ASTOUNDING BARGAINS!

No store on earth can name such low prices as these without actual loss unless they have a wholesale department in connection with their retail business, in which case only can they buy from the wholesale manufacturers who sell to wholesale dealers only. We supply some of the largest retail dealers in the West at exactly the prices we get from consumers. It seems everybody is on to this, judging from our enormous daily sales, which are phenomenal. Should you be one of the few not already familiar with this fact, then you are wasting a large part of your expenditures. Try us, and if we do not save you from a quarter to a half of the purchase price of any article you may want, then we do not want you to buy of us.

BRINGING HOME THE SICK.

Col. Hartley Is Off for San Francisco With Nurses.
Col. Roland H. Hartley, of the governor's staff, left last night for San Francisco, where he will meet and accompany home the sick members of the Thirteenth regiment who will arrive Oct. 22 on the United States hospital ship Rio Janeiro.
He is accompanied by Dr. McDavid, of this city, and Miss Higginbotham and Miss Warren, both Red Cross nurses, who will look after the comfort and welfare of the soldiers on the steamer and their long journey homeward.
After a couple of days' rest in San Francisco, the sick will be brought direct to St. Paul in a private Pullman sleeper. Gov. Clough has sent Col. Hartley to the Pacific coast after the sick men in order that nothing which may add to their comfort will be left unattended.
The following are the members of the Thirteenth who are coming home:
Charles G. Bunker, lieutenant, gunshot wound.
Walter J. Cork, company I, typhoid fever.
Harry L. Hart, corporal, company E, typhoid fever.
Anton Johnson, company E, typhoid fever.

VISITED BY THROUGS

YESTERDAY THE GREATEST DAY YET AT THE HOME MANUFACTURERS' EXHIBIT

BARRELS OF SAMPLES USED

Exhibitors Marvel at the Interest Shown in the Exhibit by People From All Over the City and Neighboring Communities—Success of the Exhibit is Assured Beyond a Doubt.

