolt trust has gone to the wall. It comprises all the leading machine bolt manufacturers in the country. A. S. Upton, of the Upton Nut company, of this city, was the president of the trust. The downfall of the trust was caused by sharp competition owing to the distrust and jealousy of some of its members. Treasurer and manager G. O. Bastington, of the Chapin Nut and Bolt company, said today: "The machine bolt trade has practically gone to smash. The general discount now is 75 per cent, while formerly it was from 10 to 15 per cent less."

SERIOUS SETBACK Experienced by the Expedition Against the King of Benin.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The morning papers publish telegrams stating that the British naval expedition advancing towards Benin City for the purpose of punishing the king of Benin, murderer of Consul Phillips' party, had met with strong opposition. Commander Pritchard was killed in fighting at Sapelo.

VISITORS DENIED. No Callers Allowed to See the President-Elect.

CANTON, O., Feb. 15.—There were a number of callers at the McKinley residence this afternoon, but all were informed that the president-elect could make no calls. Col. Dudley, of Washington, who was pension commissioner under President Garfield, came down from Cleveland at noon, but was compelled to postpone his visit until a later day. Col. Dudley is a member of the inaugural committee and said the preparations for the event are progressing very satisfactorily. He was in Cleveland for McKinley's cabinet. A John Conklin, Harrisburg, and Mayor Schieren, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Maj. McKinley was confined to his room to night, and his doctor advised him to see no visitors tomorrow nor until he has recovered from his cold. This is the first time he has been unable to call since his return from Columbus over a year ago.

HENRY ON THE CARDS. Payne, of Wisconsin, a Strong Cabinet Probability.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 15.—The Milwaukee friends of Henry C. Payne feel very confident that he will be invited to enter McKinley's cabinet. A letter reached here this morning direct from the president-elect himself, written to a prominent party worker, which referred to serious matters and no intimation was contained in the letter that the previously understood programme in relation to Wisconsin patronage would not be carried out, or that McKinley had determined not to invite Mr. Payne into the cabinet.

THOMPSON AT CANTON. St. Paul Editor Pays His Respects to McKinley.

CANTON, O., Feb. 15.—George Thompson, editor of the St. Paul Dispatch, was a caller on the president-elect today. Mr. Thompson said it was simply a social call, and had no political significance. "Yes, Tams Bixby is the most popular Republican in Minnesota, with perhaps the exception of Judge Stanford Newell," he said.

WINONA, Minn., Feb. 15.—Thomas Black, the escaped prisoner from the Ojawa jail here, was captured this morning by Sheriff Fuhrmann at Narshland, Wis. The prisoner is under a reformatory sentence.

SHERBURNE BANK ROBBER. His Trial for Murder Will Begin Today.

FAIRMONT, Minn., Feb. 15.—The case of the State of Minnesota against Louis Kalliban for the killing of George Thorburn and C. E. Struven while robbing the bank of Sherburne in this county last fall will be commenced on Tuesday morning, Feb. 16, and it will probably take three or four days to get a jury. Insanity will be the defense.

Too Much Snow for Logging. Operations in this section have practically come to an end on account of the deep snow in the woods. The heavy snowfall of account of an excess of snow. The big logging concerns, as well as the small ones, are commencing to look for a way out of the snow makes it impossible to skid logs successfully. Most of the logs that have been skidded have been hauled. Loggers who have been operating where the timber was scattered have suffered the most. It was the calculation that the heavy snow would have about 125,000,000 feet of timber, but it is now given out that not more than half that amount will be available.

For Duluth Harbor Work. DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 15.—Maj. Sears opened bids today for the dredging of Duluth and Superior harbors under the continuous contract of the Duluth and Superior Harbors. Big Stone Canal Feasible. ORTONVILLE, Minn., Feb. 15.—United States surveyor Weeks reports the survey of Big Stone and Traverse lakes complete and says that the result of the survey proves the project of bringing these lakes into the reservoir system much more favorable than expected. Col. Jones, of St. Paul, will meet the preliminary work remaining to be done in the taking a level from Lake Traverse via Rabbit river to Otter Tail river, which is inexpensive and is necessary to ascertain whether or not the lay of the country will permit of the turning of these streams southward into the proposed reservoir. This work will be done in the spring or summer.

Cannon for Redwood Vets. REDWOOD FALLS, Minn., Feb. 15.—Representative McKinley secured a cannon from the United States government for John S. Marsh post of this city. The cannon weighs 300 pounds and the mount about 900 pounds. With the cannon will come several balls. The cannon and balls will be placed in Redwood cemetery where all of the deceased members of John S. Marsh post now lie.

St. Cloud Water Works for Sale. Special to the Globe.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Feb. 15.—Bondholders of the St. Cloud Water Works company have commenced foreclosure proceedings on a mortgage of $120,000 on the plant. The property is now a part of the water, light and power company, which is now in the hands of a receiver. The sale will probably be followed by a reorganization of the company upon a paying basis.

Bismarck Legislature Declares Against Repeal of the Prohibition Law.

Special to the Globe.

PIERRE, S. D., Feb. 15.—In the senate today the resolution for an investigation for bribery charges was killed and an equal suffrage amendment carried by a vote of 31 to 9. Among the principal bills introduced were those providing for a state superintendent of printing; to prohibit the demoralization of the same as other property and prohibiting alien ownership of lands. In the house the committee on state affairs recommended a commission to go over the records in the Taylor case and to reappraise the property taken. The equal suffrage question was called up on reconsideration and again lost for lack of constitutional majority, only receiving forty favorable votes.

Among the principal bills introduced were those providing for a state superintendent of printing; to prohibit the demoralization of the same as other property and prohibiting alien ownership of lands. The equal suffrage question was called up on reconsideration and again lost for lack of constitutional majority, only receiving forty favorable votes.

