

MINNEAPOLIS.

OFFICE 65 SOUTH FOURTH STREET.

MINNEAPOLIS GLOBES.

The theological department of Augsburg seminary will open for another year's work on Wednesday.

The Minneapolis item, which for the past two years has been published by J. W. Sheppard, has passed into the hands of H. H. Frazer and Harold Gray.

Judge Russell signed an order allowing the receiver of the bank of Minneapolis to pay the preferred claim of the state of Minnesota with interest.

The John Ericsson monument fund has received $2 in contributions from various sources throughout the state.

Special Pension Examiner George M. Russell was in the federal building at Mankato, Minn., on Monday.

The winter schedule for closing has been resumed in the schools.

William J. Harrison and Joseph Hanson, elders of the Mormon church, who have been laboring in Minneapolis as missionaries, are still keeping up their services and are holding evening street meetings.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

The grand jury will report this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Elliott.

Instructions for the grand jury will be given by Judge Elliott.

HEUR FOR RANSOM

SENSATIONAL STORY, A SEQUEL TO DISAPPEARANCE OF A MILL CITY GIRL.

A PRISONER IN CHICAGO.

MOTHER OF MISS RUTHERFORD MAKES DENIAL OF THE WHOLE AFFAIR.

CLOSE OF MILL CITY CARNIVAL.

Charter Commission Makes Perceptible Progress in Its Work—Minneapolis News.

The Chicago Record of yesterday prints a sensational story as a sequel to the disappearance last May of Miss Fanny Rutherford, of Minneapolis.

Miss Fanny Rutherford, an heiress, of Minneapolis, is missing, and is thought to be in Chicago.

She disappeared from her home May 8, and that time the police, aided by private detectives, have searched for her.

From what the police have been able to learn they declare that she is being kept in confinement by J. A. Morris, the alleged forger, who escaped from the Cook county jail in June, 1896.

She was arrested under the name of J. A. Thurman in Memphis, Tenn., and who easily escaped from the Southern jail.

Miss Rutherford and her mother, who traveled to South St. Paul, met Morris aboard one of the steamers plying on the Mississippi river.

Morris made a good impression, and for several days they were his constant companions.

They returned to Memphis, where Morris returned home during the latter part of March.

Miss Rutherford was wealthy and that her home was in Minneapolis.

Her mother, an older daughter, returned home during the latter part of March.

She was arrested under the name of J. A. Thurman in Memphis, Tenn., and who easily escaped from the Southern jail.

Miss Rutherford and her mother, who traveled to South St. Paul, met Morris aboard one of the steamers plying on the Mississippi river.

Morris made a good impression, and for several days they were his constant companions.

They returned to Memphis, where Morris returned home during the latter part of March.

Miss Rutherford was wealthy and that her home was in Minneapolis.

Her mother, an older daughter, returned home during the latter part of March.

She was arrested under the name of J. A. Thurman in Memphis, Tenn., and who easily escaped from the Southern jail.

Miss Rutherford and her mother, who traveled to South St. Paul, met Morris aboard one of the steamers plying on the Mississippi river.

Morris made a good impression, and for several days they were his constant companions.

They returned to Memphis, where Morris returned home during the latter part of March.

Miss Rutherford was wealthy and that her home was in Minneapolis.

Her mother, an older daughter, returned home during the latter part of March.

She was arrested under the name of J. A. Thurman in Memphis, Tenn., and who easily escaped from the Southern jail.

Miss Rutherford and her mother, who traveled to South St. Paul, met Morris aboard one of the steamers plying on the Mississippi river.

Morris made a good impression, and for several days they were his constant companions.

They returned to Memphis, where Morris returned home during the latter part of March.

Miss Rutherford was wealthy and that her home was in Minneapolis.

Her mother, an older daughter, returned home during the latter part of March.

She was arrested under the name of J. A. Thurman in Memphis, Tenn., and who easily escaped from the Southern jail.

Miss Rutherford and her mother, who traveled to South St. Paul, met Morris aboard one of the steamers plying on the Mississippi river.

Morris made a good impression, and for several days they were his constant companions.

They returned to Memphis, where Morris returned home during the latter part of March.

