CURLERS ARE PROMISED A GOOD DAY FOR OPENING THE HONSPIEL

KILLARNEY'S RINK ARRIVES

One of the Manitoba Teams is in the City, and Promises to Take a Lively Part in the Coming Contest—About Two Hundred Visitors Are Expected—But One Chicago Rink.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the seventh annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling Association, which takes place at Raspberry Island today, that is, everything that can be done by the St. Paul Curling club, under whose auspices the bonspiel will be brought off, and if the weather meets the promise of colder weather, nothing can prevent one of the most enjoyable and successful gatherings that curlers of the Northwest have participated in for years.

Play will commence on the island at 2 o'clock this afternoon, by which time it is expected that all of the visiting rinks will have reached the city. Only one rink arrived yesterday, that representing Killarney, Ont., composed of J. W. Small, skip, George Hopkins, Thomas Buck and John Gillis. The members of this rink are stopping at the Grand Central hotel. When the bonspiel commences this afternoon it is expected that half a dozen rinks will begin play. There are four splendid sheets of ice within the large enclosure used by the local club, and if the ice is hard enough several rinks can be accommodated outside on the frozen river surface. It is expected that fully 150 visiting curlers will be in the city by this evening. Many of them will be accompanied by friends who are curling devotees, so that the local club is figuring on the presence of about 200 strangers.

If the Killarney rink is a sample, there will be some brave skaters here. J. W. Small, the skip, is remembered here as a prince of good fellows, and an expert curler.

He brings with him a very strong combination, including Mr. Gill, one of, if not the best leads in Manitoba, and opposing rinks had better prepare for "hot times" as Mr. Small is determined to win those gold watches, medals, and things.

The following telegram was received at 12 o'clock yesterday: Chicago, Ill., Jan. 15.—Observer, St. Paul, Minn.: A cold wave. The temperature will fall 20 degrees or more by Monday morning. President L. Debel, of the St. Paul Curling club, yesterday lost one of his gold medals to be competed for in the bonspiel that begins today. It was an ornamental design of curling stones and crossed brooms. The medal was lost between Fourth and Wabasha streets and seven corners.

A dispatch from Winnipeg says: "The Manitoba and Western Ontario curlers, who will take part in the Northwestern bonspiel, left here today, and comprise the flower of the curling talent of the West. There is in all eight rinks, two from the Granites, two from the Thistles and one from the Aseimbolch clubs, all of Winnipeg, and rinks from Portage la Prairie, Killarney and Rat Portage, Ont. The rinks will be skipped respectively by Harstone, Kelly, MacKenzie, Payne,

ONE RINK FROM CHICAGO.

The Windy City Not Sending Many Curlers to St. Paul.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—This year the Chicago club will send only one rink to St. Paul, of which E. W. Kibbe will be the skip. Kibbe is an American who has played the game in Chicago for a number of years and ranks as one of the best players in the city. He is on any kind of ice he is undoubtedly the best. With him will be M. and C. Richmond, who is the best and most consistent player in the state. Both are sturdy Scotchmen and well able to stand the hard work that is required in the West. The rink will consist of both five and four players, but are so devoted to the sport that when the ice is good they come several times a week to indulge in their favorite pastime. M. Richmond, who will play third, is a great player in that position, and his brother, who plays second, is almost as good. Joe Allen, who will lead, is one of the younger players of the club, and has done good work this season. This rink will leave tonight so as to be ready to play tomorrow if the ice will permit. Lead in the rink is probably John Hagg, R. G. Clarke, J. G. Davis and C. H. Hagg may go up and participate in one of the matches. Preparations have been made by the St. Paul club to entertain 200 visiting players, who will come from all over the Northwest.

JOHNSON'S LUCKY DAY.

Won the Two-Mile Race Through an Accident to Ruddle.

The two-mile handicap skating race at Lexington park yesterday was the most exciting seen there this season. The race was between seven entries. L. S. Johnson started from scratch; Ruddle and A. L. Larson, 15 yards; J. C. Carson and O. E. Swan, 20 yards; E. W. Kibbe, 25 yards; and B. Jones, 30 yards. The first mile was made in 2:25, when they all bunch and from there to the last lap they were working for themselves for the final spurt, which was started by Johnson on the last stretch. It was not until the tape was struck that Johnson was in the lead. Ruddle came up on the last stretch and looked like a winner, but he was overtaken by Johnson as he fell. He slid over the tape, and his hands were well out, and many thought he had won. But when the tape was struck, Johnson's body passed over the tape first in 6:14 for the two miles.