The exhibition in Market hall continues to be the attraction for the time being, and so successful has this fall's venture been there is talk of continuing it another week.
All of the exhibitors yesterday expressed their amazement as more than satisfied with results attained. On the main floor many orders for goods on exhibition have been taken and much good advertising has been done. The booths are very handsome and some of them are of unusual interest.
A rag carpet loom, operated by hand, which was put in by the St. Paul Rug and Rag Carpet company, attracts attention, and the beautifully woven rugs and carpets hung about this booth, products of the factory and made from worn-out Brussels and Ingrain carpets, are admired by every one.
Another booth of unusual interest has been put in by one of the newest of St. Paul concerns. This is the Northwestern Grass Twine company's display. Here, by means of a fine machinery in full motion, all of the handsome rugs and carpets shown there are made from Minnesota swamp grass. The floor matting is an attractive, durable, and beautiful matting, by experts to be far superior to the Japanese and Chinese mattings now imported so extensively. Benjamin G. Ladd is in charge here, and has a handsome display, made attractive by an illuminated display of rows of graduated sizes of bottles and jars, which are given out at this booth every day.
Drewry & Sons have an attractive booth in charge of Miss Turner, who dispenses limetta to all who call.
The South Pacific company and Machinery company displays, among other articles, the Columbia heater, made from cast iron and home-baked brick, which is said to heat a twelve-room house with six and a half tons of coal during the winter. The inventor, George Y. Smith, is in charge.
Some brightly polished church pews, counters, etc., are shown by the Capital City Furniture company.
A Muckle has a fine line of buggies, carts and sleighs in charge of the city salesman, J. P. West.
The Northwest Bedding company shows beds and couches.
An interesting exhibition of X-rays is shown by the Northwestern Electric Light company.
The new Schurmeier farm wagon attracts the country people, and a fine exhibit of Schurmeier delivery wagons those from the city.
The St. Paul Stock company has an excellent line of ranges and heaters in place, and next in line is a case of fancy liquors put up by George Benz & Sons.
John Fandel, sculptor, has exhibited a large marble cross and angel. W. H. Ulmer is the contractor for this work.
The Bohm Manufacturing company has in place a large line of refrigerators, in charge of Mr. Snell.
Gottzian has put up a particularly attractive booth in red, white and blue, hung within with uncut, clear, blue, containing show cases of up-to-date shoes for men and women. Miss Clara Scherfing and Miss Sophia Adams are in charge.
The St. Paul Foundry company displays some exquisite models.
Dainty sips of maple syrup are given out at the Towle booth, which is in charge of Miss Holmes and Mr. Zschechoke. This booth is pretty in blue and rose bunting, and a tin log cabin covered with cotton snow attracts the people.
Kubles & Stock make the male eyes glisten with a fine line of domestic cigars and tobacco.
Handsome gowns, skirts and waists are shown by Finch, Van Slyck, Young & Co. in a pretty booth decorated with palms and draperies.
A. P. Miller makes pictures brooms for the benefit of those who care to watch. This is one of the interesting exhibits. Red, white and blue bunting is used overhead at the sides of the booth very effectively.
Osgood & Blodgett have an exhibit of all kinds and sizes of boxes.
H. L. Collins has several printing presses in action, operating a dynamo and runs a sure enough printing office. Mrs. Baerler is in charge of the Minneapolis Soap company exhibit, where is displayed a beautiful six by four American flag made from White Lily soap.
Griggs, Cooper & Co. gave away three barrels of samples from the Maine vegetable oil company, who gave away prizes at last spring's cooking contest, and Mrs. Walter Benjamin are in charge.
McCortelli, forate, mosta celia, macaroni, spaghetti, reginette and other unpeppable Italian delicacies are temptingly displayed by the Italia Macaroni and Vermicelli company.
A small pipe organ is being placed by the Twin City Pipe Organ company, and will be ready to be heard Monday.
F. M. Johnson & Co., engravers, have a man at work each evening.
Swift has an elaborate exhibit in the same space occupied last year. Arthur White, the company's advertising manager from Chicago, is in charge, and superintends the putting up of the display. Blue and white bunting makes an attractive background.
The Crescent Creamery Co. has a show case of designs in butter, and advertising wool soap babies.
The National Acetylene Gas generator is still in place, and C. R. Groff have their booth nicely rearranged for this fall's exhibit.
J. H. Roach gives away boxes of candy at a pretty booth in charge of Miss Natelsky.
The St. Paul White Lead & Oil Co. has put up a handsome booth in charge of a dignified lion who advertises a brand of paint.
The St. Paul Furniture company shows counters, tables, stained glass, etc. Gedney gives away hundreds of pickles each day at a pretty booth made of bottles of relishes.
There are two stands on the lower floor from which articles are sold. One is in charge of J. C. Barrett, with Mrs. E. G. Griffen as cashier, and Miss De Corsey as sales lady. Here soft drinks, sandwiches, ice cream, etc., are sold.
At the other stand candy is offered for sale by Miss Sparrow and Miss Fronie Haag. Both these stands are operated by the Manufacturers' association to help with the expenses.
The third evening's programme was rendered with great success, and before a large audience. It included some of the best local talent and the motion pictures struck a new chord with the audience which was enthusiastic, giving those contributing to the pleasure of the evening frequent ovations.
The large auditorium was filled and the management is deserving of no little credit for the expeditious manner in which it handled the large and moving crowd. Only those possessing tickets were admitted to this part of the entertainment, and by 8 o'clock every seat was taken and people occupied the ### aisles and many were turned away who sought admission.

The however, found much to interest them in the industrial and manufacturing departments, and especially those departments representing the hardware of St. Paul clubs, schools and societies.
The programme of the evening was given under the direction of Secretary Whellams, who announced each number, making himself distinctly heard in all parts of the large hall.
Miss Sans Souci opened the programme with a piano solo, "Magic Fire Scene," from Liszt, which elicited merited applause.
Percy Churchill sang Hawley's "Bardolin Love Song," responding to an encore with popular numbers.
Both Mr. Churchill and Miss Sans Souci gave additional numbers, after which the lights were turned down and the motion pictures were given with unusual success.
The picture representing the ocean ship after a sale, taken from the deck of a trans-Atlantic liner, was greeted with a thundering burst of applause. This picture as well as many of the others was quite realistic. President McKinley taking the oath of office and many other scenes were shown with life-like motion.
The entertainment concluded shortly after 9. The audience distributed themselves around the building and spent the balance of the evening viewing the exhibits in the various departments.
One of the acquisitions to the exhibit occupied the center of the upper floor. Three well known nurserymen contributed to this display in a liberal manner. They are Aus S. Swanson, Vogt Brothers and Otto Hiersokorn. Mr. Swanson's exhibit is characterized by the large number of varieties of palms. The other exhibits are by several floral pieces, which were centers of attraction during the day.
Mrs. Daniel's lace work found special favor with the ladies during the day, especially those who came in the afternoon.
Secretary Whellams is worthy of much credit for his tireless labors in behalf of the exhibit. He is perhaps in a measure regarded by the uniform success which has attended the display since the opening day.

