Barbers in a Scrape.

Three Are Arrested for Working Without Licenses.

M. E. Murray, secretary of the state board of examiners, appointed under the new law for the licensing of barbers, returned last night from Marquette, where the board has been examining candidates for licenses. Seven were granted certificates. The commissioners also secured warrants for the arrest of Christ Amold, William Fitchow and Henry Ulman, on the charge of practicing barbering without first securing the licenses required by the new law. The prisoners defy the law, which they claim is unconstitutional, and the cases will come up before Judge Schussler for trial Thursday next.

Building and Loan Associations Straighten Things Up.

E. I. Kidd, bank examiner of Wisconsin, was in the city yesterday, visiting Public Examiner Kenyon, of Minnesota, with whom he had considerable correspondence relative to the building and loan associations of this state, some of which have been giving the Wisconsin man trouble. All the difficulties, however, have now been satisfactorily adjusted, and Mr. Kidd returns to the Wisconsin capital with the satisfaction that his mission was successful.

THE ALLEN ESTATE

APPLICATION OF ELIZABETH A. SANBORN FOR LETTERS TO BE CONTESTED.

STORY OF SOME INTEREST.

THE CONTESTEES ALLEGE THERE WAS A WILL WHICH HAS DISAPPEARED.

ITS PROVISIONS ARE OUTLINED.

Court Will Be Asked to Recognize the Alleged Copy and Appoint an Administrator.

When the application of Mrs. Edith A. Sanborn for letters of administration of the estate of the late Mrs. Julia M. Allen comes up for hearing in the probate court, it will be contested. Mrs. Sanborn was a niece of the deceased on her mother's side of the family, and on July 31 last she applied for letters of administration setting out that her aunt died intestate; that she left no will and that as the only surviving heir of her aunt, but one, who was incapacitated to transact business, upon her devolved the duty to administer the estate.

Behind the contest there is a story of unusual interest in that it affects a number of people and two benevolent or religious associations who claim to be devisees under a last will and testament of Mrs. Allen. The estate is valued at about $40,000, and the allegation is set up that Mrs. Sanborn is attempting to gain possession of the whole of it through fraud; that the last and unrevoked will and testament of the deceased is destroyed for the furtherance of the alleged conspiracy, and they ask that the will and a codicil attached to it, which they claim to have existed, be established in court.

In this alleged will Mrs. Sanborn is named as executrix, but it is also sought to deprive her of that honor. Julia Allen looked to her husband by the entire estate over which the contest is now being made. The couple were aged and they resided on St. Anthony hill. Mr. Allen died shortly before his widow passed away. Had he not left a will a share of his property would have gone to relatives who reside in New York state and who are mentioned as devisees under the alleged bequests of Mrs. Allen, as the couple had no children. But he left a will and this kept the New York heirs out as beneficiaries. The claim set up by Mrs. Sanborn that her aunt died intestate, if established, will make herself and an aunt equal heirs to the estate, so this is why the beneficiaries under the alleged will, together with the fact that two associations will be cut off from endowments, are contesting the appointment of Mrs. Sanborn as administratrix.

The petition in the contest was filed by the Young Women's Friendly association as one of the devisees under the alleged will and codicil of the deceased. Petitioner sets forth that Mrs. Allen was, at the time of her death, a resident of St. Paul, and that she died July 25 last, leaving both real estate and personal property in Ramsey county. It is alleged that on July 22, prior to her death, Mrs. Allen made her last will and testament in writing in the presence of two competent witnesses, and then on June 30 following she declared a codicil to the document. Here the petition contains the alleged will. It first provides for the heirs of her husband, whose names are Taylor, Unto I. B. A. Taylor, of Middleton, N. Y., his second wife, and the children, and that gentleman's two sons, Gordon and Allen Taylor, is given in cash $5,000 each.

"To make this bequest," reads the document, "largely because of the request of my husband so to do, though somewhat larger in amount than has been requested."

