

Special Announcement!

To Our Patrons, Friends and the Public in General.

In accordance with the custom of all first-class establishments, we inventory our stock semi-annually, at which times we aim to have it reduced to a minimum. Our Mid-Summer Inventory begins on Monday next, hence our desire to unload as much as possible during the interim. If these prices are any inducement for you to purchase at once, kindly call and examine our stock:

Men's $12 Suits for... $8.00 Men's $7 Imported Cash Suits for $5.00

Men's $15 Suits for... $10.00 Men's $3.50 Trousers for $2.35

Men's Straw Hats From 50 Cents Up.

Boys' and Children's Suits and Other Accessories AT LIKE REDUCTIONS.

BOWLBY & CO. the Boston Hat Co. SIXTH AND ROBERT STS.

AGENTS FOR KNOX HATS.

SAINT PAUL.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Llewellyn Deemer filed a deed of assignment yesterday to Sylvanus E. Barker. The earnings of the state auditor for June, $5,203.41, were reported to State Auditor Dunn yesterday.

Judge Lewis has appointed Francis A. Hutson receiver in supplementary proceedings of John P. Burkhardt.

C. W. G. Hyde, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, is scheduled to address the teachers and county school officers at the Worthington summer school tomorrow afternoon.

The local branch of the N. A. S. E. has elected H. M. Germain, W. B. Robinson and J. Koller as delegates to the annual convention, and M. E. Gory, J. W. Mahan and W. Kinker as alternates.

Barry A. of St. Paul, met to select a second lieutenant, and also to select a second lieutenant, but who has not been a member of the organization since it was reorganized.

The Eugene Blair company will be seen in "Jane Eyre" for the remainder of the week at the Metropolitan opera house, to the night and tomorrow evening and night, the first three performances of the summer season.

State Superintendent Pendergast came from Hutchinson yesterday. His son Warren, superintendent of the Iowa county jail, is on a business trip, and is not expected to be back for some time.

Commissions were issued yesterday by Adj. Gen. Mudgett as follows: A. A. Law and A. F. Goddard, as assistant surgeons, with the rank of first lieutenant; Company B, Third Infantry, and M. D. Garcelon, first lieutenant of Company A, of the First Infantry, and M. D. Garcelon, first lieutenant of Company A, of the First Infantry, and M. D. Garcelon, first lieutenant of Company A, of the First Infantry.

THE BUSY WORLD.

C. H. Hall is at the Clarendon from Permian, Minn.

C. F. Burton, of Fairbault, is at the Clarendon.

L. Walker, of Boston, is a guest at the Ryan.

D. W. Brill, of Cincinnati, is staying at the Ryan.

A Detroit arrival at the Clarendon is E. L. Walker.

J. A. Palmer, registering from Arcadia, is at the Ryan.

C. W. Suttler is registered at the Clarendon from Duluth.

William H. Hall is registered at the Ryan from New York.

W. J. Nott is registered at the Merchants' from Rice Lake.

C. W. Cary, of Kansas City, is stopping at the Merchants'.

A Philadelphia arrival at the Ryan yesterday was S. S. Long.

N. P. Brown, of the British Realm, is at the Ryan, registered from London.

G. M. Ryan, arriving yesterday was in Rotterdam.

G. Van Roussem, who looks after the comfort of guests at the Spalding hotel in Duluth, was here at the Ryan.

R. M. Hunter, well known real estate man from Duluth, was in St. Paul yesterday and is a guest at the Merchants'.

W. B. Patton, formerly county surveyor of St. Louis county and city engineer of Duluth, was at the Windsor yesterday.

E. B. Corlies, of Ferguson, member of the capitol commission, came to St. Paul yesterday, and is registered at the Windsor.

N. W. B. Patton, formerly county surveyor of St. Louis county and city engineer of Duluth, was at the Windsor yesterday.

General Passenger and Ticket Agent, S. J. Pond, of Duluth, came up to the Ryan hotel.

Donald Grant, D. W. Grant and John Grant, of Fairbault, all came up to town yesterday, and are at present quartered at the Merchants'.

