very quiet here on the Fourth. We hardly knew it was the Fourth. The usual routine is going on, except that we have a little target practice.

Several regiments moved away from here yesterday for Santiago, but we have not yet received any orders. Still, we are expecting them anxiously every day.

Private Claude B. Miner was transferred back again to his old company, M. from Company E. At Camp Ramsey the companies were reduced to eighty-four men and as we had too many, he was obliged either to return home or to enlist in another company so he chose to enlist in Company E. But now since we lost Private Wallace Hurd, he is able to take his place back again in Company M, and when he made his appearance in the company street he was received with open arms, for he has proved himself to be a good boy.

When we returned from regiment drill this morning at 9 o'clock we were met by twenty-four new patriots, who had come all the way from Blue Earth City. Wells, Winnebago City and other places to join Uncle Sam's boys. We were guad to see such a nice lot of men and we did everything possible to make them feel at home. Their names are: Enoch E. Engdahl, Sandy M. Simonson, Frederick T. Wakefield, Frank S. Walesh, Frederick T. Wakefield, Frank S. Walesh, Frederick J. Coghian, Abert L. Boisclair, Arthur G, Bonwell, Joseph H. Nord ck, Frederick McManigal, Samuel M. Jones, George A. Jones, Benj, A. Tollefson, Lester S. Crozier, William C. Harris, Claude G. Latimer, Harvey J. Barthclomew, Richard Palmer, Lorn William C. Harris, Claude G. Latimer, in Clarkson, Harry R. Finch, J. G. amphrey.

Sergeant Louis A. Benner received a handsome check for $107.50 from Blue Earth City. The money was donated by the good people of Elmore. Once more we all return our best wishes to everybody in Faribault county for their generosity. The boys feel proud of their county and they do their duty, though sometimes not very agrecable, with a will worthy of veterans,

We have had pay day. It has cheered the boys. They are feeling better now.

Spring Valley Men Must Part With Lieut. Viall.

Special Correspondence The St. Paul Globe, CAMP THOMAS, July 5.—On the morning of July 1 there arrived in camp twenty-five men, the best material for soldiers that has reached this regiment. They were all dressed alike each wearing blue oversely and the search was a search wearing blue oversely and the search was a sear this regiment. They were all dressed alike, each wearing blue overalls and blue jackets when they reached camp, and presented quite a soldiery appearance. They were the recruits for Company F, and came from Fillmore and Olmsted counties. Their names are as follows: Carl O. Alm, Renoid Bucho.e, George Bush, Fred Bradburn, Charles Cattle, Adolph Christienson, James E. Egan, Clarence S. Fuller, Even R. Green. Rev. Frank W. Graves, John Hoffman, John D. Yesterday all drills were emitted, and the boys had a rest. A few of the company went to town, but most of the boys spent the day at camp attending to their own personal reds.

The company was yesterday in receipt of several boxes of clothing, principally night shirts, which were made and presented by the ladies of Spring Valley.

Company H regrets very much the resignation of their second lieutenant, F. H. Viall, but all agree that it would almost be suche for him to attempt to go to Cuba. Lieut. Viall is a very firshy man, and is unable to stand much heet, and it is especially difficult for him "to pike along 200 sters per minute and fifty inches to each step. Sometime ago he became overheated while on drill, and has since then suffered almost continually with severe headaches, and has been unable to cat scarcely anything. It is a secrifice for him to give up, as he likes army life first rate, but prudence bids him quit.

Capt. Viall was last evening in receipt of a ncunced a beauty by every one who saw it, from the two colonels down to tice yesterday: M. L. F. K and D.

The boys shot at 200 yards and made a good showing generally.

Three Mussy Pennsylvanians Caus Some Excitement in Camp.

