DR. SHUTTER DISCUSSES THE SOUTH, ITS HISTORY AND CONDITION.

STATEMENTS NOT GENERALLY REALIZED OR ACCEPTED BY PARTISANS.

PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE.

"Don't you think your remarks would create a sensation if they were published?" was asked Dr. Marion D. Shutter, after his address on "The South; Present and Future," delivered before a large congregation at the church of the Redeemer yesterday morning.

"Yes, I do," was the frank reply, "for they would be considered by most people here as embodying strange ideas for a Northern Republican to hold."

Dr. Shutter began his sermon by referring to the emancipation, as follows: "Mr. Chittenden relates in his 'Recollections of Lincoln' that once, towards the latter part of 1864, as the great president lay upon his favorite couch in the register's office, he broke into a magnificent strain—a beautiful word-painting of what the South would be when the war was over, when slavery had been destroyed, and she had an opportunity to develop her industries under the benign influences of peace."

A grand vision seemed to flash before Mr. Lincoln's mind, Mr. Chittenden says that many years afterwards the incident occurred to him when he listened to the address of the late president.

THE SAINT PAUL GLOBE: MONDAY, APRIL 12, 1897.

FIGURES CAN GIVE BUT A FAINT IDEA OF THE DAMAGE IN THE SOUTH.

OVER 15,000 SQUARE MILES;

CONTAINING 39,500 FARMS AND PLANTATIONS, IN SUBMERGED DISTRICT.

FURTHER FLOODS PREDICTED,

When Millions of Further Damage Will Be Added to the Already Large Losses.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—A statement relative to the agricultural interests of the submerged district of the Mississippi valley, south of Cairo, Ill., has been issued by the department of agriculture. It is based upon a chart prepared under the direction of the chief of the weather bureau, showing the extent of the flood on April 6.

This chart the department has appended to a population of 27,882, of which 1890 a population of 27,882, of which 186,489 was in Mississippi, 100,235 in Arkansas and the remainder equally divided between Missouri and Tennessee.

The total area under water on April 6 was about 15,800 square miles, of which 7,900 square miles was in Mississippi, 4,500 in Arkansas, 1,750 in Missouri, 1,200 in Tennessee, and 450 in Louisiana.

The largest interests at stake so far are those of the state of Mississippi, whose flooded districts represent an invested capital in agriculture alone of close upon $42,000,000.

The weather bureau predicts that about the value of over one and one-half million dollars and crops unsold and unconsumed to the value of nearly $2,500,000.

The agricultural interests affected in Missouri represent a total capital of rather over $9,000,000, the 5,300 submerged farms containing an area of 470,000 acres.

Tennessee is not far behind Missouri in the extent of its imperiled interests, the number, acreage and value of the submerged farm land being nearly the same.

What effect the flood will have upon the crops of the present season depends upon the length of its continuance and the practicability of sowing and planting after the subsidence of the flood.

The report called attention to the fact that the submerged area is outside the church, and that there was no more important work to be done in this country than that of the church.

At the conclusion of Mr. Walker's address a request was made that he speak before the association at the next meeting.