Among the arrivals at the Merchants' yesterday was L. Newton Ritter, chaplain of the army post at Fort Keogh, Mont. He is accompanied by Mrs. Ritter.

George A. Du Toit, of Chaska, and John Cooper, of Duluth, came up to town yesterday to attend the annual meeting of the Young Men's Association, and are quartered at the Merchants'.

Charles Foster, a son of Addison G. Foster, well known in St. Paul, has just returned from the Pacific coast, where his family lives. He will go to Yale in the fall.

Among the women arrivals yesterday was H. Van V. Smith, who is connected with the Davies Indian commission. He was taken to town shortly after his arrival here by Tansy Dixie, who carried him off to his summer cottage at Waconia. The nature of Mr. Smith's business in St. Paul is not known.

$2-ST. PAUL & DULUTH R. R.—$2

From July 7 to July 11, inclusive, the St. Paul & Duluth R. R. (Duluth Short Line) will sell tickets to Duluth and West Superior for $2.00 each, including the Elks and the public. The Zenith City bids you welcome. Three (3) fast trains daily. No extra charges on limited trains. Offices 539 Robert street and Union depot.

CHARLES W. CULLEN DEAD.

Brother of O. O. Cullen Is Dead in Virginia.

Orlan O. Cullen, of this city, yesterday received news by wire of the death of his brother, Charles W. Cullen, who lived at Warren Springs, in Virginia. The deceased was forty-eight years of age, and succumbed after quite a hard struggle to the ravages of Bright's disease. He was one of the three sons of Maj. W. J. Cullen, an old settler in Minnesota, the others being O. O. Cullen and K. P. Cullen, formerly of this city, now living on the Pacific coast.

The dead man was born in Ohio, but came to Minnesota when eight years old. He attended school here and engaged in business here, but in 1855 went to Washington. He is survived by a wife and son, Orin Clyde, Mr. Cullen, of St. Paul, wired to have the remains

ROCK SPRING TABLE WATER

For Delicacy, for purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

SACRIFICED TO SOL.

JOSEPH GRUHOT DIES FROM THE EFFECTS OF THE INTENSE HEAT.

OTHERS HANG IN THE BALANCE

LIST OF HEAT CASUALTIES EMBRACES SEVEN PERSONS SO FAR REPORTED.

THREE ARE POSSIBLY FATAL.

All Were Actively Occupied in Outdoor Employment Except One Woman, Who Is Badly Off.

Dead—GRUHOT, JOSEPH, laborer, 728 Cypress street. Prostrated—Frank Carr, teamster, 457 Hatch street. George Kaiser, policeman, 92 East Ninth street. Mrs. Mary J. Keran, Fourth and Commercial streets. William Kurkland, musician, Otto avenue, near Seventh. Mark Whelan, laborer, 1211 East Spring street, north of Minneapolis.

The terrible heat of yesterday was responsible for one death and six prostrations which have left the victims in more or less dangerous condition. Three of the sufferers from sunstroke are at the city hospital, in uncertain states of unconsciousness which may result fatally to two of them, while the others are receiving treatment at their homes. Naturally those to succumb to the intense heat were persons exposed in vigorous exercise to the sun's fierce rays for a continuous period. Laborers engaged in outdoor work suffered particularly during the day and were frequently compelled to lay down for a short time to escape the terrible strain. Most of the prostrations occurred in the afternoon when the heat was most oppressive, this being about 4 o'clock, when several cases were reported within fifteen minutes.

The first to succumb was Joseph Gruhot, now dead. He was working in the employ of the city in a gravel pit on Reaney street between Arcade and Wells streets. During the morning he suffered from a headache and was frequently compelled to lay down for a short time to escape the terrible heat. He remained at work, however, until during the afternoon, when he dropped his shovel, telling his companions he could stand it no longer. He sank to the ground almost instantly in a state of unconsciousness. Dr. Eider was summoned, but before he could reach Gruhot, the Margaret street patrol wagon had started with the man for his home. He lived but a few minutes, and expired before the house was reached. Gruhot was forty-four years old and leaves a wife and two-year-old child. He came to St. Paul from Germany and has lived here for eighteen years. Acting Coroner Nelson viewed the body and decided an inquest unnecessary.