Special Correspondence The St. Paul Globe.
CAMP THOMAS, Ga., July 6.—There was considerable excitement in the camp of the Fourteenth this afternoon. Three boys from considerable excitement in the camp of the Fourteenth this afternoon. Three boys from the First Pennsylvania came over with the intention of getting beer from the canteen of this regiment. They were met by Sergeant Gundlock, of Company L, who was sergeant of the guard. He told them not to cross the lines, but to return to their regiment. The three Pennsylvania bussers went back a little ways and tried to cross the lines a couple of posts farther from the guard house than before. But Sergeant Gundlock had kept his eye on them, and had them halted by the sentinels. He then commanded the prisoners to march to the guard house, which they refused to do. Sergeant Gundlock called for the guard to fall in and march and get the prisoners. The boys on guard were laying around the guard tent with their guns all placed in the gun rack. But within five minutes they had formed, fixed bayonets and marched at a double time to surround the prisoners. When they found themselves surrounded with the guards at a charge bayonets position, they were willing to march to the guard house. But when they arrived at the guard house one of them again refused to enter. The sergeant then ordered a couple of men to force him in, which was done easily, although creating considerable excitement and accumulating quite a crowd. They were turned over to their regimental guard to await their trial. The charge is reituring to obey authorities, and is a serious one.

Tonight there will be an entertainment given by the Y. M. C. A. and the First Pennsylvania regiment. It will be well attended and will no doubt interest the boys a great deal. To show what kind of entertainment can be given here the programme is given:

of the kindergarten, the private and the normal schools of Austin. It is one of the best constructed company flags seen here, and is the second best one made by the Cincinnati Regalia company this year. It was purchased by donations of the scholars' Fourth of July money, and for that reason is doubly appreciated by the boys. Capt. Wood made a neat speech to the boys as it was unfurled, and accepted the flag formally for the company. The boys confined their enthusiasm to a storm of hand-claps. It is against orders to cheer in the Twelfth, so they had to content themselves by bruising the cuticle of their palms. The flag will be sent home, and will await G's coming there.

Col. Bobleter expects a new stand of colors for the Twelfth, presented by the citizens of New Ulm. They will arrive the 16th inst.

Cook Kelly, of M, had a serious time last sight. He was selzed with convulsions and the sick call rang out from the bugles in such a way that it aroused up everybody. Surgeon Rowe responded immediately and after working with him for some time brought him out all right.

Private Baylor, of Troop D, who has been quite sick with spinal meningitis for several days, is improving. An operation was performed upon him and watery substance removed from his spinal column.

Col. Melvin Grigsby, the popular commander of the Rough Riders, was yesterday presented with a beautiful saber by the officers of the regiment. The saber is a gem, the saber is inscribed "Presented to Col. Melvin Grigsby the officers of the Cowboy regiment."

All of the andles and Krag-Jorgensen carbines have been received and distributed. All of the horses are being shod and the regiment will begin drill mount at once.

Chaplain Clevenger has secured a number of copies of Col. Grigsby's book, "The Smoked Yank." They will be distributed among the boys in the regimental hospital.

Sergeant Harry Creen arrived here with mustered in the service in a body at 9:30 o'clock. A few minutes before that Chattaneoga Monday night?" somebody asked Jack Clarke.

Sergeant Harry Grego arrived here with twenty-four recruits for Company L. Sunday morning the recruits looked well after the journey, but we have all been wondering what the people of St. Paul did to Crego, such a wild and woolly appearance as he presented. Two big revolvers, a belt full of cartridges, a bowle knife a foot long, and a rether unkempt appearance. Actually, when he turned into the company street every time Lieut. Donaldson notified Capt. Elwin that he was ready for the men, and they were called together before their quarters and marched to the quartermaster's depot. The ceremony of mustering the men in the regular service of the United States army was

K., and the recruits all say that Sergeant Crego is the best-hearted fellow in Company L, and presented him with a handsome testimonial for his kind and generous treament of them on the journey from St. Paul to the camp.

Won't Billy Gerlach kindly tell us who sent him and Sergeant Barber all those good things from St. Paul. But then, they shared with us just the same.

