

URNS UP AT MANILA

"REV." LEONIDAS BROWN, WHO LEFT NORTH ST. PAUL UNDER A CLOUD

RECOGNIZED BY A SOLDIER

Private Fitch, of the Thirteenth Minnesota, Recognized the Whiteman Clergyman in the Metropolis of the Philippines and Found That He Was a Bartender—He Is Suspected, Too, of Serious Crimes.

MEMBERS OF COMPANY C, Thirteenth Regiment, Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, Taken at Manila

Leut. James Snow, Priv. R. Hazenwinkle, Priv. John Young, Priv. William Dunn, Priv. C. McCormick, Priv. P. I. Zimmerman, Priv. Harry Lyrrer, Priv. Jas. Wallace.

while attending religious services in camp last November, he was surprised to recognize Brown as a member of the congregation. At the close of the service he followed the ex-minister to a saloon, where he was tending bar. Brown attempted to deny his identity at first, but finally admitted the truth and inquired after several people whom he had known in North St. Paul.

The fugitive failed freely to Fitch and admitted the charge that he had been brought against him, told of the manner of his escape from custody. He said he had since led a life of drunkenness, gambling and dissipation, but professed a desire to reform. Soon after the interview with Fitch, Brown secured a lucrative position in Manila, through the assistance of the Christian commission, and was apparently carrying his promises of reform into effect, but the following item concerning the man, taken from the Manila Times of Jan. 21, indicates that he had difficulty in changing his name.

The police are at least on the trail of the parties who have been impersonating patrolmen and robbing houses. Investigation is being carried swiftly onward. Last week two of the suspects worked at the American restaurant on the Esplanade, namely Harry Getch and Brown, alias Harris. Getch is a dishonorably-discharged soldier from the Montana regiment. Brown or Harris was at one time a Methodist minister, who had a church in North St. Paul, in Minnesota. He became implicated in several matters of an unsavory nature, and at last the town grew too hot for him. He showed up suddenly in Manila, but finds many who know him among the soldiers here. Getch is now wanted by the police on suspicion of having picked the pocket of a first sergeant of the Twentieth Kansas, in Levy's saloon on the Esplanade.

If you are a Judge you will, if you have not already done so, pronounce this whiskey of the greatest merit, and pure.

Pickwick Pure Rye Whiskey advertisement with image of a bottle and descriptive text.

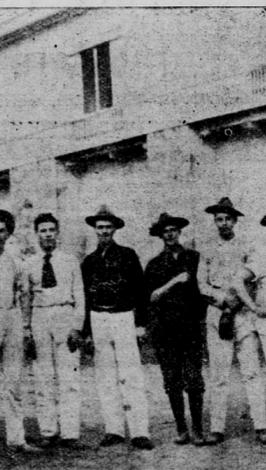

MARE HAD IDEAS OF HER OWN.

Took Her Pick as to the People She Was Willing to Carry.

Horse Review. Hunter, of the new driving association, tells a good story about a Kentucky saddle mare, that he owned, that certainly entitles the mare to a place in the long list of horses that have demonstrated that they could reason.

"This mare," said Mr. Hunter, "was an exceptionally fine specimen of her breed. She could go all the saddle gait and had style to waste. For several years I used her a great deal, and found her a perfect mannered animal under all circumstances; then all of a sudden she commenced to get irritable and hard to manage, and gradually grew worse until it was anything but a pleasure to ride her, and at times she was even dangerous. She got so that I very seldom rode her, and she stood in the stable a good deal of the time.

MEMBERS OF COMPANY C, Thirteenth Regiment, Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, Taken at Manila

Leut. James Snow, Priv. R. Hazenwinkle, Priv. John Young, Priv. William Dunn, Priv. C. McCormick, Priv. P. I. Zimmerman, Priv. Harry Lyrrer, Priv. Jas. Wallace.

haved like a lady at all times. 'What are you doing on that mare?' I called. 'You said I could ride her,' he replied. 'Then I happened to think that he spoke the truth, so I began to question him as to how he managed to get the saddle and bridle on her. He said that he had no trouble at all in getting them on her, or in riding her after he got her out of the stable. I figured that the old mare certainly must have experienced a change of heart and had concluded to be a model saddle horse once more, so I decided to take a ride over dinner myself. When I tried to put the saddle and bridle on her, however, she soon showed me that she had not even commenced to reform. She gave me just as much trouble as she dared to while I was getting her ready, and after I got on her back it was all I could do to stay there.

