TWO BATTLESHIPS AND FOUR CRUISERS COMPLETE THE LIST

Close Secrecy Maintained in Madrid as to the Destination of the Sanadron - Spaniards Expect Great Results to Follow the Movement of the Fleet-Claim Made That Camara Has Twenty Ships at His Disposal--Another Silly Rumor of an Attack on GIBRALTAR, June 17.—The Cadiz fleet, which was sighted off Ceuta last evening, passed here today going east-ward. It consisted of two battleships, feur auxiliary cruisers and four torpedo boat destroyers. SECRECY AT MADRID.

MADRID, June 17 .- Great secrecy is maintained here in regard to the destination of Admiral Camara's fleet. The Spanish newspapers say that work is being actively continued on the fortifications in the Canary and Balearic islands.

The Liberal reiterates the declara-tion that, "if Spain has nothing to hope from the powers, she is still able to defend herself."

Capt. Aunon, after the departure of Admiral Camara, wired the premier the following message:

"The reserve squadron and troops of the expedition on leaving Spanish waters send greetings to the government and fatherland, and affirm their desire to fight for them."

The minister of marine also telegraphed to the queen regent enthusiastic greetings from the squadron, and the announcement of the determination to fight to the last for the national honor

EXPECT GREAT RESULTS.

There is a feeling of great optimism in official circles here and in the lobbies of the cortes, owing to the departure of Admiral Camara's fleet. It is said in Madrid that it consists of over twenty ships, including auxiliary cruisers, and it is added that it has an enermous quantity of war material on board, including a mysterious new explosive. It is also whispered that the squadron, when at sea, is to be divided and to proceed to different destinations.

Ameng the rumors current here today is one that Admiral Camara's fleet is heading for Boston to bombard the

ONE MORE SPANISH FLEET.

Fresh contingents of troops are being constantly called to the colors and there is great activity in the war and navy departments. Work on the forti-fications at the different ports of Spain is being actively pushed, and it is asserted that a third squadron of warships is to be formed immediately to be composed of the Cardenal Cisneros, ers. Cadiz is to be the rendezvous of this squadron. It is the general opinion here that a protracted war is ahead and government does not count upon the support of any power, and that even Germany, in spite of her great interests in the Philippine Islands, will do noth-

Summary Execution of the Man Who Flourished a Revolver in Havti

Copyright by the Associated Press. PORT AU PRINCE, Hayti, June 17.-The facts in the story of the so-called revolution here are as follows: A drunken man yesterday morning was found rolling in the street with a revolver in his hand. He was shouting:
"Vive la Revolution." The man was arrested and promptly shot. There have been no other incidents of a revolutionary nature in this city recently The town is quiet.

On the other hand news received here from the republic of Santo Domingo s contradictory. Some people say that the whole country is in arms and that President Heureaux is in flight, while others assert that the president is master of the situation. He is said to be at San Domingo or Monto Christi. The Independencia left here vester. day for an unknown destination

CAPE HAYTIEN, Hayti, June 17.-I is learned from a reliable source that the attempt at "revolution" at Port au Prince was completely quelled last night. Two of the so-called revolution-ters From Which the American Army of Invasion Will Be Disembarked for the Conquest of Cuba -Gen. Miles Will Not Discuss

Washington Bureau St, Paul Globe. Corcoran Building.

pecial to The St. Paul Globe.
WASHINGTON, June 17.—There was an air of anxiety evident at the war department today. Up to a late hour it was thought that word would be received announcing the arrival of Gen. Shafter's army off the coast of Cuba, in the vicinity of Santiago. Late this evening it was officially stated that the department did not expect to hear from the invading army until Sunday. It was also whispered about in official circles that the troops would be there and landed before the fact of their arrival off Santiago would be made public. Nothing startling is expected to be developed by the landing proper. The few Spaniards outside Santiago city will scarcely have the temerity to come out and meet the Americans in the open, and without so doing they cannot hope to accomplish much calculated to deter the American troops from marching upon and capturing Santiago. GEN. MILES RETURNS.

Gen. Miles was at the war department in consultation with Secretary Alger a greater portion of the day. After he had departed it was given out that he had informed the head of the department that he was perfectly satisfied with the condition and conduct of the troops at Tampa, and expected them to give a good account of themselves in the enemy's country. It was also said that during the afternoon Gen. Miles had a conference with the president, who is said to have been pleased with Gen. Miles report. In fact, this has been a red letter day at the war department. All the news received was favorable to the cause of the United States, even to dispatches that were sent out from Madrid. MILES IS RETICENT.

Gen. Miles declined to discuss details of the movements of the United States army. He did, however, deny that there was any truth in the stories about confusion in the embarkation of the army of invasion at Tampa. "There was delay," said Gen. Miles, "In discussing the matter, but that was to be expected in the handling of a great force of troops in a place and at a expected in the handling of a great force of troops in a place and at a time where war preparations have to be complete, because of the very lack of facilities in a peaceful nation." Gen. Miles was warmly welcomed at the war department and his return to the capital has given to the army almost a monopoly of the gossips in public places. Stories are being told of the enthusiasm displayed by the troops as they departed for the actual theater of war, and in the hotel corridors the valor displayed by Hobson, by Wilcox, by Rowan, and many other American soldiers and sallors, is heartly commended. Gen. Miles informed the war department, so it was given out tonight, that the Cuban forces, under Gen. Garcia, would be in the fight at Santiago.