Miss Rutherford was wealthy and that her home was in Minneapolis.

Her mother, an older daughter, returned home during the latter part of March.

She was arrested under the name of J. A. Thurman in Memphis, Tenn., and who easily escaped from the Southern jail.

Miss Rutherford and her mother, who traveled to South St. Paul, met Morris aboard one of the steamers plying on the Mississippi river.

Morris made a good impression, and for several days they were his constant companions.

They returned to Memphis, where Morris returned home during the latter part of March.

Miss Rutherford was wealthy and that her home was in Minneapolis.

Her mother, an older daughter, returned home during the latter part of March.

She was arrested under the name of J. A. Thurman in Memphis, Tenn., and who easily escaped from the Southern jail.

Miss Rutherford and her mother, who traveled to South St. Paul, met Morris aboard one of the steamers plying on the Mississippi river.

WAR ON AT HARRIET.

Sutherland Matter Is Bothering the Park Board.

Temporary truce conditions have been brought about in the notorious Park Board-Sutherland matter, and all parties are being urged to be ready, however, to renew the fight at a moment's notice.

This simply adds a new chapter to the case as old as the hills. Some years ago Peter Sutherland conveyed to the park board certain lands on the south shore of Lake Harriet, reserving certain rights.

Subsequently Mr. Sutherland conveyed his holdings to his son, who, however, claimed to have "vested rights."

One of these was to build boat and bath houses at the lake, with certain rights.

These rights he endeavored to sell to the board a couple of years ago, but, as a disagreement arose between him and Frank Thornton, the present owner, what was to be done with the proceeds of the sale was declared off.

This summer Mr. Sutherland offered to sell his rights to the board for $2,700, he claiming that the board had been wronged.

The board did not consider his rights as worth anything, and declined the offer.

At the last meeting of the board Mr. Sutherland intended to avail himself of his rights, and would build the houses.

Wednesday evening Mr. Sutherland was arrested for trespassing on the boulevard at Lake Harriet.

Trespassing was committed by a load of lumber being hauled over the road, the lumber to be used in building a house.

Yesterday morning Mr. Sutherland appeared in the municipal court to answer to the charge of trespassing.

By means of the usual legal procedure the next move to be made will be on the part of the park board, which will ask for an order restraining Mr. Sutherland from building at the lake as contemplated.

MRS. BLIXT SEEKS DIVORCE. She Is Tired of Bondage to a Life Convent.

Ellen Julia Blixt has grown weary of the life of a life convent, and during the present term of court, her action for a divorce against him will be tried.

At the time the prison doors closed upon her, she was more than usually affectionate toward him, and there was no hint of any such action.

A lifetime was quite a span to wait, and she sought the advice of a lawyer and the rooms of a court of justice.

The complaint recites the confession of the husband, and the next general order of the state, in the penitentiary.

While this complaint will be served upon the husband, there will be no answer, as there could be none in the case.

It is thought that the divorce will be granted, and the divorcee will be very easily secured under the circumstances.

TALKED CHARTER AGAIN. A Number of Important Features Decided Upon.

At a meeting of the charter commission last evening, the following features were decided upon: The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

The charter shall be a single document, and shall be a single document, and shall be a single document.

WOODFORD RECEIVED.

Letters Presented by the New Minister to Spain.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Sept. 13.—The retiring United States minister to Spain, Annis O. Taylor, was received here by the queen regent today, and presented his credentials.

Soon afterwards the new United States minister to Spain, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, was received by her majesty and presented his credentials.

Woodford transmitted to her majesty the following letter from President McKinley:

William McKinley, president of the United States, to Her Majesty, Queen Christina, Queen Regent of Spain.

Great and Good Friend—I have chosen Stewart Woodford, one of our distinguished citizens, to reside near the government of your majesty in the quality of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States.

He is well informed on the subjects of the interests of the two countries, and our sincere desire to cultivate and maintain the friendship so long existing between the governments.

My knowledge of his high qualities and talent fits me with entire confidence that he will be able to develop the interests and prosperity of the government of your majesty, and to secure the best results of your friendship.