To Mrs. Edith A. Sanborn, the niece, who resided with the deceased for some time prior to her death, the will gives $5,000, and to Sherman Chamberlain, of St. Paul, $5,000 in cash, and to the complying request that he expend at least a portion of this sum in the purchase of a law library to be used by him in the practice of his profession.

One thousand dollars is bequeathed to Whitman college at Washington, D. C., and to Mrs. Sanborn is given an additional $5,000 in trust. This money is to be securely invested in interest-bearing securities, and the income therefrom shall be expended "to provide for the education of the children, and to my sister, Nancy A. Adams, at present confined in the asylum for the insane at Binghamton, N. Y." In this connection the document reads as follows: "While the children have been sending to my sister, in care of the authorities of the asylum, certain contributions, which were intended to add to her comfort as much as possible, and it is with a view of continuing these contributions that I make this bequest." Upon the death of this sister, it is bequeathed to the principle of the $5,000, together with interest accretions, shall be equally divided among Mr. Taylor, his sons, Mrs. Sanborn and Julia Adams, wife of C. D. Adams, of St. Paul.

Adams is appointed as executor with full power to handle the estate without any bond, and the residue and remainder of the property is divided equally among the heirs mentioned in the foregoing.

The codicil, which is appended, gives to the executor $3,000 in trust, to pay to the person who shall act as treasurer of the Congregational Home Missionary society, organized in New York state in 1826, and to be applied for missionary work. To the Young Women's Friendly association is bequeathed $1,000 to be "applied to the uses and purposes of said association." These legacies shall be paid in full, and after the payment of the money legacies set forth in the last will and testament, etc., the residue property shall be divided as already prescribed. A trust fund of $1,000 with interest, is also provided for, and this ends the will.

The petition sets forth that the probable value of the personal estate of the deceased is about $30,000, and that the probable value of the real estate is $30,000, and that the executor named in the will is not a proper or suitable person to act as such executor." The petitioner says that the will or codicil, are still in full force and effect, and the association is informed and believes that the instrument cannot be produced, and that it has been lost or destroyed.

Attorney Pierce Butler has filed an affidavit in the case, which states the facts of the petition to be true and also shows that he has been retained as counsel for the Taylors, Whitman college and the Young Women's Friendly association to contest the application of Mrs. Sanborn. He alleges that Mrs. Sanborn is unfriendly to the devisees' interests, and that she has audaciously hid away or destroyed, the last will and testament and codicil left by Mrs. Allen.

It will be shown at the hearing that Mrs. Sanborn and the insane sister at Binghamton, are the only surviving direct heirs of Mrs. Allen; that prior to and at the time of the latter's death, Mrs. Sanborn resided with the deceased. It will be attempted to be shown that the will in evidence, left a certain attorney's office in the city three days before Mrs. Allen died, also who is responsible for its disappearance.

DISPUTE OF THE RYANS.

Special Master's Report Stands With One Exception.

In the United States district court yesterday Judge Lochran filed an ordered report on Oct. 1. It will be contested. The Ryan case is between the Ontario Lumber company et al., in which plaintiff demanded an accounting. The court holds that all of the parties to the suit were agreed that the business of the lumber company should be wound up, and the action results from a dispute between the two Ryans over the closing accounting between them. The court finds that in the accounting S. Douglas Ryan will be charged with all sums advanced or paid by the lumber company to the Ryans, and that he is to be held liable for the same, and the report of the special master, O. B. Hillis, of the accounting between the parties, is confirmed in all other respects.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Causes Argued and Submitted—Attorneys Admitted to Practice.

Judge Sanborn presided at yesterday's session of the United States circuit court of appeals, and Judges Thayer and Riner sat with him. Henry B. Spang, of St. Paul, was admitted to practice before the bar of this court.

The United States circuit court for the Southern district of Iowa, was continued by agreement and specially assigned to Judge L. S. Williams, of Springfield. Safe deposit company against the city of Atica, error to the federal circuit court for the district of Kansas, was continued to Dec. 1, by agreement. Arguments were begun in the case of the Western Union Telegraph company against Daisy E. Morris, error to the United States circuit court for the district of Iowa. Court adjourned for the day at noon to attend the funeral of the late Clerk Spencer, of the United States district court.

