INTERCEDE FOR THE MEN

FRIENDS OF THE FOURTEENTH TO MEET THIS AFTERNOON

They Are to Discuss Ways and Means for Affording the Privates of That Regiment an Opportunity to State Their Position as to Going Forward or Coming Back-News of the Camp.

The friends and relatives of the boys in the Fourteenth regiment are not going to have them shipped to Cuba for garrison duty if the boys don't want to go. At least if they are sent it will only be after a most vigorous protest.

The report that the officers had taken upon themselves to voice the sentiment of the boys in the ranks, and that this sentiment was in favor of doing garrison duty, has stirred up more feeling in Minnesota than any of the complaints that have reached the state sance the Fourteenth left for Camp Thomas. Duluth, as previously reported in The Globe, has become stirred up and other parts of the state. This afternoon a meeting will be held at the West hotel, Minneapolis, to take some action in the matter. It has been called by the Duluth Veterans' association, but the friends and relatives of the soldiers in the Fourteenth are generally invited. The call issued for the meeting is as follows:

"Whereas, Indisputable and cumulative evidence came to friends of members of Companies A, C, and G, of the Fourteenth Minnesota volunteers that the men have been grossly misrepresented by their officers as to whether they desire to continue in the service to do garrison duty, and,

"Whereas, Officers of said companies have threatened men with court martial for giving expression to their views on the subject, and have caused arrest of one member of Company G for giving expression to his wish in that behalf; now therefore, be it "Resolved, That a meeting of parents, near relatives and friends of said enlisted men be held at the West hotel, Minneapolis, Thursday, Aug. 25, at 2 o'clock, to take such action as may be wise to secure to enlisted men of the regiment the right to say wheller they desire to continue in the service to do guard duty or not. Parents, relatives and friends of fall emispanies are requested to be present and to bring with them such leiters as they may have received from the men on the subject indicated." only be after a most vigorous protest. While Duluth is thus active other places have taken action by petition. Zumbrota citizens are indignant at the reports they have heard and have prepared the following petition, which will be forwarded to the proper authorities:

We, the undersigned, parents, relatives and friends of the members of Company D, Fourteenth Minnesota volunteers, do hereby earnestly protest against the sending of the members of said company to do garrison duty in Cuba, or any other point, against their wishes and desire. And we earnestly petition those in authority to allow, and do request our senators and representatives to use their influence to this end, that those men who so nobly responded to their country's cail, many of them leaving positions of trust and affluence, be allowed their choice of returning to their homes and positions, or of remaining in the service.

Moreover, we do hereby protest against and register our disapproval of the officers who, by intimidation or otherwise, have sought to influence the men or force them to accede to their desires for further service.

The general sentiment is that when the general sentiment is that when the men enlisted the country needed their services. The boys were willing to go and take their chances against Spanish bullets. Some people in the world persist in clinging to old methods. There are men who still use a forked stick in place of a modern plow. There are also men, who, when they are troubled with a disordered stomach or liver, resort to the old-fashioned violent remedies that rack and rend the whole body, and while they give temporary relief, in the long run do the entire system a great amount of harm.

Modern science has discovered remedies infinitely superior to these old-fashioned drugs, that do their work by promoting the natural processes of excretion and secretion and gently correcting all circulatory disturbances. The boys went to Lake City last night and attended the ice cream social given by the ladies of St. Mary's Catholic church. They were accompanied by West, the female impersonator, who rendered several selections. While at the social Chief Trumpeter McNamara was requested to give a solo on his bugle, which he did. While he was thus engaged the rooters helped themselves to a freezer of cream.

This morning at roll call Sergeant Clifton and Private Clarence A Storms, of Battery A, were missing. Sergeant Kelly was immediately detailed to search for them. He found them at the rifle range, where Private Storms was receiving a lesson in how to ride and master a horse, Sergeant Clifton acting as teacher. The lesson seemed to help Storms very much, as he was able to act as guide at drill this morning.

SICK LIST IS ABOLISHED

HAPPY RESULT OF RELOCATING THE FIFTEENTH'S CAMP

There Are Practically No Ailments for the Physicians to Treat Now -On Spring Water and the War Diet, the Men Are Living Like Princes—Even Camp Isolation Is

The "sick" battalion no longer exists. For three successive days not a case of typhoid fever has developed at Camp Isolation. Yesterday only four men reported at sick call, and those were reported at sick call, and those were troubled in the digestion of the green grapes they had foolishly partaken of to too great an extent. Companies F, H, K and M have an ideal location haif a mile beyond the farthest buildings of the post and they cannot help but thive.

A mile beyond the farthest buildings of the post and they cannot help but thrive.

Dr. Frey, who has charge of the medical department of Maj. Hand's battalion, was astonished to find that the men were getting well without the assistance of the state board of health or any other combination of the wisdom of the profession. Nonetheless the doctor was pleased and was encouraged by the light sick call and the favorable opinion of Col. Leonhauser to expect the consolidation of the regiment tomorrow.

The quarantined companies are certainly enjoying themselves. Although the men are not allowed to go to the lower post they have far more liberty than the men at the main camp. They can wander around through the woods and fields without let or hindrance. Maj. Hand likes nothing better than to take one of his captains or lieutenants off on a long tramp through the long grass or underbrush and at every step he seems to gain in strength till the poor captain soon feels like dropping in his tracks.