After putting her back in the stable I called to the boy and asked him to come out and show me how he had bridled and saddled and mounted the mare. Then I stepped out of the mare's sight and watched him do it. He took the bridle in his hands and held it up in front of the mare, and she actually put her head into it and took the bit in her mouth of her own accord. Then he stood on a box and put the mare's feet in the stirrups and moved. When she was all rigged he led her out in the alley up close to the man-line and she stood there with the lines hanging loose on her neck, and after he had climbed on the box and after he had her back she walked off with the lines still hanging loose on her neck, and she certainly never abused her, and I cannot understand why she made any such distinction between the boy and myself. My guess is that the mare must have had a sore in some part of her anatomy, and that it was hard work or maybe torture for her to carry Mr. Hunter, who weighs over 200 pounds, and she has sense enough to object to his riding her, and to reason that she could carry the boy with ease.

ROMANCE BY TELEGRAPH.

Pittsburg Operator Wins a Chicago Bride by Clicking Key Method.

Chicago Tribune. More than one romance has worked itself through the aid of the monotonous clicking of the telegraph, and not always the people who are paying for the message get the romance. Some two or three years ago a young girl operator at the central Chicago office had a little difficulty arise over an Eastern message, so she clicked to the operator at the other end more than the usual "Good day," and as a result an acquaintance, very narrow, as only such is true, was made. Like stolen kisses it was very joyous as well, for the operators are not very likely to send personal remarks unless they are paid for at so much a word. But the strange little acquaintance continued to grow until each one began making telegraphic inquiries about the other. For a joke the little girl was told that her "friend" was very aged and with a white beard and bald head, which merely served to make her less reserved over the wire, while the man appreciated the fact that the girl was young and handsome. Last week the man came to Chicago for a day. He telegraphed the girl he met. As the man could only be here a day, and as the girl began her duties at 1 o'clock in the afternoon the man was there by 11 o'clock in the morning, which he did. Of course it was necessary for the man to prove his identity, as the girl was not prepared to see so young a man. The general impression each received of the other was so charming that two hours after they met they were standing before a minister replying to the sacred vows of matrimony, and that night, when the operator took the train for Pittsburg her bride was with him.

And now the happy pair are receiving congratulations from operators all over the country who mark the romance by suggesting that they copy conduct a matrimonial agency as a side line. The Oldest Violin. D. C. Cramer, of Pennsylvania, has in his possession probably the oldest violin in the country. It is owned by Private William Christian, who is now at Manila, Tenth in good condition and is always kept in playing order. It was made in England during the year of 1721, and is now 178 years old.

IN THE CITY PULPITS

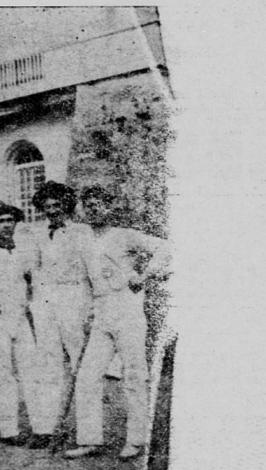

TWO DOCTRINAL SERMONS ARE ANNOUNCED FOR DELIVERY THIS EVENING

TEMPERANCE MASS MEETING

Bishop Shanley Will Preach From the Subject, "Why I Am a Catholic," and Presiding Elder Rule Will Tell "Why I Am a Methodist"—Fifth Lecture in Episcopal Series Is Postponed.

A temperance mass meeting will be held at Plymouth Congregational church, Summit avenue and Wabasha street, this evening. It will be the first of a series of public rallies to be held in the various churches by the Christian Temperance federation, which represents all the temperance and prohibition organizations of the city. Mrs. Bessie Laythe Scovell, of Minneapolis, state president of the Women's Christian Temperance union, will make the principal address. A. W. Guttridge, president of the federation and representing the Catholic men's societies therein, will also speak. Rev. George A.

