A TALK WITH MRS. PINKHAM

About the Cause of Anemia.

Everybody comes into this world with a predisposition to disease of some particular tissue; in other words, everybody has a weak spot. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the weak spot in women is somewhere in the uterine system. The uterine organs have less resistance to disease than the vital organs; that's why they give out the soonest

Not more than one woman in a hundrednay, in five hundred-has perfectly healthy organs of generation. This points to the stern necessity of helping one's self just as soon as the life powers seem to be on the wane. Excessive menstruation is a sign of physical weakness and want of tone in the uterine organs. It saps the strength away and produces anemia (blood turns to water). If you become anemic, there is no knowing what will happen. If your gums and the inside of your lips and inside your eyelids look pale in color, you are in a dangerous way and must stop that drain on your powers. Why not build up on a generous, uplifting tonic, like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

MRS. EDWIN EHRIG, 413 Church St., Bethlehem, Pa., "I feel it my duty to write and tell you that I am better than I have been for four years. I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Comand, one package of Sanative Wash, one box of Liver Pills, and can say that I am perfectly cured. Doctors did not help me any. I should have been in my grave by this time if it had not been for your medicine. It was a godsend to me. I was troubled with excessive menstruction, which caused womb trouble, excessive menstruction, which caused womb trouble, and I was obliged to remain in bed for six weeks. Mrs. Pinkham's medicine was recommended to me, and, after using it a short time, was troubled no more with flooding. I also had severe pain in my kidneys. This, also, I have no more. I shall always recommend the Compound, for it has cured me, and it will cure others. I would like to have you publish this letter." (In such cases the dry form of Compound should be used.)

"You know the common carriers have been very backward about letting us have any shipments, except we went to the trouble of getting out search warrants, which was at times very difficult and even impossible. Now this decision settles that matter, and we can take our own, and the shipper cannot come back at the common carrier for any damages. The courts have rulfor any damages. The courts have rul-ed on our deer law in regard to ship-ping. They have decided we have a right to seize any venison when it is not accompanied by the owner and that no one can ship venison to mar-ket except he accompanies it, and the moment he transfers it to an express company and takes a receipt for same, that moment he is not in actual pos-session of it which the law requires

One of the first and foremost changes there suggested was that the different states met there for consultation. One of the first and foremost changes there suggested was that the different states are possible, a uniform game law. I think the commission will ask the next legislature to make the necessary changes. One of them will be the doing away with spring shooting, so that no one of them will be the doing away with spring shooting, so that no one of them will be the doing away with the possible exception of the pothunter will be interested in.

"Another thing we will ask the legislature to do, will be to place a license fee of $25 on each non-resident deer hunter. It was our experience last season that hunters who have been in the habit of going into Wisconsin and Michigan, where they now have the deer license law, all flocked to Minnesota, and in self-preservation we will have to adopt that measure as the other states are all going to do. There are a number of very minor changes the we will ask for in order that our law may conform with the other states.

Gol. Cody's Masterly Reproduction of the Battle on the Little Big Horn.

In addition to its many other entirely original and remarkable features, on Tuesday, Aug. 8th. Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Congress of Rough Riders of the World will present here, for the first time, an immense, magnificant and amazingly realistic spectacular and tableau reproduction of Custer's last and dreadfully fatal battle on the Little Big Horn. In this stupendous and life-like revival of the heroic and harrowing inciders of the most calamitous event in all the sangulary records of border warfare some eight hundred soldiers, scouts, plainsmen, genuine Sioux warriors and horses are introduced, some of the savage participants having actually been present at the Custer massacre, and the horses being taught to most realistically simulate death on the battlefield. The opening scene reveals an Indian village with its inhabitants willdy celebrating a recent victory. While they are thus engaged a scout takes in the situation without being discovered and reports to Gen. Custer, who instantly and furiously charges with his battalion upon the red devils. Terribly mistaken as to the number of the foe, his command is enveloped in an overwhelming horde of savages, and after a desperate but hopeless struggle annihilated, the clossing tableau representing his death on an eminence, to which he and the remnant of his command are driven. Col. Cody, with reinforcements, arrives on the field of massacre and desolation too late to be of service. The opportunities afforded for herioc action and all the electrifying displays of mounted combat are fully utilized, and the result is beyond description. Battle on the Little Big Horn.

FIFTH AND ELEVENTH WARD CITIZENS COMPLAINING

That the Street Car Company, After Receiving a Bonus of $60,000 for Operating the Randolph Street Line, Is About to Cease-Several Saloon Licenses Granted by the Aldermen and Others Referred.