Each race was made up of the fastest amateurs in the Northwest, and they did some good skating. J. C. Carson fell early, which lost him his chance for a finish, but he picked himself up and skated gamely to the finish. There will be races again next Sunday at the same place, and a distance to be announced later. The time and judges were D. F. Carmichael, Charles Hofer and T. L. Hix.

EVENING WITH PILLSBURY.

West Side Chess Club Enjoys a Few Hours With the Champion.

Yesterday evening Mr. Pillsbury, the champion chess player, was invited to the West Side Chess club, that had assembled at E. R. Bryant's house, and played four blindfold games against the following contestants: No. 1, Peter Tierney and John Dale; No. 2, Wilson; No. 3, W. J. Terry and John J. Dobson. Pillsbury's fourth was the opening at each table. He was in the lead for the first two miles. He was in the lead for the first two miles. He was in the lead for the first two miles.

LITTLE SCHEME

Worked by the Amateur Photographer to Increase His Profits.

From the New York Evening Sun. A photographer had taken an ordinary cabinet photo of a young girl in her bridal costume, which was, however, extraordinary both as a likeness and a piece of photographic art. The family of the girl were each and all delighted with the picture, a large number of copies were ordered and were distributed, though with characteristic discrimination, to many admiring friends the country over. All this was done in the name of the bride's mother, who was the photographer's friend.

LANGFORD MAY COACH.

Western Oarsman Offered a Temporary Position in New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 15.—It was learned tonight that Capt. Allen C. Yale has offered George Langford, of St. Paul, Minn., the position of crew coach for the next three months, probably till Bob Cook returns from Europe. Mr. Langford is at present in Kansas City, and his response has not yet been received. Langford was stroke of the Yale crew of 1895, 1896 and 1897. Coach Lehmann termed him the best American stroke he ever saw.

MAY PLAY IN ST. PAUL.

Comiskey Said to Have Landed the Chicago Second Baseman.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—Jimmy Connor, the clever second baseman of the Chicago league club, may play in St. Paul next season. Manager Comiskey, of the St. Paul team, has been negotiating for Connor's services for some time, and it is now understood that he has finally landed the second baseman, the only condition being that the terms shall be agreeable to Connor himself.

Athletic Entertainment.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 15.—A fortnightly entertainment was held at the Commercial club gymnasium last night under the direction of Prof. F. K. Kates, the physical director. The first contest was a boxing match between Longbrake and Edwards. "Jack" Longbrake, a local boxer, was the victor. A second contest was a three-round exhibition bout. A most excellent exhibition of boxing was given by the two men. The next was a wrestling match between Connor and Johnson, colored men. Their performance was clever and the final exhibition was a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match between Johnson and Edwards.

Rumors Via Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 15.—The St. Paul team exhibits few changes because Comiskey has not yet arranged his deals for players so that he can be announced presently. It is stated on excellent authority that he has secured Jimmy Connor from Chicago to play second base next year, and the rumor is that he is also rumored that he will be played in the outfield next summer instead of at first base, and Gangel, who was with Detroit last year and the captain of the Pittsburgh club, placed on the sack "Pebble Jack" Glasscock guarded faithfully so many years.

Speedy Riders Unite.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 15.—The speedy wheelmen of the city are organizing a bicycle club this afternoon to organize an association of 250 riders. It was decided to require membership of $1.00, and to meet before taking out articles of incorporation, and the required number were present and subscribed their names to the club. The officers elected, Chairman, G. A. Palm; secretary, Oscar O'Brien's Runners.

Senior O'Brien's Runners.

Senior O'Brien's stable of running horses was this morning announced to be ready for the coming winter. Racing begins at Memphis early in April, and the horses will be devoted to exercising and getting the horses in shape.

Pool Tournament.

OHIO, Jan. 15.—The opening game of the pool tournament, which began tonight, was between William Blinn and William Clearwater, N. Y., and William Clearwater, of Pittsburg, Pa. Stewart won by a score of 125 to 111.

Steff defeated Ahern.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—Steff was given the decision over "Shorty" Ahern, the end of a six-round bout at the Chicago Athletic club this evening. The other contestants were devoid of interest.

BIG NOSE JOKE

That Precipitated a Fight With Its Owner in Jig Time.