MEMBERS OF COMPANY C, Thirteenth Regiment, Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, Taken at Manila

Leut. James Snow, Priv. R. Hazenwinkle, Priv. John Young, Priv. William Dunn, Priv. C. McCormick, Priv. P. I. Zimmerman, Priv. Harry Lyrrer, Priv. Jas. Wallace.

work done by the society during the past year was reviewed and plans for the coming year briefly outlined. Mrs. H. J. McAfee read the treasurer's report showing the receipts for the year to have been $2770. Her gifts had been divided equally among Presbyterian missions in foreign fields. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. M. D. Edwards; first vice president, Mrs. Martha Perry; second vice president, Mrs. L. J. Lee; secretary, Miss Kittie Rihelidaffer; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. McAfee; secretaries of literature, Mrs. William Strout and Mrs. Elizabeth Astick; organist, Mrs. Haydn S. Cole; assistant organist, Miss Ware; chorister, Miss Hill; programme committee, Mrs. B. C. Baldwin; Mrs. Martha Perry and Mrs. James Compton.

The Methodist women of Hamline united with the Presbyterians to render a successful of the New England supper given last week for the benefit of Rev. D. H. Elmer, who recently suffered a stroke of paralysis and is helpless at his home at Waukegan. About 400 were present. The W. F. M. S. will hold its annual thank-offering this evening in the M. E. church, at Hamline. Miss Florence M. Pace, Miss Millie Pottgiesser, Miss G. Hoffmann, and Harry E. George are the quartette of St. Paul artists who will take part in the concert programme to be given in the Atlantic Congregational church next Tuesday evening.

ROMANCE BY TELEGRAPH.

Pittsburg Operator Wins a Chicago Bride by Clicking Key Method.

Chicago Tribune. More than one romance has worked itself through the aid of the monotonous clicking of the telegraph, and not always the people who are paying for the message get the romance. Some two or three years ago a young girl operator at the central Chicago office had a little difficulty arise over an Eastern message, so she clicked to the operator at the other end more than the usual "Good day," and as a result an acquaintance, very narrow, as only such is true, was made. Like stolen kisses it was very joyous as well, for the operators are not very likely to send personal remarks unless they are paid for at so much a word. But the strange little acquaintance continued to grow until each one began making telegraphic inquiries about the other. For a joke the little girl was told that her "friend" was very aged and with a white beard and bald head, which merely served to make her less reserved over the wire, while the man appreciated the fact that the girl was young and handsome. Last week the man came to Chicago for a day. He telegraphed the girl he met. As the man could only be here a day, and as the girl began her duties at 1 o'clock in the afternoon the man was there by 11 o'clock in the morning, which he did. Of course it was necessary for the man to prove his identity, as the girl was not prepared to see so young a man. The general impression each received of the other was so charming that two hours after they met they were standing before a minister replying to the sacred vows of matrimony, and that night, when the operator took the train for Pittsburg her bride was with him.

And now the happy pair are receiving congratulations from operators all over the country who mark the romance by suggesting that they copy conduct a matrimonial agency as a side line. The Oldest Violin. D. C. Cramer, of Pennsylvania, has in his possession probably the oldest violin in the country. It is owned by Private William Christian, who is now at Manila, Tenth in good condition and is always kept in playing order. It was made in England during the year of 1721, and is now 178 years old.

IN THE CITY PULPITS

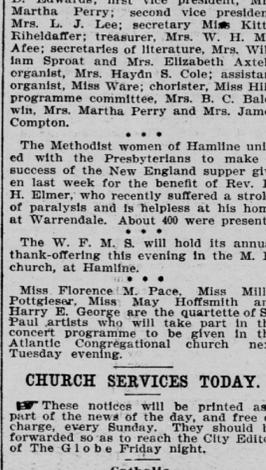

TWO DOCTRINAL SERMONS ARE ANNOUNCED FOR DELIVERY THIS EVENING

TEMPERANCE MASS MEETING

Bishop Shanley Will Preach From the Subject, "Why I Am a Catholic," and Presiding Elder Rule Will Tell "Why I Am a Methodist"—Fifth Lecture in Episcopal Series Is Postponed.

A temperance mass meeting will be held at Plymouth Congregational church, Summit avenue and Wabasha street, this evening. It will be the first of a series of public rallies to be held in the various churches by the Christian Temperance federation, which represents all the temperance and prohibition organizations of the city. Mrs. Bessie Laythe Scovell, of Minneapolis, state president of the Women's Christian Temperance union, will make the principal address. A. W. Guttridge, president of the federation and representing the Catholic men's societies therein, will also speak. Rev. George A.

