DINGELISM VS. THE OLD SOLDIER.

While the little fellows in the woods are still mouthing denunciations of those who dare intimate that the pension system is wrong and must be reformed, the larger fellows of their ilk are seriously discussing what they now term a problem, and are plainly intimating that the thing had gone too far and that a retreat must be sounded.

The sober fact is that the time has come when protection is working out its logical results. It has fostered industries until they have reached a point where they are sending their surplus to foreign markets, being able to more than supply the home demand.

IT CAN BE STOPPED.

Never at any time in the past has the smoke nuisance reached the proportions that it now enjoys in St. Paul. There has never been a winter when personal cleanliness was as impossible as in this. The omnipresent soot poured forth from our chimneys filters through windows, finds every aperture and crevice, sits over the desk and office furniture, deposits itself over and between files of papers and documents and descends like a visitation from the infernal regions upon every person who ventures out of doors.

demand that either protection or pensions be reduced. A party that declared in 1883 that it would sacrifice the entire internal revenue system rather than abate one jot or tittle of protection will not hesitate to choose between the old soldier and the fat-rendering manufacturer.

A DESPERATE SITUATION.

From whatever point of view it may be regarded, the situation now existing in Cuba is a desperate one. Society, government and public order are practically dissolved. There is nothing there but a desolate country ravaged by contending forces, a few camps of Spanish soldiery unable and perhaps not too willing to venture forth, scattered bands of insurgents animated by a desperate resolve to fight to the death, and hundreds of thousands of wretched people of the island concentrated in the towns and dying of disease and starvation in regiments every day.

The effect in the capital city has been utterly disastrous. It has made the two factions of the people fly at each other's throats. The Cuban-Spaniards, who are more Spanish than the people of Spain themselves, have no sympathy with or toleration for any other policy than that of Weyler. They would probably rather see the insurgents triumph than to have Cuba pass under a form of government which assumes to convey authority to the representatives of the Cuban people themselves.

THE LOWER COURT IN A RECENT CASE.

of the enforcement of the smoke ordinance that this regulation has been held invalid. Nothing could be further from the truth. In the case in question the person held responsible for violation of the ordinance was the engineer of the offending plant. A decision was rendered against him, and the case carried up. The supreme court holds, very properly, that a mere employee cannot be held responsible for offenses against the law by the owner of the property where he is employed, or by the construction of machinery which he simply attends.

THE LOWER COURT IN A RECENT CASE.

There is no reason why, with this regulation accepted and acted upon in some cases, other parties should be allowed to reject and defy it with impunity. All that is needed is that they be brought within the sweep of legal compulsion. It is the duty, of course, of the city officials to enforce this ordinance. It is the business of the police force to watch for violations of it and to take note of the offenders. It is the business of the legal department of the city to institute and carry through proper proceedings for the suppression of the nuisance.

MR. DALZIEL (REP. PA.) INAUGURATED A FILIBUSTER AGAINST THE MEASURE BY WHICH THE FRIENDS OF THE REPORT ON THE BILL, WHICH CONSISTS OF ABOUT 100 PAGES, THE READING OF WHICH WOULD CONSUME SEVERAL HOURS.