The number of jury cases is 157, and of court cases 153. This is a total of 310 cases, and the calendar is ready to be printed.

Hasn't Acquired a Residence.

In the probate court yesterday Mary Johnson, a Swedish young woman about twenty-five years of age, was examined and found to be insane. She had no property, and residence in the United States, and has only been in St. Paul six months, so that the court continued the case until next Monday morning. The woman alleged in addition to the criminal work, the volume of which cannot be determined until after the session of the grand jury. The calendar shows about forty more cases than were on the docket of the last term.

Judge Willich Returning Home.

He left the city on the 28th of last month, and will arrive in St. Paul tomorrow morning. Dented Mrs. Smith's Plea.

SHERIFF WAGENER SHOWS HIS PARTIALITY TO THE BUSY LITTLE FELLOW.

"GO AND MARRY THE WOMAN"

WAS THE ADVICE HE GAVE TO ZIGMUND RYBACKI AFTER HEARING HIS TROUBLES.

RIVAL'S PARENTS MADE THREATS.

They Had Come From Wisconsin to See Their Son Married and Want $75 Expense.

A prospective bridegroom called on Sheriff Wagener in his private office at the court house yesterday afternoon for advice. He had just procured a license from Clerk Rogers to marry the girl of his choice and arranged with Acting Judge Gallich, of the probate court, to perform the ceremony this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, and these preliminaries for the important step he was about to take gave him an air of uncertainty and anxiety that indicated misery.

The young man was Zigmund Rybacki, a woodworker, who resides at 934 Geranium street. He showed his license to the sheriff and then plunged into his story. The advice he sought was not whether he should leap into the uncertain meshes of matrimony—because he was satisfied that Josephine Gozdelwicz would be a true and loving wife—but what he should do about a claim which the parents of his rival, Mrs. Gozdelwicz's hand had presented to the sheriff yesterday. It amounted to something like $75, and Rybacki did not feel he could spare the money when such an important event as his marriage was on the tapis. The parents of his rival had threatened that they would have the sheriff stop the wedding, if Rybacki did not settle immediately, and that was why he was so anxious for the official's advice in the matter.

Rybacki's story amused the sheriff, because of the ridiculous complications. The young man's rival, a young man named Miss Gozdelwicz's "steady" for nearly five years, until four months ago, when he suddenly left the city without saying good-bye to her. Time rolled on and she heard nothing from him. Finally her love for him smoldered and Rybacki's image in her heart flared.

One day John Milanowski appeared before him in the form of a wooer, and he declared his love for the fair Polish girl. He called on her at the home of her parents, 736 Jenks street, and there or thereabouts he was engaged to be married. The wedding was set for last Monday evening. Milanowski had determined to do the affair up after the most approved fashion and he had his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Milanowski, who reside in Sturgeon Bay, Wis., to be present. They came to St. Paul three days before the day of the wedding, and they were to be present. She met with their approval in every way until last Sunday, when matters took a disastrous turn for Milanowski by the fact that she was to be married to Rybacki, who would be the bride's old lover, Rybacki. When the young lady saw him, the old love revived in all its original madeness. She said she would go to the altar, and she was to take place, and he asked her to break it off. She consented to do so on condition that he would marry her at once, which he promised to do.

Well, the ceremony in which Milanowski was cast for one of the heavy roles did not take place, and the jilted young man was left to rue the day when he had been put to come along all the way from home to see their son married, more than anything else. They immediately went after their son's success, and they told him that he would be obliged to reimburse them for all the trouble and expense before he could wed the girl. He regarded their demand as a joke, and he refused to do so, and then he set to thinking that probably they could get back at him in this way. When the excited young man came to this point in his story.