Frank Carr, employed by John Young, was driving along at the corner of Rice and Martin streets, when he suddenly collapsed, falling from his wagon. He had been driving heavily during the day and had complained of intense suffering from the heat. The senseless man was carried to a house near by where he was attended by Dr. Nippert and afterward taken to his home in the Rondo street patrol wagon. Last evening he became much worse and Dr. Leavitt was called. Dr. Leavitt ordered the man taken to the city hospital. Carr is said to be in a delicate condition. He has a wife and family of three children.

One of the cases of which the physicians at the hospital are most apprehensive is that of Olaf C. Goldberg, a laborer in the employ of the Great West railroad company. He worked during the day in the construction of a foundation for a scale at the yards near the Elks building, and was prostrated, though suffering greatly, continued at his employment until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when he was so nearly overcome that he could scarcely stand, and took a street car shortly after 5 o'clock. He ascended the porch steps he fell forward and had to be carried to his room. There he grew rapidly worse, going into a state of delirium. Dr. Smyth attended Goldberg last evening and deemed his condition precarious. He was sent to the hospital in the central patrol wagon, a Goldberg of thirty-eight years old and is married, but has no children. He was formerly a section boss in the employ of the Great West railroad, and has also tended bar in the city.

Officer Kaiser, of the central station, went on duty at 6 o'clock, but was forced to go home within an hour, having been partially overcome. He was attended by Dr. Charles Dohm, who is of the opinion that his patient is not seriously affected.

A woman in a fainting condition, carrying a small valve and a two-year-old baby, was found on the steps of the Bethesda hospital at Ninth and Wacouta streets shortly after 8 o'clock last evening. She was taken to the central station, where she gave the name of Mrs. Mary J. Keran. The woman said her husband had come home intoxicated during the afternoon and driven her with the child from the house after breaking out all of the windows. She had wandered about with the baby until most overcome when she sank down upon the hospital steps. The woman became unconscious at the station, and Dr. Leavitt, who was called, was unable to do anything for her. She is now in the city hospital.

William Kurkland fell senseless on a street car from a sunstroke while coming from the ball game. He could not withstand the crowded condition of the car. Friends carried the man into Sprague drug store on University avenue, where restoratives were applied, but failed to revive him. He was taken to his home on Otto avenue in a carriage. Dr. Dohm was called to attend Kurkland last evening and found him in a very precarious condition.

Mark Whitney was overcome in a conduit under a bridge at the corner of Washington streets, at 2 o'clock. He is in the employ of the city railway company and was taken to the central patrol station. After an hour of rest Whitney was sent to his home in Minneapolis. His condition is not regarded as alarming.

To Cool Lake Superior By The Omaha Road.

Only $2 to Superior and Duluth. Tickets on sale July 8 to 11. At 413 Nicolet ave., Minneapolis. 395 Robert street, St. Paul. And union depots, both cities.

STUNNED A BURGLAR.

Dr. Orton Dropped a Dumbbell on a Midnight Intruder.

A lone burglar made an attempt to enter the residence of Dr. F. H. Orton Wednesday night, but was so startled by a dumbbell dropped by the doctor that he fled. Dr. Orton was awakened by a noise in the window, and looking from a front window saw the figure of a man on the

HOT, HUMID, HORRID

THAT IS THE COMPARISON OF THE MOST MODERN METEOROLOGICAL EPITHETS.

YESTERDAY WAS THE WORST.

EVEN THE STAIR SIGNAL SERVICE MERCURY CRAWLED UP TO 94.

DRUG STORE HEAT MEASURES

Did Not Hesitate at All to Go Up Into the Three Figure Periods.

