

STEAMSHIPS NORTH WEST AND NORTH LAND.

The Globe's guests will make the trip from Duluth to Buffalo and return on one of these inland ocean floating palaces.

The Great Lakes of America.

Finest Fresh Water Trip in the World.

The route between Duluth and Buffalo covers a distance of 1,065 miles, of which 144 are through rivers of international reputation for the beauty of their scenic attractions. These are all navigated by daylight and the tourist enjoys unsurpassed opportunities of seeing from the deck of these superb ships a wonderful panorama of ever-changing beauty. The ships touch between the terminals of the route at Sault Ste. Marie, Mackinac Island, Detroit and Cleveland.

The "NORTH WEST" and "NORTH LAND" are unsurpassed by anything afloat. The construction of these high-speed, twin-screw steamships has been planned and carried out with a view of making them not only the most modern and luxurious, but also the strongest and safest conveyances on fresh water.

The ships leave Duluth Tuesdays and Saturdays at 1:30 p. m. in connection with Eastern Minnesota Trains, which leave St. Paul 7:55 a. m.; Minneapolis 8:20 a. m.; making close connection. Trains also leave St. Paul 11:15 p. m. and Minneapolis 11:50 p. m., arriving at Duluth next morning, giving passengers a half day viewing sights at the head of the lake before departure of steamship.

"The Maid of the Mist."

One of the most interesting days of the vacation journey of the Globe's guests will be spent at Niagara Falls. The party will board the staunch little steamer "Maid of the Mist," don rubber garments, and make one of the most exciting and fascinating yet perfectly safe steamer rides known. The little boat runs out into the river, pitches and tosses about in the troubled waters and goes on and on toward the falls until from the shores it fades away in the mist. The ride on the "Maid of the Mist" is one of the things that makes a lasting impression on those who take it. Above the Falls, they will visit Goat Island and watch the ever-rushing torrents pass swiftly by and plunge to the depths below.
