The terms of Alexander Ramsey, H. P. Upham and H. F. Wright, members of the library board, expire April 30. LIABLE FOR DOUBLE

SUPREME COURT HOLDS LAKE CITY BANK STOCK OWNERS TO THE LAW.

POINT IN INSURANCE LAW.

THE SAME COURT DECIDES A CASE AS TO REALTY OWNERSHIP.

DOINGS OF THE DISTRICT COURT.

Adjournment to Be Taken This Afternoon Out of Respect to Memory of Mr. Dickinson.

The supreme court yesterday handed down decisions in two cases, four of which relate to the insolvent Merchants' bank of Lake City, in which the district held the stockholders liable in double their stock. The supreme court sustains this decision.

State of Minnesota, plaintiff; Herman B. Kennebeck, intervenor, respondent; Merchants' Bank of Lake City et al., defendants; Josephine Rogers Sidle, appellants. State of Minnesota, plaintiff; H. B. Kennebeck, intervenor, respondent; Merchants' Bank of Lake City et al., defendants; Alice R. Rogers, as executrix, etc., appellants.

State of Minnesota, plaintiff; H. B. Kennebeck, intervenor, respondent; Merchants' Bank of Lake City, defendant; Alice R. Rogers, executrix, etc., appellants. The attorney general brought this action to enforce the charter of a bank organized under the laws of this state for failing to comply with the provisions of section 2325 and sections 2325 and 2328, General Laws 1894; thereafter and before judgment therein a writ of habeas corpus was granted to the general and with leave of court, intervened in the action, filed a complaint in intervention, and sought to have the writ set aside, for the purpose of enforcing their double liability.

Held, that the original action was brought under sections 2300 and 2302 (contained in chapter 70, General Statutes 1894, as well as under section 2325, and the provisions of chapter 70, General Statutes 1894.

Held further, the legislative intent, as expressed in sections 2300 and 2304, 1, to prohibit the stockholders from being held liable, embarrassed or delayed by the additional litigation necessary to enforce the stockholders' liability; but this does not entitle the stockholders to immunity from such liability, and the court will enforce the general's action, and a creditor may, during such pendency, proceed by a separate action to enforce the same.

Joseph Haider, the Citizens' Savings Bank of St. Paul, respondents; St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Company, appellants. Plaintiff in building his house upon his lot, by its side to its boundaries, built the house so that it stood on the lot, and the street and two feet on the adjoining lot, in which he had no right, title or interest; the defendant failed to enforce the provisions of a policy containing the following provisions: "This entire policy, unless otherwise provided by agreement, is void if the insured is a building on ground not owned by the insured in fee simple; the insured shall be held liable for the same."

Held, the condition avoiding the policy, if the subject of insurance is a building on ground not owned by the insured in fee simple, is not broken, as long as some part of the building stood on land owned by the insured in fee simple.

Held further, the condition avoiding the policy, if the interest of the insured be less than some part of the building, is not broken by erecting the building partly on the street, because, if for no other reason the public interest is not in the interest in the building, and as between him and the public, he had a right to remove the same.

Plaintiff did not know that he erected the building two feet, or at all beyond the line of the lot, and the insurance policy was issued (though he discovered it after the loss), he apparently acted in good faith in erecting the building two feet beyond the line of plaintiff's lot. Order affirmed. —Canty, J.

In re estate of M. B. Harrison, deceased, Louise Henry Harrison, an infant by Henry S. Harrison, guardian ad litem, appellant, vs. Lucy Gray Harrison, executrix, respondent. Pursuant to Sec. 4598, G. S. 1894, a license to sell the real estate of deceased was granted for the payment of debts was granted by the probate court and subsequently extended for one year after the expiration of the license, but said real estate was not sold under said license.

Held, said license having expired at the end of said three years, the probate court has power to grant a new or second license. Judgment affirmed. —Canty, J.

P. J. Murphy, respondent, vs. Charles Backer, appellant. In an action between plaintiff, the borrower, and defendant, the lender, on the issue of the trial was whether or not the loan was usurious; the court permitted the defendant, against objection and exception, to be asked on a cross-examination whether he had made certain other usurious loans to other persons at other times.