It was too hot to speak about yesterday. So hot indeed that the "is-it-true-enough-for-you" fender sized up his man before venturing to propound thermometers have been sporting themselves in the 80's and 90's so continuously for the past two weeks that the people are becoming seasoned as it were by the baking process, and no longer complain of a hot summer's day with a modest temperature of 90 degrees in the shade. But yesterday—well that was more than a hot summer's day. The superlative degree of heat that descended upon us was a milder, a scorcher, a regular old sizzler. In vain did the breezes blow—and there was a lively breeze all day—and they brought no relief. Every object inanimate and animate gave its characteristic symptoms of a hot time in the old town. The soggy banana peel that usually flattens itself on the sidewalk, waiting to be revenged on the owner of the first foot that steps on it, curled up like a withered leaf and was blown away. There was a notable scarcity of dogs at the streets. The canines staid at home and lolled in their door yards. Nine men out of every ten seen walking in the streets carried their coats on their arms, and their hats in one hand while with the other they mopped their perspiring brows. Paraisols and fans were in constant view. The heat waves were so visible carried out on the asphalt pavements. The street cars were liberally patronized. Men and women could be seen standing in open doorways, leaning out of windows, and employing various other devices to court the fickle breeze. Everything wore a wilted look.

Thermometers received a large share of attention, and those who studied the tubes between the hours of 3 and 4 in the afternoon discovered that they were enjoying life in a temperature varying from 85 to 105 degrees above zero. It all depended upon the location and susceptibility of the thermometer.

Forfeiting sights of the streets were among the visible evidences to a man up a tree that a hot day had arrived. But the people had other visible evidence, that it was the warmest proposition of the year 1897. For the record of the signal service bureau is appealed to in the hope that it will show the people really moved about in the result will be disappointing. Observer Lyons' thermometer is a cold and conservative affair, not in sympathy with perspiring mortals 100 feet beneath it. While many reliable and respectable thermometers on earth informed sweltering humans that the thermometer was a hot air bath to the tune of 93 degrees in the shade—one well-known thermometer said 102 degrees—that government apparatus at the Champlin office of Commerce declared that the highest temperature reached was only 94 degrees. But when Mr. Lyons admits that it was 94 degrees in the shade, he is the person who means they are getting a brand of weather from 8 to 10 degrees hotter.

A visit to some of the leading thermometers in the downtown district was made yesterday afternoon, and this is what they had to say for themselves.

The big thermometer on the north side of the Windsor hotel, out of reach of the sun's rays, registered 98 degrees shortly before 4 p. m.

The thermometer at Hall's drug store across the street, was a little more susceptible, though likewise in the shade, as it registered 102 degrees. The thermometer at the corner drug store recorded 97 degrees, that at G. W. Dayton's cigar store at the market house, did not rise above 95 degrees, while that at George J. Mitsch's drug store was just as conservative as the instrument that Mr. Lyons swears by, for it never rose a hair above 94 degrees. The California Wine house thermometer recorded 97 degrees at 4 p. m., and that at the Ryan drug store could not be persuaded to go higher than 95 degrees.

But give a thermometer the same chance as the people have to get under the sun's rays, and you will then learn how hot it really is. The true story of yesterday's furnace-like heat was told by a brave thermometer located on the corner of Fourth and Rosabel streets, directly in the sun's broiling beams, which informed the passer by that on that corner between 3:45 and 4:15 p. m., the temperature was 118 degrees above zero. And it was.

A remarkable feature of yesterday's heat, was its tenacity after sundown. Instead of following that orb's example and going down to a proper level, the mercury lingered affectionately near the top of the tube, hovered around the 93, 92, 91 and 90 marks until 9:30 p. m., when it reluctantly dropped a point. At 10 p. m. it went down another notch, and half an hour later one more.

IS IT WILLIAM FENTON?

Fenced the Anti-Masonic Advocate Is Dead in Iowa.

Albert L. Smith, a paperhanger at 275 East Seventh street, informed the local police department last evening that he thought he had seen a man who looked like William Fenton, of this city. The dead man found at Cedar Lake on Wednesday was that of Rev. William Fenton, of this city. The dead man found at Cedar Lake was about sixty years old, had gray hair and beard, and was partially bald. He had been seen wandering aimlessly about the city for some time. The description and the fact that Mr. Smith says he saw him in the city, led him to believe that the body is that of his friend. He says he sent Mr. Fenton a sum of money from him since. Fenton was a familiar figure about the streets of St. Paul, and near the market house sheds against Masonic orders. He has no relatives in St. Paul, and he has no known address.

