A GREAT RECORD. H. O. Peterson Makes as Assignee of the Century Piano Company. The public in general, and the credors of insolvent institutions in par-cular, have of late years come to look upon receiverships and assignent proceedings as a process in law which the assets were converted lawvers' fees and fat receivers and assignees' salaries. It is therefore re-freshing to learn of cases where the Interests of the public and creditors have been diligently looked after.

Jan. 20. 1897, the Century Piano company was compelled to make an assignment, and H. O. Peterson was appointed assignee. When he took charge there were on hand 304 pianos, eightythree organs and a large number of small instruments under construction. Feb. 4 matters had been so arranged that the court gave permission to the assignee to commence to realize on the assets. Since that time over 300 instruments have been disposed of, fifty-seven pianos have been finished In the face of all the late financial dis-turbances and the stringent money market, it is evident that some hard and dilligent work has been done by the assignee, and that judicious busimess methods have been followed.

Mr. Peterson said, in speaking of the matter today to the press: "My object has been to dispose of the assets of the company as quickly as possets of the complany as quickly as possible. I have been selling instruments cheap, and the public is appreciating it by patronizing us. My aim has also been to see that the creditors will get as much out of the assets as possible, and this can only be accomplished by a period of time as possible.

"I have at the same time been anxious that the general public should get the benefit of the sale of our instruments at the unprecedented low prices, and have therefore been proceed. and have, therefore, been opposed to selling the assets in job lots or as a whole. The creditors are continually urged that the assets should be sold at wholesale on bids submitted. We have now been compelled to ask for bids for the whole of the remaining stock at the factory and in our ware-rooms. The bids will be opened May 1, but until then our sale will go on. The whole stock will, in all probabil-, be all closed out to some dealer that time, if the bids are approved the court. The factory will close down in a week.'

The case was hotly contested, and resulted in a disagreement of the jury. Subsequently it was nolled by the county attorney.

Minnetonka Unusually High.

Lake Minnetonka is 22 inches higher than it was last fall, and if the county commissioners hurry up and stop the awful waste of water via Minnehaha creek there will be a very fair stage of water all summer. This will not only please the yachtsmen and steamboat men, but all lake residents as well, for the big water is much fairer to look upon when its banks are full than when the shore line is largely mosquito pasture and hay line is largely mosquito pasture and hay marsh, as is the case when the water is low.

Anna's Way of Taking Medicine. Anna Newman is not in good health, and is under the care of the county physician. Her medicines are kept by the matron and given to her as the time arrives for administering. This was found necessary, because when the first prescription was given her, with the instructions to take at stated intervals, she took the whole box, and for a time her attendants feared serious results, as the pills contained morphine. She recovered, though, and now she is not trusted with any of the drugs.

Cupid This Time His Captor-Plymouth Church's Fortieth Anniversary.

The athletic association of the university, by an almost unanimous vote, at the factory and the greater part of the smaller instruments and other assets have been disposed of. When it is taken into consideration that this amount of business has been done during the dullest season of the year and in the face of all the late financial discussion by the faculty members of voted last night to retain Right Guard Finlayson by the faculty members of the advisory committee. At the advisory board meeting on April 10 Finlayson was impeached, pending action by the association. The charges against him were: That he had retained $15 from the sale of tickets; that he had acted contrary to the instructions of the committee; that he had refused to ting expenses down while we run, to wind up the business in as brief Finlayson practically admitted the last two, but had plenty of evidence to refute the most important, that of withholding funds from the receipts.

Prof. Denton and Prof. Woodbridge administered a very strong condemnation of the way business affairs had been conducted, and asked the association if they recall asked the association in the contraction in the contraction and asked the association in the contraction and asked the association asked the association and asked the association and asked the association and asked the association asked the association and asked the association asked the association and asked the association asked the asked the association asked the asked the association asked the ass ation if they would keep a man in office who openly said he would not pay his training table board bill, except to keep his position as manager. On the other hand, Finlayson's friends spoke eloquently of his prowess on the eam, and attributed his shortcomings, if he had made any, to his recent severe illness. That he had acted honorably, they claimed, was proven by his willingness to come 300 miles from his sick bed at Crookston, Minn., and pubicly meet his accusers. Finlayson Harding, ex-Manager Putnam and William Mairn, all spoke against the charges. The fact was brought out that Finlayson had contracts ready with Jerrems and Moulton to return next fall as coach and trainer, but that they had been held up by Denton, in order they claimed, to force "Fin" to pay his board bill. The debate waxed personal at times, and the professors were accused of taking an unfair ad ventage of Finlayson. A vote was finally reached on the minority report of the advisory committee made by Instructor Harding, and the big right guard exonerated. Prof. Denton would make no statement of his future action, but that it is not finished, is a general opinion. The meeting was the annual election of officers and the following were chosen unanimously: President, E. P. Harding; vice president, P. H. Thomas; secretary, W. M. Billings; treasurer, Frank Murphy; manager tennis department, Paul Wilson; manager of winter sports, Fred Davis.

