

SAINT PAUL.

LATE SOCIAL NEWS.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sheberg, of Mankato, are the guests of Mrs. Graves, of Fort Snelling.

A progressive euchre party will be given at Assumption school hall this evening. All are cordially invited.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's Church will give a card party Wednesday evening in the school hall.

Mrs. George Taylor will give a dinner Tuesday for Dr. and Mrs. Ingersoll. Covers will be laid for twelve.

Mrs. Monture, of 57 West Tenth street, mother of Mrs. Salmon, has gone to Michigan to visit her daughter, Mrs. DeLore.

Mrs. Minnie Good, of 216 Hoffman avenue, entertained a number of her friends last Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. R. Lee-son, of Buffalo, Minn.

The closing class reception of the Mozart Dancing academy will occur at Oxford hall this evening. Little Florence Thueber will execute a fancy dance during the intermission.

About fifteen couples, students of the Globe Business college, assembled at the home of Mrs. M. J. Corbett, of 121st street, in honor of Mrs. M. Corbett, who leaves for her home in Nebraska very soon.

SUNDAY AT THE HOTELS.

C. G. Carr, of Ely, is at the Metropolitan.

W. C. Steel, of Portland, Or., is at the Windsor.

H. C. Kelly, of Ely, is registered at the Windsor.

W. C. Quinn, of Saganaw City, is registered at the Ryan.

F. H. Taylor, of Uniontown, Pa., is at the Merchants.

J. C. Murphy, of Temple, Tex., is at the Merchants.

J. C. Bates, of the United States Army, is at the Ryan.

Frederick Miller, of Spooner, Wis., is at the Windsor.

M. Woodward, of Eau Claire, is registered at the Merchants.

G. E. Livermore, of Wenatche, Wash., is a Metropolitan guest.

Ernest J. B. Howard, of Sauk Centre, is stopping at the Ryan.

Burdett Thayer and C. C. Allen, of Spring Valley, are at the Windsor.

Greene Kendrick and wife, of Waterbury, Conn., are stopping at the Ryan.

William M. Tins and wife, of St. Thomas, Ont., are registered at the Merchants.

George Hyser, wife and son, of the Hotel Ryan, Minneapolis, were guests at the Windsor yesterday.

A party of nineteen excursionists en route to Alaska, in charge of J. W. Gray, of Boston, Mass., arrived at the Ryan yesterday morning.

Over the Great Northern for the coast, and returning, will visit the Yellowstone park, and reach St. Paul via the Northern Pacific.

THIS INSPECTION DAY.

Soldiers at Snelling Will Be Kept Busy.

Today will be a busy one at Fort Snelling. The troops will be formed for muster at 9:30 a. m.

After Dinner Cigars.

Go to Adam Fetsch's for your fine Key West and Domestic Cigars.

Funerals of Today.

The funeral of the late Dr. G. A. Vanderstul will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from his late residence, 167 Kent street.

The funeral of John Gear will be held at St. Vincent's church this morning.

The funeral of Mrs. Charles Haggerty will take place this morning from St. Mary's church.

The funeral of Mrs. E. S. Perin will be held this afternoon from her home, 757 Lincoln avenue.

In Other Churches.

Special memorial services were held yesterday morning at St. John's Catholic church, where Rev. Luther Lee preached on "Our Fallen Heroes."

An elaborate musical program was given, features of which were Millard's mass in F and "America."

Services appropriate to the day were also held at the Catholic Congregational church yesterday morning.

Chose Its Delegates.

The Sacred Thirst Society of the Cathedral met this morning at 10 o'clock to elect delegates to the state convention, which will be held June 16 and 17.

Not Too Cold to Fish.

J. H. Stahl, of the Globe composing room, caught a pickerel weighing 4 pounds 4 ounces in Pickwick lake under the high bridge yesterday.

The fishy giant measured 24 inches from tip to tip.

Special Sale of Flour.

Michaud's Leader Patent Flour, per sack, only $2.25.

25 Cents.

29 Cents.

14 Cents.

5 Cents.

10 Cents.

Special sale on dried fruits for Monday and Tuesday, to clear out stock, at and below cost.

W. H. BROS.

LEADING GROCERS, Seventh and Wabasha.

SAID TO BE FORGED

EX-WAQUY CITY POLITICIAN ARRESTED HERE CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

HE HAD TOO MANY CHECKS.

AND THE POLICE WILL DETAIN HIM UNTIL THEIR INVESTIGATION GATE MATTERS.

MEMORY OF O'MALLEY'S TRIAL.

Sandberg Was With the Victim of the Polling Booth Murder When It Was Done.

Gustave W. Sandberg, formerly a prominent politician of Chicago, Ill., and a candidate for the state senate in the campaign of 1894, is under arrest at the central police station, on the charge of passing forged checks.

Sandberg was arrested by Detectives Daly and Campbell at Sandell's saloon, 283 East Seventh street, yesterday afternoon while attempting to pass an alleged worthless check for $1.50, and when searched at the station half a dozen other checks, said to be forgeries, ranging in amount from $6 to $115, were found in his possession.

Four of the checks are drawn upon the Merchants' National bank, of Chicago, and bear the signatures of James S. Wallace, W. E. Johnson, G. Sandberg, Richard C. Moore, Albert Ohman, Frank Swanson, and William F. Anderson, while the other two are on the St. Paul National bank.