Held, it is in the discretion of the trial court whether or not it will allow cross-examination as to such collateral matters, and this court is unable to say that in this case the trial court abused its discretion.

A witness for defendant denied an cross-examination that he had stated at a certain time and place that he had borrowed money from defendant at a certain usurious rate of interest, and thereupon the court, against objection and exception, permitted the witness to be contradicted by the evidence of the defendant. Order reversed and a new trial granted. —Canty, J.

Charles Clifford, appellant, vs. Frank G. Minor et al., defendants; Annie M. Ryan, respondent. Plaintiff is the assignee of notes and a mortgage made to "John L. Merriam"; the mortgaged premises were conveyed to defendant Ryan, who in the deed to her assumed and agreed to pay mortgage thereon, given by the same mortgagee to "John L. Merriam and wife," securing a like sum; the complaint alleges these facts and further alleges that the words "and wife," above quoted, "are surplusage and were inserted in the deed by mistake."

Held, in the absence of allegations showing that no mortgage had existed to which these words could apply, the statement that they are surplusage and were inserted by the complainant is a mere conclusion of law, and the complaint does not show that defendant assumed plaintiff's mortgage. Order affirmed.

To Foreclose Mortgage. The Northwestern Life Insurance company has begun an action in the district court against William Dawson Sr. and his assignee, A. B. Stickey, to foreclose a mortgage for $15,000 on the northerly portion of lot 5, block 36, St. Paul proper. The property lies just north of the building known as the Prince block and fronts on Jackson street. The mortgage, which was originally to mature in five years, was extended until March 1, 1897, and action is brought because of alleged default in the payment of the interest.

To Recover on Promissory Notes. The assignee of the St. Paul Loan company, C. M. Palmer, has begun an action on four promissory notes aggregating $87,000 against

CLOSE THE SCHOOLS

FOUR HUNDRED PUPILS GIVEN AN ENFORCED AND UNEXPECTED VACATION.

TOO UNSANITARY FOR USE.

HEALTH OFFICER AND SCHOOL BOARD COMMITTEE VISIT THE DOUGLAS.

IT IS WORSE THAN REPRESENTED.

Two of the West Side Schools Are Now Locked—No Telling When They Will Open.

The 400 pupils of the Douglas school were dismissed at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the school ordered closed for an indefinite period. This action was taken as the result of the unsanitary condition of the building, and after an inspection had been made by the committee on health and sanitation from the board of school directors. Yesterday afternoon Messrs. Yoerg and Scholle, of the school board, Superintendent of Schools Curtis, Superintendent of Repairs Gerlach and Health Inspector Sinks visited the school. The visit was made owing to a letter having been sent to the board by Health Commissioner Stone on Tuesday, which attention was called to the condition of the basement of the school building. The school is fitted with the Rutman system of closets and has no sewer connection. Since November last the drain pipe, which is supposed to carry off the surface water from the basement of the school, has been either stopped or frozen up and the surface and other water has been dipped out with a bucket. For the last month the surface water has been about six inches deep in the basement and the result has been that the filth has been floating around in the basement of the school and rendering the entire building not only an unsanitary, but in an unhealthy condition. The members of the school board who visited the school yesterday afternoon found the condition of affairs all that the commissioner of health had stated in his letter and somewhat worse than that.

Inspector Yoerg seen yesterday afternoon said the committee on health and sanitation had been directed by the board, as soon as the letter from the health commissioner reached the body, to investigate and if necessary close the school. This had been done, and the investigation made showing that the basement of the building was in a bad condition, a mixture of excrement and water being found there several inches deep. The health inspector and the committee had ordered the school closed until the unsanitary condition had been remedied. Mr. Yoerg said the school board had repeatedly asked for the construction of a sewer on Stevens or Orleans street, but the council had failed to order the same. On account of this and a lack of funds the board was unable to remedy the matter, and the school would have to be closed for an indefinite period. The school board, Mr. Yoerg said, had repeatedly called the attention of the health department to the unsanitary condition of the Douglas school, other than the school, and the health department had refused to furnish the necessary funds.