BLACKHAWK WAS THE FIEND. One of the Winona, N. D., Half Breeds Talks of the Spicer Mur-

BISMARCK, N. D., April 17 .- The mystery concerning the butchery of the Spicer family at Winona has been partly cleared up. Alex Caddot, the French half-breed, under arrest, made a confession in which he implicates Blackhawk, the negro half-breed, who has also been under arrest as a suspect. After making the confession Caddot made an attempt at taking his own life by stabbing himself with a pocket knife in the abdomen. The wound will not prove fatal unless complications set in.

The preliminary hearing of the two men was set for Wednesday last at Williamsport, the county seat of Emmons county, located about forty miles south of here. The officials have made south of here. The officials have made strenuous efforts to force a confession for some time, but without success. Caddot has chafed considerable under arrest and confinement and has been very uneasy and on Wednesday the officers uneasy and on wednesday the olicers succeeded in wringing from him the statement that Blackhawk committed the deed, but he denied he had any connection with it. Blackhawk insists in his innocence and refuses to believe that Caddot has made any confession. The officers have secured other impor-tant information, but refuse to make it public at present, but say there were others besides these two implicated in the crime. Public interest over the matter in Emmons county is at fever heat, and if the citizens there were certain that they had the guilty parties it is safe to say that the murderers of the defense-less women and children would be summarily avenged. The hearing was continued until May 8 to allow officers

Bismarck Water Works Case-Fargo Case Reversed.

BISMARCK, N. D., April 17.—The supreme court today decided an interesting case. It was that of Torrence Martin, appellant. vs. Luger Furniture Company, respondent. The district court of Cass county was reversed and a new trial ordered. This controversy arose over a bonus subscribed by the defendants to Martin in the amount of $2,000 to assist in remodelling the old. Argus building in Fargo for a hotel. The main contention is over the interpretation of a memorandum given the furniture company by Martin in which he agreed that the subscription should be void upon condition that if Martin did not furnish the hotel or if he did not buy the furniture from the Lugers the amount was not to be paid. Mar-Special to the Globe.

MANKATO, Minn., April 18.—2:30 a.

m.—The most disastrous fire which has visited Mankato for many years has reduced the three-story Odd Fellows building to ashes during the past two hours. The building cost $10,000 to build. Only $6,000 insurance was carried at the present time, $1,500 having been dropped March 1. The basement was occupied by A. B. Ewing's ground for the defendants. They were willing to trust to their ability to secure plaintiff as a customer, relying on their friendly relations as to the on their friendly relations as to the ground on which they hoped to win in a competitive struggle to obtain the owned by W. W. P. McConnell. contract to furnish the hotel building.

Another decision involves control of the Bismarck water works, and ends one of the fiercest fought lawsuits in the history of the state. The water works were built in 1887 by a company of local capitalists and G. R. Morrison of Baltimore. Bonds to the amount of $115,000 were issued, and were purchased by the Central Trust company. These bonds were secured by mortgage on the works. In 1893 judgment to the amount of $20,000 was secured by respondents against the water works company, and, on their application, Senator C. B. Little was appointed receiver, and he has continued in charge since. The appellants have tried by various means to have Little removed as receiver, and have set up their mostgare as he. and have set up their mortgage as being a prior lien to the judgment. The supreme court holds this contention to be correct, reverses the lower court, and directs it to order the sale of the water works under the mortgage.

Pembina. Ortonville, Minn., April 17.—There is no perceptable change in the height of the water in Big Stone lake. The Milwaukee company is working night and day to protect its embankments, which are in constant danger. Sacks filled with sand are placed along the ends of the ties on the north side of the track; back of these, ties are laid lengthwise with the track and staked to the ground. On the top of the sacks is dumped gravel, then hay, and on this snow fencing weighted down with railroad iron. All this is to pre-vent the water from flowing over the track and to keep the wind from washing away the banks and gravel. The south side of the track being dry and from four to five feet above the level of the land adds to the peril of the embankment, as with this fall, should the water once get a start track would melt away like a snow-drift. Raising the embankment and thus keeping the water backed up to the north tends to raise the ire of unfortunate residents of that portion of the city north of the track and between it and the lake, and it will take months to reduce the height of the water in Big Stone lake through the present confined outlet. In 1881 nearly all this bank was washed away, and the water bank was washed away, and the water thus allowed to ft. w the full length of the valley—over a mile wide—which scon relieved the overflowed lands. The ice separated in the lake about a mile from the city, and the wind from the northwest forced it down in a body a mile square over the flooded portion of the valley of the Minnesota river for over half a mile, throwing down bridges, trees and fences before it, but it lodged in shallow water be-

The one I went in had a window of heavy plate glass, about twelve feet in length, over a well rising in the center just above the bottom, so that the boat can run in upon the beach without injuring it. The observers sit on both sides of the well, through which they look down upon the bottom, where in water not over thirty or forty feet deep the various objects are to be seen with startling distinctness.
