

MINNEAPOLIS

OFFICE 29 SOUTH FOURTH STREET.

MINNEAPOLIS GLOBES.

Otto Sundblad was arrested yesterday afternoon by Court Officer Emmet Goff on a warrant charging him with assault with a battery upon the person of Mrs. Sundblad.

Daniel Fish, as receiver of the Northern Trust company, has begun an action in the district court to foreclose a $25,000 mortgage upon the leasehold of the property now occupied by the Hyzer Hotel company as Hotel Hyzer.

Miss M. J. Robinson, who formerly resided at 3222 Clinton avenue, died rather suddenly Sunday evening at her home, 238 East Twenty-second street. She was an invalid the greater part of her life, but the end came swiftly, death ensuing from a collapse of the system.

The park board committee on forestry met yesterday afternoon and decided to recommend the acquisition of 100 acres of land for the furnishing of flowers for the different parks this year.

PETERSON IS "FOXY." He is Planning to Try Aid Drew First.

County Attorney Peterson is nothing if not "foxy." He has planned to give the aid Drew case a trial first, upon which he has been anxious that the Haney case should not be tried first.

SAID HE HAD TO STEAL.

Harvey Porter's Explanation of a Theft.

Harvey S. Porter, the nineteen-year-old highwayman, will be sentenced this morning by Judge Holden. He pleaded guilty yesterday, and was sentenced to the state's prison on the reformatory plan, but Judge Holden ascertained that Porter had friends who spoke well for him, and made a good church boy, who never smoked, drank or used slang.

COURT IS IN SESSION.

Judge Amidon on the Bench of the United States Court.

The United States circuit court for the Fourth division of Minnesota opened yesterday in the federal building, with Judge Amidon in the federal building, and Judge Amidon's first appearance before Minnesota attorneys, but his calm, business-like way made a very favorable impression.

MELODRAMAS AND AN AX.

"When London Sleeps" Chopped to Some Extent.

Holds Only the Title.

OR on a Junket.

Ransacked a Church.

Will Disband Friday.

Receivership Ended.

KIDNEY TROUBLES.

Due To Many Causes, But Always with One Result, A Life of Agony Fraught with Horror, Death.

For Delicacy.

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poudre.

HAS POWER TO BURN

CONTRACTS TO BE LET BY ST. ANTHONY FALLS WATER POWER COMPANY.

POWER FOR STREET RAILWAY.

IT WILL BE GENERATED BY THE WATER OF THE MISSISSIPPI.

JUDGE AMIDON ON THE BENCH.

Drew Will Be Tried Before Haney—Practical Work to Send Men Out to Farms.

The second of the large contracts to be let by the St. Anthony Falls Water Power company will probably be arranged this afternoon.

Mr. Goodrich had with him during the opening of the bids Charles G. Armstrong, who is the consulting engineer, both of the street railway company and the power company.

Mr. Goodrich had with him during the opening of the bids Charles G. Armstrong, who is the consulting engineer, both of the street railway company and the power company.

The different companies have representatives on hand to answer the questions.

Western Electric company, by Edward E. Elliott; Standard Underground Cable company, by J. T. Wiley; Simplex Electric company, by H. B. Dixon; Safety Insulating Cable company, by A. J. Spencer; Norfolk Cable company, by A. C. Jackson; J. B. Wallace & Co., by E. L. Barr, and McComber company, by E. E. Hoyer.

The conditions call for "three phase alternating current transmission system."

The cables will be two inches in diameter and will enclose three copper wires.

Two of them will carry the current to St. Paul to be used for the street railway company.

Four more will perform the same service in Minneapolis. They will be underground and laid in a conduit built especially for the purpose.

The transmission of the power to St. Paul will be by a high voltage transmission line.

The Pillsbury A mill will probably use all the surplus power which is not used by the street railway company.

MELODRAMAS AND AN AX.

"When London Sleeps" Chopped to Some Extent.

Holds Only the Title.

OR on a Junket.

Ransacked a Church.

Will Disband Friday.

Receivership Ended.

KIDNEY TROUBLES.

Due To Many Causes, But Always with One Result, A Life of Agony Fraught with Horror, Death.

For Delicacy.

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poudre.

BAYARD TOASTED.

Brilliant Farewell Dinner in Honor of the Ambassador.

HE TAKES A FAREWELL FAREWELL OF THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

WOLCOTT BILL IS PASSED.

INTERNATIONAL MONETARY CONFERENCE ACT NOW UP TO THE PRESIDENT.