Another Populist caucus was attempted tonight, without any settlement. Twelve ballots were taken with the highest vote for Goodykoontz at 26 and lowest for Kyle 18. Votes were thrown to Loucks from the Kyle forces in an attempt to draw him back into the race, and the Plowman vote went as low as 2. The next caucus was set for Thursday night after a row for haspivory.

Throughout Sunday the Goodykoontz men professed confidence that their candidate would show great gains today and would be elected some time this week. The ballot, however, showed no material change. Loucks says there will be none before next week. O. H. Opedale, editor of the great Scan. Dinavian newspaper of Chicago, has come here on request of Gov. Lee to advise in the matter. He has advised the governor to favor some Democrat. Johnson has also told the governor that it must be Kyle or a Democrat.

The ballot today stood: Pickler, 49; Goodykoontz, 24; Kyle, 22; Plowman, 10; Hincley, 9; Weeks, 1; Palmer, 1.

The report of the joint committee to ascertain the requirements of the state institutions was made today. It is in brief as follows: On Jan. 19 the auditor and treasurer reported to the senate that the probable revenue for the next two years would be $618,000, and the standing appropriations would be $477,000, leaving $141,000 for the public institutions. There are bills pending for the support of these institutions to the extent of $572,000, and the committee recommended an appropriation of $288,571, a reduction of $277,638 from the amount asked. If all the revenue bills pay, which are now pending, there will be added to the revenue $127,000, which will leave a small balance in the treasury. The distribution of the funds by the committee is as follows: State agricultural college, $19,500; State University, $47,720; Mayville normal college, $20,900; Valley City normal, $20,755; soldiers' home, $18,800; school for the deaf muter, $19,600; hospital for the insane, $107,100.

TROOPS LANDED. Flags of the Powers Are Flying Over Cana.

ATHENS, Feb. 15.—Col. Vassos, aide camp to the King of Greece, and commander of the foreign man-of-war have landed at Cana. The Russian, French, English and Italians each furnished 100 men, the Austrians 50. With the consent of the Turkish authorities, the whole detachment under the command of an Italian officer, will be held in readiness to land. Russian, French, English, Italian and Austrian flags have been hoisted on the masts of the town. The commander of the Greek squadron has been notified of their landing.

At Athens, demonstrations in the vicinity of the palace and the government offices continue. Cheers for "the union of Crete with Greece" were heard when the news reached here of the landing of the Grecian troops on the island of Crete. Prime Minister Deliyannis made a speech to the crowd, approving of the sentiments expressed and exhorting calmness. In conclusion he said: "Let us hope that the news of the landing of troops from the squadrons at the ports of Crete will be confirmed."

Referring to the collective note of the powers the Grecian government has declared that its intervention in affairs in Crete is justified by the massacre there and that it is not due to a desire to disturb the island. The Greek government announced that it is determined to continue to dispatch the troops for the purpose of restoring order.

CANEA, Feb. 15.—The joint forces of the foreign warships are now occupying the town of Cana. The steps taken give satisfaction here.

It was stated this afternoon that the British naval commander had notified Prince George of Greece, in the event of the latter executing the orders he had received from the king and the Greek government, he would be compelled to use force against him. This unexpected attitude of the British commander has produced a painful impression among the Cretan Christians, who regard the prince as sent to defend them from their Mussulman foes. The Turks at Retimo have pillaged all the Christian shops and the bishop's palace.

ATHENS, Feb. 15.—It was announced late this afternoon that a Greek army corps had landed at Platona, near Cana.

Cana, Feb. 15.—People here are wild with joy over the news of the landing of the Greek troops on the island of Crete.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The news that a force of regular British troops has disembarked on the island of Crete has been confirmed. No details have been received, but the force was probably identical with that which attacked the prince's army. Fighting was reported during the afternoon in the vicinity of Heraklion, and the three Mohammedan villages are said to be in flames.

A dispatch to the Chronicle from Athens says that the commander of the English ironclad threatened the commander of a Greek cruiser and told him that he would sink his boat if he again fired at the Turkish transport. The Chronicle also gives dispatches relating the substance of an interview between Prince George of Greece and the British admiral at Cana, and touches for their absolute correctness. The prince having admitted that his orders were to prevent the disembarking of Turkish troops, by force if necessary, the admiral without reservation declared that he had strict orders to use every means to the power to prevent the execution of the plans of the prince. However much he might regret it, he had no option in the matter. He then desired to know the prince's intentions under the circumstances. Prince George replied that he should execute the service with which he had been entrusted to the letter.

The Chronicle, editorially, denounces in a highly indignant manner the foregoing treatment of a friendly prince and nation, and says that it will cause a thrill of passionate shame to enter the heart of every man caring for freedom. The editorial exhorts Greece in God's name to go on.

The Times, in its editorial columns, applauds the naval occupation of the island of Crete as a sensible act and as practical statesmanship.

A dispatch to the Standard from Constantinople says that the council of ministers sat until early Tuesday morning. It is impossible to learn whether any decision has been arrived at or not, but it appears that the Cretan question a casus belli with Greece. One reason is the conviction of the Porte that Europe will protect the sovereign rights; another is the dread that complications will rise with Macedonia and the Balkan provinces, and with Austria.

A dispatch to the Standard from Athens says that the foreign marines have landed at Retimo and Heraklion. Another dispatch from Athens says that the powers have decided to supervise the execution of a new charter for Crete, a feature of which will be autonomy.

The Athens correspondent of the Standard says that a high Greek official has assured him that Emperor William was largely influential in the matter of the Cretan question, which has exasperated Greece from an embarrassing position and which guarantees peace and order for Crete. Publishers at Athens are greatly excited. It is considered that the crisis is at an end.