Yesterday Capt. Leonard did his share to make the camp lovable. With the valuable assistance of Corporal Johnson, of Company F, he planned the bowers for the officers' mess, the canteen and barber shop. A fine spring was dug out and surrounded by rocks. The stream flowing from it was dammed to make a watering place for the horses. Capt. Leonard has still further improvements planned or under way, and if he is given time he will have the reservation permanently beautified.

The men of the fighting Fifteenth felt like real soldiers as they crawled into their cozy quarters last night. It was their first experience with dogtents. At Camp Isolation every one from major to private tried the experiment and liked it. Various rumors were current yesterday about the doings of the mighty officers. Capt. Gilmore, it was said, after various attempts to squeeze into his quarters, gave it up and lay down on the grass while his men pitched the tent over him. At reveille he had to get a detail to release him. Lieut. McMahon insisted, after he got his head and shoulder under the canvas, upon laying on his back, stretching half way across the little avenue in front of his cottage. His first sergeant took pity on him and got a couple of extra blankets, in which he wrapped the lieutenant like a mummy. The long tramp and the fine cool weather made everybody sleepy and taps had barely sounded before the sentries at their

The regimental camp is all laid out now. Col. Gotzian's battalion, the First, occupies the extreme left. The lieutenant colonel has only two of his own companies now, but vacant streets have been left for K and M, which are with Maj. Hand.

Next comes the second battalion, which will be under the command of

Maj. Hand when his men are joined with the others. The only blank aisle there is that left for Company F. Company H, the last of the residents of Camp Isolation, will fill in Maj. Elwin's battalion on the extreme right. Elwin's battalion on the extreme right. The tents for the staff officers occupy the same relative position as formerly at old Camp Ramsey. Camp Isolation will continue to reside in shelter tents. The new camp, however, is acquiring rapidly a set-side in shelter tents. The new camp, however, is acquiring rapidly a settled condition. Yesterday more than half the company streets were lined with the regulation tents. Lieut. Dewey was busy all day with the work of keeping the rows straight and getting everything in its right place, and he walked a good many miles, too. The rejuvenated camp impresses one more and more with its magnificent distances and the impression is very decidedly fixed when the walk to Camp cidedly fixed when the walk to Camp Isolation is accomplished.

Lieut. Bookstaver has added an item to his vast store of knowledge by sad experience. The lieutenant is bewailing the loss of several square inches from a very conspicuous position in his new blue blouse. Bookstayer's twitter and chirp evidently led the crickets to consider him a congenial spirit, and, although he was unconscious of it at the time, they messed with him last night. Now he wants to move into a civilized residence district where only the bidden guest will come. The detached battalion had their formal guard mount yesterday morning in the most approved style, in spite of the fact that the men had to wade through grass as high as their waists.

to use the tower was not obtained, and no other way could be found for getting above the trees between the two camps, and the trial had to be abandoned.

At about 6:30 last night a guard was established at the west end of the Fort Snelling bridge. Several of the men with passes, good about the reservation, made too many visits to the saloons across the river, and Capt. Gibson, as officer of the day, took several guards down to the exit from the reservation. The patrol will have tents right by the side of the road, and no man in uniform can get by without exhibiting his permission.

Col. Leonhauser has decided to retain the name of Camp Ramsey as the official appellation of the camp of the Fifteenth. The idea is to avoid all confusion in mails and records.

The citizens' committee met in the Commercial club yesterday afternoon, and committees were appointed to look after the different details connected with the exhibition. It is going to cost at least $15,000 to bring the show to this city, and the committee hope their efforts will be appreciated.

It has been arranged that the exhibition will take two blocks. It will be bounded by University, Grotto, Avon and Victoria streets. Avon and Victoria will be closed, so that the space may be given for the lake which is to be in the center of the grounds.

The plant for the show is valued at $40,000. It consists of a set scene depicting Havana and the harbor front. It is four tiers and is thirty-five feet high. In front of this is the stage, 150 by 75 feet, and in front of that is the lake, the dimensions of which are 300 by 75 feet, and in front of that is the lake, the dimensions of which are 300 by 75 feet. It will be necessary to construct a cement flooring and sides for the lake, so that the water will not leak away. Permission to flood the space has been given by the board of water commissioners.

Manager Berry, of the Pain company, said yesterday the show would excel any production ever given by Pain.

"We shall have a change of programme every evening. The principal show, of course, will be scenes laid in Havana, but it will be varied as much as possible without destroying the harmony of the production. The first performance will be a Dewey show. We shall give effects from the Battle of Marila. There will be the destruction of ships and the bombardment of Cavite, though the scene will not be Manila, but Havana. At the end of the performance we will show an immense portrait of Dewey in colored fire.

"The three other nights will be open to the public for suggestion. They may be made of local significance. That will be decided by the committee of citizens. At any rate every performance will be worth witnessing."

The fireworks to be burned each evening will amount to $1,500 in value. In addition to fireworks there will be a large body of men employed in the production. "The rifle pits were constructed in regular rows in front of the block house, and we had to carry them one at a time. The Spaniards fought well, but not as coolly as we, and we forced them to abandon their strongholds. They were beautifully made pits, and we could have held them against any number of men. But the Spaniards seemed to get discouraged when they saw so many of their men fall, and they ran back. We finally brought the artillery into action against the block house, and stormed it, and in a comparatively short time we captured it.