Jack Clarke says the trial of his life has just begun on account of having to break in the recruits brought here by Sergeant Crego.

One of our new recruits speaks Spanish fluently and the boys are all taking leasons. You ought to see the expression on Sergeant Crego's face when he tries to proncunce some of the words. Here is one that beats the story that came from the New York regiment some time ago. Over in the South Carolina the corporal of the guard was posting a rellef; the night was very dark, and the sentry hearing him coming called out the usual challenge: "Halt! Who's there?" Just then the corporal tripped and fell, with the exclamation, "Oh, Lord," when, quick as a flash, the sentry called loudly: "Turn out the parson, here comes the Lord."

Lieut. George T. Drake is in command of Company L today on account of the absence of Capt. Henninger, who is in Chatanoova. Lieut. Daly is a success as a range officer, and the boys are making some excellent scores.

Guard detail for today: Sergeant Drake, Privates Page, Dunn and Crisler, Guard detail for tomorrow: Privates Jackson, Lindgen, Redmond, Wailace, Dosch, Bauman and Crofot; in charge of quarters, Corporal Linue.

At present we are enjoying enother rain, for which the boys are thankful, as the dust was getting rather troublesome on drill.

Capt. Roy Viall, of Company F, was presented with a handsome sword by the enlisted men of his company, as a token of the esteem in which they hold him. It was a handsome tribute to one highly deserving of it, as Capt. Viall does everything in his power to make it comfortable and pleasant for his men.

One of our recruits today asked one of the non-commissioned offeers if he could give it, as Capt. Viall does everything in his power to make it comfertable and pleasant for his men.

One of our recruits today asked one of the non-commissioned officers if he could give him a life preserver, and when asked what he wanted of it, he said he had a request to make of our quartermaster sergeant, and from a former experience he thought it will to be on the safe side.

Sergeant Crego will transfer to the signal corps in a few days, and while the change will be a promotion for the sergeant, we are all sorry to lose him, and Jack Clarke says if he leaves that he will sue Crego for divorce.

Oh, say, get onto Corporal Linne's new suspenders. You can actually hear them. Regular cake-walk style.

You ought to see Corporal Bauman with his new gun and his Southern dialect. When he fires them both off it sounds like the bombardment of Santiago.

Corporal Johnston's many friends in St. Paul will be pleased to learn that he has been permanently attached to duty on the target range on account of superior marksmanship.

Corporal Whitney, who was transferred from Company E, of the Fourteenth Minnero'a, has reported for duty with Company L, this regiment. He is a quiet, unassuming young gentleman, a good non-commissioned officer, and the company should feel thankful to the man who secured such a valuable addition to our staff of non-commissioned officers.

First Sergeant Shirk is happy in the possession of a new fountain pen. His correspondence became so lengthy that he could not afford to waste time dipping the old-style in the ink bottle. As my own fountain has just gone dry, I think I have said enough.

Eleven days was the maximum time allowed for the journey to Honolulu, and the expedition has certainly arrived there, barring accidents. It is possible that they made the trip in better time. It was known that the Hawaiian people had made elaborate plans for entertaining the soldiers during their several days' stay there. Gen. Merritt, with the Newport, is expected to reach Hönolulu and join the expedition before it departs for Manila.

The camp was a busy place all day long, as the machinery in nearly every department was in working order. Company D furnished the guard for the day, with Capt. Spicer as officer of the day and Lieut. Rice as officer of the day and Lieut. Rice as officer of the guard.