From the New Orleans Times-Democrat. "Saw a drummer get pretty badly sold at a little place between Chattanooga and Memphis one day," said a local traveling man. "He had stopped over to sell some hardware, and a merchant warned him to look out for a village wag who would drop around at the hotel that evening with a false nose. It's one of those Cyrano de Bergerac affairs, made of pasteboard," said his informant, "and this big lubber thinks it's funny to scare strangers with the thing. If you show the least surprise he'll make you get him up on the roof. 'I'll fix the idiot,' said the drummer, and thanked him for his tip. That evening he was sitting in the little hotel office when, sure enough, he walked in a fellow with a proboscis as big as a ripe tomato. 'Hello, Cy,' said the drummer. 'What do you mean, sir?' says the man attached to the nose. 'I want to see that fellow who sold you that nose,' says the drummer, and grabbed hold of it to pull it off. Good heavens! You ought to have heard the row! 'I want to see the fellow who sold you that dynamite bomb. By the time I got out Cyrano and the drummer had just knocked over the stove and were mixing up in the woodwork. The drummer tried them apart they looked like they'd been run through a canemill, but the nose was still in position. It was a business competitor of the gent that gave the tip. Low down trick, wasn't it? When I went away the drummer was just beginning to see out of his right eye."

OBVIOUS RESULT.

One result which has followed was obvious even at the time. The Clark men claim that the money was furnished by Daly, and that the whole scene was a Daly conspiracy worked up to injure Mr. Clark's chances. The Daly men naturally stood by their original charge; that there was open bribery on the part of Clark. The fact that Whiteside has for years been recognized as a Daly adherent is cited by the Clark men in their case, and the contention in the nature of the case is not conclusive, though with those not prejudiced for one side or the other it apparently carries weight.

Horseshoes in Paris.

The annual statistics published by the French government indicate that the consumption of horses, mules and keys is steadily increasing in Paris. The number of stalls at which the flesh is offered for sale now reaches 192. The number of horses brought to the slaughter for food and use is 20,000; 20,000 mules and 7,000 donkeys; 20,000 condemned as unfit for human food, so that the total kill and consumption is 47,000 horses, 51 mules and 30,000 donkeys. An English defuncting bank manager had eluded the police for three years by staying in a seaside village, near Plymouth, and his discovery was made in a most unusual way. While strolling on the beach with a young woman watching the warships a sailor on board a steamer from London called to the town where the defuncting had abandoned, looked through a telescope, recognized him and informed the police.

TRIO OF COPPER KINGS

CLARK AND DALY FORCES ARE STILL ALLIGNED FOR A BATTLE ROYAL

DRAMATIC ELEMENT EVIDENT

Scene When Senator Whiteside Made the Charges One for Which the Legislative Annals of the West Have No Parallel—Sensation Used to Its Full Effect—A Conspiracy or a Trap.

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 15.—(Special.)—Montana is still in the throes of a battle royal between the copper kings of the state, with the issue in doubt. Since the day when the rivalry of W. A. Clark and Marcus Daly found its expression in open enmity they have fought a bitter, bloody, and on every occasion, the contest has been a dramatic one. It has required politics to bring off all the fighting qualities of the two. Mr. Clark for years has held the reins of the United States of W. A. Clark and Marcus Daly found its expression in open enmity they have fought a bitter, bloody, and on every occasion, the contest has been a dramatic one. It has required politics to bring off all the fighting qualities of the two.

When I arrived in Helena I was looked upon as a candidate as a fit subject for missionary work. I was approached by the agents of all of them, but I refused to be approached by any of them. I was approached by the agents of all of them, but I refused to be approached by any of them. I was approached by the agents of all of them, but I refused to be approached by any of them.

This year's contest in the legislature is unexampled in bitterness, even in a state where two multi-millionaires have held the reins of the United States of W. A. Clark and Marcus Daly found its expression in open enmity they have fought a bitter, bloody, and on every occasion, the contest has been a dramatic one. It has required politics to bring off all the fighting qualities of the two.

OFF DAY FOR QUAY.

No Effort to Gain Votes Was Made at Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 15.—This was an off day with the politicians. The candidates and their friends went home to spend Sunday and will not return until tomorrow. Chairman Ekins is here in the interest of Senator Quay, and E. A. Vanvalkenburg, of the Business Men's league, is looking after the anti-Quay forces. The headquarters of the opposing forces were closed today and no effort was made by either side to influence the voters.

FIGHT ON WHITESIDE.

In the meantime a direct fight is being made upon Whiteside. A contest has been instituted by Geiger for his seat in the senate. The committee to order Senator Whiteside's arrest has been appointed. The contest will be held on Wednesday.

deepened until the tension was fearful.