He Lugged at Central.

E. B. Rollins, the proprietor of a drug store at West Seventh and Sherman streets, was arrested by Officer Gault last night on the charge of lugging. He was found in a state of unconsciousness and was taken to the city hospital. He is now in the city hospital.

Sample of Missouri Justice.

To the Editor of the Globe.

Anent the great cry made to pardon the Younger brothers from state prison, I am glad to see that the Missouri people of Missouri comes with ill grace. If any man deserves to be in prison, it is the man who has committed a crime. Does this state owe any courtesy to a man who has committed a crime? Respectfully, G. F. Umland.

Anheuser-Busch's Malt-Nutrine

Is the ideal flesh-builder; pure, palatable and invigorating. Invaluable to nursing mothers. At all druggists.

Zinc Wall Paper.

"Zinc wall paper" is the latest oddity. The zinc is attached to the wall by a cement invented for the purpose. It is made to render it permanent and washable. It is claimed for this wall paper that it is as permanent as marble, and is much cheaper, and can be as easily put on as ordinary wallpaper.

HOT, HUMID, HORRID

THAT IS THE COMPARISON OF THE MOST MODERN METEOROLOGICAL EPITHETS.

YESTERDAY WAS THE WORST.

EVEN THE STAIR SIGNAL SERVICE MERCURY CRAWLED UP TO 94.

DRUG STORE HEAT MEASURES

Did Not Hesitate at All to Go Up Into the Three Figure Periods.

It was too hot to speak about yesterday. So hot indeed that the "is-it-true-enough-for-you" fender sized up his man before venturing to propound thermometers have been sporting themselves in the 80's and 90's so continuously for the past two weeks that the people are becoming seasoned as it were by the baking process, and no longer complain of a hot summer's day with a modest temperature of 90 degrees in the shade. But yesterday—well that was more than a hot summer's day. The superlative degree of heat that descended upon us was a milder, a scorcher, a regular old sizzler. In vain did the breezes blow—and there was a lively breeze all day—and they brought no relief. Every object inanimate and animate gave its characteristic symptoms of a hot time in the old town. The soggy banana peel that usually flattens itself on the sidewalk, waiting to be revenged on the owner of the first foot that steps on it, curled up like a withered leaf and was blown away. There was a notable scarcity of dogs at the streets. The canines staid at home and lolled in their door yards. Nine men out of every ten seen walking in the streets carried their coats on their arms, and their hats in one hand while with the other they mopped their perspiring brows. Paraisols and fans were in constant view. The heat waves were so visible carried out on the asphalt pavements. The street cars were liberally patronized. Men and women could be seen standing in open doorways, leaning out of windows, and employing various other devices to court the fickle breeze. Everything wore a wilted look.

Thermometers received a large share of attention, and those who studied the tubes between the hours of 3 and 4 in the afternoon discovered that they were enjoying life in a temperature varying from 85 to 105 degrees above zero. It all depended upon the location and susceptibility of the thermometer.

Forfeiting sights of the streets were among the visible evidences to a man up a tree that a hot day had arrived. But the people had other visible evidence, that it was the warmest proposition of the year 1897. For the record of the signal service bureau is appealed to in the hope that it will show the people really moved about in the result will be disappointing. Observer Lyons' thermometer is a cold and conservative affair, not in sympathy with perspiring mortals 100 feet beneath it. While many reliable and respectable thermometers on earth informed sweltering humans that the thermometer was a hot air bath to the tune of 93 degrees in the shade—one well-known thermometer said 102 degrees—that government apparatus at the Champlin office of Commerce declared that the highest temperature reached was only 94 degrees. But when Mr. Lyons admits that it was 94 degrees in the shade, he is the person who means they are getting a brand of weather from 8 to 10 degrees hotter.