MEMBERS OF COMPANY C, Thirteenth Regiment, Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, Taken at Manila

Leut. James Snow, Priv. R. Hazenwinkle, Priv. John Young, Priv. William Dunn, Priv. C. McCormick, Priv. P. I. Zimmerman, Priv. Harry Lyrrer, Priv. Jas. Wallace.

work done by the society during the past year was reviewed and plans for the coming year briefly outlined. Mrs. H. J. McAfee read the treasurer's report showing the receipts for the year to have been $2770. Her gifts had been divided equally among Presbyterian missions in foreign fields. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. M. D. Edwards; first vice president, Mrs. Martha Perry; second vice president, Mrs. L. J. Lee; secretary, Miss Kittie Rihelidaffer; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. McAfee; secretaries of literature, Mrs. William Strout and Mrs. Elizabeth Astick; organist, Mrs. Haydn S. Cole; assistant organist, Miss Ware; chorister, Miss Hill; programme committee, Mrs. B. C. Baldwin; Mrs. Martha Perry and Mrs. James Compton.

The Methodist women of Hamline united with the Presbyterians to render a successful of the New England supper given last week for the benefit of Rev. D. H. Elmer, who recently suffered a stroke of paralysis and is helpless at his home at Waukegan. About 400 were present. The W. F. M. S. will hold its annual thank-offering this evening in the M. E. church, at Hamline. Miss Florence M. Pace, Miss Millie Pottgiesser, Miss G. Hoffmann, and Harry E. George are the quartette of St. Paul artists who will take part in the concert programme to be given in the Atlantic Congregational church next Tuesday evening.

ROMANCE BY TELEGRAPH.

Pittsburg Operator Wins a Chicago Bride by Clicking Key Method.

Chicago Tribune. More than one romance has worked itself through the aid of the monotonous clicking of the telegraph, and not always the people who are paying for the message get the romance. Some two or three years ago a young girl operator at the central Chicago office had a little difficulty arise over an Eastern message, so she clicked to the operator at the other end more than the usual "Good day," and as a result an acquaintance, very narrow, as only such is true, was made. Like stolen kisses it was very joyous as well, for the operators are not very likely to send personal remarks unless they are paid for at so much a word. But the strange little acquaintance continued to grow until each one began making telegraphic inquiries about the other. For a joke the little girl was told that her "friend" was very aged and with a white beard and bald head, which merely served to make her less reserved over the wire, while the man appreciated the fact that the girl was young and handsome. Last week the man came to Chicago for a day. He telegraphed the girl he met. As the man could only be here a day, and as the girl began her duties at 1 o'clock in the afternoon the man was there by 11 o'clock in the morning, which he did. Of course it was necessary for the man to prove his identity, as the girl was not prepared to see so young a man. The general impression each received of the other was so charming that two hours after they met they were standing before a minister replying to the sacred vows of matrimony, and that night, when the operator took the train for Pittsburg her bride was with him.

And now the happy pair are receiving congratulations from operators all over the country who mark the romance by suggesting that they copy conduct a matrimonial agency as a side line. The Oldest Violin. D. C. Cramer, of Pennsylvania, has in his possession probably the oldest violin in the country. It is owned by Private William Christian, who is now at Manila, Tenth in good condition and is always kept in playing order. It was made in England during the year of 1721, and is now 178 years old.

IN THE CITY PULPITS

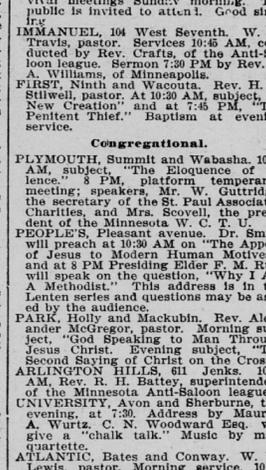

TWO DOCTRINAL SERMONS ARE ANNOUNCED FOR DELIVERY THIS EVENING

TEMPERANCE MASS MEETING

Bishop Shanley Will Preach From the Subject, "Why I Am a Catholic," and Presiding Elder Rule Will Tell "Why I Am a Methodist"—Fifth Lecture in Episcopal Series Is Postponed.