Health Inspector Sinks, after returning from the visit of inspection, said the health department had ordered the school closed, and it would not be reopened until the sanitary condition had been improved to such a degree that the committee from the school board had refused to furnish the necessary funds.

The records of the council show that Sept. 10 last a preliminary order was passed by the council to have a sewer on Orleans street from Stevens to George street for the purpose of connecting with the Douglas school. The cost of the sewer was estimated at $90,000, a cost to the property owners of 90 cents per front foot. There were four hundred property owners on the street, and an improvement, no further action was taken.

On Oct. 17 the council passed another preliminary order to have a sewer on Orleans to Stevens street, from Orleans to Ohio streets. This sewer would also have given the Douglas school a sewer connection, but the council has not yet acted on the matter. The matter was laid over until March of this year, but as yet has not been acted on.

ON DRY LAND AGAIN

HOUSES ON THE UPPER FLATS BEING OCCUPIED BY THEIR OWNERS.

WATER IS FALLING SLOWLY.

LINE ON THE RIVER AS SHOWN BY MARKS ON RASPBERRY ISLAND.

RIVER SNAG BOAT HAS ARRIVED.

Mississippi, However, is Still Too High for the Operations That Will Be Carried On.

The river is rapidly falling. From eighteen feet, the highest mark reached during the present rise, the water has receded since April 7 until the government gauge at the foot of Jackson at 6 o'clock last evening registered but 12.2 feet, making a total fall of 4.8 feet.

The fall of the water has, on the whole, been quite constant and rapid, though some days witnessed a greater or less fall than others. The average for twenty-four hours has been about 5 feet. Everywhere along the river banks and even in the race of the current the effect of the fall is apparent. Many houses are now high and dry, while the foundations of others are fast rising to water, and the huge volume of water still over-running the channel pursues its way more peacefully.

The upper flats, where the flood played such havoc in its highest stages, are altogether drained of the back water, leaving the houses fit for occupancy and the levee several feet above the current. Many of the dwellers of the flats have already moved back into their homes, and yesterday others were engaged in retransporting their belongings to their deserted homes. The levee road is dry and accessible for travel, and men are now at work repairing the damage done to the embankment by the racing waters. In the sloughs and low lands inland, beyond the levee, there is still a great deal of water, but few of the flat dwellers are inconvenienced by this state of affairs, though portions of several houses on the low lands are as yet under water. The packing houses are at present the worst sufferers, as water continues to surround the plants, being, in its receding stages, sufficient to prevent the resumption of operations.

The extent of the fall, up to date, can readily be appreciated from a view of Raspberry island which now rises well out of the flood, only the extreme ends being submerged. The supports of the Minnesota Boat club headquarters are entirely dry, while the club house of the curling club is as high above the water as in the season of least volume. Little damage appears to have been done either to the buildings, and the run to the water in front of the boat club quarters is being again put in place. All along the south bank of the river the recession of the water is marked by the reappearance of nearly all of the formerly partially submerged buildings, while many of the houseboats, a week ago tied up for a week, are now floating on the water.

The fall is also marked in the flooded districts below State street, where so many families were forced to leave their homes. Water is plentiful in some parts of this district yet, but occupants of a number of houses are but waiting for them to dry out before resuming their former occupancy. The families have left the Humboldt school re-established themselves in their own homes. The police of the Ducas street station, yesterday, reported that at the rate with the river is falling it would be but a few days when most of the abandoned houses would again be habitable.

The United States river snag boat, General Barnard, in command of Capt. David Tipton, one of the skillful pilots on the Mississippi, is tied up at the foot of Jackson street, having just come up from Keokuk, where she wintered in the canal. The General Barnard is one of the most powerful in the government's river fleet. Llett Charles Keller of the United States army engineering corps, is also on board the boat.

At Lake Pepin there is said to be more water than in many previous years, while for miles and miles are strewn in piles along the banks thousands of logs which went out with the high water. The greater quantity of the logs are some distance inland in corn fields and pastures on the Iowa side, and are thought to be wholly worthless to the owners.