At one point the strain was broken and the members and spectators broke into a roar of laughter. That was when that part of Whiteside's testimony was reached which told how Clark proposed to pay $10,000 apiece for Democratic votes, but considered $5,000 sufficient for Republicans.

There was also considerable merriment mixed with other emotions when the secretary opened the envelopes containing the $30,000 and holding the fresh crisp one-thousand-dollar bills up before the members, proceeded to liberate the ink methodically in my own hands. Few of the spectators had ever seen so much money together before, and the eyes of some men fairly glistened at the sight.

The presence of the money as evidence was followed by a reference of the alleged bribery to the investigating committee and a resolution holding the fund out at the disposition of the joint assembly.

SENATOR'S STORY.

The evidence of Senator Whiteside, given before the investigation committee, is voluminous, but in its essentials the story which he told was as follows:

DOG DIED OF GRIEF.

A Noble St. Bernard Steadfastly Refused Food and Consolation.

From the Denver Times. Never was there a more touching and undoubted testimonial to the kindness of the late Dr. Edward W. Bovett while alive than that humbly offered on the shrine of death by his favorite St. Bernard dog, which this morning died of grief at the loss of its master.

It was one week ago yesterday that the stupor of death had been pronounced the remains of Dr. Bovett paraded the streets to the grave. Close behind the hearse walked the doctor's pet trotting mare, Gypsy, and alongside of the beautiful equine was the huge St. Bernard, Duke of Somerset. The poor brute was just beginning to realize that his master, who never had anything but kind words and caresses for him, was indeed gone, and his grief was discerned in his eyes, from which the tears flowed.

Every day after Dr. Bovett was laid to rest poor Duke grew sadder and thinner. Since he became satisfied that never more would his master attend to his modest wants he has steadfastly refused all offers of food. The magnificent animal, whose size and markings were the admiration of all people, whether judges of dog flesh or not, faded away within seven short days into a shadow.

Poor Duke! He could not believe that his master had gone forever. Although each morning he failed to appear at the stable, where he slept, yet at every footstep he raised his eyes lovingly, in hopes that he would not be disappointed. It was not to be, and reluctantly Duke started out on his travels in search for his master. With many a backward glance at the stable to assure himself that the loved one had not slipped in unobserved, the grand St. Bernard started out.

He had accompanied his master so many times around the city that he knew his resorts as well as did the deceased doctor himself. Along Curtis street he went, patiently searching through each resort where he thought his master might be found. Every night poor Duke kept up his search for his master, and invariably would stop about midnight at George Walker's, where his master had been accustomed to stop. He would sit on the steps of the faithful animal from the door, and it broke their hearts to shut him out, so mournfully did the animal look at each step he took.

PRINCE IN JAIL.

Sentenced to Six Months in Jail Like a Common Criminal.

From the New York Sun. Mediatized princes, as well as the smaller sovereigns, are being shorn of their privileges in Germany. An ordinary criminal court has just sentenced Count Frederick of Alt Leiningen, a mediatized prince, to six months in jail for a crime which he committed in the month of August, 1898. The count had been in jail for adultery, having first obtained a decision from the appellate court that the count's semi-sovereign rank did not remove him from his jurisdiction. The count had three accomplices, one his widowed sister-in-law, had previously been sent to prison for shorter terms. The disapproving head of the family, a count's son, was also in jail for adultery. In a successful divorce suit brought two years ago by the count's wife. One branch of the Leiningen family is nearly ruined by a divorce suit brought through the first marriage of her mother with a prince of Leiningen.

A young man in Barre, Vt., twenty-two years of age, had acquired the horrid cigarette habit, and for five years was such a slave to the craving that his health was all used up. He was finally influenced by a good woman, who took an interest in him, to make an effort to break away from the disgusting practice, and for the headache, heartburn and other ills incident to the loss of the accustomed stimulant she induced him to take a Ripans Tabule whenever occasion required. He is now entirely cured, and for the good health he now enjoys gives R-I-P-A-N-S all the credit. He still takes a Tabule now and then if any craving or other indication of his former weakness threatens or overtakes him.

A new style pocket containing two Ripans Tabule in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores. This is the best and most reliable for the poor and the needy. It is sold by mail by sending four cents to the Ripans Chemical Co., 100 North Street, New York, or to the Ripans Chemical Co., 100 North Street, New York, or to the Ripans Chemical Co., 100 North Street, New York.