A temperance mass meeting will be held at Plymouth Congregational church, Summit avenue and Wabasha street, this evening. It will be the first of a series of public rallies to be held in the various churches by the Christian Temperance federation, which represents all the temperance and prohibition organizations of the city. Mrs. Bessie Laythe Scovell, of Minneapolis, state president of the Women's Christian Temperance union, will make the principal address. A. W. Guttridge, president of the federation and representing the Catholic men's societies therein, will also speak. Rev. George A.

MEMBERS OF COMPANY C, Thirteenth Regiment, Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, Taken at Manila

Leut. James Snow, Priv. R. Hazenwinkle, Priv. John Young, Priv. William Dunn, Priv. C. McCormick, Priv. P. I. Zimmerman, Priv. Harry Lyrrer, Priv. Jas. Wallace.

work done by the society during the past year was reviewed and plans for the coming year briefly outlined. Mrs. H. J. McAfee read the treasurer's report showing the receipts for the year to have been $2770. Her gifts had been divided equally among Presbyterian missions in foreign fields. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. M. D. Edwards; first vice president, Mrs. Martha Perry; second vice president, Mrs. L. J. Lee; secretary, Miss Kittie Rihelidaffer; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. McAfee; secretaries of literature, Mrs. William Strout and Mrs. Elizabeth Astick; organist, Mrs. Haydn S. Cole; assistant organist, Miss Ware; chorister, Miss Hill; programme committee, Mrs. B. C. Baldwin; Mrs. Martha Perry and Mrs. James Compton.

The Methodist women of Hamline united with the Presbyterians to render a successful of the New England supper given last week for the benefit of Rev. D. H. Elmer, who recently suffered a stroke of paralysis and is helpless at his home at Waukegan. About 400 were present. The W. F. M. S. will hold its annual thank-offering this evening in the M. E. church, at Hamline. Miss Florence M. Pace, Miss Millie Pottgiesser, Miss G. Hoffmann, and Harry E. George are the quartette of St. Paul artists who will take part in the concert programme to be given in the Atlantic Congregational church next Tuesday evening.

ROMANCE BY TELEGRAPH.

Pittsburg Operator Wins a Chicago Bride by Clicking Key Method.

Chicago Tribune. More than one romance has worked itself through the aid of the monotonous clicking of the telegraph, and not always the people who are paying for the message get the romance. Some two or three years ago a young girl operator at the central Chicago office had a little difficulty arise over an Eastern message, so she clicked to the operator at the other end more than the usual "Good day," and as a result an acquaintance, very narrow, as only such is true, was made. Like stolen kisses it was very joyous as well, for the operators are not very likely to send personal remarks unless they are paid for at so much a word. But the strange little acquaintance continued to grow until each one began making telegraphic inquiries about the other. For a joke the little girl was told that her "friend" was very aged and with a white beard and bald head, which merely served to make her less reserved over the wire, while the man appreciated the fact that the girl was young and handsome. Last week the man came to Chicago for a day. He telegraphed the girl he met. As the man could only be here a day, and as the girl began her duties at 1 o'clock in the afternoon the man was there by 11 o'clock in the morning, which he did. Of course it was necessary for the man to prove his identity, as the girl was not prepared to see so young a man. The general impression each received of the other was so charming that two hours after they met they were standing before a minister replying to the sacred vows of matrimony, and that night, when the operator took the train for Pittsburg her bride was with him.

And now the happy pair are receiving congratulations from operators all over the country who mark the romance by suggesting that they copy conduct a matrimonial agency as a side line. The Oldest Violin. D. C. Cramer, of Pennsylvania, has in his possession probably the oldest violin in the country. It is owned by Private William Christian, who is now at Manila, Tenth in good condition and is always kept in playing order. It was made in England during the year of 1721, and is now 178 years old.

IN THE CITY PULPITS

TWO DOCTRINAL SERMONS ARE ANNOUNCED FOR DELIVERY THIS EVENING

TEMPERANCE MASS MEETING

Bishop Shanley Will Preach From the Subject, "Why I Am a Catholic," and Presiding Elder Rule Will Tell "Why I Am a Methodist"—Fifth Lecture in Episcopal Series Is Postponed.