"Go to, young man," he said consolingly. "You will not be married. Go marry the girl, and if those old people attempt to interfere with your happiness, send a carriage up after Rybacki's face brightened up after he heard the sheriff's words of protection, and as he left the sheriff's office, he promised to make "everybody about the place" happy today.

MUSIC AND LITERATURE.

Social Diversions of St. Paul Women for Autumn Afternoons.

Mrs. D. F. Colville gave a luncheon yesterday for Mrs. D. F. De Wolf and Miss Grace Bee Whitridge, who will leave for the East in a few days. As the guests were musical in their tastes, artistic menu cards were written in musical terminology. Roses, palms and ferns added to the occasion.

The Current Topic classes, which will begin Nov. 3 for the married women and Nov. 6 for the single girls, will be a novel feature of the literary life of the St. Paul women. The idea originated in the East among the busy society women who were not able to read up on all the important topics of the day and yet were determined to keep informed on the questions of note. To these current topic classes they went once a week, and there listened to a bright lecturer who prepared an epitome of things they wanted to know, but could not find time to look up for themselves. It is a good idea, and the other following Saturday classes have been introduced into their social life. It is to be understood that the current topic classes are not simple current events, so that the subjects presented will not only be political or industrial and those which go to make up the objective history of nations, but they will cover also prominent topics in literature, art and drama. The work is to be done by the leaders of the classes, and they will have only to bring with them their listening wits. Mrs. Marion Lamprey Thienes and Miss M. T. Sturjess were the first to give the classes. The meeting was the first of the season, and was preliminary to the meetings of the club next week.

The board of directors of the Congregational Home Missionary society, President, Mrs. Miss Fletcher; first vice president, Miss Norish; of Hastings; second vice president, Miss Emily Cochran; treasurer, Mrs. L. P. Ordway; secretary, Miss Carpenter; chairman of entertainment committee, Mrs. Charles Clark; chairman of programme committee, Miss Willis, chairman of membership committee, Miss Sturjess; directors, Mrs. Charles Clark, Mrs. A. H. meeting to be held next Thursday will be served and a social hour will follow the programme.

The Ladies' Aid society of Dayton Avenue Presbyterian Church held its regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the church parlors. A new feature introduced into the meetings by the president, Mrs. E. M. Prouty, is the serving of light refreshments and the hour of friendly intercourse after the regular business meeting. The experiment was highly successful, as there were twenty more ladies in attendance yesterday than at the previous meeting. The society is planning to do its share of work this season and to assume a due proportion of the financial burdens of the church.

The Minnesota Women's Home Missionary union will hold its monthly meeting at the church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The gathering will be a celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the society's existence. An interesting programme has been prepared. After the devotional exercises the early history of the society will be given. Minnesota will be given by Mrs. Mira H. Hackett. The six original members, four of whom are still living, will be spoken of by Mrs. E. M. Prouty. Mrs. Elaine Goodale Eastman will read a poem, "The Women of the World." Plans will be read by the former president, Mrs. E. M. Prouty. After the reading of a letter from Mrs. Miss Emily S. Hartwell, of Foo Chow, China, the closing address will be given by Mrs. H. S. Caswell, of New York city.

The St. Luke's Aid society met at the home of Mrs. F. E. Rice yesterday afternoon and began its season's work. The ladies are making arrangements for a fair and lunch to be given in December, hence fancy work of all descriptions is being prepared. After the regular meeting the next meeting will be the home of Mrs. B. E. Hanson, of 543 Burr street, Friday afternoon.

Miss Mabel Wing, of St. Peter street, entertained informally last evening for Miss Mamie Stout.

The board of managers of the Woman's Christian Home had their regular monthly meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. North street. The complete report of the work done at the state fair was received. The annual meeting will be held at the home, 489 North street, on Oct. 13, on which day also there will be a reception for the friends of the home from 11 to 5 o'clock. A receiving committee will be the executive board.

