Rhode Island Man Making the Fight of His Life.

Special to the Globe.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—For two hours the representatives have been trooping over to the senate chamber. It is the day for the opening of the tariff debate. Here is Gov. Dingley, with his battered silk hat, walking in his precise manner, saluting whoever accosts him. Here comes McMillin, playing with his watch chain and talking volubly with a constituent. Next comes Seneca Payne, broad-shouldered and jolly, joking with study James Sherman, of Utica. Col. Elliott, of South Carolina, passes with a military air, recalling the work of his battery at Antietam. Mr. Liver, of Iowa, is in the procession, dark-haired and full-eyed, walking at the side of an orator from his own state, full as brilliant as himself, Robert G. Cousins. Behind them moves one of the speaker's ablest lieutenants on the floor, John Dalzell, of Pennsylvania. He is about half the size of Seneca Payne, but has a mind as active and alert as his body.

Near the top of the procession, Jerry Simpson and his spectacles are in the stream of statesmen. John C. Bell, of Colorado, tall and brawny, is at his side. Behind them comes Milford W. Howard, of Alabama, breezy as a Southern pine, and fully as straight.

Nor is the Southern Democrat unrepresented. Charles Swanson, of Virginia, marches through the rotunda like an old-time cavalier. William A. Jones, sturdy and staunch, is near him, with the same determined air that made him a figure in the Chicago convention. Gen. Meyer, of Louisville, is in the throng, and Dr. Strait, of South Carolina, whose pleasant face always attracts the attention of visitors.

The stream pours through the main entrance to the senate chamber. All the sofas in the rear of the desks are quickly filled. The galleries are crowded. It is a field day, in sooth. All seem eager for the fray. The Democratic representatives naturally group themselves in the Democratic side of the chamber, while the Republicans are to the right. Each representative greets the senator representing the state from which he comes. Every courtesy is shown, for the representatives are always welcomed to the floor, except when the doors are closed in executive session.

The floor of the senate is a favorite lounging place for the members of the house. The new members are especially delighted with it. As no committees have yet been appointed in the house, they are at sea as to their methods and usages. The senate being thoroughly organized, they watch its proceedings with much interest. Its imperturbable and unobtrusive behavior. There are none of the turbulent scenes which mark the action of the house, whether organized or unorganized. The atmosphere of the senate is humdrum and uninteresting, but occasionally fires of patriotism burst into flame, and discussions ensue which are of high interest and argument. There are senators who are heard with breathless interest.

Senator Gorman, of Maryland, is one of these. He is the recognized Democratic leader. Cool and impassionate, he states his propositions with precision and clearness, and never wastes words. He has the reputation of being a publican side of the chamber in William B. Allison, of Iowa. Each is extremely courteous, and each carries great weight. Allison is the recognized leader of the Republicans.

I have stated that Gorman is cool and impassionate, but at times, like the temper of a volcano, he becomes heated. Allison's temper, however, is always the same. It does not vary one degree in a whole term of office. There is no ebullience, no excitement in his manner, and he carries less heat than a plaster-of-Paris bust.

Then the new members of the house who frequent the senate chamber are affectionally greeted with magnificent displays of oratory. There are very few speakers on this continent who equal Senator Gorman. He is a master of diction and clearness of enunciation. He speaks rapidly, but every sentence is polished and finished. He warms up the earnestness of his convictions, and in a ringing voice proclaims them to all the world, regardless of consequences.

Far different is Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts. In face and figure he recalls Horace Greely. His voice at times has a high treble, as had that of the great editor. He is a master of diction, and is attractively rather repellent. Metaphorically speaking, he handles an opponent with gloves made from the skins of moose. TEN YEARS AN INVALID.

Now Restored to Perfect Health and Able to Perform All Household Duties—A Cure After Skilled Physicians Had Failed.

From the Industrial News, Jackson, Mich. Mrs. Clara Hazelton, of Webberville, Michigan, related to a representative of the Industrial News the story of her cure from eczema and other ills, which has few if any equals in this part of the country, and puzzle the medical profession. She said: "My husband's name is John G. Hazelton. He is a farmer and we live in Leroy, our post office address being Leroy, Mich. I am now 47 years of age, and for over ten years I have suffered from chronic eczema, female weakness and a combination of kidney and bladder troubles. When I was first afflicted I employed the most skilled physician we could get, but my case went from bad to worse, until a few years ago when I was treated by several physicians, but did not receive the slightest relief, and I finally gave up all hope of ever getting better.

"Last winter the Jackson Industrial News of the case of a lady who was cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and, although she had only part of the difficulty which which was afflicted, and they had been of long duration, I concluded to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial in the hope that they might relieve me to some extent. On the twentieth of March I bought the first box and commenced taking them according to directions. After using three boxes I began to feel improved, and in a few days I was able to do my household duties. I am, however, somewhat weak, but am without pain or suffering. I am now taking the tenth box, and shall continue to use the pills a short time longer and shall never be without them again if any of the troubles with which I have been afflicted, and I will cheerfully answer any inquiries regarding my wonderful cure."

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as eczema, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous debility, the after effect of a gripe, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, low complexion, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent free on receipt of price. Send for a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y."

REMARKABLE STATEMENT. Weekly Showing of the Banks Unusually in Its Nature. NEW YORK, June 5.—The financier says: The statement of the associated banks of New York city for the week ending June 5, is in many ways one of the most remarkable ever issued. Superficially and even accurately it indicates an expansion in business, the loans increasing $4,406,000. A closer analysis of the statement, however, reveals some very curious results, due almost entirely to the consolidation of two of the larger New York banks. Thus, for the week ending May 29, the total loans of the sixty-five clearing houses included in the statement of the National City and the Third National City banks were $4,241,424,400. For the week ending June 5 the loans of the same sixty-five banks were $4,688,904, an increase of only $446,500. The great increase of over four million dollars in the current statement, therefore, is to be found in the operations of the two banks mentioned. For the week ending May 29 the loans of the National City and the Third National City banks were $3,084,200, an increase of $4,148,500. The deposits also show a similar result when analyzed closely. The variations of the two banks account for $4,241,400 of the total expansion of $5,655,100 reported by the sixty-seven clearing houses included in the statement.

For all that, the statement, thus stripped of its ambiguous features, seems to show technical changes, rather than a real business expansion, but it may be said that the banks are doing a largely increased business.
