Since the publication of young Wallingford's patriotic expression, numerous congratulatory letters from different parts of the country have been received at the Wallingford home. The last letter to come is a reply from Secretary Long, and is as follows:

My dear little patriotic lad: I have your letter and twenty-four two-cent postage stamps, inclosed with it, with which you have so generously taken from your spending money and given it to your country. There is not so much need for help in building battleships as there is for the relief of the poor sufferers on the Maine. I have therefore given the stamps to Mrs. Ellen Stewart, o. 1315 New Hampshire avenue, Washington, D. Some Matters Waiting on the Outcome of the Maine Investigation -Special Law Providing for Enlistments If Such Action Is Desired by Head of Department.

WASHINGTON, March 2.-Chairman WASHINGTON, March 2.—Chairman Boutelle, of the house committe on naval affairs, has not yet submitted to his committee the letter he received last Friday from Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, asking for the passage of a special act authorizing the enlistment of 1,500 additional men and boys in the navy.

The subcommittee on naval affairs in charge of the regular appropriation bill had already agreed upon an increase of the enlisted men by 1,250, bringing the total of enlisted men up to 13,000.

bringing the total of enlisted men up to 13,000. The sentiment of the house committee is extremely liberal, and Mr. Foss, of Illinois, a member of the committee, said today that if the navy department asked for a special act and that question was officially submitted to the committee he had no doubt that it would receive indorsement by the committee mittee being reviewed and ratified by the full committee. Thus far the subcommittee's action has not been reversed.

The full committee has ratified the action of the subcommittee in recommending an increase of $100,000 for ordnance and ordnance stores, bringing the total appropriation for this item up to $300,000 besides the appropriations of $25,000 for converting six-inch guns into rapid-fire guns, $45,000 for capping armor piercing shells and $50,000 for the manufacture of cartridge-making machinery (the latter appreporiation to go to the ordnance factory). The increase in the number of enlist-ed men recommended by the subcommittee has not yet been considered by the full committee. A significant in-crease voted by the full committee re-lated to the appropriation for the naval militia. Heretofore $55,000 has been carried by the appropriation bill for the militia. A delegation representing the militia was here recently and asked a slight additional appropriation and the committee voted an increase of $10,000, making the total appropriation $60,000.

MONEY FOR POWDER.

The House Will Probably Agree to the Senate Increase.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The present indications are that the senate amendment to the fortifications approent indications are that the senate amendment to the fortifications appropriation bill, in regard to ammunition, will be retained in the bill when completed. The conference between the representatives of the two houses has not yet been held, but there have been some informal meetings of the conferees, at which some of the house members indicated a willingness to allow the increase made by the senate to stand, and at which the senate conferees announced their intention to stand firmly for the increase, because of the strong representations of Gen. Flagler, chief of ordnance, of its necessity.

There appears to be some possibility that some of the house conferees may not be willing to accede to the increase, but the senators express the opinion that, if the bill should go back to the house, that body would concede the increase, and so strongly are they of the opinion that the senate provision will go into the law that they have advised the war department to proceed upon that understanding. The amount carried for this purpose by the senate bill is $950,618, while the house bill carries only $391,000.

ARE YOU TO LIVE IN ALASKA?

Some Requirements That Will Be Found Indispensable.

The universal article of diet in that country, depended upon and indispen-sable, is bread or biscuit. And to make the bread and biscuit, either in the camp or upon the trail, yeast cannot be used—it must be baking powder; and the powder manufactured by the processes of the Royal Baking Powder Company, miners and prospectors have learned, is the only one which will stand in that peculiar climate of cold and dampness and raise the bread and biscuit satisfactorily.

These facts are very important for every one property to get the break leaker.

These facts are very important for every one proposing to go to Alaska and the Yukon country to know, for should he be persuaded by some outfitter to take one of the cheap brands of baking powder, it will cost just as much to transport it, and then when he opens it for use, after all his labor in packing it over the long and difficult route, he will find a solid caked mass or a lot of spoiled powder, with no strength and useless. Such a mistake might lead to the most serious results. Alaska is no place in which to experiment in food, or try to economize with your stomach. For use in such a climate and under the trying and fatiguing conditions of life and labor in that country, everything must be the best and most useful, and above all it is imperative that all food supplies shall have perfect keeping qualities. It is absurd to convey over such difficult and expensive routes an article that will be found when required for use to have lost a great part of its value.

There is no better guide to follow in these matters than the advice of those who have gone through similar experience. Mr. McQuesten, who is called "the father of Alaska," after an experience of years upon the trail, in the camp and in the use of every kind of supply, says: "We find in Alaska that the importance of a proper kind of baking powder cannot be overestimated. A miner with a can of bad baking powder is almost helpless in Alaska. We have tried all sorts, and have been obliged to settle down to use nothing but the Royal. It is stronger and carries further, but above all things it is the only powder that will endure the severe climatic changes of the Arctic region." There is no better guide to follow in

It is for the same reasons that the United States government in its relief expeditions, and Peary, the famous Arctic traveler, have carried the Royal Baking Powder exclusively.