POLITICAL DEBATE IN SENATE.

Visitors Treated to Something Beside the Routine of the Big Appropriation Bills.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Not in many years has the Mansion house contained a gathering so representative of British life and achievement as that which was given in honor of Mr. Bayard.

The interior of the Mansion house was brilliantly lit, and the guests were seated at long tables.

A few minutes before half past seven, Mr. Bayard arrived, and was received with marked signs of respect.

The guests proceeded to the Egyptian hall, the long, unadorned room which is the headquarters of the Egyptian club.

The first mayor, in proposing the health of Mr. Bayard, said: "You, sir, not only represent the great nation of Great Britain, but you are our brother by ties of blood, and one who has done much to cement together the two nations."

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bayard, on rising to respond, was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Bayard referred to the long continued friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

DUBOIS DIES HARD

HE TAKES A FAREWELL FAREWELL OF THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

WOLCOTT BILL IS PASSED.

INTERNATIONAL MONETARY CONFERENCE ACT NOW UP TO THE PRESIDENT.

POLITICAL DEBATE IN SENATE.

Visitors Treated to Something Beside the Routine of the Big Appropriation Bills.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The senate had its share of inauguration crowds today and they were compensated by something more than the routine of the big appropriation bills.

The bill for an international monetary conference was taken up at 1 o'clock and after two hours of animated debate, the house amendments were agreed to without the formality of a ye and nay vote.

This is the final legislative stage of the bill, and it now goes to the president.

The debate on the bill brought out earnest speeches from the silver Republican senators and frequent references to the break at the St. Louis convention.

Mr. Dubois warned his former Republican associates that the silver Republicans had thrown off their old connections for good.

Mr. Sherman as secretary of state, and Mr. Gage as secretary of the treasury, as indicating that the incoming administration would not be in sympathy with an international monetary conference or agreement.

Mr. Teller (Col.) and Mr. Mantle (Mont.) also participated in the debate.

During the day Senator-elect Spooner, of Wisconsin; Fairbanks, of Indiana, and Heitfeld, of Idaho, were on the floor.

The fortification appropriation bill was passed early in the day.

The deficiency bill for the fiscal year 1897 was passed.

The bill for an international monetary conference was taken up at 1 o'clock and after two hours of animated debate, the house amendments were agreed to without the formality of a ye and nay vote.

This is the final legislative stage of the bill, and it now goes to the president.

The debate on the bill brought out earnest speeches from the silver Republican senators and frequent references to the break at the St. Louis convention.

Mr. Dubois warned his former Republican associates that the silver Republicans had thrown off their old connections for good.

Mr. Sherman as secretary of state, and Mr. Gage as secretary of the treasury, as indicating that the incoming administration would not be in sympathy with an international monetary conference or agreement.

Mr. Teller (Col.) and Mr. Mantle (Mont.) also participated in the debate.

During the day Senator-elect Spooner, of Wisconsin; Fairbanks, of Indiana, and Heitfeld, of Idaho, were on the floor.

The fortification appropriation bill was passed early in the day.

The deficiency bill for the fiscal year 1897 was passed.

The bill for an international monetary conference was taken up at 1 o'clock and after two hours of animated debate, the house amendments were agreed to without the formality of a ye and nay vote.

This is the final legislative stage of the bill, and it now goes to the president.

The debate on the bill brought out earnest speeches from the silver Republican senators and frequent references to the break at the St. Louis convention.

Mr. Dubois warned his former Republican associates that the silver Republicans had thrown off their old connections for good.

Mr. Sherman as secretary of state, and Mr. Gage as secretary of the treasury, as indicating that the incoming administration would not be in sympathy with an international monetary conference or agreement.

Mr. Teller (Col.) and Mr. Mantle (Mont.) also participated in the debate.

During the day Senator-elect Spooner, of Wisconsin; Fairbanks, of Indiana, and Heitfeld, of Idaho, were on the floor.

The fortification appropriation bill was passed early in the day.

The deficiency bill for the fiscal year 1897 was passed.

The bill for an international monetary conference was taken up at 1 o'clock and after two hours of animated debate, the house amendments were agreed to without the formality of a ye and nay vote.

This is the final legislative stage of the bill, and it now goes to the president.

The debate on the bill brought out earnest speeches from the silver Republican senators and frequent references to the break at the St. Louis convention.

Mr. Dubois warned his former Republican associates that the silver Republicans had thrown off their old connections for good.