A visit to some of the leading thermometers in the downtown district was made yesterday afternoon, and this is what they had to say for themselves.

The big thermometer on the north side of the Windsor hotel, out of reach of the sun's rays, registered 98 degrees shortly before 4 p. m.

The thermometer at Hall's drug store across the street, was a little more susceptible, though likewise in the shade, as it registered 102 degrees. The thermometer at the corner drug store recorded 97 degrees, that at G. W. Dayton's cigar store at the market house, did not rise above 95 degrees, while that at George J. Mitsch's drug store was just as conservative as the instrument that Mr. Lyons swears by, for it never rose a hair above 94 degrees. The California Wine house thermometer recorded 97 degrees at 4 p. m., and that at the Ryan drug store could not be persuaded to go higher than 95 degrees.

But give a thermometer the same chance as the people have to get under the sun's rays, and you will then learn how hot it really is. The true story of yesterday's furnace-like heat was told by a brave thermometer located on the corner of Fourth and Rosabel streets, directly in the sun's broiling beams, which informed the passer by that on that corner between 3:45 and 4:15 p. m., the temperature was 118 degrees above zero. And it was.

A remarkable feature of yesterday's heat, was its tenacity after sundown. Instead of following that orb's example and going down to a proper level, the mercury lingered affectionately near the top of the tube, hovered around the 93, 92, 91 and 90 marks until 9:30 p. m., when it reluctantly dropped a point. At 10 p. m. it went down another notch, and half an hour later one more.

A TRYING MOMENT.

Henry Feig—Believes the sentiment through the Globe is against granting a pardon to the Younger brothers. A petition would be readily filed with signatures of responsible citizens who do not believe the men should be given their liberty.

George W. Dayton—thinks it only proper that the Younger brothers should be pardoned. They have already served much longer than the average term of imprisonment of a man sentenced for life, and they have been exemplary prisoners during the entire twenty-one years.

Behind the Times.

George L. Ticknor, who has seen little of civilization for twenty years, came down from the mountains of the West to spend the day to learn who had been elected president last November. After being told he returned to his cabin and was told that the man who had been elected president was James Buchanan. He returned to his cabin and was told that the man who had been elected president was James Buchanan.

Division of Labor.

In Great Britain the number of persons engaged in agriculture is 2,551,000; in manufacturing, 5,180,000; in commerce, 7,985,000.

Blood in the Body.

An adult has about twenty-eight pounds of blood, and ten ounces are sent through the arteries to each pulsation.

JOHN W. JOHNSON'S

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

ELKS DAY AT THE LAKE

TODAY, FRIDAY, JULY 9TH.

For Complete Tour of LAKE MINNETONKA

Take the Steamer CITY OF ST. LOUIS At WAYZATA in connection with GREAT NORTHERN TRAINS.

Splendid Display of Fireworks in the Evening

At Minnetonka Beach.

AFTERNOON and EVENING CONCERTS

by STRAKA'S ORCHESTRA with Special Programs, and GRAND BALL AT THE LAFAYETTE.

At midnight the thermometer averaged 89 degrees.

The average weather for the past eleven days has been exceedingly hot. During that time the mercury has bobbed from 80 to 90 and 98, and then back again to 80, but at no time has it lost its hold on the situation. Between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. of each day, at every place, since June 27 last, the thermometer has registered 80 degrees or higher. But there is a change coming. P. F. Lyons, the official in charge of the United States weather bureau, informed a Globe reporter yesterday, that he had something new in stock, which he would produce this afternoon or tomorrow morning. Lyons concedes that he has been a trifle severe on the common mortals of the city during the past few days, but says that he will make it all right. From the manner in which he made this statement, it can be inferred that it would not be amiss for citizens to take out their rubber coats and umbrellas. Mr. Lyons says that he will be loose a cold wave, so look out for frost.

FOR WHIST TROPHIES.

Play Continued by the Teams at Put-in-Bay.