The central committee of the Christian Endeavor societies met in the parlors of the church yesterday evening. The ladies adopted a plan of conference somewhat different from that hitherto followed. Instead of the regular meetings of the societies, the central committee there will be "table conferences," meaning thereby that the societies will be given after the formal business matters of the committee have been transacted. After the business meeting last evening, Mr. Miller sang and recited for the audience. Mrs. Minor also recited. The meeting was a handsome bust of Abraham Lincoln will be presented to the court.

Miss Sylvester, of Berlin, Germany, who has been the guest of Mrs. Brann, of St. Peter street, will spend the winter with her mother, Mrs. Horace Winchel, and attend the state university.

Miss Liela Bred, who has been visiting her mother in Illinois, will return from Chicago to St. Paul tomorrow morning.

Mrs. C. W. Hamilton, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. John A. Abbott, of St. Paul, were the guests of Mrs. C. W. Hamilton, of St. Paul, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. W. L. Johnson, of Cedar Rapids, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Humbird, of Dayton street.

Miss Browne, who is the guest of Miss Kalkan, of Summit avenue, will return to Chicago Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fischer, of Waterloo, Wis., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Waters, of St. Anthony avenue.

C. B. Shaw and son, of Paris, Ill., and C. M. Scheffer, of San Francisco, are at the Metropolitan.

Mrs. G. E. Klinkerfues are returned from Mahomed and are at the Hiawatha.

Mrs. Joseph Gilliam, of White Earth reservation, is spending a few days in the city.

Miss Moon, who has been the guest of Mrs. Trevor McCarry, has returned to Duluth.

Mrs. M. and Mrs. H. Tapping, of Summit avenue, returned from Portland, Or.

Mrs. John Finney and Mrs. Orin T. Parker, of Goodhue, were in the city Thursday.

Mrs. M. and Mrs. E. French, of the Albion, will return Monday from Chicago City.

The Ramsey County W. C. T. U. will meet in St. Paul Commons this afternoon. Assemblyman Daily and wife left Tuesday evening for the East.

PROBLEM OF GARBAGE.

Council Committee is Still Struggling With it.

The special joint committee appointed to prepare specifications governing the collection and removal of garbage during the coming year held a brief session yesterday afternoon. Assemblyman Daily, chairman, and Aldermen Donahower and Kenny were present, the remaining members of the committee falling to attend. In consequence of the large number of bills taken and the committee adjourned until a week from next Monday night.

Assemblyman Johnson, who is the chairman of the joint committee, announced that he was in favor of the council passing a resolution recommending to the conference committee that it insert an item of $20,000 in the next budget for the purpose of purchasing and establishing a crematory in this city. Mr. Johnson further declared that he was not in favor of letting the city contract for the disposal of the garbage. Rather than do that Mr. Johnson thought it would be wiser to license scavengers to collect garbage and let the people pay for the removal of their own garbage and thus save the city $10,000 or $15,000 a year.

N. P. TRAIN ROBBERY.

Detectives Have a Clue That They Think Promises Well.

From advices received in St. Paul yesterday from the spot where the Northern Pacific coast train was held up on the morning of Sept. 26, it would appear that the operatives who are working on the case have secured what they consider a good lead, and one which may result in the apprehension of the bandits at no very distant date. The report made by John Helton, foreman of train No. 43, at Moorhead would seem to show that three men, whom he saw and talked to near his section on Friday night preceding the hold-up, may have had some connection with the deed. His report is that on Friday, while he and his men were at lunch between Glyndon and Moorhead, three men whose names are given as Paul Laps, Henry Kerns and Rasmus Larson, passed on their way from Moorhead to Glyndon. Helton noticed them, and when he saw them at 5 o'clock at Glyndon he recognized them as being the same men from the hold-up. Helton overheard the men on the Glyndon platform talk of escapades and experiences in Frisco and other places in the West. The third man, of medium stature, had little to say. Just before the arrival from St. Paul of train No. 5, due at Glyndon at 5:50 Friday, the tall and short men, whom Helton recognized as being the same men from the hold-up, were seen to board the train. Helton saw them board the train and the middle-sized man disappeared from view. Now the description which can be secured from trial officials and