Mr. Sherman as secretary of state, and Mr. Gage as secretary of the treasury, as indicating that the incoming administration would not be in sympathy with an international monetary conference or agreement.

Mr. Teller (Col.) and Mr. Mantle (Mont.) also participated in the debate.

During the day Senator-elect Spooner, of Wisconsin; Fairbanks, of Indiana, and Heitfeld, of Idaho, were on the floor.

The fortification appropriation bill was passed early in the day.

The deficiency bill for the fiscal year 1897 was passed.

The bill for an international monetary conference was taken up at 1 o'clock and after two hours of animated debate, the house amendments were agreed to without the formality of a ye and nay vote.

This is the final legislative stage of the bill, and it now goes to the president.

The debate on the bill brought out earnest speeches from the silver Republican senators and frequent references to the break at the St. Louis convention.

Mr. Dubois warned his former Republican associates that the silver Republicans had thrown off their old connections for good.

Mr. Sherman as secretary of state, and Mr. Gage as secretary of the treasury, as indicating that the incoming administration would not be in sympathy with an international monetary conference or agreement.

Mr. Teller (Col.) and Mr. Mantle (Mont.) also participated in the debate.

During the day Senator-elect Spooner, of Wisconsin; Fairbanks, of Indiana, and Heitfeld, of Idaho, were on the floor.

The fortification appropriation bill was passed early in the day.

The deficiency bill for the fiscal year 1897 was passed.

The bill for an international monetary conference was taken up at 1 o'clock and after two hours of animated debate, the house amendments were agreed to without the formality of a ye and nay vote.

This is the final legislative stage of the bill, and it now goes to the president.

The debate on the bill brought out earnest speeches from the silver Republican senators and frequent references to the break at the St. Louis convention.

Mr. Dubois warned his former Republican associates that the silver Republicans had thrown off their old connections for good.

Mr. Sherman as secretary of state, and Mr. Gage as secretary of the treasury, as indicating that the incoming administration would not be in sympathy with an international monetary conference or agreement.

Mr. Teller (Col.) and Mr. Mantle (Mont.) also participated in the debate.

During the day Senator-elect Spooner, of Wisconsin; Fairbanks, of Indiana, and Heitfeld, of Idaho, were on the floor.

The fortification appropriation bill was passed early in the day.

The deficiency bill for the fiscal year 1897 was passed.

The bill for an international monetary conference was taken up at 1 o'clock and after two hours of animated debate, the house amendments were agreed to without the formality of a ye and nay vote.

This is the final legislative stage of the bill, and it now goes to the president.

The debate on the bill brought out earnest speeches from the silver Republican senators and frequent references to the break at the St. Louis convention.

Mr. Dubois warned his former Republican associates that the silver Republicans had thrown off their old connections for good.

Mr. Sherman as secretary of state, and Mr. Gage as secretary of the treasury, as indicating that the incoming administration would not be in sympathy with an international monetary conference or agreement.

Mr. Teller (Col.) and Mr. Mantle (Mont.) also participated in the debate.

During the day Senator-elect Spooner, of Wisconsin; Fairbanks, of Indiana, and Heitfeld, of Idaho, were on the floor.

The fortification appropriation bill was passed early in the day.

The deficiency bill for the fiscal year 1897 was passed.

The bill for an international monetary conference was taken up at 1 o'clock and after two hours of animated debate, the house amendments were agreed to without the formality of a ye and nay vote.

This is the final legislative stage of the bill, and it now goes to the president.

The debate on the bill brought out earnest speeches from the silver Republican senators and frequent references to the break at the St. Louis convention.

Mr. Dubois warned his former Republican associates that the silver Republicans had thrown off their old connections for good.

Mr. Sherman as secretary of state, and Mr. Gage as secretary of the treasury, as indicating that the incoming administration would not be in sympathy with an international monetary conference or agreement.

Mr. Teller (Col.) and Mr. Mantle (Mont.) also participated in the debate.

During the day Senator-elect Spooner, of Wisconsin; Fairbanks, of Indiana, and Heitfeld, of Idaho, were on the floor.

The fortification appropriation bill was passed early in the day.

The deficiency bill for the fiscal year 1897 was passed.

The bill for an international monetary conference was taken up at 1 o'clock and after two hours of animated debate, the house amendments were agreed to without the formality of a ye and nay vote.

This is the final legislative stage of the bill, and it now goes to the president.

The debate on the bill brought out earnest speeches from the silver Republican senators and frequent references to the break at the St. Louis convention.