When first apprehended, Sandberg gave the alias of William F. Anderson, but subsequently admitted his identity. The police say he does not deny the forgeries, and admits having successfully passed a forged check for $5.75 at Corbett's ticket office, 196 East Third street, Saturday, in part payment for a railroad ticket to Chicago.

It is recalled that the twenty-third senatorial district of Chicago, which was held by Collander, was killed during a raid on the polling booth for the purpose of stealing the ballot boxes, and when, several months ago, Ald. Thomas J. O'Malley and John Santry, of Chicago, were tried on the charge of being Collander's murderers, Sandberg was the principal witness for the prosecution.

It is believed that Sandberg's political career was connected with the O'Malley case. Sandberg attributes his present trouble. He is a young man of but twenty-five years, and previous to his entrance into the political arena was wealthy. To a reporter for the Globe he told the following story:

"My home is in North Chicago, where I was born and raised. I made money in the real estate business, and in 1894 became a candidate for the state senate on the Independent Americans' ticket.

John F. O'Malley, a brother of the late Ald. O'Malley who was tried for Collander's murder and who at that time was a candidate for re-election, and G. D. Anthony, the Republican nominee, who was afterwards elected. It was a bitter campaign, and I had already had trouble, as my opponents had, to get my name on the ballot ticket because I was then only twenty-one years old, and according to the state law ineligible to a seat in the senate. My name went before the people, however, as it was decided that if I should be elected the proper place for me to be disqualified was before the legislature.

On the night Collander was murdered I had been with him the greater part of the evening. We were a short distance from the booth, and when the sounds of shots were heard, and we hurried to the booth, I saw Collander receive the wound from which he died. He was my friend, and when the state, with the assistance of the police, was called upon to fix the responsibility of his death, I told him I had seen in the election booth doing the shooting and assisted the authorities in every possible manner, by giving testimony at the trial, which was delayed over two years, and as you know resulted in the acquittal of both Santry and O'Malley.

"During the trial of Ald. O'Malley I was constantly under the protection of a detective furnished by State's Attorney Dineen, but greatly feared for my life I received a number of threatening letters, and was once kidnapped by friends of the men on trial. I was taken to a room in a hotel and promised $100 if I would deny the shooting. I refused to do this, and when seen Santry and Ald. O'Malley in the booth when Collander was killed, and told if I refused I would be knocked on the head and thrown into the Chicago river. My captors gave me twenty-four hours to decide, but in the meantime I made my escape.

"During the trial of the men on trial, while the state was going on one night, a big rock was thrown at my head as I passed a crowd of O'Malley's sympathizers, who carried a revolver in my pocket which was pointed at me by State's Attorney Dineen. Giving the weapon, I turned upon the crowd and fired. I heard a cry of pain, and when I looked back I saw a man lying beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

"I had no money, having lost everything I had in the senatorial race. I made subsequent efforts for nomination for North town clerk, assessor and other political offices, but I was determined to get the money I had lost. In my desperation, I planned to raise money by means of forged checks. I reached St. Paul Saturday and passed the check at the ticket office. Almost beside myself with fear, I went at once to the depot and bought a ticket to St. Paul. I have a brother-in-law here, Albert Ohman, who lives at 854 Commercial street. I stayed with him a week, and then went to the home of an aunt on a farm near Tyler. Here I remained in seclusion under the name of William F. Anderson until last March, when I received a letter from my wife in Chicago, to whom I was married shortly after my political defeat, that our two children had been born. I immediately wanted to see my boy, and did not account for my being here in jail.

MOSES, IDEAL HERO

REV. J. F. STOUT'S SUBJECT FOR AN ADDRESS FITTING MEMORIAL DAY.

LIKE THE SOLDIERS OF '61,

HE SACRIFICED SELF AND BELIEF IN HIS RACE.

CO. D ATTENDS PARK CHURCH.

Military Spirit Inspired the Services at That Temple of Worship Yesterday Morning.

"On this day set apart by law to commemorate the deeds of the heroes of the Civil war," said Rev. J. F. Stout at the First M. E. church yesterday morning, "it has seemed best to give attention to a theme appropriate to the time, the heroic deed of a company of martyrs or attesting witnesses to the truth, who encompass us on every hand to inspire in us a like courage for the performance of the duties devolving on us. By a study of Moses we may get at the characteristics of the ideal martyr or hero.

"The first feature is self-forgetfulness in the presence of public obligation. Moses 'who was called the son of Pharaoh's daughter,' choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season." He recognized the obligations growing out of his own nationality. He was a Hebrew; his duty was to his own people, and their needs were great, while his own people were weak and his own people were weak and his own people were weak.

"The second feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The third feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The fourth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The fifth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The sixth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The seventh feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The eighth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The ninth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The tenth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The eleventh feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The twelfth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The thirteenth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The fourteenth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The fifteenth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The sixteenth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The seventeenth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The eighteenth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The nineteenth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The twentieth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The twenty-first feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The twenty-second feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The twenty-third feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The twenty-fourth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same; their interests were at home. At the call of their people, they were ready to go, and they were ready to go, and they were ready to go.

"The twenty-fifth feature is courage. On the other hand, his interest according to the wisdom of the world, was opposed to his duty, and in presence of these facts he turned from self-interest and gave himself to his patriotic work. Our heroes did the same;