A temperance mass meeting will be held at Plymouth Congregational church, Summit avenue and Wabasha street, this evening. It will be the first of a series of public rallies to be held in the various churches by the Christian Temperance federation, which represents all the temperance and prohibition organizations of the city. Mrs. Bessie Laythe Scovell, of Minneapolis, state president of the Women's Christian Temperance union, will make the principal address. A. W. Guttridge, president of the federation and representing the Catholic men's societies therein, will also speak. Rev. George A.

MEMBERS OF COMPANY C, Thirteenth Regiment, Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, Taken at Manila

Leut. James Snow, Priv. R. Hazenwinkle, Priv. John Young, Priv. William Dunn, Priv. C. McCormick, Priv. P. I. Zimmerman, Priv. Harry Lyrrer, Priv. Jas. Wallace.

work done by the society during the past year was reviewed and plans for the coming year briefly outlined. Mrs. H. J. McAfee read the treasurer's report showing the receipts for the year to have been $2770. Her gifts had been divided equally among Presbyterian missions in foreign fields. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. M. D. Edwards; first vice president, Mrs. Martha Perry; second vice president, Mrs. L. J. Lee; secretary, Miss Kittie Rihelidaffer; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. McAfee; secretaries of literature, Mrs. William Strout and Mrs. Elizabeth Astick; organist, Mrs. Haydn S. Cole; assistant organist, Miss Ware; chorister, Miss Hill; programme committee, Mrs. B. C. Baldwin; Mrs. Martha Perry and Mrs. James Compton.

The Methodist women of Hamline united with the Presbyterians to render a successful of the New England supper given last week for the benefit of Rev. D. H. Elmer, who recently suffered a stroke of paralysis and is helpless at his home at Waukegan. About 400 were present. The W. F. M. S. will hold its annual thank-offering this evening in the M. E. church, at Hamline. Miss Florence M. Pace, Miss Millie Pottgiesser, Miss G. Hoffmann, and Harry E. George are the quartette of St. Paul artists who will take part in the concert programme to be given in the Atlantic Congregational church next Tuesday evening.

ROMANCE BY TELEGRAPH.

Pittsburg Operator Wins a Chicago Bride by Clicking Key Method.

Chicago Tribune. More than one romance has worked itself through the aid of the monotonous clicking of the telegraph, and not always the people who are paying for the message get the romance. Some two or three years ago a young girl operator at the central Chicago office had a little difficulty arise over an Eastern message, so she clicked to the operator at the other end more than the usual "Good day," and as a result an acquaintance, very narrow, as only such is true, was made. Like stolen kisses it was very joyous as well, for the operators are not very likely to send personal remarks unless they are paid for at so much a word. But the strange little acquaintance continued to grow until each one began making telegraphic inquiries about the other. For a joke the little girl was told that her "friend" was very aged and with a white beard and bald head, which merely served to make her less reserved over the wire, while the man appreciated the fact that the girl was young and handsome. Last week the man came to Chicago for a day. He telegraphed the girl he met. As the man could only be here a day, and as the girl began her duties at 1 o'clock in the afternoon the man was there by 11 o'clock in the morning, which he did. Of course it was necessary for the man to prove his identity, as the girl was not prepared to see so young a man. The general impression each received of the other was so charming that two hours after they met they were standing before a minister replying to the sacred vows of matrimony, and that night, when the operator took the train for Pittsburg her bride was with him.

And now the happy pair are receiving congratulations from operators all over the country who mark the romance by suggesting that they copy conduct a matrimonial agency as a side line. The Oldest Violin. D. C. Cramer, of Pennsylvania, has in his possession probably the oldest violin in the country. It is owned by Private William Christian, who is now at Manila, Tenth in good condition and is always kept in playing order. It was made in England during the year of 1721, and is now 178 years old.

IN THE CITY PULPITS

TWO DOCTRINAL SERMONS ARE ANNOUNCED FOR DELIVERY THIS EVENING

TEMPERANCE MASS MEETING

Bishop Shanley Will Preach From the Subject, "Why I Am a Catholic," and Presiding Elder Rule Will Tell "Why I Am a Methodist"—Fifth Lecture in Episcopal Series Is Postponed.