Dewey are satisfactory, so it is said, and today it was learned, in an unofficial way, that Dewey had a perfect understanding with the insurgents, in massacres, no barbarous treatment of prisoners, and the delay in assaulting Manila is understood to be in accord with Admiral Dewey's wishes, or rather instructions to the insurgent leaders. It is said that the government has been assured by Admiral Dewey that when Manila falls there will be no excesses permitted; that the lives and property of non-combatants will be protected at all hazards, and that the actual occupation of the place may be deferred until the arrival of the American troops. The latter possibility is considered altogether conjectural, however, and it is admitted in official circles must be governed largely by circumstances.

THE CADIZ SQUADRON. The matter of next importance most generally discussed here today was the reported sailing of the now famous squadron of Spanish ships that lay so long at Cadiz that the repeated reports of its departure became subjects for ridicule. There is nothing like alarm, in fact, no evidence of anxiety as to ships. It is openly stated that the Spanish fleet will not dare cross the Atlantic or go to the Philippines.. Even should the Cadiz squadron go to Mathe Monterey, now well on the way, it is calculated that he could easily defeat Camara's entire squadron.

pared for Service.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Unusual secrecy is maintained at the navy department concerning the formation of the new flying squadron. It is known, however, that a formidable fleet is being made ready, with the Newark as the probable flagship. Two of the fastest ships in the navy the Minneapolis and Columbia, will be the most effective fighting machines in the new squadron. There will be no battleships nor monitors, as the object of the formation of the squadron is to secure a fleet which can shoot and fly. Not a vessel will be engaged whose speed is under eighteen knots, and they will be sent on a mission of destruction against the Spanish possessions on the other side. The Canaries will, doubtless, be the first point of attack, and several Spanish seaports are likely to be treated to a visit from this squadron. The date of departure is problematical. When the start is made, the trip across the Atlantic will be made at the highest possible speed, and will show Spain that the United States is not following her tactics relative to the movement of vessels.

"The special importance of his trip, however, was indirect communication between Gen. Garcia and myself. Two of Garcia's staff officers came from Cuba with Dorst and on to Washington with him. I sent word to Gen. Garcia saying I wanted him to move all his forces to Santiago. He had been by that time fully equipped by Capt. Dorst. The message by Gen. Garcia was sent June 2, and reached him June 6, and I got his reply by cable from Mole St. Nicholas on June 9. He had about 8,000 armed Cubans when he received the munitions of war from Capt. Dorst. These munitions of war sent Garcia will enable him to equip 15,000 Cubans."

After a number of years of varled experience in the Northwest, your people began to pay morattention to the wonderful resources of Southern Minnesota, the garden spot of the whole Northwestern country. The building of the Great Western road accomplished more in making this country tributary to St. Paul than anything else that was ever done. You are slowly but surely again wresting the trade from Chicago, which they have had so long, and I hope that it wil be but a few years until you will control this section, not in the selling of goods ard machinery alone to our people, but in creating a market for what we may have to sell; the latter is of almost more importance than the other in the interest of your city. It is quite natural for a people to build up their own state, and in building up our cities we are building up ourselves; no matter in what remote corner we may live, so long as a city gives to us markets, it matters not how far away they may be, we naturally drift in that direction. The extent of a country, which cities may be able to call tribulary to them, depends entirely upon their own resources, and what they may have to offer to attract the farmer to them. There is scarcely a farmer living in this vicinity but that would gladly ship their cattle, hogs, butter and eggs to the cities of their own state, everything being equal, rather than to let cusiders have the benefit of their labor, which they now enjoy. To my mind there is no city more favorably located for manufacturing and other purposes, than St. Paul. Situated in the heart of a grand agricultural and diary country, with almost an unlimited supply of lumber right at your doors, and such great quantities of iron and steel only 100 miles distant. Under all these conditions you should, with the right push and energy, become a great city, and I have the umost confidence that you will. There is not a single reason why St. Paul an

The Spaniards are utterly exhausted by hunger, sleeplessness incessant alarms. They have no infor-mation regarding the enemy's move-ments until suddenly attacked. In the meantime they are in constant dread of the populace rising up and attacking them in the rear. Besides this in every skirmish, directly the retreat begins, the native troops desert.

their mission. It has now been officially admitted that troops have been thirty-six hours without food. The insurgents are gaining everywhere, and are now firing into Manila

There is a story current here this evening to the effect that the captain and officers of the German warship Irene went to a point on horseback to the furthest outpost of San Juan, accompanied by the highest Spanish staff officer. They had a champagne lunch and the captain of the Irene is said to have made a speech during which he declared the "Americans will never an-nex the Philippine islands while Wilham reigns emperor." The Germans, it is further said, with their Spanish hosts, might have been killed by the insurgents, who had ridden to San Juan strongly ambushed, but it is further as-