W. G. Thorpe and a delegation of citizens from the Fifth and Eleventh wards attended the meeting of the board of aldermen last night to request that some action be taken to compel that some action be taken to compel the street rallway company to operate its Randolph street line. The matter was brought up by the reading of a communication from fifty-three property owners and residents along the line, but before the clerk had finished reading the document Ald. This was done, and the gentlemen interested and the attorney who represented them were notified they would be heard before the committee at its next session.

The communication stated that $60,-000 was raised by the property owners and paid to the street railway company as a bonus for constructing and operating the line; that, in addition, large sums were paid as assessments for grading the street from Hamilton avenue to the river and also for the cutting down of Lexington hill. That inside of nineteen months the property owners paid assessments in addition to the bonus given the railway company ranging in amounts from $500 to $4,500.

Mr. Thorpe, who headed the delegation, said the company had not operated cars west of Hamline avenue since March 1 last, and now proposed to discontinue the operation of the line from Seventh street. The property owners and especially those who had paid money in the shape of a bonus and assessments in order to have the line operated were going to prevent, if possible, the discontinuance of the line and insist on the cars being operated the entire length of the street to the the entire length of the street to the Ald. Sanborn stated that as this was the saloon formerly conducted by "Mayor" Griffin it would probably be best for the administration not to grant the application. Ald. Ald. Bloomquist had the bicycle ordinance amended so as to prohibit the riding of bikes on both sides of Burr street between Minnehaha and Whitall streets.

A resolution was unanimously adopted declaring the contract of D. W. Moore for collecting and disposing of garbage in the Seventh ward annulled. Albert Berg, nominated for secretary of state, wanted Charles C. Whitney, the state's expert printer, and a prominent Stillwater man on the committee. Whitney, too, would have been acceptable both to Treasurer Koerner and would-be Lieut. Gov. Now the result is that Berg and Lind are going to get the votes in the strong Scandinavian districts, if they can, and they have both shown some elements of strength in the past, and the rest of the nominees will have blowing clear and cool, and until nearly noon they will enjoy the attraction of the inland sea.

The steamer will arrive at the Soo about 11:40 a. m., Sunday, and after spending a few hours, in the city they may return either by the Soo line or on the Northland. If they return by rail, they will arrive in St. Paul at 9:30 a. m., Monday, if by the steamer and Eastern Minnesota, they will reach St. Paul Tuesday morning.

It is a wonderful trip, and every moment will be full of delight to the excursionists.

Warner and W. J. Donahower. Warner is an experienced politician and well schooled in Bixby's kindergarten, but he was persona non grata to the Eustis bunch, and they would not let him in. Donahower had confined his energies mostly to the local field and was open to some exception on this account, although it should not have been material, the "anti-head of the ticket" people say, when Mr. Eustis has such confidence in John H. Steele, who, while a genial fellow, is hardly known outside of his own bailiwick and is largely unfamiliar with the local conditions, the close touch with which was the chief resource of that astute organizer, Bixby.

"Bob" Dunn, as the present state auditor is known, had two names to present. They were Alvah Eastman, of the St. Cloud Journal-Press, and Charles S. Mitchell, of the Alexandria Post-News. There are not two editors in Northern Minnesota who command a clearer view of local conditions north

"Bob" Dunn, as the present state auditor is known, had two names to present. They were Alvah Eastman, of the St. Cloud Journal-Press, and Charles S. Mitchell, of the Alexandria Post-News. There are not two editors in Northern Minnesota who command a clearer view of local conditions north of the Twin Cities than these two men, yet they were turned down. Eastman and Dunn were especially intimate, and Mitchell, while comparatively young in the political arena, has demonstrated his loyalty to the party and to the northern part of the state on numberless occasions. Dunn got neither of these men.

northern part of the state on numberless occasions. Dunn got neither of these men.

The man who, with Berg, led the ticket two years ago was State Treasurer Koerner. A popular man personally, with a good record, he sought to have placed on the committee the same man Whitney whom Berg and Smith favored, and C. A. Greenleaf, a prominent and wealthy man of Litchfield, who has contributed largely to Republican success in the past without any tangible reward other than the consciousness of a full duty, faithfully performed. Mr. Koerner presented Mr Greenleaf's name, but both he and Whitney were thrown down.

The result of all this is that there will be little harmony in the party this fall. Each candidate is to look after his own best interests, and, if John Lind should break through the lines with a majority of several thousand,
the other Republican nominees, even though defeated, would view the prospect with a semi-consolation.

Eustis has taken the bit in his teeth and gone over the rail into the paddock. The other drivers say he may graze at his own sweet will, for they are done with him.