A temperance mass meeting will be held at Plymouth Congregational church, Summit avenue and Wabasha street, this evening. It will be the first of a series of public rallies to be held in the various churches by the Christian Temperance federation, which represents all the temperance and prohibition organizations of the city. Mrs. Bessie Laythe Scovell, of Minneapolis, state president of the Women's Christian Temperance union, will make the principal address. A. W. Guttridge, president of the federation and representing the Catholic men's societies therein, will also speak. Rev. George A.

MEMBERS OF COMPANY C, Thirteenth Regiment, Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, Taken at Manila

Leut. James Snow, Priv. R. Hazenwinkle, Priv. John Young, Priv. William Dunn, Priv. C. McCormick, Priv. P. I. Zimmerman, Priv. Harry Lyrrer, Priv. Jas. Wallace.

work done by the society during the past year was reviewed and plans for the coming year briefly outlined. Mrs. H. J. McAfee read the treasurer's report showing the receipts for the year to have been $2770. Her gifts had been divided equally among Presbyterian missions in foreign fields. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. M. D. Edwards; first vice president, Mrs. Martha Perry; second vice president, Mrs. L. J. Lee; secretary, Miss Kittie Rihelidaffer; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. McAfee; secretaries of literature, Mrs. William Strout and Mrs. Elizabeth Astick; organist, Mrs. Haydn S. Cole; assistant organist, Miss Ware; chorister, Miss Hill; programme committee, Mrs. B. C. Baldwin; Mrs. Martha Perry and Mrs. James Compton.

The Methodist women of Hamline united with the Presbyterians to render a successful of the New England supper given last week for the benefit of Rev. D. H. Elmer, who recently suffered a stroke of paralysis and is helpless at his home at Waukegan. About 400 were present. The W. F. M. S. will hold its annual thank-offering this evening in the M. E. church, at Hamline. Miss Florence M. Pace, Miss Millie Pottgiesser, Miss G. Hoffmann, and Harry E. George are the quartette of St. Paul artists who will take part in the concert programme to be given in the Atlantic Congregational church next Tuesday evening.

ROMANCE BY TELEGRAPH.

Pittsburg Operator Wins a Chicago Bride by Clicking Key Method.

Chicago Tribune. More than one romance has worked itself through the aid of the monotonous clicking of the telegraph, and not always the people who are paying for the message get the romance. Some two or three years ago a young girl operator at the central Chicago office had a little difficulty arise over an Eastern message, so she clicked to the operator at the other end more than the usual "Good day," and as a result an acquaintance, very narrow, as only such is true, was made. Like stolen kisses it was very joyous as well, for the operators are not very likely to send personal remarks unless they are paid for at so much a word. But the strange little acquaintance continued to grow until each one began making telegraphic inquiries about the other. For a joke the little girl was told that her "friend" was very aged and with a white beard and bald head, which merely served to make her less reserved over the wire, while the man appreciated the fact that the girl was young and handsome. Last week the man came to Chicago for a day. He telegraphed the girl he met. As the man could only be here a day, and as the girl began her duties at 1 o'clock in the afternoon the man was there by 11 o'clock in the morning, which he did. Of course it was necessary for the man to prove his identity, as the girl was not prepared to see so young a man. The general impression each received of the other was so charming that two hours after they met they were standing before a minister replying to the sacred vows of matrimony, and that night, when the operator took the train for Pittsburg her bride was with him.

And now the happy pair are receiving congratulations from operators all over the country who mark the romance by suggesting that they copy conduct a matrimonial agency as a side line. The Oldest Violin. D. C. Cramer, of Pennsylvania, has in his possession probably the oldest violin in the country. It is owned by Private William Christian, who is now at Manila, Tenth in good condition and is always kept in playing order. It was made in England during the year of 1721, and is now 178 years old.

W. F. & J. BARNES advertisement for bicycle repairers.

Do You Use Tools? advertisement for carpenters.

COOKS advertisement for kitchen tools.

ELECTRICIANS advertisement for electrical services.

MACHINISTS advertisement for mechanical services.

MOULDERS advertisement for moulding services.

PLASTERERS advertisement for plastering services.

FOR ALL OUR ACME advertisement for various services.

FRED WENIGER advertisement for a boy who leaves tomorrow evening.

FRED WENIGER advertisement for