PETITION FOR A CHARTER. As voicing the opinions and desires of what is convinced is a large majority of all the voters of St. Paul, the Globe offers to them an opportunity to further and secure the adoption of a new charter under the home rule amendment and its supplementary legislation.

Produced in some other state. We are not advocates of that sort of protection which consists in buying things dear in one place when you can buy them cheap in another. We do believe devoutly in giving the preference to home interests when they enter a competition on substantially equal terms.

THE ACT CONSUMMATED. The treaty providing for the annexation of Hawaii was signed yesterday. The raid upon the government of the Sandwich Islands that was begun by President Harrison has been completed by President McKinley.

to that, we have a council which is bent upon doing nothing, except maintaining the present status and saving to the officeholders, who hope to capture for another term their present places, all their privileges and emoluments unimpaired. It is for this reason that the city council looks askance at the new charter movement and will defeat it at all hazards, unless forced to different action by an expression of the will of the people.

There is no time to be lost. The law provides that the charter commission when appointed may have six months in which to frame a new instrument of government. That time is none too long. If the commission were to be selected by the first of the coming month, it would be Jan. 1, 1898, before it sent its report to the mayor, and all the time intervening between that and the spring election would be none too long for the thorough discussion that ought to precede such important action by our citizens as the adoption or rejection of a charter.

What the people have to do, then, is to sign such petitions and present them to the judges of the district court, in order that charter reform may proceed upon their own initiative. This is what will be done. Petitions are already in existence and being circulated among the people, and we urge most earnestly upon all who believe in the progress and development of St. Paul to sign the demand for a new charter.

A copy of the petition blank will be on hand at all times at the front counter in the Globe counting room, and there the friends of the new charter movement may record their names. Let everybody turn to and help with a will, and it will not be many days before the necessary number of signatures is affixed and charter reform will go forward by petition, whether the council is willing to act or not. Only in this way can our future be made secure.

HOME MATERIAL IF POSSIBLE. The bids received for the construction of the superstructure of the new capitol building show a wide range of cost; varying not only with the individual bidder, but with the quality of the material to be used. We have the utmost faith in the capitol commission, in its ability to decide between the conflicting claims of the various building stones and in its absolute fidelity to the public interest.

time past as the only Democrat in the country. He has consumed more time in the senate than any other half dozen men put together. He has been the most virtuous man in the United States, aside from Tillman, in abuse of Mr. Cleveland. He has aspired to be one of the leaders of a Democracy which intends to set its views unflinchingly against combinations that oppress the people.

The cable car was on the track, and the pedestrian was in the way of the animal. The horse, however, swerved onto the sidewalk until the obstructions were passed, and as the walk was unobstructed, it opened up to Wabasha street, whence he continued to the stable.

Roy Thomas, a young colored man, was stabbed in the right eye during a fight at his uncle's house. The fight took place at the residence of Mrs. Scott, 431 Sherburne avenue, yesterday morning, and so seriously injured that it was necessary, at the city hospital, where he was taken, to remove the eye. E. Cassaway, a negro boarder at the Scott home, is charged with having stabbed Thomas, but as yet, the police have been unable to locate him.