MADE WATCHES FOR KINGS.
Charles L. Hirschy, Who Died in This City Thursday.
The funeral of C. L. Hirschy, who died on Thursday, will take place this afternoon from 80 East Eleventh street, at 2 o'clock.
Mr. Hirschy was best known among the French Canadians of the city, but was quite a familiar character around town and was known by sight to many. He came to Minnesota in 1877 and followed the trade of an engraver and music box repairer. Before coming to this country he enjoyed the distinction of being a member of the Grand Council of Switzerland, where the art is one of the principal means of livelihood of the people. He did work for all the crowned heads of Europe and engraved watches for Victor Emmanuel, Don Carlos and William I, Emperor of Germany. He was born in Geneva, Switzerland, five or four years ago.
His wife and two sons survive him, Paul C., of Minneapolis, and Herman C., of St. Louis.

ADJUTANT GENERAL BUSY.
Volunteers for the New National Guard Come in Fast.
Adj. Gen. Muehlberg yesterday issued equipment to Capt. Emery's Minneapolis company of the Fourth regiment which was mustered in on Friday night.
It will take some time to wholly equip the new regiment, as the men's uniforms are not ready, less than a month. Guns, belts, canteens and haversacks will be issued to the other companies as fast as they are mustered in.
Capt. Hogan's company of K. of P.'s will be mustered in Monday night, as well as a Minneapolis company.
The governor received advices from Lake City yesterday, that a company had been raised at that place and is waiting to be mustered in. Gen. Muehlberg will make an inspection of the company, and possibly muster it in Tuesday evening.
Mankato yesterday made application to the governor for a company.
A. J. Muller has received telegrams from outside fact that their companies are ready to be mustered in.

COMPLAINT ABOUT A WATCH.
Leopold Moeschinski Tells His Experience to the Police.
Leopold Moeschinski, living at 793 Capitol avenue, complained to the police yesterday against an auction store at 23 East Seventh street. He said he had bid in a watch at auction several weeks ago for $7, upon the understanding that he could make a deposit on the watch, and that the proprietor would buy it at that price. He says he paid $2.00, and that yesterday he paid the remaining $5, but that the proprietor gave him a different watch from the one he bought.
Moeschinski claimed the watch he had received was inferior to the one he purchased. Detective Murnane called on the auction store proprietor to adjust the matter.

WOES OF A BUTCHER.
S. Tevins Has a Bad Saturday to Treasure Up.
S. Tevins, proprietor of a butcher shop at Twelfth and Cedar streets, got the worst of two experiences yesterday, one growing out of the other. On the way back from South St. Paul, where he had purchased five quarters of beef, Tevins' wagon was run into by a heavy vehicle being driven townward by a farmer. A rear wheel was broken from the butchery wagon and he suggested that the least the farmer could do was to cart the meat to town. The farmer agreed and took on the load.
Tevins failed to receive the meat and reported to the police that it had been stolen. Later a report was received that five quarters of beef were deposited in a barn in early of the South St. Paul road. The farmer had dumped the carcasses out of his wagon at the first opportunity to avoid drawing them to town.

The Popular Dress Goods Stock.

The present stock is unapproached by any collection within hundreds of miles. That applies to quantity, variety, qualities and range of prices.
There's a growing demand for a better class of goods. And in no selfish spirit are we glad of it. For this spirit is even better for our customers than for us. The cost of the material is the smallest part of the cost of the made-up gown. Making, linings and trimmings cost as much for a poor material as for a good one. That's why it pays to buy good materials, especially when they're as cheap as they are here at the present moment.

Black Dress Goods.
As much variety in Black Dress Goods as in colors. All the staple weaves and hundreds of novelties in Fancy Weaves—many of them exclusive in everything but price.