PUT-IN-BAY, O., July 8.—Toledo Whist club four made the high score in the second preliminary contest for the A. W. L. challenge trophy which was finished at 1 o'clock this morning. The scores of the first four teams in the contest are now as follows: Albany, 581 tricks; American of Boston, 580; Toledo, 577; Buffalo, 566. In this contest the Toledo team made the highest total trick score will play off in the finals. The race is already narrowed down to Albany, Boston and Toledo. The Toledo team is the favorite. The Hamilton, Minneapolis and St. W. trophies continue, the result of which cannot yet be predicted. The weather is cool and delightful and the congress a pronounced success. It will close late Saturday night.

The result of tonight's play for the A. W. L. challenge trophy has not yet been announced. Albany was in the lead by one trick over American, of Boston, and four ahead of Toledo. Toledo leads by one trick over American, of Boston, and four ahead of Dayton. It is five tricks ahead of Dayton, 11 ahead of Toledo Yacht club. The Toledo team is the favorite. The Hamilton, Minneapolis and St. W. trophies continue, the result of which cannot yet be predicted. The weather is cool and delightful and the congress a pronounced success. It will close late Saturday night.

FOOD PRODUCTS IN WAR TIMES.

A member of the British house of commons has introduced a bill to regulate the immediate and very serious interest for the country if the European war that is always being talked of should actually occur, says the Hartford Courant. It has already been proposed on the continent that the government should declare a state of war against the United States. The primary effect of this bill would be to place Great Britain at a tremendous disadvantage. It would mean that the United States would be unable to export food to the value of $75,000,000 a year. The bill would also prohibit the export of quarters a year and produce only 5,000,000. The stock on hand is never more than three months' supply, and sometimes no more than one, so that, making food contraband, would be quite likely to result in a bread famine within a very short time.

Of the vast quantity of food imported the United States furnishes about $200,000,000 worth. If for shipped to Great Britain, it would be recognized by the contending powers as contraband of war or trade would suffer immensely. Insurance of cargoes might easily rise to a point which would stop shipping. Of the further effects it is unnecessary to speculate at present, but it is evident that the proposition to declare food products contraband has a vital interest for us, as very large shippers of such supplies. Mr. Weston Kerr, the author of the North American article, suggests that in no event would this country join in recognizing the proposed addition to international law and in this he is doubtless correct.

For England the proposition is so threatening that Seton Kerr has introduced in the house of commons a resolution, since adopted, which declares the situation demands "the serious attention of her majesty's government." Great Britain cannot consent to the proposed change, nor can she prevent its adoption by the continental powers if they choose to take such action, which indeed will give them possible advantages great enough to account for it.

The plan has received from some of them, notably France. The gravity of the situation is further indicated by a proposition which is said to be favorably considered in England, for creating there a government reserve of wheat sufficient to last at least six months. Government authorities are believed to be giving this project serious attention. If it is undertaken there will be a large new demand for American wheat. Perhaps that is all that will come of it, and this is gratifying to those who do not favor granting a pardon.

Henry Feig—Believes the sentiment through the Globe is against granting a pardon to the Younger brothers.

A petition would be readily filed with signatures of responsible citizens who do not believe the men should be given their liberty.

George W. Dayton—thinks it only proper that the Younger brothers should be pardoned.

They have already served much longer than the average term of imprisonment of a man sentenced for life, and they have been exemplary prisoners during the entire twenty-one years.

Behind the Times.

George L. Ticknor, who has seen little of civilization for twenty years, came down from the mountains of the West to spend the day to learn who had been elected president last November. After being told he returned to his cabin and was told that the man who had been elected president was James Buchanan. He returned to his cabin and was told that the man who had been elected president was James Buchanan.

Division of Labor.

In Great Britain the number of persons engaged in agriculture is 2,551,000; in manufacturing, 5,180,000; in commerce, 7,985,000.

Blood in the Body.

An adult has about twenty-eight pounds of blood, and ten ounces are sent through the arteries to each pulsation.

JOHN W. JOHNSON'S

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

AVOID SUBSTITUTES

JOHN W. JOHNSON'S

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.

For purity, and for improvement of the complexion nothing equals Pozzoni's Poppa.