The quartermaster's department was compelled to work a double force, owing to the extra work entailed in issuing equipment to A and B. During this week rations have been issued in quantities sufficient for only one day, but beginning with next week it is probable that all rations, with the exception of meat and bread, will be given out in quantities sufficient to last ten days. Quartermaster Coe has compiled a table of what will be needed for the entire regiment for that length of time. The table is as follows: Bacon, 2,485 pounds; salmon, 312 two-pound cans; flour, 14,406 pounds; hard bread, 600 pounds; beans, 1,920 pounds; potatoes, 10,247 pounds; coffee, 1,024 pounds; sugar, 1,920 pounds; candles, 209 pounds; salt, 560 pounds; pepper, 34 pounds; soap, 512 pounds; candles, 209 pounds; soap, 512 pounds; candles, 209 pounds; matches, 700 boxes.

The work of Hospital Steward Geire was not as heavy yesterday as on the previous day. But twenty-four men responded to sick call. Two men were retained in the hospital during the day, as they were suffering from over-exertion, but the rest of the cases were not serious. During the day several boxes of bandages, linen and like sup-plies were received from the Red Cross society, of St. Paul. The hospital force was very glad to get the supplies, and found use for some of them at once.

Adjt. Fred M. Catlin issued to each company three copies of drill regulations, two copies of the manual of arms and one company cook book. A number of the men detailed to do duty as cooks were very glad to get the cook book. The supplies were issued under the direction of the adjutant gen-

The families of the soldiers at Fort Snelling are a sad little body of wom-en. The telegraph office was so besleged with women eager for news from the war that orders were, since from the war that orders were, since Monday, issued not to give out any telegraphic news till authorized by Capt. Gerlach. Some nights it is said the night telegraph clerk was awakened many times by those who could not wait till morning for news from Santiago, where the Third regiment is new located.

the night telegraph clerk was awakened many times by those who could not wait till morning for news from Santiago, where the Third regiment is now located.

The list of wounded and killed was received with sadness by every one at the post. It is supposed that Private Hopper, one of those reported killed, is the husband of one of the wives still at Snelling, though definite information has not been received, and the man may be one of the new recruits. Mrs. Hopper has not been informed of the news, but is fearful something has happened to her husband. She has two children.

Many of the families of the privates who went with the Third regiment would have suffered for food had it not been for the prompt action of Capt. Gerlach and the men and wom en still at the fort. Provision has been distributed, but, even so, the outlook for many of the women is a dreary one. In some of the families little ones are expected and no preparation has been made for them. The women have taken hold with a will, however, and will see that all the little garments needed for the tiny new comers will be provided.

Capt. Gerlach has heard from his son Fred, who is a private in the Sixth cavalry, which was in the fight at Santiago. It is not probable, however, that the young man saw any of the battle, as his letter is a complaint that he was left behind with the commissary wagon. Capt. Gerlach said last evening:

"Fred has the same luck his father has had. I was the oldest man in the regiment, so they thought I had seen enough fighting and could be left behind. We must obey all orders, but that was the hardest order I ever had. I have seen over forty years' service.

No, I cannot possibly go now unless we have a volunteer company ordered here. In that case I can take my detachment and join the boys at the front.

"The captain of my son's company, Capt. Kerr, was wounded, and we received word yesterday had been ordered back to Tampa. Col. Patterson, of the Twenty-second infantry, who is reported wounded, was at Fort Snelling in the 70's with much active service.

"I have telegraphed for definite in formation as to those wounded and killed in the Third, and will receive advices from the adjutant general soon, no doubt."

The Glenfarg has not yet left Hong Kong.

These cases were mostly the result of pay day and the Fourth of July and Schley's victory arriving about the same time. It created such a head of steam on some of the boys that something had to give way.

Whitney came strolling along between the ranks of F, and, calling Capt. Viall to him, began pointing out some fancied defects in the appearance of the boys. Capt. Viall was all attention to the major and all inattention to what Burdette Thayer, the popular sergeant major of F, was about until Burdette had begun to deliver the best presentation speech that has been heard in the park. Sergeant Major Thayer said:

Capt. Viall: I, as a member of company F because I have been, in my own mind, both unable and unwilling to divorce myself from your command, so I, as a member of your company at its members' request and upon their behalf, desire to now-say a few words to you.