It is my earnest wish that your majesty be good enough to receive him favorably and to place confidence in him as my representative in the government of your majesty.

I am, Sir, with the most respectful assurances of my affection and loyalty, your obedient servant, Wm. McKinley.

Washington, June 30, 1897.

From your majesty's good friend, Stewart Woodford.

WOODFORD RECEIVED. Letters Presented by the New Minister to Spain.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Sept. 13.—The retiring United States minister to Spain, Annis O. Taylor, was received here by the queen regent today, and presented his credentials.

Soon afterwards the new United States minister to Spain, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, was received by her majesty and presented his credentials.

Woodford transmitted to her majesty the following letter from President McKinley:

William McKinley, president of the United States, to Her Majesty, Queen Christina, Queen Regent of Spain.

Great and Good Friend—I have chosen Stewart Woodford, one of our distinguished citizens, to reside near the government of your majesty in the quality of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States.

He is well informed on the subjects of the interests of the two countries, and our sincere desire to cultivate and maintain the friendship so long existing between the governments.

My knowledge of his high qualities and talent fits me with entire confidence that he will be able to develop the interests and prosperity of the government of your majesty, and to secure the best results of your friendship.

It is my earnest wish that your majesty be good enough to receive him favorably and to place confidence in him as my representative in the government of your majesty.

I am, Sir, with the most respectful assurances of my affection and loyalty, your obedient servant, Wm. McKinley.

Washington, June 30, 1897.

From your majesty's good friend, Stewart Woodford.

WOODFORD RECEIVED. Letters Presented by the New Minister to Spain.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Sept. 13.—The retiring United States minister to Spain, Annis O. Taylor, was received here by the queen regent today, and presented his credentials.

Soon afterwards the new United States minister to Spain, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, was received by her majesty and presented his credentials.

Woodford transmitted to her majesty the following letter from President McKinley:

William McKinley, president of the United States, to Her Majesty, Queen Christina, Queen Regent of Spain.

Great and Good Friend—I have chosen Stewart Woodford, one of our distinguished citizens, to reside near the government of your majesty in the quality of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States.

He is well informed on the subjects of the interests of the two countries, and our sincere desire to cultivate and maintain the friendship so long existing between the governments.

My knowledge of his high qualities and talent fits me with entire confidence that he will be able to develop the interests and prosperity of the government of your majesty, and to secure the best results of your friendship.

It is my earnest wish that your majesty be good enough to receive him favorably and to place confidence in him as my representative in the government of your majesty.

I am, Sir, with the most respectful assurances of my affection and loyalty, your obedient servant, Wm. McKinley.

Washington, June 30, 1897.

From your majesty's good friend, Stewart Woodford.

WOODFORD RECEIVED. Letters Presented by the New Minister to Spain.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Sept. 13.—The retiring United States minister to Spain, Annis O. Taylor, was received here by the queen regent today, and presented his credentials.

Soon afterwards the new United States minister to Spain, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, was received by her majesty and presented his credentials.

Woodford transmitted to her majesty the following letter from President McKinley:

William McKinley, president of the United States, to Her Majesty, Queen Christina, Queen Regent of Spain.

Great and Good Friend—I have chosen Stewart Woodford, one of our distinguished citizens, to reside near the government of your majesty in the quality of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States.

He is well informed on the subjects of the interests of the two countries, and our sincere desire to cultivate and maintain the friendship so long existing between the governments.

My knowledge of his high qualities and talent fits me with entire confidence that he will be able to develop the interests and prosperity of the government of your majesty, and to secure the best results of your friendship.

It is my earnest wish that your majesty be good enough to receive him favorably and to place confidence in him as my representative in the government of your majesty.

I am, Sir, with the most respectful assurances of my affection and loyalty, your obedient servant, Wm. McKinley.

Washington, June 30, 1897.

EMMA HAAS IN JAIL.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—Emma Haas, the miners' Joan of Arc, and three other women were arrested for striking the Plunk Creek strikers.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.

The present high prices would ordinarily tend to encourage the sowing of an increased breadth in India, should the weather be favorable this fall; but any inclination on the part of the poorer cultivators to take advantage of such favorable conditions will probably be checked by the present state of impoverished conditions.